Reports Have New Fox Met Move in Work

Unnamed Circuit Is Said To Be Planning Offer

Reports that an established theatre company is interested in presenting a plan of reorganization or purchase of Fox Metropolitan Playhouses in competition with the Joseph M. Schenck-Fox Theatres' plan on file were plentiful over the week-end in circles close to Fox Met developments.

The identity of the prospective bidder could not be learned, despite the apparently general knowledge of the reports. Likewise, several phases of the available information were contradictory; one version having the prospective bid supported by Fox Met bondholders dissatisfied with the 25

British Quota Jumps to 20% Levels Today

This Is Maximum Until Act Ends in 1938

By BRUCE ALLAN

LONDON, March 31.—One out of every five pictures handled by distributors here must be British-made under the rise in the percentage bracket from 17½ per cent to 20 per cent effective upon renters with the advent of April.

Thus, the Quota Act which became the law on April 1, 1928, to run for 10 years thereafter reaches its maximum insofar as the selling end of the industry here is concerned. With the two and one-half per cent jump, the 20 per cent bracket remains constant and will continue at its new level until the statute runs its course on March 31, 1938.

American companies in this market, of course, are familiar with the act,

Meyer Is Appointed 'U' Business Manager

HOLLYWOOD, March 31.—Carl Laemmle, Sr., in a surprise move yesterday, made Fred S. Meyer executive business manager of Universal City, the post formerly slated for Julius Bernheim. Henry Clark, studio comptroller, takes Meyer's former job as executive assistant to Laemmle, which he will handle in addition to his regular post.

Frank Mastroly, former studio manager, has been granted what is described as an indefinite leave of absence from the studio managership.

Succeeded?

Detroit, March 31. — Joe Bodner has quit as general manager of the Jake Schreiber theatres. Three weeks ago he succeeded Ben Wachnansky, who succeeded Ray Schreiber, who succeeded Ray Cloud, who succeeded Alex Schreiber, who succeeded Lew Kane, who succeeded George Sampson, who succeeded Joe La Rose, who succeeded Clare Gardner. No successor has been appointed.

Huffman Case Outside Code, Court Rules

DENVER, March 31.—Federal Judge J. Foster Symes ruled in the Harry Huffman case yesterday that the exhibition of films is an intra-state business and for that reason the industry code does apply in the case. Judge Symes also ruled the Colorado NRA act unconstitutional.

A further hearing will be held shortly on the question of whether the Huffman group constitutes a monopoly on first run films in Denver and

Schaefer Is Again Boomed As Para. Head

Support Among Creditor Groups Being Voiced

George J. Schaefer's name again is figuring prominently in Paramount creditors' discussions of candidates for the presidency of the reorganized company and, to all indications, appears presently to have more favorable creditor sentiment behind it than at any previous stage of the reorganization proceedings in which his name has been linked with that post.

While it appears that there are almost as many slates of officers as there are creditor factions, nevertheless, several outstanding creditor groups which, up to several days ago, had favorite candidates of their own for the presidency, now seem to be in something of agreement on Schaefer. This, however, does not embrace all creditor groups.

No definite agreement on officers of the company is expected for sev-

Injunction Granted On Cleveland Duals

CLEVELAND, March 31.—Common Pleas Judge Dempsey yesterday granted a temporary injunction restraining the University from playing duals. It is understood that Max Lefkowich, operator of the house, will go back to singles on Monday and will not fight the case.

Paramount's schedule next season will adhere to the present lineup of 65 features and 100 single-reel shorts.

Details of the program will be announced at the annual sales meet at the Waldorf May 23-26.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Les Miserables"

(20th Century-U.A.)

By VICTOR M. SHAPIRO

HOLLYWOOD, March 31.—Nothing quite so powerfully human, nothing quite so heart-stirring has the talking screen captured on celluloid as is here revealed in this drama of one man, Jean Valjean, and through him the x-raying of the spiritual aspirations of all humanity.

As Victor Hugo explored people's tortured hearts and illumined their dreams, so have Producer Darryl F. Zanuck, Director Richard Boleslawski, Fredric March and Charles Laughton given dramatic fervor

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

H. G. WELLS, who is doing pretty well by himself in the ranks of contemporary authoring, delivered a talk at a dinner of the Authors' Club one night late last week. Among other statements, he described himself as a "journalist and literary hack," which was his privilege since he was directing criticism at his own efforts. But also did he touch upon films, commenting among other comment that authors should have more to say about the treatment their works receive in the process of translating them to the screen. Typical example was his novel, "Marriage," which, he pointed out, was sold eventually to be shorn of title, locale and plot by order of Hollywood and effort of scenarists which inhabit that scene. . . .

THAT caused us to dig into a mental file which this column numbers among its possessions and which it tries mightily to keep alert. It reminded of the practice, unchecked for years, in which all producers have indulged when classics and near classics come across their line of vision. Long a matter of disturbance when this space goes editorial, we wonder why Hollywood does the things it does on this particular score. . . .

THE habit, presumptuous to say the least, almost always calls for improvement of the printed page. Samuel Goldwyn did it with "Nana," as a case in point. But all of the bigwigs who make the film colony revolve on its axis have been guilty of the same charge. To what purpose, we should like to know, is judgment which, having determined in the first instance to film works of note and of established reputation, then determines to embellish the original? Also by what right? . . .

WE strike today for the filmization of recognized works as the author wrote them or no filmization of them at all. Fidelity is an attribute which Hollywood, it is this opinion, is expected to observe and this has nothing to do with affairs of the heart, either. We remember the time when Merian C. Cooper spoke about plans for production of "Cyrano de Bergerac." Not satisfied with the manner in which Rostand wrote his play, Cooper's idea was to modernize this gem of beauty by giving it a World War background. Never did revolution seethe with greater fire within us. . . .

PRACTICALLY all of the editorial roses stacked around the feet of "David Copperfield," it should be remembered, were predicated on the proper reverence, the respect for Dickens and his novel, in which the picture was soaked. Here was an instance of a book read by millions and about which the producer who dared improvement was embarking on a piece of extremely risky business. Merely to assume, however, that any work of lesser moment opens the door to revision is neither fair nor proper. "Copperfield" provides an object lesson and of a type easy to understand because it emerged as an artistic as well as a commercial success. Hollywood, are you listening? . . .

its intent and its operation. Designed to foster the British production industry, the impost started modestly at seven and one-half per cent on April 1, 1928, and remained at that figure until March 31, 1929, when it increased to 10 per cent. In April 1, 1932, the bracket rose to 15 per cent, the following year to 17½ where it was fixed until the maximum division is reached on Monday.

The quota, also compulsory on exhibitors, progresses at a slower pace beginning at five per cent for the year ending Sept. 30, 1929, and rising to 20 per cent by Oct. 1 where it will poise itself in the bracket similar to that imposed upon distributors until the act runs out in 1938.

Replying to a question from E. Doran, M.P., in the House of Commons, recently Walter Runciman, president of the Board of Trade, said he did not propose to introduce legislation varying British quotas stipulated by the Cinematograph Films Act.

The advisory committee under the Act is known to have made suggestions for its amendment for the purpose of controlling "quickies." Legislation for this purpose is not ruled out by the president's reply.

Other questions from Doran, who was prominent in the agitation preceding the passing of the original act, allege attempts on the part of foreign companies to defeat the measure and alluded to "alien film producers, who, having been put into liquidation in their own countries, were now seeking to exploit the British public."

Replying to these points, Sir John Gilmour, Home Secretary, promised to inquire into any facts placed before him.

New Four Per Cent Tax Up in Missouri

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., March 31.—Swelling the flood of tax bills in the Missouri legislature, a measure has been introduced in the Senate for a four per cent levy on all transactions and services rendered.

The proposal was in the form of a resolution to submit a constitutional amendment to the voters. Revenue would relieve public school and road district taxes.

Industry representatives in Missouri conferred here on the two per cent sales tax which has passed the House. Some means of adding the assessment to theatre tickets will have to be found, so it will not become a burden on the exhibitor.

Meeting here were Fred Wehrenberg, president of the M.P.T.O. of St. Louis, Eastern Missouri and Southern Illinois; John C. Stapel, president, and R. R. Biechele, secretary, of the K. M. T. A., in the western half of the state; Jay Means, head of the Kansas City I. T. O., and Emanuel Rolsky, vice-president, and Arthur Cole of the Paramount exchange in Kansas City.

The only hearing on the proposed two per cent tax will be held next Wednesday before the Senate Ways and Means Committee. Opposition to the House bill is rampant in the Senate, and it is freely predicted a compromise measure will result.

One Man Bill Up in R. I.

PROVIDENCE, March 31.—Operators have a bill in the House here that provides for one man to every machine. Another measure pending provides that all films must be projected from machines on the ground floor, or the entrance floor, except in regulation booths.

Advance Maryland Race Tax

ANNAPOLIS, March 31.—The House has passed the Mullikin racetrack tax-relief bill and has sent it on to the Senate. The daily license fee of $6,000 would be reduced to $1,000, and the tax on money bets would be raised from one to two and a half per cent. The levy on net receipts would be raised from 20 to 25 per cent.

A one per cent sales tax on gross receipts has passed both Senate and House, but it does not affect theatres.

House bill 270 has been passed in the House. It vests in the Mayor and City Council of Hagerstown the control of Sunday pictures.

House bill 347 has passed in the House. It will permit Sunday shows in Prince George's County.

Paramount Will Run Peekskill Theatre

Paramount today assumes operation of the Peekskill, Peekskill, N. Y., under a long term pooling arrangement with Raymond Wittickson. Paramount has the Paramount and both houses will be under the supervision of George Walsh, division manager.

Wittickson also has the Pickwick, Greenwich, Conn., which is not involved.

Weiss Finishes Film

Louis Weiss, production head of Weiss Prod., Inc., has finished work on "The Drunkard." Stage & Screen Prod., Inc., will handle the release.

Coast Meeting to Discuss Clearance

but because of a petition by F. W. C., which was studied by Campi, it was decided to give all exhibitors as well as the protesting circuit a chance to be heard.

According to the F. W. C. consent decree handed down two years ago, certain prices must prevail for first run houses to maintain clearances provided therein. If prices are moved downward, a readjustment of the schedule must follow.

The Los Angeles schedule did not contain such a provision and Fox West Coast representatives in New York held that if the plan was put into effect, as adopted by Campi, the consent decree would be violated.

As a result of the consent decree, admission prices here have been boosted in numerous houses, it is stated. There are only a few theatres charging 15 cents, the general average being 25 cents.

More Court Battles On Bank Nights Due

DES MOINES, March 31.—Injunction suits similar to the one filed by A. H. Blank restraining the local grievance board from outlawing bank nights will be brought in other territories, it is said here. It is understood theatres in several states are planning such actions.

Hearing on a permanent restraining order against the local board will be held April 6 by Judge Charles A. Dewey in U. S. District Court here. The action is based on a cease and desist order issued against a Central States theatre at Ft. Dodge, Ia.

The theatre contends the awarding of the prize does not constitute a violation of the NRA. The suit also attacks the NRA's constitutionality. Six major distributors were named in the action, but merely as a formality.

Huffman Case Held Outside the Code whether the theatres came into court with clean hands as a result of the operation of an alleged lottery involving the giving away of automobiles weekly as a means of drawing.

Huffman is still giving away cars weekly under the protection of a temporary injunction granted by the Court of Appeals and will continue to do so until the case is decided, it is understood.

Five Cut Admission Cases Ended in K. C.

KANSAS CITY, March 31.—Five instances of reduced admission have been ruled against by the local grievance board.

On complaint of G. E. Klock, Klock, Neodesha, Kan, against A. B. McNabb, Gem, same city, charging the respondent has failed to abide by a desist order on bank night, McNabb will be called in to show cause why his film service should not be stopped. A similar show-cause order was issued in the case of the Fox Beyer, Excelsior Springs, Mo., on a cash night violation complained against by J. Erwin Dodson, Casino, same city.

Other cases decided: F. M. Malone, Casino, Boonville, Mo., vs. Fox Midwest's Lyric, same city; "Br'er Fox matinee" for children at seven cents; William Warner, manager of the Warner exchange, testified contracts called for 10-cent minimum admission for children. Determination: cease and desist.

C. W. Helstrom, Helstrom, McPherson, Kan., vs. Jack Johnston, Ritz, same town; respondent ordered to cease and desist bank night if and when complaint files certificate of compliance to abide by reduced admission provisions of the code. Helstrom subsequently filed the necessary compliance.

Delphus Williams, Delphus, Carthage, Mo., vs. Fox Midwest's Crane, same city. Complaint covering bank night dismissed inasmuch as Crane discontinued the stunt a day before the hearing.

Unfinished Business Awaits Campi Action

Unfinished business of last Thursday and Friday will be the order of the day at the next Campi session on April 4. Several matters were taken up and put over until the next meeting because of the Los Angeles clearance and zoning schedule.

About 30 appeals were on the calendar for decision, but the board did not get around to one of them. Meanwhile, appeal cases are piling up. Committees resume hearings today and will hold another session tomorrow.

Tri-State Meets April 14

MEMPHIS, March 31.—The Tri-State M.P.T.O. will hold its spring convention here at the Hotel Chicsa April 14-15.

"Colonel," at $28,000, Top In Washington

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Shirley Temple again proved her box-office strength. "The Little Colonel" sent Loew's Fox skyrocketing to $28,000, over normal by $7,500, normal week of $20,500.

Next best was "While the Patient Slept," at the Metropolitan, which gathered $5,200. Average is $4,100. "The Private Life of Don Juan" at Loew's Columbia clinked off a total of $3,800, or $700 over average. "Gold Diggers of 1935" at the Earle was somewhat weak at $18,900. "Roberta," in its second week, still played to more than average first week business, with a take of $12,900. At Loew's Palace the second Anna Sten opus did not do well.

Total first run business was $80,300. Average, excluding the Belasco, is $71,200.

Just a Skirmish

Salt Lake City, March 31.—A group of midgets went western in a big way here last week. At the close of an engagement at the Victory they staged a party. A fist fight developed.

Police removed a .22 calibre pistol from one of them. Bruises and scratches were covered with 16-millimetre bandages. The armed member of the troupe claimed his gat at Police Headquarters later.

"Life Begins" Denver Smash With $13,000

DENVER, March 31.—Will Rogers' "Life Begins at 40" did the best business a Rogers film has ever done here by hitting $13,000 at the Denver. This is $7,000 over normal.

"Roberta" was also in the smash hit class at the Orpheum. Its $10,000 take topped average by $4,000. Both films were held, the Rogers film going to the Broadway for an extended run.

Total first run business was $33,900. Average is $24,000.

Berlin Finishes 'Top Hat'

HOLLYWOOD, March 31. — Irving Berlin has completed the score for "Top Hat" for Radio and the film will start the first week in April. Dwight Taylor and Allan Scott are winding up work on the screen play.

Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers will be starred with Helen Broderick, Erik Rhodes and Eric Blore in support.

Opening for Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, March 31. — Because the story was authored in part by Judge M. A. Musmanno, member of the Common Pleas bench here and an authority on coal-mine conditions, Pittsburgh will get the premiere of the Paul Muni picture, "Black Fury." It opens here at the Stanley April 26.

Judge Musmanno flew to New York over the week-end where Mort Blumenstock screened the film privately.

Van in Temple Film

HOLLYWOOD, March 31.—Gus Van has been added to the cast of "Our Little Girl," the Shirley Temple picture at Fox.

"Colonel" Up To $8,000 on Chicago Week

CHICAGO, March 31.—"The Little Colonel," in its second Loop week at the Garrick, was the best comparative draw here last week. It went $3,000 above normal on an $8,000 gross.

All Loop houses, except two, were over average, but not outstandingly so. "The Scarlet Pimpernel" reached $18,000 at the United Artists, "Life Begins at 40" was strong with $36,000 at the Chicago, and "Ruggles of Red Gap," in its third week at the Roosevelt, took $11,000. "David Copperfield" was good for $6,000 in its sixth Loop week at the Apollo. "The Little Minister" did quite well in its third Loop week at the State-Lake, getting $17,000.

Want Red Films Banned

BOSTON, March 31.—Protesting that two imported Soviet films reeking with propaganda have been shown at the Majestic, local Levrard house, the state department of the American Legion has requested Mayor Mansfield to bar such pictures from Boston. A letter signed by State Commander Jeremiah Toomey and Leo Harlow informed the Mayor that simple deletions often make a communistic film even more dangerous and that only complete banning was the proper method.

Para.Contracts Up Today

Hearing of a petition to authorize the Paramount Publix trustees to adopt 181 executory contracts made by the company prior to its bankruptcy, which was scheduled to have been held Saturday before Special Master John E. Joyce, was postponed to today. The contracts are mostly for fulfillment of theatre acquisition deals and foreign distribution arrangements. They must be adopted by the trustees in order to be carried on by the new company after Paramount's reorganization.

Hurley on Own

Albert Hurley, former designer of the Ortho-Krome Screen, announces formation of a new screen manufacturing concern under his own name with headquarters in Long Island City. The concern will be known as the Hurley Screen Co., Inc., and will manufacture a standard sound screen. M. A. Shea is associated with Hurley.

and intensity to the light on this man's crown of thorns and presented an Odyssey pre-ordained to be one of the genuinely great films of yesterday or today.

As true today as when Hugo wrote, all the crass stupidities of a heartless system are shown in their brutal callousness, as vital this hour as when France unshackled herself and blood ran the streets of Paris.

Known to every tongue, the screen divides Hugo's classic into three episodes. In the first, March, as Jean, is convicted of stealing a loaf of bread and is condemned to the galleys. Belted, beaten and freed, a priest regenerates him by acts of giving. The second section sees Jean risen as the mayor, respected, but with the spectre of the past haunting him in the person of Laughton, the grim, relentless law. The third division, in Paris, shows Jean's selfless renunciation of his adopted daughter, Rochelle Hudson, giving her to her sweetheart-revolutionist, John Beal, as the Hitlerish Laughton commits suicide.

Every facet of production showmanship is here perfectly polished with heart interest, spectacle, beauty melodrama, human conflict, sorrow, joy, love victorious and unrequited, all harmoniously blended with the basic appeal of humanity fundamental.

March, symbolizing Christ, gives an inspired performance. His transitions are remarkable and his histrionic prowess a triumph. Laughton, symbolizing the anti-Christ, makes his character hateful and understandable.

Sir Frederick Hardwicke, Miss Hudson, Beal, Frances Drake and others impress in support.

Boleslawski, by human handling of this picture alone, achieves his niche in the directorial Hall of Fame. W. C. Lipscomb's screenplay compacts Hugo's classic in a model of screencraft. Gregg Toland's photography excels.

To Darryl F. Zanuck, paens of praise and roses.

As an outstanding production drenched with emotions stirring nations even today, this is of roadshow calibre and should be a leader of the year.

Production Code Seal, No. 686. Running time, 105 minutes. "G."

"Stolen Harmony"

(Paramount)

HOLLYWOOD, March 31.—Ben Bernie acts as well as leads his band and an above-the-average picture is here made by the musical radio personality. The "Old Maestro" holds his own with the best comedians and is plenty convincing when the occasion demands serious moments.

The story starts with Bernie auditioning a prison band and selecting George Raft, who is released the following week, for a saxophone job in his band, which is about to start on a transcontinental bus tour. Raft clicks as a player and later pinch hits as the dancing partner of Grace Bradley, scoring again. As Raft's position becomes secure, Leslie Fenton, an old cell-mate, turns up and proposes Raft join him in looting the band's money carried in the bus.

Raft refuses and Fenton does the job alone, nevertheless getting Raft in trouble and as Bernie is about to fire him the entire troupe is kidnaped by a gang headed by Lloyd Nolan. Raft is recognized by William Fawley, also a fellow jail alumnus, and pretends to join the mobsters, eventually arranging the delivery of the troupe and annihilation of the gang by the cops. Raft, slightly wounded, wins Miss Bradley while in the hospital and regains the good graces of Bernie.

The production by Albert Lewis and direction of Alfred Werker are first rate. In the supporting cast Goodee Montgomery teamed with Charlie Arnt, for comedy and romance, stand out. The screenplay by Leon Gordon and Harry Ruskin with dialogue by Claude Binyon and Lewis Foster are good jobs. Mack Gordon and Harry Revel contribute several catchy tunes. The picture should click with any audience.

bulletin of M. P. T. O. A., Ed Kuykendall, president, said Saturday.

The organization feels, Kuykendall said, that the scattered support for the measure within the industry is the result of ignorance of the bill's real objectives and its probable effects, and may be misleading to other exhibitors.

Kuykendall said that a meeting date for discussion of code revisions between the M. P. T. O. A. code committee and Compliance Director Sol A. Rosenblatt is not expected to be set until the Administration has agreed on new NRA legislation. The committee has been instructed to work for a 20 per cent code cancellation clause and other significant code amendments.

Regional units' ballots on the new M. P. T. O. A. executive committee are still being received. Results of the election, however, may be available within the next few days. Kuykendall leaves for Washington today, but is expected back here Thursday for a Code Authority meeting.

Barnstyn Will Film 3 English Features

J. C. Barnstyn, president of British & Dominion Trading Corp. and Interworld Pictures, plans to make three British pictures in England, principally for the English market. He sails for London some time in May to work out details.

Fox Picks Debutantes

HOLLYWOOD, March 31.—Fox has followed Paramount's lead in breaking away from the Wampas and has named Rita Cansino, Frances Grant, Rosina Lawrence and Barbara Blane the studio's "Four Debutantes." Winfield Sheehan, production head of Fox, personally made the selections. The four girls will be exploited as future stars in much the same manner as Wampas did on a larger scale.

Kreuzer New Manager

Edwin M. Hartley, manager of the RCA Victor Photophone Department, has appointed Barton Kreuzer, formerly a member of the RCA Victor engineering research and service staffs, consulting engineer in charge of Photophone recording sales. Kreuzer's headquarters will be in the local studios.

Calloway Kingston Worry

KINGSTON, N. Y., March 31.—Booking of Cab Calloway at the Armory here on May 2 is causing plenty of worry to exhibitors who are checking on future bookings for strong competitive film programs.

Walter Reade operates the Broadway and Kingston, two principal houses here.

Lengthen RKO Marathon

Further postponement to April 9 of the RKO-Meyer & Schneider breach of lease arbitration hearings, involving film playing policies at the Hollywood and Apollo will be taken in advance of the scheduled hearing today.

eral weeks yet. Serious opposition to the proposed board of 16 members has died down. Some undoubtedly will be voiced at the April 4 hearing for confirmation of the plan, but the board as now constituted is expected to be confirmed by the court. When that has been done a special meeting of stockholders will be called to formally elect the directors. Thereafter, creditor groups will square off again for the final bouts for selection of officers to be elected by the board.

Meanwhile, sufficient creditor assents to assure confirmation of the plan on April 4 lack only approximately $650,000 of Paramount Broadway bonds. There are needed two-thirds of the $8,875,000 of Broadway bonds outstanding and slightly more than 60 per cent of the issue are now on deposit. The required amount of the $25,825,000 of Paramount Publix and Paramount Famous Lasky debentures and of Paramount stock are already on hand and the period for withdrawal from the bondholders' and stockholders' committees expired Saturday. While the required amount of general creditors' claims has not yet been reached, definite assurances of the needed deposits by April 4 are on hand.

No postponement of the April 4 hearing before Federal Judge Alfred C. Coxe will be sought unless there is a deficiency of assents at that time.

Lightman Realigns His Theatre Staff

MEMPHIS, March 31.—Realignment of personnel to manage his expanded interests has been completed by M. A. Lightman.

Gene Oliver, former manager of the Arkansas, Little Rock, replaces Charlie Mensing as Orpheum manager here, Mensing having resigned. Fred Ford is the Lightman manager placed at the newly-acquired Palace, Ford coming here from Shreveport where he was with Saenger.

William H. Ramsey has been moved in from the neighborhood Memphian to manage the downtown Strand, succeeding Elliott Johnson, who was made advertising director for the circuit, with Curby Smith of Jonesboro transferred to Memphis to handle special exploitation.

Kenton to Direct "Maid"

HOLLYWOOD, March 31.—"Maid of Honor" at Columbia will be directed by Erle Kenton. John Howard Lawson and Ethel Hill are doing the adaptation from Katherine Brush's story, and production is scheduled to start within the next 10 days.

Retitle "Wanderlust"

HOLLYWOOD, March 31.—Warners have changed the title of "Wanderlust" to "Mary Jane's Pa," the original name of the Edith Ellis play.

The picture co-stars Guy Kibbee and Aline MacMahon.

Luncheon Shorts to Be Given K. C. Test

KANSAS CITY, March 31.—A new wrinkle in theatre operation known as "luncheon short subjects matinee" will be inaugurated at the Royal, 800-seat downtown house, when it reopens in about two weeks.

The idea is that between the hours of 11:30 A.M. and 1:30 P.M. the programs will switch to a sort of Trans-Lux policy consisting of newsreels, comedies, novelties and other abbreviated films. No feature will be shown. The rest of the schedule, from opening at 9 A.M. to closing, will be devoted to the customary routine.

Regular programs, it is understood, will be double bills at a dime a throw. Breck Fagin returns to Kansas City after an absence of several years to manage the Royal, which formerly was a Publix operation.

Shift Around St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, March 31.—Four houses have changed hands in this territory. The Riverview has been acquired by Claude Lupkey and has been reopened.

T. R. Burcham has taken the Princess at Doniphan, Mo., from P. J. Burford, and S. Schlesinger has taken over the New Gem at Cairo, Ill. This house used to be known as the Empress. The Empire at Zeigler, Ill., has been closed.

Hoban Is Made a Judge

SCRANTON, March 31. — Thomas Linus Hoban, general counsel in Pennsylvania for the Comerford interests, has been appointed by Gov. George H. Earle as an additional law judge in Lackawanna County. He will fill the vacancy on the common pleas bench caused by the death of Judge E. C. Newcomb.

Cummings on 'Argentina'

HOLLYWOOD, March 31. — Irving Cummings will direct "Argentina," the Lou Brock musical for Fox. It is slated to get under way April 1.

Tito Guizar and Alice Faye have the leads with Cole Porter supplying the music.

Compete in Detroit For Service Pacts

DETROIT, March 31.—With many Erpi contracts expiring, a three-cornered fight is on here between that company, Allied and the operator's union for new service contracts.

Erpi is reported to have offered to reduce its service charge from $16.25 per month to $13.25. The union is offering to contract for the work at $7.50 per month and Allied is reported to have entered the competition with a deal whereby exhibitors will receive service for $3.00 per month.

The union has issued a decree that none but union men may enter the booths to do service work.

Sanders Back to Pueblo

LINCOLN, March 31.—John Sanders, brought here about a week ago from Pueblo, Col., where he had been manager of the Pueblo, goes back after about 10 days at his new post in the Kiva here. Both are L. L. Dent houses. Sanders will probably be moved to Salt Lake City.

To Start at Asheville

ASHEVILLE, N. C., March 31.—Work will begin in a few days on remodeling the Redwood building to house the new $75,000 Publix-Bamford theatre, according to Carl R. Bamford, vice-president and General Manager. The house will seat 1,400 and will be one of the largest in the Carolinas.

Re-Title Holt Picture

HOLLYWOOD, March 31.—Columbia has set "The Unwelcome Stranger" as the release title on the current Jack Holt vehicle, which has been working under the title of "Gimpy."

per cent write-down of Fox Met bonds proposed in the Schenck-Fox Theatres' plan, and another having the reported offer backed by the Greenblatt financial interests of Philadelphia.

Officials identified with the Schenck-Fox Theatres' plan admitted having heard the reports, but discounted the significance of any counter bid which may be made for Fox Met. They stated that their plan has the approval of the Fox Met bondholders' committee and Halsey, Stuart & Co., representing approximately 90 per cent of the Fox Met bonds outstanding and that under Section 77-B reorganization proceedings cannot be instituted without a minimum of 25 per cent of a company's outstanding bonds.

However, holders who have deposited their bonds with the Fox Met committee will have an opportunity to withdraw from the committee before the Schenck-Fox Theatres' plan is confirmed by the court. Thus, an opposition plan might attract sufficient withdrawals to meet 77-B requirements for its presentation.

Indications yesterday were that Fox Met bondholders represented by Saul E. Rogers, attorney, who at one time stated he might present a reorganization plan, will now support the Schenck-Fox Theatres' plan.

Technicians to List Variety of Credits

HOLLYWOOD, March 31.—The Technicians' Branch executive committee of the Academy plans to make the technicians' credits publication a complete technical history of each production in the future.

The first publication of technicians' credits will be issued shortly after April 1 and will include a listing of sound effects and music mixers, research director, the matte painting, miniature, special effect and transparency projection shot technicians, laboratory making the negative and release prints, as well as art director, first and second cameraman, film editor and unit sound mixer.

Steffes Will Open Minneapolis Alvin

MINNEAPOLIS, March 31.—Al Steffes will open the Shubert under the name of the Alvin on April 4, he says, with vaudeville and films. The house has had the Bainbridge Stock Co. for years.

Steffes has spent $60,000 redecorating the house and installing a new front.

Charter Commonwealth

KANSAS CITY, March 31.—Commonwealth Amusement Corp., recently organized here, is capitalized for $150,000 as a Missouri corporation to conduct a general theatre business. This is the new circuit formed by a consolidation of Commonwealth Theatres, Inc., of Kansas City with Central States Theatre Co. of Hoisington, Kan., with L. M. Miller as president.

Chicago Board Hits Screeno Hard Blow

CHICAGO, March 31.—Screeno took it on the chin at the hands of the local grievance board in cases brought before it this week. In two cases in which Lou Reinheimer of the Calumet, Hammond, Ind., was complainant against Warners' Orpheum and the Paramount, operated by Parahan Corp., the board issued cease and desist orders.

Stop orders were also issued against Screeno in the complaint of Fred Gilford of the Madlin against the Lindy operated by Harry Nepo and in a complaint of the Madlin against the American operated by Essaness.

Lou Reinheimer and his Calumet figured in another case against the Parthenon on reduced admissions and bank night. The board issued a stop order covering both complaints.

End Pawtucket Premiums

BOSTON, March 31.—Premiums and giveaways have been ordered stopped at the Broadway, Pawtucket, R. I., managed by Francis Ward. The complaint was brought by M. & P.-Publix and Martin Toohey.

To Build at Baton Rouge

BATON ROUGE, La., March 31.—Joe Barcelona, who runs the Tivoli and another house here, will construct two more shortly. One will be a colored house and the other a white house which will replace the People's, which is scheduled to close.

Stop "Rainbow Nights"

SALT LAKE CITY, March 31.—"Rainbow Nights" at the Broadway Theatre, Butte, Mont., have been ordered stopped by the grievance board here. The complaint was brought by the Park, same city.

Leases Canton House

CANTON, O., March 31. — T. M. Jones of Morgantown, West Va., has leased the Grand Opera House. The house has been dark for four months. Films and traveling stage companies will be alternated.

"Allah" for Crawford

HOLLYWOOD, March 31. — Joan Crawford's next for M-G-M when she finishes in "No More Ladies" will be "The Garden of Allah," which David O. Selznick will produce.

Sleep in Theatre

Omaha, March 31.—Film salesmen are recounting dust storm yarns these days. The prize tale is one on the Rialto at Elmwood, Neb.

Customers refused to leave after the show ended because of the fierceness of the dirt gale. Finally the bulk of them pushed out to their homes. Fifteen persons refused to budge. They remained all night, sleeping in seats and in the aisles.

Omaha May Lose Two

OMAHA, March 31.—Two theatres here seem destined for demolition. Ralph D. Goldberg has a deal pending to sell the Town to a night club concern and another to put a parking space on the site of the State.

Two openings are set out in the territory. Robert Freed has acquired the Dreamland from O. P. Shannon at Wakefield, Neb., and Russell E. Johnson has opened the Opera House at Palmer, Neb.

Theatres Compete in One Cincy Building

CINCINNATI, March 31.—Two opposition independent theatres under one roof here is believed to be the only operating setup of its kind in the country.

The Mayfair, 400-seat house, controlled by J. Ebersole Crawford and John R. Loofbourow, playing Gaumont British product, is located in the Masonic Temple, which also houses the 2,600-seat Taft, operated by Larry Sunbrock, who opened March 1 with stage shows and pictures. Both houses are on a grind policy. The two entrances are approximately 200 feet apart.

Columbus Revives Stage

COLUMBUS, March 31.—The Hartman, a Neth unit, dark for several months, opens Friday with "Spices of 1935" on the stage and "Transient Lady" on the screen. In opposition, the RKO Palace, which has been playing straight films, has booked in "Hello Paris" for the week of April 5, with "Behold My Wife" as the screen feature.

The town has been without stage shows since last August.

Buffalo

BOSTON, March 31.—JAMES W. HIGGINS, police commissioner, who is nationally known for devising a pocket-size rogues' gallery carried by thousands of policemen, and FRANK A. COON, park commissioner, were guest speakers at the Variety Club luncheon. It was arranged by HARRY ALTMAN and BERT RYDE. Second Assistant Chief Barker JACK H. KAPLAN of United Artists presided. Property Master W. E. J. MARTIN presented the speakers.

Chief Barker TED O'SHEA and First Assistant SYDNEY SAMSON returned this week from their 12-day cruise to the West Indies. It was O'SHEA's first lengthy vacation in four years.

Barker A. CHARLES HAYMAN of the Lafayette also is back. He passed several months in Florida. He caught a 72-pound sailfish, and has pictures to prove it, but the task was so severe that he couldn't play golf for two days.

Barker NICHOLAS J. BASIL, dough guy of Buffalo Variety, and president and general manager of the Basil Brothers' Theatres, will sail April 7 for a six-month vacation in Europe, chiefly in Greece, his native land. He will be accompanied by two of his brothers. He will be guest of honor at a Happy Landings stunt dinner April 1, happy landings because Nick plans to fly from Brindisi to Athens. He'll celebrate two Easters, one in Paris, and the other the Greek orthodox Easter, in Athens. Barkers JOHN SITTERLY, RALPH MAW and MURRAY WHITEMAN are arranging the dinner.

Cleveland

CLEVELAND, March 31. — Variety Club met with B. D. (BUCK) STONER, M-G-M office manager, and MAURICE SPITALNY, orchestra leader at the RKO Palace, as kings. Entertainment was furnished by DUKE ELLINGTON and IVY ANDERSON, featured member of the current act at the RKO Palace, "SNAKE HIPS" JACKSON of the same outfit and TRACY GALE & LEONARD of the Club Chateau.

Variety Club Chatter

Guests of honor were Federal District Attorney EMERY B. FREED and his assistant, PARKER FULTON, JUDGE JOSEPH STACEL and JUDGE MAURICE BERNON.

MAURICE KAPLAN, local circuit owner, won first prize—a pair of ringside seats for a fight at the Public Auditorium. Second prize went to COL. HARRY E. LONG.

Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, March 31.—New clubrooms in the Country Club Plaza will be ready about April 15, says Chief Barker GEORGE BAKER.

The layout will be larger than present quarters and incorporate facilities for virtually all functions, including luncheon meetings. There's even a ballroom in the building, a J. C. NICHOLS property.

April 1, next Monday, a number of the barkers will go to the St. Louis tent for "Kansas City Day." EARL JAMESON will fly his own plane, taking along SAM ABEND and ARTHUR COLE. The business meeting scheduled for that date has been deferred.

ABEND, G. L. CARRINGTON and BENNY BENJAMIN are kings for the next get-together, April 8.

NORRIS B. CRESSWELL, the snapshot man, at the last meeting presented a sample of the forthcoming Elks' Extravaganza when he brought up some acts from the show. FRANK H. CASSIL and GUS DIAMOND were co-kings.

Property Master CHARLEY JONES wants barkers to get in touch with him about tickets for the opening day of the American Assn. baseball season here, April 16. The Kling trophy goes to the group turning out the largest crowd at the first mound battle.

LESTER MARTIN of Des Moines and EDDIE CARRIER, M-G-M publiciteer, were guests at the club.

Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, March 31.—Applications for membership are being received. The club has voted to raise its roll to 150.

The following committees have been appointed by Chief Barker EARLE SWEIGERT: membership, S. SCHWARTZ, L. SCHLESINGER, AL COHEN, HERB ELLIOTT; house, JAY EMANUEL, PERCY BLOCH, WILLIAM H. LEE, MILTON ROGASNER, JOHN MONROE, LOUIS GOLDSMITH, DAVE SUPOWITZ, HARRY WEINER, CHARLES SEGALL; entertainment, LEONARD SCHLESINGER, EDWARD SHERMAN, HARRY BIBEN, LEON LEVY, WILLIAM HAYNES, ULRICH SMITH, JACK LEXEY; finance, JAMES CLARK, BEN AMSTERDAM, LEON LEVY, CHARLES SEGALL, ELLIS SHIPMAN, JACK GREENBERG; publicity, HARRY GOLDBERG, BART MCHUGH, JR., JERRY CROWLEY, CHARLES ZAGRANS.

Three more will be added to the membership committee later.

Cabaret night, every Saturday, is growing in popularity, as are the preview screenings held every Sunday evening.

Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, March 31. — Judge EGAN and Judge PATTERSON were honor guests at luncheon—both real Irish and Judge M. A. MUSMANNO claiming the right by reason of his first name (Michael).

BART DATTOLA just elected a nonresident member—also JERRY O'NEILL of the William Penn.

The club has hung its new charter from Variety Clubs of America designating it as Tent No. 1. All charters are being mailed this week.

The Irish luncheon March 18 was the signal for a packed house. One of the best luncheons of the season.

Because the time set for the national convention (the third Saturday in April) is so close to Easter Saturday and Sunday, a letter has gone out to all national officers suggesting a change in date.

The Notre Dame Club, American Legion and others make use of the club weekly for their group luncheons.

BEN BROWN feeling good again after an illness.

Variety Club, Tent No. 1, is holding its annual benefit stage and screen show at the Stanley Sunday night, March 31. Tickets have been on sale for several days and a complete sellout was indicated in the early reports of seat chairmen.

JOHN H. HARRIS, national Variety Club president, is general chairman of the entertainment. In addition to stage headliners appearing here during that week, several well known acts were brought on from New York.

Washington

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Bowling night was held with ROBERT GRANCE and SAM FLAX as kings for a day. Awards in the M. P. Bowling League were made.

JAY EMANUEL of the National Exhibitor was on hand to present his trophy to the winning Paramount Team, captained by THOMAS MUDD, with BOB GRACE, GEORGE DEPERINI, JIM BURNS, JACK BRYAN the supporting cast.

The awards (medals) donated by the local M.P.T.O. were pinned on the winning team's members by SIDNEY B. LUST, vice-president.

The cash prizes were presented by Chief Barker RUDOLPH BERGER.

Among the guests were EARL SWEIGERT, chief barker, and MILTON ROGASNER, assistant chief barker, of the newly formed Philadelphia tent; and ED KUYKENDALL, president of the M.P.T.O.A.

BERT LAHR and RAY BOLGER, stars of "Life Begins at 8:40," with TALBOT HASLETT and EVELYN TYNER, a local tenor-pianist duo making its vaude debut this week at Loew's Fox, were guests of honor at a special luncheon on last Monday (March 25) presided over by STEPHEN E. COCHRAN and LOUIS A. BROWN, as kings for a day.

"BUSTER KEATON IS LEADING THE COMEDY FIELD"

says the Cleveland Plain Dealer, whose veteran critic, W. Ward Marsh, writes:

"Visits to Warner Brother's Hippodrome and the RKO Keith's 105th Street Theaters this week will convince you that Buster Keaton has fairly discovered the true secret for making talkies.

"He is miles ahead of the feature producers today...he has discovered the way to use detail so that it becomes action and his picture 'flows' steadily without interruption by or very much help from dialog.

"I felt that perhaps Buster had blundered into a happy accident when he made 'Palooka from Paducah'...Telling his story of 'Palooka' in pantomime was no mere accident for Keaton. He proves that with 'One Run Elmer'. This is his second feature in his new two-reel series...Keaton is back where he belongs, and at the moment leading the comedy field!

"There is even less dialog in 'One Run Elmer' than in 'Palooka', proving that Keaton does know how to make pictures.

"Here is Buster on the rebound. In fact he's now leading the pack."

Thank You, Mr. Marsh... AND DON'T MISS BUSTER'S THIRD. WE BELIEVE IT PACKS MORE LAUGHS THAN ANY OTHER SHORT SUBJECT HE EVER MADE!

Fox Loses in His Last Move On Tri-Ergon

Supreme Court Refuses Flywheel Rehearing

By CLARENCE LINZ

WASHINGTON, April 1. — William Fox today went down to final defeat in his fight to establish the validity of one of his two American Tri-Ergon patents when the U. S. Supreme Court refused to rehear the Wilmer & Vincent and Altoona Publix case, involving the flywheel patent. The court acted with unusual speed, the petition asking for a rehearing having been filed Friday.

As a result of the court's action, its opinion rendered last month, denying the validity of the patents on which Tri-Ergon some time ago brought suits against producers and exhibitors

Para. Assents Exceed Total Law Requires

Clears Way for Formal Approval by Court

Sufficient creditor assents for formal confirmation of the Paramount Publix plan of reorganization at the scheduled Federal court hearing Thursday were realized yesterday when deposits of Paramount Broadway bonds passed the required two-thirds mark. It is estimated that holders of approximately $33,000,000 of the total of about $46,000,000 of claims against the company qualified to vote on the plan have now assented. In addition, a majority of Paramount stockholders has approved the plan.

Federal reorganization statutes require confirmation of a reorganization plan by two-thirds in amount of all classes of creditors and a majority of stockholders. A sufficient amount

Cleveland to Set Up a New Singles Pact

CLEVELAND, April 1.—The Cleveland M. P. Exhibitors' Ass'n. has voted to prepare for signatures an agreement to continue with single features in all membership houses. It will become effective with the expiration of the present single feature compact.

This followed the action of the University in going to duals in violation of the agreement, although it had been signed by the owner, Max Lefkowich, and the threat that half a dozen other scattered houses would follow suit. The vast majority of the members, comprising 95 per cent of the houses in the Greater Cleveland area, expressed themselves as satis-

Appeal Would Put Status Of Theatres Before Supreme Court

By BERTRAM F. LINZ

WASHINGTON, April 1.—Appeal by the government from the Denver decision holding exhibition to be intrastate commerce might serve to bring before the U. S. Supreme Court a question on which a part of the film industry and the NRA differ.

While Judge Syme's opinion is binding in that jurisdiction, it does not apply nationally, and an opposite decision might well be rendered in some other court should the same question arise.

That part of the decision holding the state recovery law invalid is in keeping with opinions rendered in at least two other states to the same effect.

The question whether exhibition is intrastate or interstate business is one which, if not resolved by the courts,

Herald Showmanship Show Draws Crowd to M. P. Club

By J. M. JERAULD

Ten o'clock rolled around yesterday morning at the Motion Picture Club. Somebody raised a curtain on a cage. "Gato," a puma, looked out and wished he was back in Sequoia National Park; an electric train whirled around in circles, drowning out the sound of ice in a cocktail shaker at the bar; 150 Randforce managers, who had been waiting in the corridor, hurried in. The Show of Showmanship was on!

A-Mike Vogel relaxed and reminisced about the time he staged a flood at Johnstown so Janet Gaynor could go into pictures later and make a million dollars for Fox.

By noon 281 visitors had been clocked and Mike agreed with Monroe Greenthal that it was "colossal."

Before 2 o'clock a fuse blew out, but what's a fuse in the life of an exploitation man! Arnold Van Leer leaped off a stepladder where he was draping bunting. A large crayon drawing of Red Kann in the Gaumont British exhibit could be seen only dimly for the time being, because it wasn't done in color, and the fied with the result of single features. They claim they made more money during the 1934-35 season with singles than during the 1933-34 season with duals. The half dozen houses opened since the agreement was signed, and therefore not affected by the terms of the agreement, are playing duals and causing unrest in their particular zones in theatres committed to singles.

Circulation of a new agreement is designed to do away with doubt as to when the current agreement expires. The various interpretations are that it expires July 8, that it expires Sept. 1, when the new selling season starts; that it expires when all of the 1934-35 product has been played, and that it expires upon the date of exhibition of the first picture released on the 1935-36 schedule. Another meeting of the association will be held this week.

Flint Dual Ban Starts

FLINT, April 1.—The ban on duals went into effect today in accordance with an agreement reached among exhibitors early last month.

Despite the ban some houses are doubling because they are allowed only one change per week. Two houses are also booking three-reel westerns as second features to get around the ban.

Already there is considerable dissatisfaction among several exhibitors, and there is the likelihood the man may flop.

The agreement banning duals calls for the use of one double feature program a week and allows exhibitors also to show a "guest" picture on one program each week. It prohibits duals on Sunday.

to a notice filed in Federal court here. Date of hearing is uncertain.

Answering charges of conspiracy on the part of the circuit and producing and distributing companies to eliminate Gumbiner houses in the downtown area, F.W.C. claims the complaint fails to state sufficient cause and asserts the action was not properly brought and contains a misjoinder of defendant parties.

The complaint in the action is that Gumbiner failed to get first run product.

big Q.P. exhibit, 8 ft., 10 in. x 7 ft., 6 in., showing Vice-President Garner presenting the grand Quigley Award lost some of its brilliance for the time being, but Van Leer was equal to the occasion. He pulled a fuse out of some place, and the return of electricity started some of the latest hit tunes from "Roberta" over in the RKO exhibit. A big cardboard cutout of Katharine Hepburn smiled at the crowds.

Was it a show? It was. Almost as crowded, in fact, as the sidewalk in front of the Palace.

And there were souvenirs! At the United Artists exhibit where Train Dispatcher Alvin Adams was seeing that the U.A. Limited didn't leap the tracks and hit Vice-President Garner in the shins they gave away cigarettes in neat packages. Over at the M-G-M layout they had beer pads, cocktail mixers that mentioned "Naughty Marietta," and other things. In the RKO corner they had a style show done in cardboard. On rows and rows of tables were enough campaign books to sell a year's output of all the major companies and some of the independents.

Flashlights gave the effect of a summer electrical storm, but there was no thunder. "Gato" blinked, but Capt. Volney Pfeifer explained he was used to it.

Russ Moon of Fox eased through the narrow passageways with some difficulty, but finally got an angle where he could cast an approving eye on his exhibit. Gordon White put the final O.K. on what Educational had to offer and Abe Waxman admired the Gaumont British art.

Executives came in to see what their employes were doing. Felix Feist and Budd Rogers were noted among them. Harry Brandt, Major Leslie E. Thompson, Sam Rinzler, A. H. Schwartz, Jack Springer, Harry Charnas, Si Fabian, L. F. Blumenthal, Laurence Bolognino, E. M. Hart, R. E. Knight, Warren Slee, William Brown, Robert Guere, Harold Van Vorst, Howard Dietz, Si Seadler and others dropped in.

Today Grover Whalen will present the new Quigley Awards at the club forum, and Paul Hollister, vice-president in charge of advertising of R. H. Macy & Co.; Barron Collier, Jr., Bruce Barton, Alden J. Cusick and others will speak. The proceedings will be broadcast over WHN and WMCA here and WIP in Philadelphia. Martin Quigley and Albert and Harry M. Warner will be among those present.

Thursday will be Ampa day. Following the weekly luncheon the members and guests will inspect the exhibits.

This is the first of what will be an annual showmanship show. It is sponsored by the Managers' Round Table Club of Motion Picture Herald and is scheduled to run four days, ending Thursday night.

Sherman Doing Westerns

HOLLYWOOD, April 1.—Harry Sherman has closed a deal to produce six westerns for Paramount. Shooting will be concentrated at the Prudential studios.

Para. Ups Thomson

SALT LAKE CITY, April 1.—R. D. Thomson has been made Paramount branch manager here. He takes the place of C. H. G. Epperson, resigned. Thomson was a salesman at St. Louis.

using the sound equipment of other manufacturers, becomes effective.

Today's decision of the Supreme Court came as a surprise. It had not been expected when the petition for a rehearing was filed on Friday that a decision would be announced before April 8.

In applying for a rehearing of the flywheel case Tri-Ergon held that the Supreme Court had erred in throwing out the disclaimer in the case and that in deciding the flywheel claim invalid for want of invention it had made statements not supported by, or in contradiction with, the record.

Authors Can't Agree On "Fury's" Future

Harry R. Irving, author of the play, "Bohunk" on which "Black Fury" is based, disagrees with Judge M. A. Musmanno and the latter's announced intention of opposing New York censor changes in the picture through injunctions and the courts.

In a letter to Musmanno, Irving states he does not desire to be a party to "any intrusion, legal or otherwise, upon the rights and prerogatives of the New York Board of Censors.

"I am not personally aware of any action with respect to any deletions by the censors anywhere from the picture and, candidly, I do not believe that it lies within the province of either of us to contest any action taken by a public or quasi-public body. It would appear to me that this is the function only of the producers, Warner Bros., who is in the final analysis the party most proximately concerned."

Warners Get No Word

The Warners had no word by late yesterday as to decision of the New York censor board on "Black Fury." The picture is slated to open at the Strand tomorrow night with "The Case of the Curious Bride" the substitute attraction in case the Muni picture does not clear.

Observe Loew Birthday

BOSTON, April 1.—The 38th birthday of Elias M. Loew was celebrated with a party at his home in Hyde Park. Entertainment and music was brought from nearby E. M. Loew theatres. About 100 guests attended. Herman Rifken presented Loew an elaborate drinking cabinet. Loew recently returned from Miami.

Para. Assents Exceed Total Law Requires

of general claims, Paramount Publix and Paramount Famous Lasky bondholders have assented to the plan and creditor banks have also approved it. The Paramount Broadway bonds, outstanding in the amount of $8,875,000, were the last to reach the required two-thirds quota. The deposits of these bonds yesterday passed the $6,300,000 mark, or more than 70 per cent of the issue.

The acceptances of the plan by the creditors are taken as final assurance that no effort to change the proposed new Paramount board will be made by any of the influential creditor groups. Opposition to the board is expected to be voiced Thursday, but the lack of strength behind the objectors is seen as discrediting their efforts.

Yoost Petition Up Tomorrow

The petition of William Yoost, exhibitor and holder of 20 shares of Paramount stock, for leave to intervene in the Paramount reorganization proceedings for the purpose of opposing the proposed settlement of Erpi's $1,900,000 claim against Paramount, and involving new domestic recording license agreements, was filed in Federal court here yesterday, returnable before Judge Henry W. Goddard tomorrow.

Meanwhile, Yoost's attorney, Ralph Vatner, filed an order to show cause why Special Master John E. Joyce should not stay the proceedings on the claim settlement until the application for intervention has been decided.

In an affidavit filed with Joyce last week, in which Vatner attacked Paramount's proposed new Erpi license agreement, Yoost was described as being the holder of $23,000 of Paramount bonds. In the papers filed yesterday Yoost was described as a stockholder. There is no record of Yoost as a Paramount bondholder, but the records show that he holds 20 shares of stock. Vatner is counsel for the American Society for the Protection of the M. P. Theatre, largely known for unrestrained attacks on "big electrics."

$191,972 Claims Expunged

Orders expunging claims against Paramount Publix totaling $191,972 and the reduction of additional claims totaling $25,195 to $1,689, were signed yesterday by Federal Judge Alfred C. Coxe.

Among the claims expunged were those of Tobis-Tonbild for $111,119, Warner Bros., $75,000, and Eastman Kodak, $4,740. The claims reduced were those of Paramount Prod. against Paramount Publix, a claim of $25,000 reduced to $1,500, and a Fox Film claim of $195.75, reduced to $189.

Resume Case Thursday

can be assumed by the new company following its reorganization.

Among the contracts are many continuing agreements with theatre affiliates such as B. & K., Saenger, Rickards & Nace, M. A. Lightman, Fitzpatrick-McElroy, Famous Players Canadian, Olympia, M. &. P., Jefferson Amusement Co., Southern Enterprises, A. H. Blank, Dent Theatres, Publix Northwest and Minnesota Amusement Co. The list also includes contracts covering long term film franchises with various circuits, Erpi foreign licensing agreements, contracts for foreign distribution of Paramount pictures and theatre lease guarantees by the parent company.

Levy Objections to Para. Board Listed

A list of objections to the proposed new board of directors of Paramount, together with the suggestion of five alternative names for the board, was completed yesterday by Louis M. Levy, who says he represents Paramount stockholders, for presentation to Federal Judge Alfred C. Coxe at the scheduled hearing Thursday on confirmation of Paramount's reorganization plan. Immediately on its completion the Levy brief was telephoned to the press.

Levy's objections to the proposed board are that some of the nominees, he asserts, are associated with companies whose interests extend to the affairs of Paramount's film competitors; that only three of the proposed board of 16 have had film experience, and that some of the nominees have been identified with the formation in Paramount of policies which led to the company's financial embarrassment.

He suggests that the board should include "men of the type" of Carl W. Ackerman, dean of Columbia School of Journalism; George S. Kaufman, playwright; Charles Francis Coe, writer and editor; Guthrie McClintic, playwright, and Hugh J. Reber, of J. Walter Thompson, whom Levy also regards as a suitable advertising and publicity head for Paramount, he says.

Canadian City Joins Copyright Fee Fight

TORONTO, April 1.—The City Council of Stratford, Ontario, has taken up the cudgels in behalf of theatres and musical organizations in a protest against the powers claimed by the Canadian Performing Rights Society which recently doubled the annual license fees for theatres and individual charges for others for the presentation of copyrighted compositions.

Stratford adopted a resolution in which it was decided to enlist the cooperation of other Canadian municipalities in a protest to the Federal Secretary of State regarding the exercise of control of musical works.

C. H. Cahan, Secretary of State, has announced that a Royal Commission has been appointed by the Dominion Government to conduct an inquiry into the rights and practices of the Performing Rights Society.

Yamins Raps Code At Northwest Meet

exhibitor on the short end of the deal.

Yamins recommended complete revision of the code and a 50-50 Campi, with no exhibitor in partnership with a distributor considered as a member.

Two hundred exhibitors were in attendance at the opening of the convention.

The convention was called to order by President Al Steffes and the address of welcome was delivered by Mayor A. G. Bainbridge. Reports of officers, the appointment of committees, discussion of the code and industry problems and the nomination of officers were the order of business for the opening day.

At noon the Allied men lunched with members of the Variety Club, being greeted by Chief Barker E. R. Ruben, Chief Justice John P. Devaney of the State Supreme Court, Father John Dunphy and T. A. Burke.

Steffes declined being considered for any office and recommended a board consisting of men outside the Twin Cities to run the organization, with a paid secretary. The nominating committee will report Tuesday morning.

Tuesday's session will be devoted chiefly to addresses by Sidney Samuelson, Abram F. Myers and H. M. Richey, national president, counsel and secretary, respectively, as well as Yamins.

The convention will be brought to a close in the evening by a banquet at which the speakers will be Gov. Floyd B. Olson, Mayor Bainbridge, Myers, Samuelson, Richey, Yamins and Theodore L. Hayes, veteran theatre man of the Northwest. Entertainment will be supplied by Lupe Velez and members of the stage show at the Orpheum. Dancing will follow the banquet.

All of Cleveland's Zone Cases Appealed

All of the clearance and zoning cases heard and decided by the Cleveland board have been appealed, Frank Gross, independent exhibitor member of that body, stated yesterday. Gross estimates that there are about 20 cases.

En route to Toronto where he will spend a few days' vacation, Gross yesterday listened to two appeals from the Cleveland zoning board. He said he wanted to get an idea how the appeals committees work.

The two cases involved the same operators with Meyer Fine and Henry Greenberger of the Liberty, Cleveland, appealing from unanimous decisions rendered in favor of the Ambassador and Ritz. The local board declared the Ambassador non-competitive to the Liberty and put the theatre in another zone. The same verdict was handed down for the Ritz.

Appearing on behalf of the Ritz and Ambassador were Oscar Stotter and Morris Berkowitz, with the latter doing all the talking.

When it was learned that F. Thomas Murray was to be an appeals committee of one, the Cleveland litigants insisted on a full committee of three. William T. Powers, attorney for Fox West Coast, and Sidney Justin, legal representative for Paramount, who were representing their companies on St. Louis and Milwaukee clearance and zoning appeals, were drafted by John C. Flinn to round out the full committee demanded by the Cleveland exhibitors.

Denver Case May Govern Code's Fate

will have to be considered by the National Recovery Administration following the enactment of legislation continuing the recovery act.

While the tentative bill introduced last week by Senator Harrison of Mississippi provides that codes shall apply only to industries engaged in interstate commerce or whose operations substantially affect interstate commerce, that provision was so broadly written as to practically permit the Recovery Administration to classify in either category those businesses which, like exhibition, are in the "twilight zone."

Hold Injunctions Possible

DENVER, April 1.—Opinion here is that, as a result of Federal Judge J. Foster Syme's ruling that exhibition is not interstate commerce, any exhibitor going into court in this district could get a temporary injunction preventing Code Authority from interfering with film supply until the Huffman case has been decided on appeal.

The other angle of the court's ruling declaring the state NRA act unconstitutional came about because the Government attorneys had made it an issue in the case and because a state court judge recently declared the act unconstitutional in a plumbing case.

Another hearing is to be held in the Huffman case for a ruling on the Government's contention that Huffman's operations here constitute a monopoly and are restraint of trade within the meaning of the Sherman anti-trust law and Clayton Act.

The case came back to the U. S. District Court here after the Circuit Court of Appeals in Oklahoma City had upheld the temporary injunction obtained by Huffman following a decision of the grievance board in which his film supply was ordered stopped because he refused to end automobile giveaways at his theatres.

Huffman controls Denham Theatre, Inc., General Theatres, Inc., and Aladdin Theatre Corp., circuit of eight houses in Denver. Byron Rogers, assistant attorney general, has been representing the Government and Campi, assisted by Special Attorney Maston G. White of Washington.

No announcement has been made here as to whether the Government will take an appeal, but it is assumed that it will as soon as the monopoly angle has been ruled upon. In the meantime, Huffman continues his giveaways.

"Wise Counsel" Is Hays Plea on Tax

hope that "wise counsel" will prevail in the California legislature.

"Realizing the responsibilities of government and the accentuation by present emergencies, we, as responsible factors in this business, are vitally concerned also, as we are part of that government and those responsibilities," he said in part. "The industry has always borne a heavy load of taxation and contributed more than a normal share of the expenses of government.

"Rising taxes cannot be met with commensurate raise in prices or in a reduction of costs because of restrictions inherent in the business and the nature of the art. Quality cannot be lowered and the industry is now carrying its ultimate tax burden. It is important whether there shall be class legislation aimed particularly at the film industry. Should this develop, stockholders, company employes and the public attending theatres could not meet the increased discriminatory charge. It is time for cool heads, temperate statements. Many situations are soluble when approached in the spirit of neighborliness and community interest. I am hopeful wise counsel will prevail in the California legislature."

Midwest Overbuying Case Filed in K. C.

KANSAS CITY, April 1. — Fox Midwest is charged with having tied up practically all major product in an overbuying complaint filed here by J. Erwin Dodson, Casino, Excelsior Springs, Mo., operating in opposition to the Fox Beyer, same city.

Dodson states the only product he has been able to buy is Majestic and Consolidated exchanges' independent releases and some Columbia and Midwest features. He charges the circuit has selective contracts with Columbia and Midwest and a monopoly of other product.

For this reason, asserts Dodson, he has been able to operate only two days a week and unless he can secure enough pictures to operate seven days a week his investment will be a total loss. Dodson recently took over the Casino, which was opened several months ago.

Dodson has filed a certificate of compliance agreeing to quit bank night, after Campi so ruled in order that a cease and desist order may become effective against the Fox house, which ran cash night.

A compliance certificate has also been signed by Glen Klock, Neodesha, Kan., and now it will be necessary for A. B. McNabb, same town, to discontinue bank night.

Fox Midwest has appealed a bank night desist order against its theatre at Boonville, Mo.

Dismiss Baron Case

BOSTON, April 1.—The complaint of Joseph J. Baron, Grand, West Warren, Mass., in which he sought elimination of the 30-day clearance held by the Poli, Springfield, has been dismissed by the grievance board without prejudice on the ground that all parties at interest were not included in the complaint. The towns are 28 miles apart.

Stop Prizes in Popcorn

OMAHA, April 1. — E. E. Seff, manager of four Sioux City, Ia., houses, has suffered his fourth reverse at the hands of the local grievance board. He has been ordered to stop an alleged lottery via the "popcorn" route. Seff originated the idea of drawings for merchandise and cash prizes by allowing patrons to draw numbers from popcorn sacks they purchased in the lobby of his two theatres, the Circle and the Loop, customers holding lucky numbers being given awards from the stage.

The scheme was closely allied to bank night on which Seff had been previously stopped by Code Authority on two occasions. Complainants were Nathan Dax manager of the Hipp and Iowa, and P. H. Gelfand, manager of the Garden.

Set Norwalk Clearance

CLEVELAND, April 1. — Sandusky's seven-day protection over Norwalk will be eliminated whenever the price at the Norwalk Forum equals or exceeds the scales at the State and Ohio, Sandusky, under a decision of the grievance board. The complaint was brought by the Forum.

Stop Buffalo Cut Rates

BUFFALO, April 1.—Cease and desist orders in lowered admission cases have been issued by the grievance board against the Auburn Capitol and the Majestic here, operated by Ted Rosen.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Reckless"

(M-G-M)

HOLLYWOOD, April 1.—Superb production plus big draw cast names makes this a certain money picture. The story, doubtless inspired by the Smith Reynolds-Libby Holman headlines, gives Jean Harlow, William Powell and Franchot Tone great opportunities.

Starting as a three-cornered courtship with Sports Promoter Powell battling Millionaire Playboy Tone for Miss Harlow's favor, the dialogue sparkles and the action speeds along until Miss Harlow and Tone wake up one morning to find they had married the night before. Then Tone remembers Rosalind Russell, to whom he has been engaged. Taking Miss Harlow home, he finds himself still in love with Miss Russell and in the bad graces of his father (Henry Stephenson), as well as his social-ite friends.

When Miss Russell marries another, Tone drinks heavily at the wedding and berates his wife. Miss Harlow returns to Powell and tells him a divorce is impossible as she is expecting. Tone, still drunk, follows Miss Harlow and shoots himself. Powell and Miss Harlow are charged with the murder and acquitted, but the latter releases all claim to the family fortune in return for absolute custody of her child.

Powell and Miss Harlow are both penniless, so she returns to the stage with opposition from women's clubs. Powell borrows money and backs the production himself. On the opening night Tone's friends hiss until Miss Harlow, in a convincing speech, begs permission to finish. The audience is swayed and cheers the finish as Miss Harlow nods consent to Powell in the wings.

Three musical numbers are introduced and all but lost in the story, with "Reckless," by Oscar Hammerstein and Jerome Kern, the only one clinging to the memory. All the supporting roles are filled to perfection by May Robson, as Miss Harlow's grandmother, and Ted Healy and Nat Pendleton as Powell's bodyguards.

Victor Fleming's direction and P. J. Wolfson's screen play are intelligent throughout with David O. Selznick's production lavish.

The film's appeal hits all types of audiences and should be favorably received. No production code seal. Running time, 105 minutes. "G."

Extra Talks Held Success by Marcus

HOLLYWOOD, April 1. — Eugene H. Marcus returned here today from Washington, where he officially represented all Hollywood extra organizations, numbering around six, with the exception of the Screen Actors' Guild, in a series of registration conferences with Compliance Director Sol A. Rosenblatt.

Marcus and Rosenblatt agreed official announcement on the proceedings should come from the latter. However, Marcus stated here unofficially that the trip was completely successful, with Rosenblatt acceding to all the wishes of the extra organizations.

Lewis' Body in Chicago

CHICAGO, April 1.—The body of Harry Lewis, pioneer distributor, who died in New York, has arrived here for interment. Surviving are two sons, Phillip and Max. Lewis once owned the Chicago Film Exchange. He was 83 years old.

John F. Delaney Dead

TORRINGTON, Conn., April 1.—John F. Delaney, former theatre manager and former president of the Torrington Theatrical Employes Union, is dead here. Death was due to heart attack.

setup, on which, it is understood, Gov. Davey is in agreement.

Although no definite program has been decided upon, it is definitely known that one contemplates a personal income levy, together with a chain store tax and an occupational impost. It has been suggested that food and clothing be exempted, and a special tax be assessed by doctors, dentists, lawyers, architects and other professions which do not now make a charge because they render a service rather than sell a commodity.

The Legislature, which today goes on a five-day week instead of four days as heretofore, is expected to take action.

Coast Censor Bill in Air

SACRAMENTO, April 1.—The fate of the pending censorship bill seems to hang on whether or not women's organizations bring pressure for its passage. Governor Merriam has reiterated his opposition to the creation of any new commissions, but has said that where there is a strong public demand exceptions may be made.

The Assembly has passed a bill limiting the work of female domestics to eight hours a day. Another bill making this hour limitation apply to all women workers is on the Assembly floor.

The San Francisco Chamber of Commerce has asked the Governor to veto all skeleton bills not completely printed 10 days before committee consideration.

Amends Stamp Tax Bill

SACRAMENTO, April 1.—Assemblyman Laughlin has amended his skeleton bill, making the stamp tax half a cent a foot on all films distributed in California. He said he would ask for a hearing on the measure before the revenue taxation committee Tuesday night.

A stiffer bill calling for a cent-a-foot rate is apparently dead in committee, with Assemblyman Morgan, its sponsor, having no plans at present to force it to the floor.

Upon Governor Dave Scholtz's recommendation, according to Pelton, Mayer already has ordered counsel in Hollywood and here to draw tentative legislative recommendations to meet the convening date of the Florida body which begins April 2 and runs 60 days. The Governor demands the enactment of film legislation during this session and has said he will call no special sessions.

Warners Plan New British Sound Stage

HOLLYWOOD, April 1.—Irving Asher, Warner British production executive, tomorrow flies to New York, from where he will sail for England with authorization to build a giant sound stage at the Teddington studios, London. Warners' new program at the English studios calls for 24 films, the same as this season.

"Roberta" Up, Down in Twin City Holdover

MINNEAPOLIS, April 1. — "Roberta" had a checkered second week. It was strong here, getting $6,500 at the Orpheum, but across the river it died at $2,500 in the Orpheum.

"Ruggles of Red Gap" held up to $4,300 at the Century. "Sequoia" was strong in the St. Paul Riviera at $4,000, and "The Iron Duke" had a fine $2,500 at the World, but elsewhere business was slow.

Total first run business in Minneapolis was $22,800. Average is $21,500. Total in St. Paul was $17,500. Average is $15,500.

Vote on Sunday Shows

BEATRICE, Neb., April 1.—Fate of Sunday shows, which has been decided at a number of elections in the past, comes up again for balloting April 9, city commissioners have decided. This is the last major town in Nebraska to have the lid on Sunday entertainment. Owing to a peculiarity in the wording of the petition, voters will cast ballots for or against other Sunday amusements besides films. This will probably include baseball.

C. H. "Dad" Roach Is 75

HOLLYWOOD, April 1.—C. H. "Dad" Roach, father of Hal Roach and secretary and treasurer of the comedy studio in Culver City, celebrated his 75th birthday.

He has been active in the film business since organizing the old Rolin Studios 20 years ago.

"Life Begins" $14,500 Smash In Cleveland

CLEVELAND, April 1. — "Life Begins at 40" ran away with the big business here last week by hitting $14,500, more than double normal, at Warners' Hippodrome.

In spite of this heavy drain three other spots were above par. At the RKO Palace "The Whole Town's Talking" grabbed $19,000, up by $4,000; at the Circle "Lottery Lover," with Ann Pennington on the stage, was up by $2,500 on a $5,500 take, and at Loew's State "West Point of the Air" had a fine $12,500. "Roberta" took $4,300 in four days of its third downtown week at the Allen.

Total first run business was $60,050. Average is $41,000.

Estimated takings for the week ending March 29:

"HELLDORADO" (Fox)

"Roberta" a Smash Hit in Providence

PROVIDENCE, April 1.—"Roberta" was a sensation at the RKO Albee. It ran up to $13,000, which was $6,000 over normal, and was held over.

"Ruggles of Red Gap" was also a big money-maker, with "Mystery Man" as the other half of a dual bill. The take at the Strand was $8,800, over par by $2,300.

Fay's was over par with a strong vaudefilm program and the Majestic did average business with "The Good Fairy" and "Life Begins at 40."

Total first run business was $45,450. Average is $40,500.

Estimated takings for the week ending March 28:

Marxes Test Gags

Hollywood, April 1.—The Marx brothers have left for a short road tour, during which they will try out the gags to be used in their next picture. Writer Morrie Ryskind is with them, and will watch audience reactions. It is also hoped that this stage preview will enable the boys to time laughs.

"Pimpernel" Pittsburgh's Best, $8,500

PITTSBURGH, April 1.—It was a big week. "The Scarlet Pimpernel" nearly doubled average at the Fulton by getting $8,500.

At the Penn "Folies Bergere," with Ethel Shutta and George Olsen's band hit $23,000, over normal by $4,000.

"Life Begins at 40" raced through its second week at the Alvin with a fine $7,500. "Gold Diggers of 1935" and a dual, "A Night at the Ritz" and "A Dog of Flanders," found the going hard at the Stanley and Warner, respectively.

Total first run business was $50,200. Average is $42,500.

"Life Begins" 2d Week Hit, Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, April 1. — "Life Begins at 40" meant money in the bank for the Fox last week. It finished its second week with $16,000, over the first week average by $4,000.

"The Wedding Night" grabbed $8,500 in its second week at the Aldine. This was $1,500 up and it was held for a third week. "Roberta" wound up its third week in a blaze of glory with $12,000 at the Boyd. "Let's Live Tonight," with a stage show headed by Mitzi Green at the Earle, had a fine $14,000.

Booked in as an experimental plug when "Captain Hurricane" faltered after three days, "It Happened One Night" ran out nine days at the Stanton to a gross of $9,500, in spite of competition of simultaneous showings in neighborhood theatres.

Total first run business was $73,000. Average is $67,360.

Lottery and Monopoly Angles Undecided

DENVER, April 2.—Harry Huffman has succeeded in casting a shadow over the validity of application of the film code to exhibition, but he still faces a ruling on the automobile giveaways which started the Federal court litigation here some weeks ago.

Last week's ruling by Judge J. Foster Symes that after films arrive in a state and are received by a distributor they cease to be in interstate commerce and are not subject to Federal regulation was in reply to a motion by Huffman's attorneys that portions of the Government's complaint be stricken out.

Symes struck out that portion of the Government's answer that claimed

Show, Forum and Quigley Awards Pull Big Turnout

By J. M. JERAULD

It was a triple bill yesterday—the Show of Showmanship, the Motion Picture Club forum and presentation of the February Quigley Awards; one of those SRO parties theatre managers have been dreaming about since 1929. In fact, if there had been any more guests they wouldn't have been able to eat their chicken patties without getting their elbows in their fellow diners' ears.

The dais extended from the outskirts of Radio City to the Bond clothing sign, but even at that Harry Hershfield, who came in late, had to balance on the end until room could be found for him .

After a few words in which he warmly praised the Quigley Publications and the idea of the Show of Showmanship, Alicoate promised the diners a "surprise." He said he would introduce a toastmaster "who didn't like to talk, who didn't like to appear before gatherings—a shy, modest fellow." He then presented Nizer.

Nizer described the show as "magnificent," and pointed out that exploitation had developed from the old days of ballyhoo to presentations both "accurate and attractive." He then introduced Hollister, vice-president of R. H. Macy & Co., in charge of advertising, but pointed out in doing so that, if Hollister were in the film business, he wouldn't be content with one red star, used in Macy advertis-

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

WITH both eyes turned to our left, that being the general direction of the busy quarters occupied by A. Mike Vogel, chairman of the Managers' Round Table Club of Big Brother Motion Picture Herald, we strew sweet-smelling posies at him for his Show of Showmanship idea which reached its blossoming apex yesterday at the forum of the Motion Picture Club. Broadcast over WMCA and WHN, attended by a generous sprinkling of the celluloid high and mighty, theatre exploitation and what it can mean at the box-office came into its long-deferred own . . .

When the product dished out in Hollywood reaches the super-super class which it does on occasion, the grosses which follow are never difficult to nab. Witness "The Gay Divorcee," Fred Astaire's trailing opus, "Roberta"; the various Shirley Temple and Will Rogers attractions; "It Happened One Night" and "One Night of Love," which is by way of giving Columbia its due, but which is not by way of overlooking, deliberately or otherwise, the big noises from other studios. The public, through channels mysterious, ferrets out the unusual attractions and, while it is undoubtedly true that grosses increase themselves when the proper advertising and exploitation steam is placed behind them, it is also a fact, indisputable think we, that this type of picture always grabs dollars directly in proportion to the merit that is in it . . .

But poise this question, or better still, let us poise it for you: How many wows do the combined producers of the industry deliver each season? There are several sales managers who long have maintained that the exhibitor who gets a fifteen per cent quota of hit pictures from all sources is an extremely lucky exhibitor. Theatremen, quick to report, will readily agree. Yet your limited number of week-stand houses need fifty-two a year under normal circumstances and certainly forty to forty-five if Hollywood gives them a break by turning out a handful susceptible of holding over for a second stanza. The conclusion of all this preliminary approach to the point at stake is that the wise theatre operator knows he must depend not on the dreadnaughts to keep him open but on the attraction which hits somewhere between the pretty good and the slightly better than pretty good classification . . .

This is exactly the point at which proper advertising and exploitation play their most essential function. It is this very point which was expounded and emphasized yesterday by Martin Quigley, when he told the club forum:

"All of us who are a part of the motion picture industry know and realize that there is no function which is more vital to the welfare and success of the industry. That function is fulfilled by the theatreman who takes the picture which is delivered to him by the distributor and prepares in many ways to present this picture to his public.

"Roughly, it may be said that there are certain motion pictures which, because of some essential appeal (your Temples, Rogers and the like, let us add as our own aside) need very little in the way of presentation in order to have public response of a character that is wanted.

"Unfortunately, it seems considerably beyond human effort to make a sufficient number of pictures of that character to keep the theatre supplied. There is another type of picture which we, in the trade, frequently refer to as the exploitation type of picture which most readily lends itself to methods of promotion and exploitation. Both types mentioned represent only a small part of all the product which the theatres need." . . .

And this:

"There is a greater medium class—that class of picture upon which the theatres depend for their existence. In a vast number of instances in connection with these pictures, what the film will amount to in the public mind depends to a very great extent upon the spirit and intelligence with which the theatreman presents such picture to his public. Despite anything of any other character that might be done anywhere else throughout the length of the industry, there is nothing to suggest continued progress and development unless there is continued progress and development in the methods of promotion and exploitation."

Centering attention on the efforts of many previously unsung theatre managers and theatre publicity men, the Managers' Round Table Club has succeeded in throwing a spotlight far more sharp and far more bright on what the man in the field is doing to carry his house over the bumps created by the crop of normal Hollywood endeavor. To say, as you might, that all of this would be different if the coast made more knockouts is, of course, to speak a truth. It is also like baying at the moon. The interesting and practical slant on pictures, how good or how bad, is to recognize that the majority are merely so-so and that the fastest way out of a situation which exists is to do the best with availabilities. The hard-working boys contesting like fury itself for Quigley Awards every month in the year are doing precisely this and getting definite results for their theatre investments. . .

Move to Underwrite New Para. Warrants

Efforts of Paramount creditor groups to agree on investment organizations for underwriting the stock subscription warrants to be issued to the present stockholders of the company under the reorganization plan were begun yesterday and attempts will be made to effect a final agreement in advance of tomorrow's scheduled Federal court hearing on formal confirmation of the plan.

The underwriting of the subscription warrants may involve more than $6,000,000 and it is believed that several investment houses may participate. While all creditor groups are not agreed that the underwriting must be set in advance of tomorrow's hearing, it was stated that the efforts were being directed toward that end, nevertheless.

Aylesworth to Head 25 Guests at Ampa

William R. Ferguson's last open meeting as president of the Ampa tomorrow will be headlined by 25 personalities of films, radio and the stage. Merlin H. Aylesworth will top the list.

Al Jolson, Dorothy Mackaill, Jimmy Durante, Eddie Dowling, Mollie Picon, Robert Young, Jack Pearl, Rube Goldberg, Walter Connolly, Jane Wyatt, Elsa Maxwell, William A. Brady, Ned Wayburn, Mrs. Robert Bartlett, daughter of Victor Herbert; Caesar Romero, John Boettiger, Eva Small, Jack Osterman, Pat Rooney, Herman Timberg, Jay C. Flippen, Cecile Weston, Teddy Bergman and Eddie Peabody also will be present.

Goldstein Pondering

E. H. Goldstein, who recently resigned as vice-president of Majestic, is considering several offers and plans to announce a new connection shortly. Meanwhile, Majestic's home office is moving to Liberty's headquarters where Budd Rogers, sales manager, will take over sales supervision of Majestic.

Bernhard, Keough Back

Joseph Bernhard, in charge of Warner theatre operations, and Austin Keough, Paramount attorney, who have been on the sick list for the past 10 days, returned to their desks yesterday. The Warner executive returned from a respite at White Sulphur Springs. Keough was in Atlantic City.

"Beginner's Luck"
(Our Gang Comedy) 20 mins.

M-G-M Just Grand

In keeping with the times, the Our Gang aggregation of Hal Roach not only goes musical, but pulls a fast one on the entire production field by capitalizing on the timely topical Amateur Craze now sweeping our land. It is a knockout. One of the finest offerings from this kid ensemble that the Roach studios have ever turned out. That precocious and charming youngster "Spanky" McFarland occupies the spotlight and is featured on an Amateur Night program where he panics the audience in the theater. He will also panic the audience in your theater. The kid is immense. He does a Julius Caesar-Mark Antony combination dressed in old Roman armor and flowing robes. Added attractions are the Cabin Kids, cute pickaninnies, the Meglin Kiddies and Carl Sweitzer, the juvenile "hill-billy" find. But it's "Spanky's" show. And good for anybody's dough. If you don't play it up in marquee lights you shouldn't own a marquee. It's feature calibre in short subject meter.

Timed to capitalize on the Amateur Night craze . . . . . And the first of the new showmanship shorts from Hal Roach studios for M-G-M.

ing, but "would have at least three and one-half stars."

Hollister, a blonde man attired with a sartorial perfection that Whalen couldn't improve upon, confided casually that it was "a good deal of a shock" to be called upon. His modesty was overpowering.

"I stand humbly in the presence of the brain trust of the picture business," he began. "I have no message of advice for you; I am quite frankly aghast in the presence of your display of showmanship merchandising."

He continued lightly for several minutes, with an easy timing of his remarks which demonstrated that he had no more knowledge of showmanship than Clark Gable.

Nizer was impressed. "If Hollister were in the picture business," he suggested, "he probably would call that an impromptu talk."

Barron Collier, Jr., was equally shy. He confessed to being only 26 and said it "was a snare and a delusion for anybody to attempt to convey the impression that he could tell this group anything about selling."

Later, Whalen remarked that if "you had ever sat across a desk and let young Collier with his earnest purpose and Harvard fluency try to sell you car card advertising, you'd be convinced he knew something about his subject."

Quigley was introduced by Nizer as a man who had wielded a great influence through his publications, as the man "who had predicted the storm of the League of Decency" and then had advised the industry how to meet the problem.

Quigley said that some pictures present themselves to the public, but unfortunately it is impossible to make enough of this type of pictures to supply the market, so the art of presenting those which required it made the theatre man a most important factor in the industry.

There should be "progress and development in exploitation," he said, and it was this idea that had motivated the Quigley Awards of Motion Picture Herald's Managers' Round Table Club. Theatre men had been accorded proper recognition by means of them, he declared, and after a year's trial it had been determined to continue them.

Nizer surveyed Whalen's grayish-blue suit and his shirt and tie of another blue before introducing him, and remarked that he seemed "undressed." He lacked a gardenia.

"I've often thought of that gardenia as all the ticker tape of New York rolled into one little buttonhole," he said.

Whalen glanced at Hollister, then he looked at Collier and turned his head to the left to see if Hershfield was listening.

"I've never seen such modesty," he began. "It is the first time I have found so much of it at this table."

He looked at Hollister again and remarked: "He was surprised and shocked. Why, he called me up twice to find out what he should say here.

"Why these speakers should be frightened I don't know. If I should say I was frightened, it would be true." This was a howl. He paused. "But maybe I had better not. Harry Hershfield, who will follow me, would make a bum out of me."

Whalen then presented the Quigley silver plaque for February to R. E. Knight, manager of the Fairmount, Fairmount, West Va., for his campaign on "Devil Dogs of the Air."

While the photographers were snapping he leaned toward the microphones and suggested to the "unseen audience" that perhaps "Harry Hershfield should sing." The bronze plaque was presented to Edward Douglas, manager of Loew's Kings, Brooklyn, for his work on "Forsaking All Others."

Whalen then told the microphones that he would turn the meeting back to the "able head of this organization."

Without a blush, Nizer retorted: "We appreciate that compliment to Mr. Feist." Without pausing, he said he would try to introduce Hershfield in such a way that it "wouldn't remind him of a story."

Hershfield was equal to the occasion. "It doesn't remind me of a story," he began; "it reminds me of a fact."

The "fact" turned out to be an account of an automobile trip with Whalen from the Polo Grounds downtown when Whalen was police commissioner.

"He had two policemen out front —one to blow the siren," Hershfield related. "We were doing 90 miles an hour through Harlem and I said: 'What's the big idea?'

"'They all know who it is,' Whalen replied.

"But I suggested that if he would slow down maybe they'd recognize who was with him."

"He's been 30 times a bridesmaid," Hershfield went on, "but never a bride, and now I think he has a yen to be mayor."

Hershfield couldn't resist the temptation to tell a story, so he told one about a fellow who had remarked that he "felt 10 years younger after shaving in the morning," whereupon his wife asked him "if there was any law against shaving at night."

Representative advertising managers of all major companies were in the assemblage. The proceedings were broadcast over Station WMCA.

"There are two kinds of publishers," said Louis Nizer yesterday at the Motion Picture Club Forum which was turned over to the Show of Showmanship exhibit of the Managers' Round Table Club of Motion Picture Herald. "There is the kind who leads and moulds public opinion and there is a second kind who caters to public opinion whether public opinion rates catering to or not. Martin Quigley is distinctly the first kind of publisher who has been not only a publisher of this industry but the advisor of this industry. It was he who forecast the storm of the League of Decency and, when that avalanche occurred, it was to Mr. Quigley that we turned for advice and guidance, and his guidance had much to do with the fact that the industry met the League of Decency on its own ground.

"Mr. Quigley, a splendid person and a man whom all like. I take particular pride on this occasion to introduce Martin Quigley, the publisher of Motion Picture Herald, who has arranged for the Show of Showmanship here."

Amateurs of Radio Prove Theatre Hits

Bedford, 46th St. and Pitkin theatres will be given an opportunity to compete Tuesday nights on WHN where Jay C. Flippen is master of ceremonies.

Warners' New Jersey theatres have been holding test shows and the winners vie for honors on the Gus Edwards WOR amateur hour on Monday nights. The show is broadcast from the Branford, Newark.

Zac Friedman, manager of the Fox, Brooklyn, puts on a show every Monday night and the winner is given a week's engagement at the house the following week.

Fred Allen has a tieup with the Roxy and the winner of his amateur night gets a week's stand at the Broadway house.

Several RKO neighborhood houses, including the Fordham, have been putting on amateur nights and the Paramount, Middletown, has also adopted the policy.

Major Edward Bowes' Sunday night novice show is a big feature. The winner is given a booking in a local theatre.

Purely Personal

FRANK FARLEY, European story editor for Paramount, arrives in town today from Hollywood where he has been spending the past 10 days looking over production before returning abroad.

JOEL A. LEVY, of Loew's Inc, accompanied by the Missus are on the Berengaria for a well earned vacation in London. They are expected back on the 17th.

FRANK A. VANDERLIP, nominee for the new Paramount board, returns Thursday from a two weeks' visit at the company's west coast studios.

Quip of the Day

William T. Powers, attorney for Fox Midwest, was discussing the similarity of "surprise night" at the Strand, Oshkosh, Wis., with bank nights at Campi yesterday. He was talking directly to William Jaffe, attorney for Columbia and a member of the appeals committee.

During the discussion, Powers remarked the only difference was that when the Strand has a "ham" to be given away and no one in the theatre answers to the number drawn, the manager has "a ham on his hands."

To which Jaffe responded:

"It's most likely the ham on the manager's hands is the picture in his theatre."

ALFRED A. COOK, counsel for Paramount Publix and for the Paramount stockholders' committee, has returned from a Bermuda vacation trip.

DR. JULIUS KLEIN, member pro tem of the Paramount board of directors, returned yesterday from a southern motor trip.

SAMUEL GOLDWYN, who returns with his wife today from London aboard the Olympic, will leave for Hollywood after a few days in New York.

BOB GILLHAM starts his return trip from the coast today but may make a stop-over or two en route.

AL JOLSON is talking about producing a play in the fall. He won't be in it.

GEORGE SCHAEFER is due back tomorrow from his Florida fishing trip.

AL LICHTMAN is expected back from Hollywood on Monday.

PAT GARYN is back from Dallas, the scene of his illness, and is recuperating at his home in East Orange. He sounds like himself over the telephone line.

...Boston

ALTON K. FREEMAN, recently resigned as manager of the M. and P. Scollay Square, is in China. According to MARTY GLAZIER, FREEMAN has always had a hankering to hit the Orient.

GEORGE FLATE, formerly well known in amateur pugilistic ranks, has resigned from first Division where he was booker.

HARRY BROWN, who handles publicity for a local trio of M. and P.-Publix theatres, is now a public speaker of increasing note.

On the house committee of the Friars Club are TOM SPRY, manager for Warners; HARRY KIRCHGESSNER, New England manager of National Screen; AL SOMERBY, manager of the Bowdoin Square and Old Howard; LOUIS BOAS and PHIL MARGET, theatre circuit executives.

...New England

MAURICE SHULMAN, proprietor of the Rivoli, Hartford, vacationing in the Mediterranean. . . . EARLE WRIGHT of the Loew-Poli, New Haven office is acting m. c. for amateur radio talent contests at the Palace in Hartford during the absence of SHAW. . . . JACK SIMONS, manager of Poli's Hartford, has been cooperating with the Little Theatre Movement in selecting talent for amateur contests in the Palace. . . . TED SMALLEY, pen in hand, does not replace CRIS JOYCE as assistant manager of the Paramount, New Haven. He's at the house in charge of advertising, publicity and exploitation which is what he did at the Capitol, Worcester. Also does ditto for other houses in this area. . . .

...San Francisco

GEORGE MANN is still on wheels somewhere in the east. He and his family are making a tour with a mobile house-trailer on wheels and are not expected back for some months yet.

PHIL FREASE opened his New Albany, 565 seats, Saturday, in Albany.

ARCH BOWLES shot down to Los Angeles and back again this week.

R. HELMS is preparing to re-eopen the darkened Capitol with a policy of pictures and vaudeville.

...Wilmington

JOHN C. SMITH, formerly with the Interstate circuit in the Southwest, is the new manager of the Warner Aldine, downtown first run.

ROSCOE DRISSELL, manager of Loew's Parkway, who has two Quigley Award honorable mentions to his credit did a good job exploiting "West Point of the Air."

LEON BENHAM, until recently with the advertising department of Warners in Philadelphia, is doing a good job at his managerial fling at the Queen.

Boycott Idea Stirs Allied Enthusiasm

contracts just introduced in the Minnesota legislature.

The boycott suggestion was made by Abram F. Myers, Allied general counsel, in a speech in which he cited the recent Denver Federal court decision holding exhibition to be intrastate commerce as a vindication of his stand that theatres are not subject to Federal regulation under NRA codes. Myers declared that playdate contracts, thus, are subject to state laws and lauded the bill pending in the Ohio legislature which, he said, was the pattern for the one just introduced here.

Characterizing the film code as "the most scandalous" under NRA, Myers said the continuation of NRA is inevitable and added that while theatres must readjust themselves to the old system ot state regulation, in the meantime they must work for the code amendments and a balanced Code Authority.

While speaking, Myers received a telegram advising him that the Senate Finance Committee would hear him on the subject of the film code next Monday in Washington.

Sees Pettengill Bill Success

Myers predicted that Congress would pass the Pettengill bill prohibiting compulsory block booking at this session, and described the measure as the only possible means of breaking the "film monopoly."

While a boycott is illegal, he said, "so is murder except in self defense." He described a united front by exhibitors against any company forcing the purchase of its product by threats as not only defensible but practical, "since independents, no matter how few, are still powerful enough to bankrupt any company using such tactics, if they stick together."

W. A. Steffes opened today's session by mobilizing exhibitors for an onslaught on state legislative committees at a hearing tomorrow on a pending 10 per cent theatre tax bill. Local exhibitors will oppose any special tax on theatres but will declare their willingness to bear their share of any general business tax.

J. B. Clinton, Duluth, was elected president and a member of a board of five to govern the organization. Others named to the board were S. B. Lebedoff, Minneapolis; El Peasley, Stillwater; Gus Baehr, Bemidji; Bill Glazer, Faribault. The members of the board will elect the other officers and a secretary to run the office.

Resolutions denouncing the code and the Campi setup, block booking and blind billing and calling for united action against companies forcing the sale of product were passed.

The convention closed tonight with a dinner and testimonial to Steffes, retiring president.

Reade Gets Control Of Red Bank Houses

RED BANK, N. J., April 2.—Giving him control of the town, Walter Reade has purchased the Strand for $125,000 from F. C. Connover, owner. Aaron Schusterman operated until last Saturday when Reade took possession. The Carlton is also owned by Reade.

Allied Talks Fight on Loew Chicago Moves

Loew program both from the point of number of theatres proposed and the direct challenge involved against exhibitors who turned down M-G-M product it seems likely that Chicago will form the pattern for moves to be used in other cities.

Lines of battle are already forming here, the opening shots representing a series of large newspaper ads by M-G-M which lists theatres showing its outstanding pictures. The first was on "Forsaking All Others," followed by "David Copperfield." The copy directs attention to the fact that these pictures can be seen at the theatres boldly listed—obviously to the chagrin on non-M-G-M users.

Already two prominent neighborhood houses have succumbed and spotted M-G-M product. One is the Adelphi, operated by Ludwig Sussman, a director of Allied Theatres of Illinois. The other is the Howard, operated by Lester Retchin. Both are located on the far north side where it is reported Loew had found some vacant bank building property about midway between the two houses which appeared to have possibilities for theatre use. Sussman's move is the first break in the Allied ranks.

Announce New Sites Soon

Meanwhile a half dozen locations for new theatres or acquisitions of present houses are expected to be announced within the next two weeks. Robert Lynch and George Schwartz, Loew and M-G-M representatives, who were drafted from their Philadelphia posts, are working feverishly but guardedly on deals in many sections of the city.

Despite the secrecy surrounding their activities it appears fairly certain that the first Loew project for this locality will be a new theatre located in Oak Park, wealthy suburb. This job, with stores and other business features, will involve an outlay of approximately $250,000. Thomas W. Lamb, the architect, who has spent considerable time here, is back in New York where he is working on sketches for various sites under consideration. He has, it is said, as many as six different plans for any site being considered. As soon as a site is closed the orders "full steam ahead" will be passed out, it is said.

Allied of New Jersey, at its regular session on March 12, discussed the Loew invasion in Chicago. The consensus of the membership was heartily in favor of the Windy City independents' stand against M-G-M's percentage policy on 14 pictures.

No official action was taken at the time. Sidney Samuelson, national Allied head, also is president of the New Jersey unit.

More Huffman Case Rulings Hanging Fire

Huffman to be in interstate commerce, saying that the exhibition of films was purely intrastate commerce, and that the NRA had no power to interfere.

Symes held, however, that there might be something to the Government's contention that Huffman was in violation of the anti-monopoly laws, and that he would hear further argument on this, and on whether Huffman is or had been conducting a lottery. In a previous hearing Symes said that the weekly auto giveaway, ordered stopped by the grievance board, started as a lottery, and that later changes, by which chances could be obtained free, were changes in form and not in substance.

Symes ruled the state NRA act unconstitutional. This law had attempted to make the NRA a part of state law by reference. A state court judge had already ruled it unconstitutional for this reason.

While not ruling on the constitutionality of the NIRA act in remarks during the trial, Symes said:

"This whole proposition of NRA codes being set up as law is unconstitutional, in my opinion, and judges of the U. S. Supreme Court have so decided. In the final analysis, legislating of so-called codes of fair competition is done by a group of private industries which have laid down standards for every one to follow. Congress does not pass upon these vital questions, but has simply delegated power to the President."

Depositions will be taken on the monopoly question, and the case will probably not be back in the courts for a month or more.

Huffman is seeking to have made permanent a temporary injunction issued by the Circuit Court of Appeals which prevents the distributors from stopping film service to Huffman theatres as directed by the grievance board. Huffman contends the grievance board and a number of the distributors are in a plot to boycott his theatres.

Essaness Giveaways General in Chicago

CHICAGO, April 2.—Essaness Theatres, which promised to meet the competition of premiums and other box-office stimulants by jumping in with both feet itself, has apparently kept its word.

This is the way the situation stands at present: Bank nights, one house; screeno, 15; kitchenware, 12; dishes, six; ovenware, one; stamp clubs, 16.

That the total exceeds the number of theatres in the Essaness circuit is explained by the fact that the various items do not hold protection on each other at any particular house.

Campi Has 14 Cases On Cut Admissions

Fourteen cases on reduced admissions were on the Campi calendar for appeal yesterday. E. M. Saunders of M-G-M was chairman. William Jaffe and Irwin Wheeler were the other members of the committee. Six of the appeals were on bank night and three on screeno. The cases are:

Grove and Riviera, Gering, Col., against Egyptian and Orpheum, Scotts Bluff, Col., (bank night); Orpheum and Strand, Green Bay, Wis., against Grand, same city (bank night); Liberty, Chicago, against Embassy, same city (Screeno); Gem, Alton, Ill., against Princess and Grand, same city (refunding car fare); Orpheum, Kenosha, Wis., against Kenosha, same city (bank night); Rex and Grand, Oshkosh, Wis., against Strand, same city (Screeno); Orpheum, Green Bay, Wis., against Bay, same city (Screeno); Gem, Muskogee, Okla., against Broadway, Ritz and Yale, same city (bank night); Royal, Sherman, Tex., against Washington and Texas, same city (bank night); Strand, Oshkosh, Wis., against Rex, same city (surprise night); Hipp and Garden, Sioux City, against Circle, same city, (lottery); Park, Pasadena, Cal., against Colorado, same city, (passes); National, McRae, Ga., against Princess, same city (bank night); Royal, Crookston, Minn., against Grand and Lyric, same city (prosperity night).

Mason Expected to Testify About NRA

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Lowell Mason, who served as counsel to the Darrow National Recovery Review Board during its investigation last year of the film and other codes, is expected to testify before the Senate Finance Committee this week.

It is not expected, however, that Mason will go into details, any more than did Clarence Darrow when he appeared recently. His appearance before the committee will be at the demand of Senator King of Utah, who proposed to employ Mason as counsel in the event the Senate approved the independent investigation of the NRA which he unsuccessfully sought in February.

Advertised Preview Stirs Jersey Allied

Advertising of a preview at the Fox State, Jersey City, by Skouras when the film has not played Broadway and will not be shown in the Jersey house for several weeks was the highlight of a discussion by Allied of New Jersey yesterday. The picture in question is "George White's 1935 Scandals."

Members of the Allied unit hold that the practice is a code violation in that when a preview is advertised the picture becomes available seven days after Skouras gets through with it, regardless of the number of times it is run.

Campi Expense for February $20,132

Total of disbursements for Campi and local boards for February was $20,132.78, of which $7,748.01 was spent for the home office, $2,770.36 for Hollywood and $9,614.41 for local boards.

Cash balance Feb. 1 was $37,129.25. Receipts from exhibitors totaled $18,003. Of the February expense, $13,668.29 went for salaries, $5,450.44 for home office employes, $2,158.15 for Hollywood and $6,059.70 for secretaries of local boards.

Discuss Twins

What was discussed at the weekly meeting? an Allied of New Jersey member was asked yesterday after the session.

"Poor business and the state of health of various exhibitors."

Connecticut Houses Ask More Clearance

NEW HAVEN, April 2.—Clearance protests of Playhouse, New Canaan, and the Stamford, Palace and Strand, Stamford, against the Darien, Darien, have been continued to April 9, at the request of the respondent.

All three complaints were filed within 24 hours of each other, following closely upon the reduction in admission price by the respondent from 40 cents to 25 cents. New Canaan asks for an increase in protection from seven to 45 days; while the Stamford first runs demand a change from an average of 21 days to 60 days.

Dismiss Buying Cases

KANSAS CITY, April 2. — Two overbuying complaints have been dismissed by the grievance board. The cases were Dickinson Theatre, Creston, Ia., vs. Strand, same city, and Casino, Excelsior Springs, Mo., vs. Fox Beyer, same city. J. Erwin Dodson, complainant in the Excelsior Springs action, announced he would appeal.

L. A. Protests More Delay

LOS ANGELES, April 2.—Objection against delaying beyond April 11 the granting of an application to rehear protests against the local clearance schedule was expressed in a wire sent to Campi in New York today by the zoning board in behalf of the Southern California I.T.O. and associated exhibitors and six exchanges already selling 1935-36 product. Fox West Coast had requested the date be set back to April 18.

Two Sign in Bay State

BOSTON, April 2.—The Camelot Theatre Corp. and the Galahad Theatre Corp., both of this state, are among the recent signers of the code.

Code Board Late, So Walter Reade Leaves

After waiting 40 minutes for members of the local grievance board to appear, Walter Reade, who has been suffering the past four weeks from a heart attack and Monday night underwent an operation for removal of a cyst on his groin, yesterday walked out on the board. Previously he had notified Lillian Silver, secretary of the local board, that he was ill and would appear promptly at 10:30 A. M. Several members could not attend and at the last minute notified the secretary, who had a busy half hour trying to get substitutes.

Reade has been at his office only two hours a day since his breakdown and appeared at the local board as defendant in the Roxy "service pass" complaint against the Astor. The case was put off until next Tuesday. The complaint of Julius Charnow against Harry Friedman, upstate exhibitor, for interference with the Leonia, Leonia, N. J., lease, also was postponed.

"Ruggles" Is Seattle Hit; Gets $8,700

SEATTLE, April 2.—"Ruggles of Red Gap" was the big noise of the week. It grabbed $8,700, up by $1,700, at the Fifth Avenue, and was held over.

"Roberta" was still strong in its third week at the Music Box, getting $4,100. The other three downtown houses had nothing to get excited about.

Total first run business was $30,050. Average is $30,500.

Estimated takings for the week ending March 30:

"THE WEDDING NIGHT" (U. A.)
BLUE MOUSE—(950), 25c-40c-55c, 6 days, 2nd week. Gross: $3,100. (Average, $4,000)

PARAMOUNT—(3,050), 25c-35c, 7 days. Vaudeville headed by Karre LeBaron Trio. Gross: $5,250. (Average, $6,000)

Seven More Frisco Bank Nights Banned

victorious today are the Haight, Parkside, Uptown, Daly, City, Granada and Amazon, all Golden State houses.

Complaints against three other theatres, the Coliseum, Metropolitan and Hardin of the Levin circuit, were heard yesterday, with decisions expected this week.

Cohen has announced he will withdraw complaints against the remaining houses, feeling that he has already established the illegality of bank nights under the code. He says, however, that he will not enforce the decisions of the board until he can enforce the cease and desist orders against the Nasser houses, which have appealed from the decisions handed down against them last week.

The theatres against which Cohen has withdrawn complaints are the Irving, Milano, Roosevelt, Avenue, Bayshore, Palm West, Portal, Victoria, Roxie, Plaza, Keerny, Bay View, New Balboa, Union and Majestic. The first two are Golden State houses. The Roosevelt and Avenue are Levin theatres and the others independents.

At yesterday's hearing A. M. Bowles of Fox West Coast, R. A. McNeil and Al Levin were the principal witnesses, with Cliff Work presiding.

Production Gains; 41 Features Going

Warners were next with seven, two and five. Fox had six, six and six; Paramount, three, one and five; Universal, three, one and zero; Radio, three, two and six; Columbia, two, four and four, and the independent group, eight, two and seven.

Short subject production remained almost the same as in the previous week, with M-G-M having one shooting, two preparing and four editing. Roach had one, three and three; Universal, one, one and two; Columbia, zero, one and two; Warners, one, zero and zero; Radio, zero, one and one, with the independents reporting three, one and six.

headed by Elmer C. Rhoden, now in charge. Fox Rocky Mountain will be renamed Associated Theatres with Rick Ricketson, presently running the houses, at the helm.

Following reorganization of the two National subsidiaries, Spyros and Charles Skouras will affix their signatures to the 10-year operating contract with National. The long term pact is retroactive to Jan. 1, 1935, and provides for flat salaries in addition to graduating percentages of the net profits.

Spyros Skouras took the air lane to the coast yesterday to confer with his brother and look over operations. He is due to return April 21.

Report Settlement on Claim

KANSAS CITY, April 2.—Attorneys of Chase National Bank are here arranging for the windup of the Fox Midland and Fox Rocky Mountain bankruptcy. They are also conferring with M. B. Shanberg and Herbert M. Woolf regarding immediate settlement of their secured claim approximating $500,000, representing the balance of the former Midland circuit purchase price.

Under an agreement effected last year the partners were to be paid out of revenue by 1940, but the present settlement is in line with the major creditors' plan of purchasing claims prior to the sale of the properties. A settlement is reported agreed upon and papers will be signed next week. It is understood National Theatres is paying Woolf and Shanberg in full for their claim.

Astor and Mayfair To Hold Over Films

"It Happened One Night" and "The Man Who Knew Too Much" will be held over for a third week at the Astor and Mayfair, respectively. The first picture will garner about $7,300 for the second week, while the latter is stronger in its holdover week than the initial stanza. It is expected to gross about $16,000, about $2,500 more than the first seven days.

"Roberta" is being held another stanza at the Palace and Albee, Brooklyn.

"Private Worlds" in its first week at the Paramount garnered $34,000.

"Congo Raid," Colorful Film; "Escape Me Never," All Bergner

London, April 2 (By Cable).—The premiere of "Congo Raid" at the Leicester Square tonight was essentially a spectacular success. It is a panorama of African native life as a background for a native chief's love story and the devotion of a British officer.

Highlights are imposing authentic native gatherings, palavers, ceremonial dances, war chants recorded on the spot, striking native processions, war canoes, tribal conflicts and incidental air shots of wild life in the jungle and on the prairies.

Added songs are finely sung by Paul Robeson in a striking role as Bosambo McKinney. In a small role Leslie Banks is excellent as officer Sanders. It is undoubtedly colorful, convincing popular material.

Produced by London Films, the picture is heading for distribution in the United States via United Artists.

"Escape Me Never"

"Escape Me Never," now current at the Pavilion, is a tour de force of Elisabeth Bergner's versatility. Her performance, expressiveness and flexibility of voice rank her among the screen's leading players.

The story is the same as the play, but gains pictorially with a fine scene of a stage ballet and exteriors of Venice and the Alps. It is essentially a star attraction, as Miss Bergner swamps the others in the cast.

Produced by British and Dominions, American distribution will be handled by United Artists, also.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Hoosier Schoolmaster"

(Monogram)

HOLLYWOOD, April 2.—This is a homespun yarn of post-Civil War Indiana with wide appeal. Charles Logue's adaptation cleverly modernizes Edward Eggelston's novel dealing with the exploitation of war veterans by the stay-at-homes.

Norman Foster, joining a band of discharged Union veterans, goes to Indiana to settle on homestead land. The soldiers find on arrival that the land has been stolen by Otis Harlan, Russell Simpson and William Mong.

Foster makes the acquaintance of Mong's bound girl (Charlotte Henry) and from her information secures a job as village schoolmaster. Using reason, he subdues Fred Kohler, a bully who has beaten up every previous teacher. Dorothy Libaire, Mong's daughter, sets her cap for Foster, who is smitten with Miss Henry, who, in turn, is courted by Kohler.

When Foster writes to Washington about land for soldiers, he incurs the enmity of the town's ruling trio, who set out to get him. In the ensuing riot Kohler is killed, leaving Foster and Miss Henry free to marry.

Made as a special on Monogram's schedule, this feature compares favorably with many major efforts. The roles have been cast intelligently and the production approaches major calibre. The direction of Lewis D. Collins catches the spirit of the period with the proper shading. Tommy Bupp, as Miss Henry's small brother, stands out in support.

For spots where home-folk comedy is appreciated this rates as unusually good entertainment.

Production Code Seal No. 723. Running time, 74 minutes. "G."

Nagler to Vancouver

S. Nagler has been appointed sales manager at the U. A. branch at Vancouver, succeeding David Griesdorf, who has been appointed to a similar post at Winnipeg. Phil Sherman, formerly of Winnipeg, is now on the New Haven sales force.

June Grabiner Renamed

HOLLYWOOD, April 2.—Myra Moore has been selected as the screen name of June Grabiner, recently signed by Warners.

Protest Pa. Ticket Tax

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 2.—Exhibitors from all parts of the state were among those who objected to the bill imposing a 10 per cent ticket tax at a hearing on the measure today before the finance committee of the State Senate. The measure has already been passed by the House.

Among those who appeared against the bill were Walter Vincent, Fred Herrington, C. Floyd Hopkins, David Barrist and Dr. Leonard P. Fox. They all asserted that the tax would drive many theatres out of business.

Congress Gets Bill On New Copyrights

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Copyright legislation has been brought before Congress with the introduction by Senator Duffy of Wisconsin of the bill drafted by the State Department. Duffy was chairman of the Foreign Relations sub-committee which investigated the copyright situation.

The copyright question has also been brought before the Senate by Senator Tydings of Maryland, who has submitted a resolution passed by the Maryland Senate calling for an investigation of Ascap because of alleged abuses upon "hundreds" of Maryland business establishments.

It is charged that under "certain rulings of the Supreme Court" Ascap and its subsidiaries are "exercising dictatorial powers, developing a 'racket' that could never have been intended to be endowed upon any organization by any court."

jury several weeks ago would not go to trial before next fall.

Tentatively set for trial today, the cases were postponed by Federal Judge Davis pending the hearing on May 6 of arguments on a demurrer to the indictment of Ned E. Depinet, president of RKO Distributing Corp. It is believed that at that time the cases will be put over for fall trial.

Cuba Clears "Rumba"

Elimination of the lottery sequence in "Rumba" has resulted in removal of the Cuban Government's objections to the picture, which is now officially approved for distribution in that country.

New Tax Plan Is Presented In California

Cuts Income Levy, But Provides New Forms

SACRAMENTO, April 3.—The Administration has offered a new budget balancing plan in the Assembly Revenue Taxation Committee packed with TNT for taxpayers as an alternative for the previous program which has stirred up strenuous opposition and faces a severe test because of the personal income tax angle.

The new plan calls for a gross transactions tax at scales to raise $160,000,000 biennially, with a four per cent bank corporation tax and a net income tax at one third the Federal rate in lieu of the tax designed to raise $225,000,000.

Under the new program the 10 per cent admission tax would be dropped,

Board Abandons Hope of Action by Campi

KANSAS CITY, April 3.—While industry factors here have abandoned hope that Campi will get around to adopting a clearance plan for Kansas City, members of the local clearance board are said to favor a provision graduating first run clearance according to admissions.

Board members are talking about calling a special session to draft such an amendment to the proposed schedule. Recommendations incorporating similar provisions were sent to Campi when the last draft was submitted. At that time, however, the first run price situation was not completely clarified

Century-RKO Case May Go Over Again

Illness of Robert Wolff, RKO Radio exchange manager, may result in another postponement of the meeting slated for today by the local clearance and zoning board to deliberate on the Century-RKO issue in Long Island. Wolff has been home five days with a sore throat and returned to his office yesterday, still weak and hoping to be on hand for today's session. Last week Eugene Picker of Loew's was down with a bad throat and the Thursday conclave was called off.

Goldwyn Talks On Television, Color Outlook

By BRUCE ALLAN

LONDON, March 23.—Color and television are two important keys to the future of the industry, declared Samuel Goldwyn during his four-day stay here. Stereoscopy is also in the offing, he said.

The future of color, he declared, depends upon the reception of "Becky Sharp," recently completed by Pioneer with the three-tone Technicolor process. He predicted it would be a sensation, but added that use of color

Confirmation Of Paramount Plan Expected

Formal Hearings Begin Today Before Coxe

Formal confirmation of Paramount's plan of reorganization by the creditors of interest and the Federal court is generally expected throughout reorganization groups following the final hearings on the plan which begin today before Federal Judge Alfred C. Coxe.

Some opposition to the proposed board of directors is anticipated, but this will come from minority creditor interests and, if it succeeds in influencing the court to exercise the right that has been reserved to veto any of the proposed 16 directors, it will come as a distinct surprise to leading reorganization factors. Opposition to the board is expected to be led by agreed upon will be turned over to the company. These will be used to pay off the balance of the funded debt, amounting to approximately $1,900,000. He added the loans will retire the remaining seven per cent bonds of the company, which would thus save about three per cent yearly on the $1,900,000 and also receive a later maturity date on bank payments.

Poole reiterated that Pathe's policy would be to confine its operations to financing and printing for producers and laboratory work for distributors. He said that another source of income, more pronounced recently due to market conditions, has been the profit from the sale of screen material owned by the company, contained in 2,000,000 feet of original negative. The sale of several stories from this negative has been negotiated, Poole asserted.

NAUGHTY MARIETTA

DON'T TAKE OUR WORD FOR IT ...READ THESE RAVE REVIEWS!

"A new movie star emerged from the Capitol screen when Nelson Eddy appeared opposite Jeanette MacDonald in 'Naughty Marietta' . . . his fine, full powered voice is admirably suited to the Herbert score . . . a welcome addition to the screen, he brings to it a canny sense of comedy and plenty of savoir faire." —Kate Cameron, N. Y. Daily News

"Superlatives for 'Naughty Marietta'! It's the top, the super-stratosphere of musical motion picture entertainment! In Nelson Eddy, who debuts so auspiciously as Jeanette MacDonald's hero, the screen has found a thrilling thrush, possessed not only of rare vocal tone, but of personality and form and features cast in the heroic mold. At the film's Capitol Theatre world premiere, a madly enthusiastic audience applauded each song to an extent that made the dialogue immediately following inaudible." —Regina Crewe, N. Y. American

"Those advance enthusiasms were justified. Nelson Eddy is a find, and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has wisely put him in a part well suited to his acting ability and magnificent voice. Jeanette MacDonald is at the top! It is a happy part for her; and Mr. Eddy seems the ideal co-star. This handsome version of his operetta should please even Victor Herbert himself."
—Eileen Creelman, N. Y. Sun

"Virtually perfection of cinema light opera. The triumph of 'Naughty Marietta' is registered by Nelson Eddy, who has a brilliant baritone voice. He is engaging and good-looking and seems to me a far more valuable acquisition than even the celebrated Mr. Tibbett."
—Richard Watts, Jr., N. Y. Herald-Tribune

"A screen operetta which would have delighted its composer. Encountering Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy in splendid voice, W. S. Van Dyke has made a photoplay which is gayly romantic and rhapsodically tuneful. Such fortissimo singing as Mr. Eddy and Miss MacDonald provide for those rapturous love songs has not been heard in a motion picture theatre since 'One Night of Love'. Mr. Eddy's distinguished baritone insures him a spotlight on the screen. Miss MacDonald, of course, is an accomplished actress as well as a first-class soprano. Then, for humor, there is Frank Morgan as the hilariously baffled Governor of New Orleans."
—Andre Sennwald, N. Y. Times

"It's ter-rific. MacDonald-Eddy are the new team sensation of the industry. Their duet of 'Sweet Mystery of Life' is the grandest thing ever recorded!"
—Ed Sullivan, Daily News

"Naughty Marietta' is a personal triumph for Nelson Eddy. Already famous on the concert stage, Mr. Eddy is established as a definite screen personality."
—Rose Pelswick, N. Y. Journal

"'Naughty Marietta' is one of the best musical pictures that has ever been made . . . Victor Herbert's music rings out from the screen with that same sweep that made 'One Night of Love' a landmark. W. S. Van Dyke is one of Hollywood's wonder men . . . his uncanny knack of swelling every inch of this picture with rich orchestrations and of disguising the plot with such music as will make you jump out of your seat is a wonder and a delight. From now on, Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy will be referred to as 'tops'."
—E. de S. Melcher, Washington Star

"Great entertainment! An exquisite film, so rich musically, and strong in story, it makes the average musical movie seem tawdry. Handsomely produced and skillfully directed, it features the splendid voices of soprano Jeanette MacDonald and baritone Nelson Eddy. The story is dramatic, its tender charm contrasted with stirring scenes of action and suspense." —Blaud Johaneson, Daily Mirror

"Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's latest cinema triumph is a complete one. Never before has music soared so gloriously from the screen. Glittering and swiftly moving musical. Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy duets are inspirational. Eddy's technique is at once smoother and more adaptable to the screen, even than Tibbett's. 'Naughty Marietta' is the perfect marriage of operetta with the cinema."
—Edgar Hay, Miami Herald

"A great screen operetta sung to perfection. Possessed of a brilliant baritone voice, handsome Mr. Eddy has a way about him, which, with his singing ability should make him one of cinema's outstanding figures. Not even the great Lawrence Tibbett has ever sung before the screen microphone with more telling effect or beauty. MacDonald's is a stunning performance both vocally and dramatically."
—William Boehnel, World-Telegram

VICTOR HERBERT
He wrote his best-loved melodies for "Naughty Marietta"—hear them sung triumphantly from the screen!

W. S. VAN DYKE
... who has always given you something different ("Trader Horn", "Thin Man"), now does it with a musical.

JEANETTE MacDONALD
Never before has she been so lovely—never before has her golden voice been so perfectly recorded for the screen!

NELSON EDDY
Favorite of the concert world, his thrilling personality makes him the screen's first romantic singing star.

FRANK MORGAN
Hilariously funny as the baffled Governor of New Orleans who tried to tame "Naughty" Marietta.

Clearance on Scale Basis, Topic in K.C.

and it was not known whether the low scales adopted by three first runs would become permanent. Clearance board members feel that a theatre with a lower than established price is not entitled to the protection in force for all first runs.

If such an amendment is pushed, it would further delay adoption of a schedule, which has already engaged the attention of the drafters for about a year. In view of the many delays and unsuccessful attempts few exhibitors and film men, if any, anticipate that a plan will be forthcoming from Campi this season.

The I. T. O. apparently has shelved attempts to obtain relief for subsequents, as it set out to do several weeks ago. It did gain its main point, however, when it obtained an agreement from Fox Midwest not to insist on protection over independents for the balance of this season.

Excelsior Springs Film Case Dropped

KANSAS CITY, April 3.—The Fox Beyer, Excelsior Springs, Mo., will not have to show cause why its film service should not be stopped, as it was ordered to do by the local grievance board. J. Erwin Dodson, Casino, same city, has withdrawn his complaint charging the Fox house has failed to abide by a cease and desist order on cash night.

ents who have not had a previous opportunity to protest certain provisions of the schedule will come on for the New York session.

R. H. Cochrane is chairman of the Campi session today which will decide about 25 appeals tabled from last week's two-day session. A decision on appointment of impartial men as permanent chairmen of local boards is expected to be made today.

LOS ANGELES, April 3.—The Southern California I.T.O. and Associated Exhibitors are holding meetings Thursday to decide on representatives to the April 11 hearing in New York.

Orders New Complaints Filed

PITTSBURGH, April 3.—On the ground they were improperly filed, complaints on non-theatrical competition brought against the Pittsburgh Athletic Assn. and the Metropolitan Club by Harris Amusement Co., Loew's and Warner Bros. Circuit Management Corp. have been dismissed by the local grievance board, which stated distributors serving the respondents should have been named as co-defendants.

based on the Brandt system, the first to be presented to Compliance Director Sol A. Rosenblatt. The I.T.O.A. head plans to leave for Washington within the next few days to confer with Rosenblatt.

In addition to the labor discussions, the local film situation was aired. Leon Rosenblatt was appointed chairman of the code committee, Morris Fleischman head of entertainment, Bernard Barr, legislation; Louis Meyers, insurance; John Benas, film; Dave Weinstock, light and power. Each chairman will name his committee personnel. Fleischman was also appointed chairman of the board of directors. Benas was elected to his post by the membership in addition to his appointment by Brandt.

Duals were not discussed, the matter being left for the general meeting on Tuesday.

Robbin to Stay as Supply Men's Head

J. Robbin is slated to be reelected president of the Independent Theatre Supply Dealers' Ass'n. at the four-day annual convention in Chicago starting June 15. The session will be held at the Edgewater Beach Hotel. All other officers are expected to be renamed.

The code for theatre equipment firms will be the principal topic of discussion.

Declares Missouri Bank Night Lottery

ST. LOUIS, April 3.—Attorney General Roy McKittrick has advised Prosecuting Attorney S. Spannagel of LaClede County that bank nights are in violation of the anti-lottery laws of Missouri. Spannagel had sought advice concerning a cash prize plan in use by the Lyric Theatre, Lebanon, on Friday nights.

Jack Hess Joins Mascot

Para. to Sue Over Blumenthal Bonds

payment to Blumenthal was in violation of the rights of other general creditors of Paramount.

Details of the Blumenthal settlement were brought out by Attorneys Saul E. Rogers and Samuel Zirn, representing Paramount bondholders, during examinations of Ralph A. Kohn, former Paramount treasurer, and Austin C. Keough, Paramount general counsel, before the late Referee Henry K. Davis in September, 1933. It was revealed then that the settlement had been made after Blumenthal had instituted an action to have Paramount's 1932 credit transaction with 12 banks set aside and to have Film Productions Corp. dissolved. The latter company was organized to take title to negatives which were pledged as security for the new bank credit.

At the time of the settlement details of the case were kept confidential and records of testimony were removed from the court by mutual consent. This was done, it was said, to prevent other bondholders from instituting similar actions.

Testimony given in the examinations before Davis was that Blumenthal held 25 $1,000 bonds, the market value of which at the time of the settlement was about $7,500. It was stated that Blumenthal was paid $25,000, the face amount of the bonds, and that the $11,000 balance was to go to Nathan Burkan, Blumenthal's attorney. Cravath, de Gersdorff, Swaine & Wood, special counsel for Paramount, represented the company in the Blumenthal action.

Variety Club Gets Under Way in Omaha

OMAHA, April 3.—Variety Club is at last on its official way. At the first meeting every branch manager, theatre manager, film salesman and minor executive was in attendance.

A committee which will bring in final organization plans at Saturday's luncheon is composed of: Evert R. Cummings, John J. Gillin, Jr., Harry Shumow and Roy Miller. James Rogers has been named temporary treasurer.

Get Delay in Color Suit

SAN FRANCISCO, April 3. — Attorneys for Leon Douglas, who is suing Fox, Paramount and Walt Disney charging infringement of patents for the making of colored pictures, have obtained an extension to April 25 for the answering of 35 interrogatories filed by the Fox attorneys. Douglas' attorneys were first given to Jan. 21 to answer the questions, then obtained an extension to March 25.

Morris L. Ernst, member of the Vanderlip debenture committee and representative of professional talent holding Paramount bonds. Attorney Louis M. Levy, said to represent Paramount stockholders, will also present objections to the board and may be joined by Samuel Zirn, Archibald Palmer and other attorneys representing small bondholder groups.

However, the total claims against Paramount represented by the probable objectors are estimated to amount to less than $500,000, as compared with an estimated $30,000,000 of creditors claims which have assented to the plan in its entirety.

Further discussions on the underwriting of the $6,400,000 of new Paramount stock subscription warrants were held yesterday by representatives of the larger creditor groups in the office of Alfred A. Cook, counsel for Paramount Publix and for the Paramount stockholders' committee. Again, no final decision was reached, although it is understood that the underwriting in all probability will be handled by several investment houses, including Kuhn, Loeb & Co., Hayden, Stone & Co. and several others. Only the lowest bidders for the underwriting are being given consideration, it was stated.

Tenure of Office Discussed

Discussions of the tenure of office of the proposed directors also were held, with indications given that the tentative agreement that two and three-year terms will be given H. A. Fortington, Stephen Callaghan, Floyd B. Odlum and John Hertz, will remain as planned. Other one, two and three-year terms will be apportioned finally among the other 12 directors at a later date, it was said.

Informal discussions of officers of the new company continue to reveal support for George J. Schaefer for the presidency, although significant backing for Adolph Zukor and N. L. Nathanson is also in evidence. Any shift in creditor action on officers which left Zukor out of the presidency would probably result in his being made chairman of the board, according to sentiment now.

The hearing today may not be concluded with the first session, it is generally believed. However, it is felt that tomorrow or Monday should see the plan finally confirmed in the event of any delay.

Yoost Erpi Plea Delayed

The petition of William Yoost for leave to intervene in the Paramount Publix reorganization proceedings for the purpose of entering objections to Paramount's proposed new domestic recording license agreements with Erpi was referred to Federal Judge Alfred C. Coxe when it came before Judge Henry W. Goddard for hearing yesterday. Judge Coxe is expected to act on the petition today.

but films would be hit with a one per cent levy on manufactured articles, with one-fourth of one per cent on the wholesale product. Other changes include a one per cent severance on natural resources, two and a half per cent on gas and electricity, and two per cent on transportation.

Assemblyman Chatters, author of the income tax, announced his intention to subpoena the records of the State Franchise Tax Commissioner to learn what taxes films are paying to "disabuse the minds of the people of the idea that the industry is being discriminated against through a reasonable income tax measure."

Assemblyman Patterson's six-hour, five-day week bill has been passed in the House without debate, but it is believed there is a good chance for reconsideration.

Floridians Ask 10% Levy

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., April 3. — Florida showmen now have a fight on their hands for the Florida Educational Ass'n has decided to drop its plan for a general sales tax, and is going to ask the Legislature, which opened its 60-day session this week, to put a straight 10 per cent tax on all amusements and allow the proceeds to go to the school fund.

According to the association, it could use $20,000,000, nicely, but is willing to try and worry along with half that amount. It estimates the 10 per cent amusement tax should bring in at least $3,000,000 a year, and stresses the point that this tax would be paid by winter visitors as well as the residents.

In addition to this amusement tax money, it will ask for another cent from the gasoline tax. This, it figures, will make up the loss of revenue through the passage of the homestead exemption which went into effect this year.

Pa. Tax Fight Stirs Hope

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 3.—Following a protest of some 300 exhibitors from all parts of the state yesterday against the proposed 10 per cent ticket tax before the Senate Finance Committee, there is a feeling here that the measure may meet defeat. The Senate is controlled by anti-administration Republicans. The measure has already been passed by the House.

Support Advertising Bill

BOSTON, April 3.—Allied Theatre of Massachusetts, M.P.T.O.A. unit, is actively supporting a bill pending before the Joint Ways and Means Committee of the Legislature providing for a $15,000 appropriation for advertising the state. The theory is that it will increase the number of summer visitors.

Hold Missouri Hearing

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., April 3.—The Senate Ways and Means Committee held a hearing today on the Administration's two per cent sales tax bill which passed the House last week. Its passage is regarded as certain in spite of the fact that exhibitors and business men generally are threatening to insist upon a state referendum.

Pass Maine Betting Bill

AUGUSTA, Me., April 3. — The House has passed the bill to legalize pari-mutuel betting on horse races by 93-45. It is expected to pass the Senate.

Kill Iowa Safety Bill

DES MOINES, April 3.—The Iowa Senate has kill a bill to provide safety regulations for projection booths. It was opposed by theatres on the ground that it would increase the number of operators.

Defeat Delaware Dog Races

DOVER, Del., April 3. — Combined efforts of Loew's, Warners and independent theatre owners are credited with having defeated in the House the bill to legalize dog racing. The measure, which permitted pari-mutuel betting, was defeated, 9-22.

Pass Tenn. Sunday Bill

NASHVILLE, April 3.—The Senate today passed the local option Sunday opening bill, 17-10. The House is regarded as more liberal than the Senate and its passage by that branch is expected. The measure is sponsored by the Memphis delegation.

Barker Joins Columbia

OMAHA, April 3.—William Barker, former Paramount booker, has joined the Columbia sales force here. He replaces Larry Hensler, transferred to the Des Moines territory three weeks ago.

Looking 'Em Over

"Case of the Curious Bride"

(Warners)

Warren William and Allen Jenkins combine to present a very entertaining and amusing mystery film that will keep audiences guessing until the last reel as to the identity of the culprit. Mystery fans, in particular, will go for this latest screen adaptation of one of Earle S. Gardner's novels, for there is enough comedy, particularly when Jenkins is on, to satisfy.

Director Michael Curtiz never lets the action lag. He handles Tom Reed's screen play in such a manner that audience interest is maintained until the end. Tom Abel's photography is good.

William, as Perry Mason, ace criminal lawyer and detective, decides to help Margaret Lindsay discover the reason for the return of the husband she had believed dead. In the meantime she had remarried. The returned "dead man" is murdered and Miss Lindsay accused of his death. William and Jenkins, aided by the usual battery of newspaper men and hindered by the police at every turn, proceed to unravel the mystery. Laughs are handed out right and left during the process and it isn't until the final few feet that the killer is revealed in a surprise finish and Miss Lindsay vindicated.

William is excellent as the suave, debonair Perry Mason, and Jenkins reaches comedy heights as his assistant. Miss Lindsay has little to do. Claire Dodd, who turns in a first rate performance; Wini Shaw, Warren Hymer, Phil Reed and Henry Kolker round out the cast. This film should do well.

Production Code Seal No. 685. Running time, 68 minutes. "G."

"Unwelcome Stranger"

(Columbia)

SAN DIEGO, Cal., April 3.—Combining plenty of action, excitement, drama and humor, this is an entertaining film about two orphans, a freckle-faced kid and a horse, and how they win the big handicap.

The story deals with Jack Holt, a race horse breeder, whose pet superstition is orphans. His wife, capably played by Mona Barrie, without his knowledge brings into their home Jackie Searl, a lame orphan. Searl overhears Holt's betting commissioner (Bradley Page) conspire with a crooked jockey (Frankie Darro) to throw the handicap.

At the last minute Searl rides Noma, also an orphan, to victory in the big race. There is plenty of suspense as Searl is unseated near the finish by his rival jockey to keep the audience on the edges of its seats. Noma, however, wins when the commissioners disqualify the guilty jockey.

Director Phil Rosen has turned out a race track picture with a new angle that should appeal to all ages.

Names and the novel treatment of the picture should be stressed by exhibitors.

can add $300,000 to the cost of a feature.

Television is something for the more distant future, he indicated, but his opinion was that some day it may be possible for a studio to spend a year in producing a picture and have it shown simultaneously in all the theatres of the country by television.

Goldwyn's remarks on stereoscopy were somewhat of a repetition of his recent interviews in the United States. He has been working on it for three years, he said, and now has the process to the point where a special attachment on a projector will enable a spectator to get a stereoscopic effect without the use of "analysers." It will not greatly increase production costs, he said.

Goldwyn denied he had come to England to discuss theatre purchases, but said he had conferred on production with Alexander Korda. Merle Oberon's next, which will start in May, with either Fredric March or Herbert Marshall in the male lead, also was the subject of a conference, it was stated.

May Produce in England

Samuel Goldwyn may produce abroad, he indicated yesterday morning as he debarked from the Olympic after a four-day visit in England on personal business.

The U. A. producer said that his production plans in England depend on the California tax situation. Goldwyn stated he did not sign anyone while in London and will leave for the coast in a few days.

Asked about theatre conditions, he declared that business is better in England than ever before.

Bahamas Latest to Bid; Mayer States Views

Eastern studio projects are springing up like dandelions after a spring rain. Virginia, North Carolina and Florida have them and now the Bahamas has produced another for saving money on British quota pictures.

Out on the coast Louis B. Mayer is assuring the public the industry really means to say goodbye.

Governor Merriam's stratosphere tax program has already lost buoyancy, and if a fin should give way in the oratorical gale nobody would be surprised. The legislative crew might take to the rubber boats on an every-man-for-himself basis.

Ohio in New Outbreak of Tax Measures

COLUMBUS, April 4.—That 10 per cent admission tax sidetracked by the recent enactment of a three per cent sales tax is rattling around again like an army of skeletons in exhibitors' closets. In fact, all kinds of new taxes are rattling around only a few weeks after it looked as though the problem had been solved, temporarily, at least.

There has been some talk of presenting a constitutional amendment to exempt food and clothing from the sales tax. This would cut the estimated receipts by $50,000,000.

Apparently Governor Martin L. Davey regards this amendment seriously, because he has taken the tax bull by the horns and is jostling it all over the legislative arena. What the Senatorial picadors and the House matadors will do about it remains to be seen.

Governor Davey says $30,000,000 to

KANSAS CITY, April 4.—The Kansas City dual bill problem is on the road to solution with approval by the I. T. The latest development follows the independents' demand that all product be released for dualling.

As tentatively agreed upon, the selection committee is to consist of two representatives of independents, one from Fox Midwest, one appointed by distributors and one first run member. Starting of New Company Now Up to Creditors And Stockholders

Paramount Publix emerged from Federal court supervision yesterday with the final confirmation of the company's plan of reorganization by Judge Alfred C. Coxe.

The order confirming the plan brings to an end Paramount's rehabilitation processes after slightly more than 26 months of receivership, bankruptcy and reorganization proceedings. What remains to be done to complete the launching of the new Paramount company is almost wholly internal, corporate procedure which may be undertaken independently of the court. This will include the immediate calling of a special meeting of stockholders to formally elect the proposed new board of directors of 16 already agreed upon, the election of officers of the new company and the discharge by the court of the trustees of Paramount, Charles D. Hilles and Eugene Leake.

No change in the board of directors will be made. Judge Coxe cut short the voiced opposition to the board after listening to Morris L. Ernst and Louis M. Levy, attorneys for Paramount bondholders, with the statement

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

A MAJOR industry disturbance came to a finish yesterday. Federal Judge Coxe, from high on his bench in the United States District Court, placed his judicial seal of approval on a reorganized Paramount. Practically, and yet not actually, the company is now clear of the bankruptcy regime to which its every action has been reported for twenty-six months, plus one week. There remain details, many details, of rehabilitation, including election or directors, final submission of trustees' reports, their discharge by the bench which appointed them in the first instance. But they are details—picayune and routine by comparison with all which has gone before. . . .

Relieved of its estate as a bankrupt, the atmosphere at Paramount immediately will clear. The job is not over, of course. From many angles, it is just beginning to take whatever form finally will emerge from the plans and ideas of its essentially banking board. To those who are in the saddle, it might be well to point out again the obvious pitfalls into which strangers to film technique may easily fall and to caution them in friendly manner of the wisdom of giving film men the right to run a film company. . . .

Paramount is a valuable property, the various body blows and kicks in the pants administered by the depression notwithstanding. Inherent in its structure are great strength and virility, no more significant proof of this evidencing itself than the manner in which its production and selling machinery maintained speed under circumstances discouraging and disheartening. A colossus of this industry, it would be strange to contemplate what it would be without Paramount. There are those who maintain this or any other major elimination from the picture would mean little; that another company would take its place; that production output would continue at its level whether Paramount made its yearly quota or not. This column argues that the celluloid ensemble without Paramount would be like a family minus one of its most important members and that its removal from the scene would represent a void not easy to fill. . . .

"I have no desire any more to play in the commercial theatre. And the movies are purely commercial. My plan would be to use that economic independence which the movies can give to an actor to seek to eliminate the commercial theatre and to attempt to create the kind of a theatre in which, we, as actors, could find the opportunity to do the sort of thing we want to do."—Leslie Howard in The New York Times.

At the risk of pouts and protests from feminine readers in comfortable Westchester surroundings, the temptation, irrepressible, is to ask Howard why he does not do the thing he so glibly talks about. Retiring and modest in his characterizations on screen and stage for which he has been working steadily and very lucratively in recent years, it comes as a shock to conclude that Howard, in life, is inclined to drift so far afield from those expert delineations of his. . . .

Exactly what sort of regulation, if any at all, does Abram F. Myers, the general counsel of Allied States, look upon with favor? Citing that interesting Federal court decision in Denver the other day wherein the judge ruled exhibition was intrastate business and, therefore, not compelled to bow its will to the mandate of the NRA code, he told Allied members in the Northwest on Tuesday that the decision verified his original contention. His argument has been that exhibition was not subject to the code. So far he's in the clear. Whether you agree or not with his viewpoint has nothing at all to do with the case in point. . . .

In the same speech, same place, if not in the same breath, Myers predicted Congress would enact the Pettengill bill prohibiting compulsory block booking. Allied is openly on record with its approbation of this proposed piece of legislation. What needs clarification should be obvious if you have read thus far. Left hand: Myers opposes the code as constituted because theatre operation, he asserts, is not an interstate business. Right hand: He endorses the Pettengill measure which would exercise a Federal check of another ilk on the self-same intrastate business which he opposes under the code. What hand is guiding him anyway? . . .

Coast-Coast Studio Flight Gets Up Steam

Inc., who is now in New York from Miami.

The Bahamas, he says, are a "logical solution" of the British quota problem.

"Up to this time quota pictures have been practically a total loss," he asserts, "due to the fact that they are rarely even shipped to America. At our Nassau studios we will be able to produce quota pictures at approximately one-half the London production cost, due largely to ideal weather conditions. In addition, we will be able to feature American players with box-office names."

Wray says that in addition to his Nassau plant he is completing a studio at Opalocka, Fla.

Virginia Is Excited

RICHMOND, April 4.—This state is so steamed up over the possibility of an eastern migration of studios that Gov. George C. Peery is now awaiting the arrival of Chester Beecroft from Hollywood.

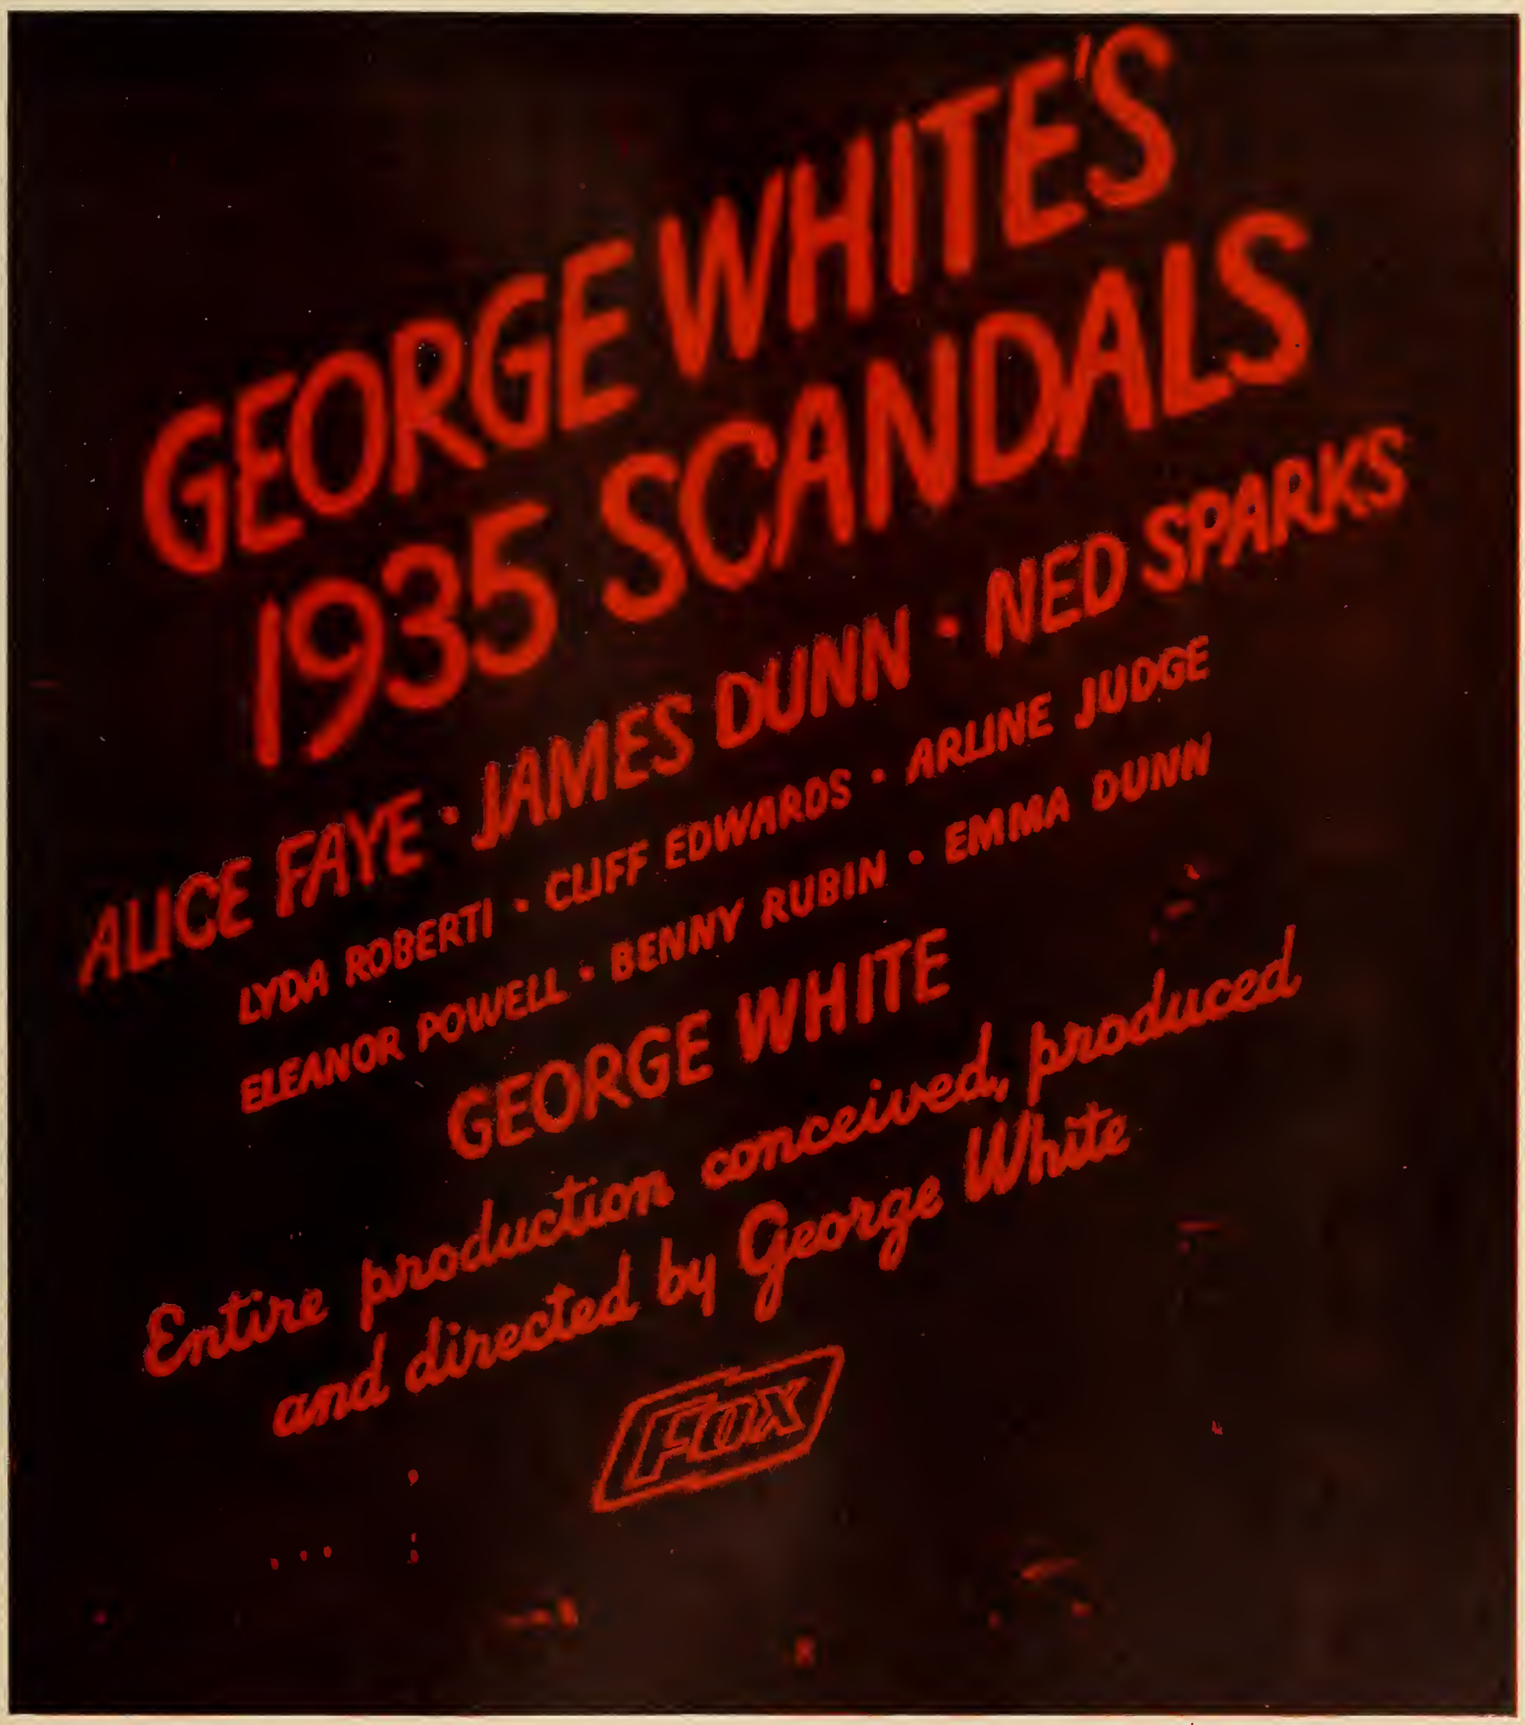
Reports have it that he will supervise construction of a studio at Portsmouth for Hyman B. Lasting and associates.

Other promoters are also busy. Southern Pictures, Inc., has been chartered in North Carolina and there is talk of building a studio in Charlotte.

Mayer Predicts Migration

HOLLYWOOD, April 4.—Speaking before the Breakfast Club, Louis B. Mayer predicted the industry would move from California. He voiced the opinion it may be too late for the state to intervene. He blamed the proposed state taxes, political and economic conditions and the activities of demagogues as the reasons for the shift.

Mayer said: "I predict we will move and I don't think Governor Merriam can stop us whether he wants to or not. If I went to Sacramento and spoke, they'd probably double the taxes, since I'm mighty unpopular there as I represent a business that pays wages. Today the film industry gives millions yearly in taxes to Los Angeles city and county. That's from the companies and not individuals and you can add to that amount the individual taxes. Take away their money and they've got to go."



"If we don't move now and if there is no change in the attitude of the public regarding throttling the industry," he continued, "we'll move next year or the year after. As long as demagogues have these Utopias and business people do nothing but grumble, hope is lost."

Mayer concluded his talk by citing "outrageous" taxes, slashing at legislators and hinting at lucrative inducements held out to the industry by other states.

Board Splits Rule On Century-RKO

was not unexpected, since Loew's has the Hillside, Jamaica, which would ultimately be affected by the decision if Jamaica was held to be competitive with Rockville Centre.

Century is understood to be more interested in the Jamaica situation than Far Rockaway and will appeal.

The board argued for several hours, but the session was called to a halt when it was found that the four men in favor of handing down the decision as it stands would not change their views. The decision was then signed and the board took up the clearance complaint of the Music Hall, Clinton, N. J., against the Washington, Washington, N. J. The situations were declared non-competitive.

Wolff, who has been sick for the past five days, was on deck for the final voting. He was not feeling well and left for home after the decision had been signed. He showed signs of fatigue during the entire meeting.

Bolognino Off Board

After the decision had been handed down on the Century-RKO case, Laurence Bolognino declared yesterday he was officially off the local zoning board. He told MOTION PICTURE DAILY he had quit six weeks ago, the resignation to become effective when the case wound up.

McNabb Wins Delay in K. C.

KANSAS CITY, April 4.—The contention of A. B. McNabb, Neodesha, Kan., that he needed a stimulator because his competitor, Glen Klock, had overbought product won him a respite from the local grievance board's decision that he immediately discontinue bank night.

The board called in McNabb to show cause why his film service should not be stopped for failure to comply with a cease and desist order. He argued he could not operate without bank night, as about all the product he had was westerns. The board found him guilty of disregarding the original order, but stayed the stop-service order until Campi hands down a decision in McNabb's overbuying case against Klock.

It became necessary for McNabb to cease bank nights when Klock filed a compliance on reduced admissions.

Hits Cleveland Clearance

CLEVELAND, April 4.—The clearance and zoning board is scheduled to meet Tuesday to hear a protest of the Inter-City Amusement Co., operating the Utopia, Painesville, against first run theatres of Cleveland, which have 14 days' protection over Painesville. Inter-State wants this reduced to seven days.

In support of this protest, the protestant cites the clearance of seven days between Cleveland and first run theatres of Elyria and Lorain, which are approximately the same distance from Cleveland, in the opposite direction from Painesville.

Stop Milwaukee Giveaways

MILWAUKEE, April 4.—The Hollywood, local neighborhood house operated by Hollywood Co. of Milwaukee, Inc., has been ordered to discontinue giving away bags of groceries by the local grievance board. The complaint against the house was brought by the Saxe Amusement Management's Garfield, both houses being competitive.

Purely Personal

CHARLES LAUGHTON, returning on the Europa yesterday after conferring several weeks with ALEXANDER KORDA in London on stories, leaves for Hollywood today. He will next appear in "Mutiny of the Bounty" for M-G-M and must be in England on June 15 to start work on his next for London Films. When asked by MOTION PICTURE DAILY yesterday how many pictures he will make for M-G-M, LAUGHTON corrected the interrogator and said he was under contract to IRVING THALBERG and not M-G-M. He says his trip over was "flat." The previous ocean voyage, he said was "lousy."

Quip of the Day

Jimmy Durante and Dorothy Mackaill provided some of the clowning at the A.M.P.A. yesterday. Dorothy planted a gardenia on Schnozzola's lapel, then sat in his lap and threw her arms around him. All of this on the dais.

Jimmy disentagled himself, gave Dorothy her gardenia and, turning to Howard Dietz, said:

"Do you think this will cause comment?"

Morris Helprin, at the same function and after two hours of the show, looked at his watch, discovered it was 2:45 and left, remarking:

"I'm going now. This is where I came in."

Warners and Levins End Clearance Row

Warners and the three Levin Brothers, Harry, Abe and Louis, of the Elwood, Newark, have patched up their clearance and booking difficulties with the result that the hearing slated in Washington for April 13 before the Industrial Appeals Board has been definitely called off.

Under the arrangement practically completed, Levin will pool product with Warners' Regent, Newark, and Capitol, Belleville. The deal also winds up the clearance and zoning case which the Elwood has had pending in Washington for several months.

David T. Wilentz, attorney general of New Jersey, acted as legal representative for the Levins on the clearance issue. He was slated to appear before the NRA board on appeal.

Lou Levin and Warners yesterday admitted the get-together, with all sides happy over the arrangement.

Mason Ignores Code

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Lowell Mason, former counsel for the Darrow board, completed his testimony before the Senate Finance Committee today without referring to the film code.

Mason paid his respects to several codes which the board had investigated and also charged that many of the codes contained provisions permitting things which had been outlawed by the courts before the NRA was created.

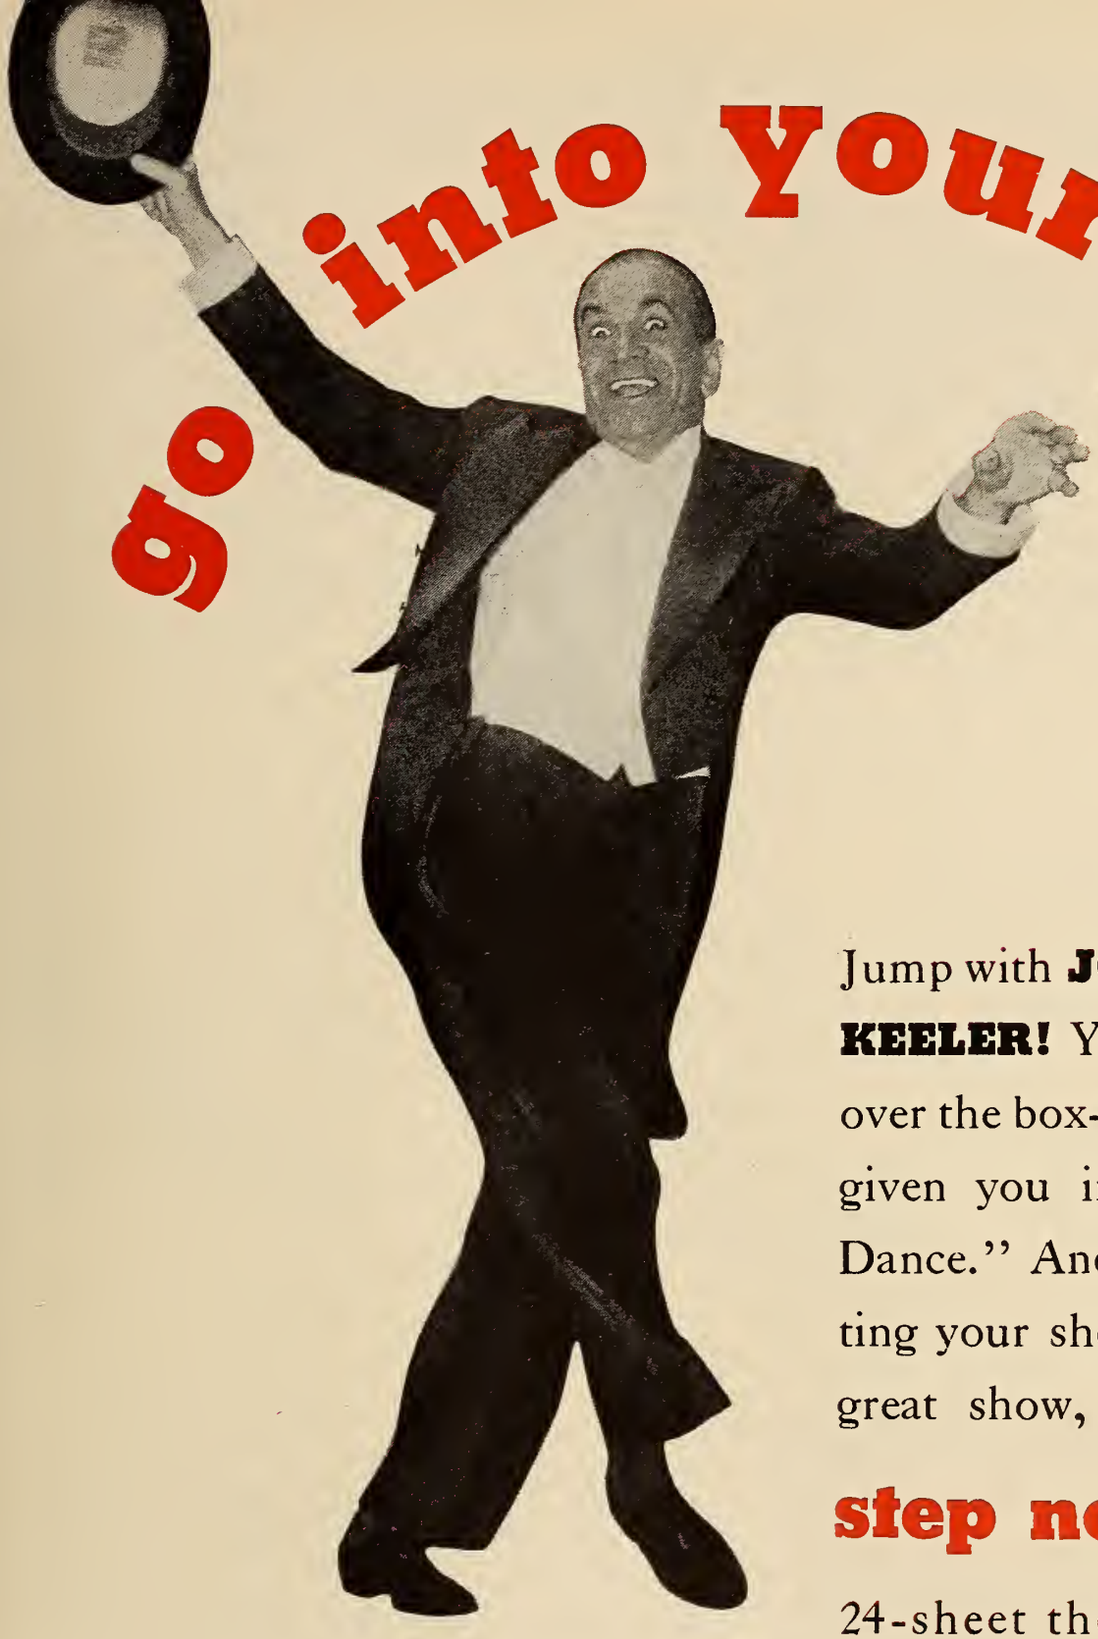
Guild Actors Renew Fight Upon Academy

LOS ANGELES, April 4.—Opposing arbitration by the Academy in a case where an actor demands his own conciliation board, the Screen Actors' Guild has started a pen and word-of-mouth campaign among players and agents suggesting they refuse to accept the studio contract clause giving a player the privilege of Academy arbitration.



The Guild's opposition to the Academy is the result of the first month's trial of the new working conditions system ruled effective March 1 by the latter. During the month, according to an Academy statement, 800 players accepted no arbitration other than its own. What has stirred the Guild is that many of these players were its own members.

The Guild suggests verbally and by letter that players utilize the facilities of its conciliation committee.

Campi Hears 25 Appeals

Campi devoted its entire session yesterday to decisions on about 25 appeals. It will resume this morning on the rest of the cases on the calendar. In addition to the appeals, other business, including appointment of impartial members as permanent chairmen of local boards, will be taken up. Ed Kuykendall was chairman. He will continue in that post at the session today.

Looking 'Em Over

"Brewster's Millions"

(British and Dominions-United Artists)

The familiar yarn of Jack Brewster, who inherited $2,500,000 from his grandfather with $6,000,000 more from an uncle dangled before him provided he spent the first fortune complete in six months emerges again. This time it is set to musical treatment and tempo with moderately pleasant results.

Jack Buchanan, young man of ingratiating personality, feet that are agile and voice that is agreeable, if small, plays the title role and indulges in pranks, fantastic and madcap, to squander the first millions in order to get the remaining six. He backs a musical show, buys a palace in the form of a sumptuous yacht, saves the annual fiesta of a small Italian village for its mayor and populace and very nearly loses out when his play clicks and his stock investments soar. Comes the finish as Brewster would have it, financially and in the matter of the heart with all the beats pounding in unison on behalf of Nancy O'Neil.

Production values are sumptuous, but the picture either is overlong or appears to be so in a number of its lengthier sequences. Some of the gags, too, have a very familiar ring and more age on their shoulders than fresh quips ought to have if they are determined to remain fresh.

Production Code Seal No. 655. Running time, 78 minutes. "G."

"Eight Bells"

(Columbia)

It will be "Eight Bells" for audiences, but all probably won't be well until at least the fourth reel is reached, for up to there the action is still floundering in its attempt to get started.

R. William Neill's direction seems to have allowed too much dialogue during the first half of the picture, but from that point on his work is commendable. Joseph Walker's photography is exceptionally good.

The yarn has Ralph Bellamy, captain of a tramp steamer, demoted in place of John Buckler so that the latter can insure the delivery on time of the cargo and thus save the line owned by Ann Sothern's father. The two men clash immediately. When Miss Sothern is found a stowaway on the ship, matters are made worse since she is engaged to Buckler. The latter does everything wrong and finally steers the ship off its course and into a hurricane. From this point on, the action is fast and dramatic. The boat suffers about every accident possible except sinking and finally makes port chiefly because of the herculean work of Bellamy. The finish finds Bellamy and Miss Sothern in each other's arms since she has discovered she didn't really love Buckler after all. As fare for neighborhood houses this film should prove satisfactory.

Production Code Seal No. 679. Running time, 63 minutes. "G."

"El Dia Que Me Quieras"

(The Day You Loved Me)

(Paramount)

Carlos Gardel and Rosita Moreno sing and dance through this feature in a most pleasant manner. It is Gardel's picture, however, particularly because of his singing. The one number he does with Miss Moreno where their voices blend splendidly should be long remembered.

Despite the fact the film is in Spanish, so clear is the story and so well is it handled by director John Reinhardt that it is easily followed even if one has no knowledge of the language. The photography by William Miller is good.

The story has Gardel, the son of a wealthy South American banker, interested more in the theatre than anything else. He marries Miss Moreno, a dancer, against his father's will and is disowned. Five years later Miss Moreno dies because of the privations they have suffered, but Gardel carries on with the daughter she has presented to him.

The scene then shifts to Europe, where Gardel and his grown child are the sensations of the theatre and night clubs. Hollywood claims them and it is while there that the daughter, also played by Miss Moreno, meets and falls in love with Del Campo. Gardel's father dies and leaves him his fortune. Del Campo's father objects to the love match, but upon discovering her true identity consents to their marriage. All ends well.

Others in the cast are Tito Lusiardo, Manuel Pelufo, Jose Luis Tortosa and Celia Villa. No production code seal. Running time, 80 minutes. "G."

"Life Begins at 40," yesterday's opener at the Music Hall, was reviewed by wire from Hollywood Feb. 2.

"West Point of the Air," today's opener at the Capitol, was covered by Hollywood wire Feb. 23.

"It Happened in New York," previewed at the Roxy last night, was also reviewed from Hollywood in the same issue.

Short Subjects

"Star Night at Cocoanut Grove"

(M-G-M)

Gary Cooper, Bing Crosby, Jack Oakie, Mary Brian, El Brendel, Toby Wing, Sir Guy Standing and Mary Pickford are here presented as being guests in the Grove with Leo Carrillo as master-of-ceremonies. Miss Pickford speaks into a mike and Crosby sings while Ted Fio Rita and his orchestra play. These are the outstanding features of this typical short presenting stars at play.

It should prove interesting, particularly since it is done in Technicolor. Reviewed without production code seal. Running time, 25 mins. "G."

"Hit and Rum"

(Radio)

The comedy and humor of this short are simple and puerile. Children will probably enjoy it but adults may be more bored than amused.

Leon Errol and Eddie Kane, both inebriated, run head-on into each other while driving their cars. Harry Bowen, a maniac obsessed with the idea he is a judge, is wedged between the two wrecked automobiles. Errol and Kane then cavort about, winding up in court after they sober up because of a subpoena meant for Bowen. The finish finds Bowen being taken away to an asylum and Errol collapsing.

Production Code Seal, No. 684. Running time, 20 mins. "G."

"Flying Oil"

(Educational)

This Terry-Toon is up to the average in entertainment set by previous cartoons of the series.

The reel opens with a "flying oil" salesman hawking his ware to the animals. They all buy and proceed to fly all over the countryside. The antics of all, particularly of the mice, should draw many a chuckle from audiences, especially from children.

Production Code Seal, No. 0375. Running time, 7 mins. "G."

"Three Little Pigskins"

(Columbia)

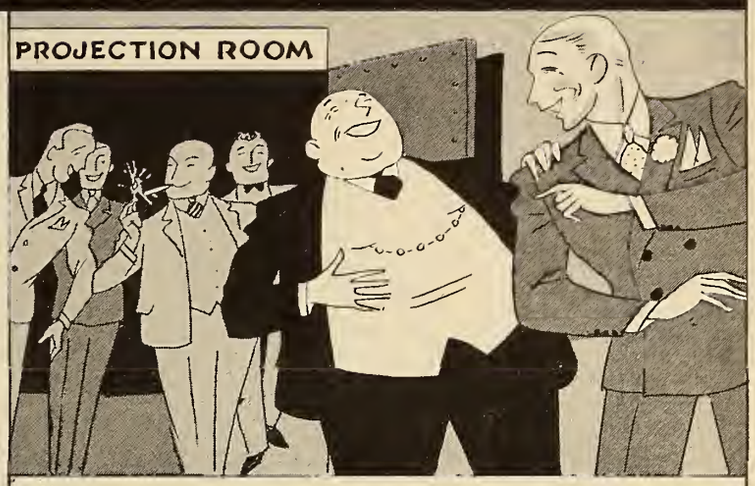
The Three Stooges are featured in this short and their antics will probably have those audiences that appreciate their type of comedy roaring. It is by far one of the funniest comedies they have ever made.

The boys are panhandling when they are mistaken for three football stars and are signed up for a team run by gangsters. The fun reaches its height once they get into the game.

Highly recommended. Production Code Seal, No. 305. Running time, 14 mins. "G."

"Buddy's Theatre"

(Vitaphone)



Buddy as a theatre operator, is in love with a star. He plays one of her pictures and when she finds herself being pursued, on the screen, he dives out of the projection rooms to rescue her. The funniest sequences of the reel, however, are the burlesque of a newsreel and trailer.

Fairly entertaining cartoon. Production Code Seal, No. 574. Running time, 5 mins. "G."

Para. Setup Is Approved By the Court

that the selection of a board was not regarded as the court's province and should remain in the hands of those "who own the company." Thus the following 16, agreed upon by creditor groups some time ago, now will be formally elected members of the board of the new company at the special meeting of stockholders to be called in the near future. Gerald Brooks, Stephen Callaghan, Robert K. Cassatt, H. A. Fortington, William S. Gray, Jr., Duncan G. Harris, John D. Hertz, Percy H. Johnston, Henry R. Luce, Charles A. McCulloch, Maurice Newton, Floyd B. Odlum, Charles E. Richardson, George J. Schaefer, Frank A. Vanderlip and Adolph Zukor.

Joyce Submits Report

By-laws of the new company provide for a board of "not more than 18" members, hence two vacancies will exist on the initial board and, it is believed, these will not be filled immediately.

Prior to confirmation of the plan by Judge Coxe, a report was submitted by Special Master John E. Joyce which allowed provisionally and finally claims against Paramount amounting to $50,952,937, which were entitled to vote on acceptance of the plan. Section 77-B of the bankruptcy reorganization statutes requires that in order for a reorganization plan to be confirmed by the court it must have the assents of two-thirds of the creditors and a majority of the stockholders. Assents to the plan received totaled $34,805,368, or approximately $840,000 more than required. In addition, the assents of 2,068,323 shares of the outstanding 3,221,000 shares of common stock were received.

No opposition to the plan itself was voiced by any creditor at yesterday's hearing, and the opposition to the proposed board of directors was confined to Ernst and Levy. Confirmation by the court also included confirmation of the plan of reorganization for Paramount Broadway Corp., holding company for the Paramount Bldg. and Theatre.

How Para.'s Troubles Began

Paramount's financial difficulties, largely impelled, according to testimony given the Federal court, by theatre purchase obligations which matured in large amounts in 1932, coincident with the decline of business throughout the country, culminated in a voluntary petition for receivership, Jan. 26, 1933. Adolph Zukor and Charles D. Hilles were appointed equity receivers by the Federal court. Several months later a voluntary petition in bankruptcy was filed and Hilles, Eugene Leake and Louis J. Horowitz were elected trustees. Horowitz resigned a month later and was replaced by Charles E. Richardson.

With the enactment of the new Federal reorganization legislation for the relief of embarrassed corporations last June, Paramount availed itself of the act to become a debtor corporation for the purposes of reorganization and the three bankruptcy trustees were continued as trustees of the debtor company. Richardson resigned at the end of last year as the reorganization took final shape, and Hilles and Leake have since continued as trustees. Their final discharge by the court is now expected as soon as the formal election of directors and officers of the reorganized company has become a fact.

Attacks Do a Tail Spin

Attacks on the proposed new Paramount board of directors by Morris L. Ernst and Louis M. Levy, attorneys, came off at yesterday's hearing on confirmation of the reorganization plan "as advertised." And how they were advertised.

Ernst, a member of the Vanderlip debenture committee, who is also counsel for prominent writers, made a stirring plea to make room on the new board for professional talent, who knew something about the business, by taking a few bankers off the board who didn't. He also suggested for the board someone who realized the future possibilities of films in the educational field; someone who appreciated the relation of films to radio, and another who would be an authority on foreign trade.

Referring to conflicting banking interests represented on the proposed board, he said that the body, as now constituted, "is an arena set up for combat," and said that John D. Hertz should not be on the board because of his association with Lehman Bros., who Ernst described as "bankers for RKO."

"It is my impression," Judge Coxe interrupted at this point, "that RKO is being run by a trustee appointed by this court."

Ernst also voiced opposition to the presence on the board of Adolph Zukor, on the grounds that he is a defendant in suits instituted by the Paramount trustees.

Levy, whose sentiments were periodically reported to the press by his office well in advance of their being voiced in court, started to echo Ernst's statements but was cut short by Judge Coxe.

"I do not conceive it to be the court's duty to choose a board," Judge Coxe said. "The right I reserved for the court to veto any member of the board and name others was done only to place the court in a position where it could name a board in the event that the various creditor groups could not. They have agreed on a board and they own the company.

"Moreover," Judge Coxe added, "if it was given to me to select a board, my inclination would be to pick business men in preference to professionals. Too many prima donnas around wouldn't do any one any good."

Few Para. Sales Reported

Little trading in Paramount securities was engaged in by those affiliated with the company's bankruptcy and reorganization committees, according to information submitted by the principals to the Securities and Exchange Commission, verified copies of which were filed with Federal Judge Alfred C. Coxe yesterday.

The Vanderlip debenture committee purchased only one debenture certificate of deposit and no profit or loss was involved, it was stated. Frank A. Vanderlip, chairman of the committee, reported the personal purchase of 175 bonds during February, March and April of this year, and Lawrence Stern, a member of the committee, reported the purchase and sale of 30 bonds, and the purchase of 5,700 shares of Paramount stock. Other members of the committee reported no trading in the securities at all.

The Paramount Broadway bondholders' committee reported no trading, but added that 3,000 bonds were purchased by Kuhn, Loeb & Co., with which a former member of the committee was associated, and that Robert Goelet, a committee member, had purchased $45,000 of the bonds. The Schenck-Broadway committee reported no trading by itself or any of its members.

The stockholders' committee reported trading by three of its members. Barney Balaban purchased 1,000 shares and sold 500; Maurice Newton purchased six shares, and Hallgarten & Co., with whom he is associated, purchased and sold 90 bonds and 2,000 shares of stock, without profit on the transactions. Duncan Holmes, another member of the committee, purchased 35,300 shares of stock and sold 35,000.

The bank group committee reported no trading in the securities by any of its members, but added that the First National Bank of Chicago holds 139 bonds and the Manufacturers Trust Co., 15 bonds.

The Munger debenture committee and the merchandise creditors' committee reported no trading in the securities by either the committees or their members.

Stops Yoost Para.-Erpi Moves

Federal Judge Alfred C. Coxe yesterday denied petition of William Yoost to intervene in the Paramount Publix reorganization proceedings in order to enter objections to the company's proposed new domestic recording license agreement with Erpi. The petition was denied on the grounds that the court held the Paramount trustees and their counsel competent to act in the best interests of the company in effecting the settlement of Erpi's $1,900,000 claim against Paramount, which embraces the new license agreements.

Later, in the course of the hearing on confirmation of Paramount's reorganization plan, Ralph Vatner, attorney for Yoost, attempted to enter objections to the proceedings through an attack on the Erpi claim settlement and the license agreements, but was cut short by Judge Coxe, who reminded the attorney that the Erpi subjects were not a part of the reorganization plan and discussion of them, therefore, was out of order.

Reelect M-G-M Directors

Nicholas M. Schenck, J. Robert Rubin, Louis B. Mayer, Irving Thalberg, Harry Rapf, David Bernstein, Leopold Friedman, Arthur M. Loew and David M. Loew were reelected directors of M-G-M yesterday at the annual stockholders' meeting.

Contrast

St. Louis, April 4.—Carl Steinkieler, leader of the orchestra at the Grand Opera House 20 years ago, is now driving a city ambulance.

Paul Ashenbrenner, pianist in Steinkieler's orchestra, who used to get $28 per week for four shows daily, recently took $2,800 for a week's engagement at the Ambassador. He's now known as Paul Ash.

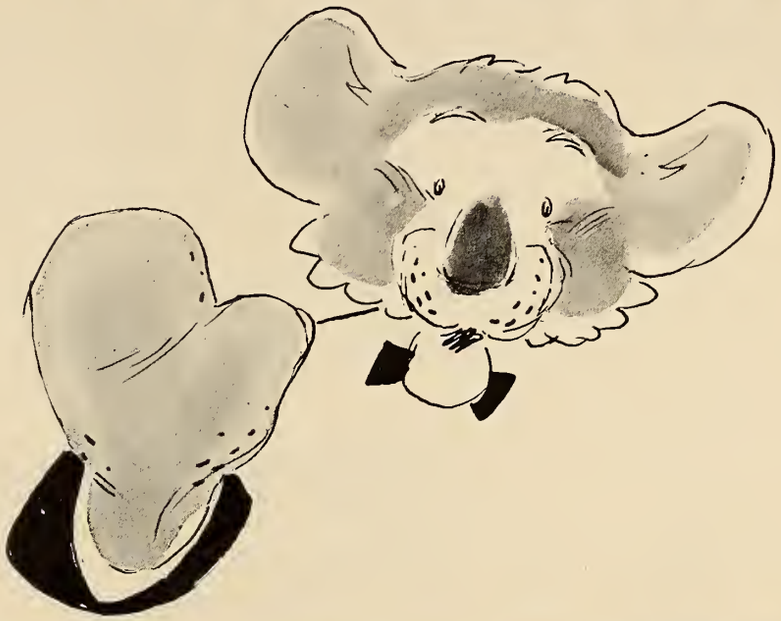
Samuelson Repeats Boycott Suggestion

CHICAGO, April 4.—Addressing a special meeting of Allied directors here, Sidney Samuelson today amplified on the resolution adopted at the convention of Allied of the Northwest in Minneapolis this week in which was urged a nationwide boycott of distributors who threaten the building of theatres to effect the sale of product.

Samuelson's topic was the Loew invasion of Chicago. The head of national Allied declined to say what further measures would be taken, but assured those present that the exhibitor organization's opposition to invasion schemes such as Loew is planning was very definite and would be vigorously pushed here and elsewhere.

Paramount European Heads Plan Meeting



Preceding the convention in the United States which starts May 23, all Paramount foreign heads will convene in Paris early next month for a discussion of new product.

All the European countries will be represented at the session. John W. Hicks, Jr., vice-president of Paramount International Corp., will sail next Wednesday on the Washington with Frank Farley, European talent scout; George Weltner, assistant manager of the company, and T. X. Jones, special New York representative attached to the Paris office.

Gus Schaefer, general manager of continental Europe and Germany, returned Wednesday from a Florida vacation. He was accompanied by his wife and George Schaefer. The continental head hasn't decided when he will sail for home. He will attend the Paris conclave.

Hicks and Weltner plan to be back in time to attend the convention at the Waldorf, starting May 23.

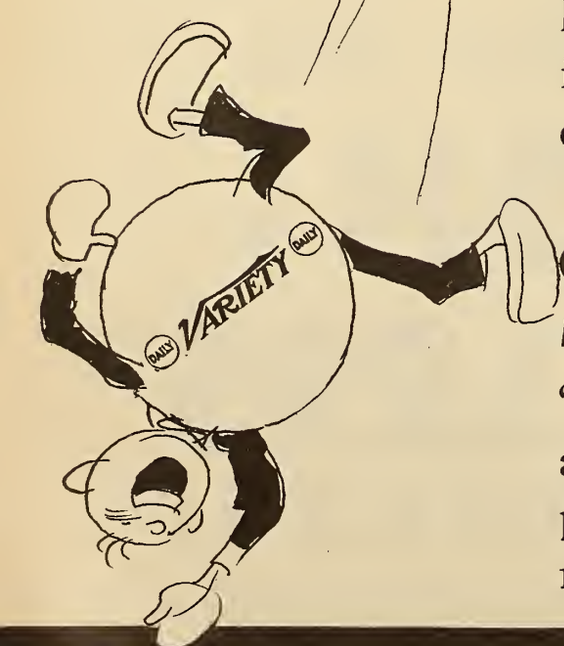
"RECKLESS"! WOW!

MOTION PICTURE DAILY's RAVE!

Hollywood, Cal.



"'Reckless' superb production plus big draw cast names makes this a certain money picture. Story gives Jean Harlow, William Powell, Franchot Tone great opportunities. Dialogue sparkles and action speeds along. Three musical numbers. Production lavish. Hits all types of audiences."

HOLLYWOOD REPORTER GOES WILD!

Hollywood, Cal.

"M-G-M's 'Reckless' certain hit! Powell, Harlow, Tone tops! Swell audience picture ripped right out of the headlines. Literally jammed with entertainment value, music and production numbers in a story that could have stood by itself. William Powell further distinguishes himself for the fans. Jean Harlow gives herself a lift way up. Writing is bright. Direction has tempo. Fleming has directed a swell picture, paced it well and has gotten excellent performances out of the players. All the music is good. The money poured into this picture is evidenced at every point."

COAST VARIETY DOES HANDSPRINGS!

Hollywood, Cal.

"A picture that will live up to most anything press agents can say. Top notch entertainment expertly produced and directed. Everything in it for both male and female patrons."

"RECKLESS" spells RECORDS!

"Life Begins" Washington's Hit, $18,500

WASHINGTON, April 4.—"Life Begins at 40" shot the take at Loew's Palace to $18,500, or $4,000 over average.

Runnerup was the Earle, with $21,400 for "Ruggles of Red Gap," a take $3,800 over par. The stage show had no especial draw.

"Love in Bloom" surprised the Metropolitan with $5,000. "Under Pressure" at Loew's Columbia was good for $3,400. "Man of Aran" held up at the Belasco with $1,000.

Loew's Fox slipped under the line by $500 at $20,000, even with "Folies Bergere" on the stage. "Roberta," in its third week at RKO-Keith's, did a sweet $10,000—which is only $1,400 under the first week average. The picture went into its fourth week.

Total first run business was $79,300. Average (Belasco excepted) is $71,200.

ALBANY, April 4.—Three new film firms have just been chartered here. They are: Hurley Screen Co., Inc., formed by Dina Braun, Sylvia Rohm and Hilda Pachman; Truelife Pictures Corp., Ann Victor, Rheita K. House and Ruth Wedeen; Techni-Film Advertisers, Inc., Ernest M. Terry, Thomas C. Brett and Kenneth I. Walton.

Complete "Silent Code"

Stage & Screen Prod., Inc., have completed the final takes on "The Silent Code," Northwest thriller, and the picture will be released about the middle of this month.

"Diggers" Is Detroit Hit; Gets $22,400

DETROIT, April 4.—"Gold Diggers of 1935" stepped out into the profit division in a big way at the Michigan last week by getting $22,400. Hugh Herbert headed a stage bill.

"Roberta" was outstanding with $6,700 in its third week at the Adams, the take being $1,700 over par. "The Good Fairy," with "Folies Bergere" on the stage, was strong with $16,200 at the Fox.

Total first run business was $65,200. Average is $60,000.

Estimated takings for the week ending March 29:

"ROBERTA" (Radio)
ADAMS—(1,770), 10c-40c, 7 days, 3rd week. Gross: $6,700. (Average, $5,000)

Premier Now Excelsior

HOLLYWOOD, April 4.—Premier Pictures will henceforth be known as Excelsior Pictures. Producers Leslie Simmonds and Sig Neufeld made the switch due to a title conflict.

Filming got under way this week on the first of a series of nine pictures. "Hell Breaks Loose" is the title and Guinn Williams and Sally Blane are co-starred. Sam Newfield is directing.

Henry Dumbell Recovers

NEW CANAAN, Conn., April 4.—Henry Dumbell, manager of the Playhouse, who has been seriously ill, has recovered and has returned to his duties at the theatre.

"Roberta" Is Loop Leader; Gets $30,000

CHICAGO, April 4.—"Roberta" skyrocketed the Palace gross to $30,000, leaving par $8,000 behind. Vic Oliver and John Fogarty headed a vaudeville bill.

"Gold Diggers of 1935" was also in the big money, getting $40,000 at the Chicago. Par is $34,600.

Business was pretty dull elsewhere on the Loop. "Sequoia" was $1,000 up at $12,000 in the Roosevelt, but elsewhere the takes were at or below the mark.

Total first run business was $134,000. Average is $127,600.

Estimated takings:

Week Ending March 26:

"THE SCARLET PIMPERNEL" (U. A.)

"Ruggles" $4,000 Leader in Lincoln

LINCOLN, April 4.—"Ruggles of Red Gap" sent the Stuart into the profit column with a $4,000 take, $900 over average. "Living on Velvet" was enough over to make the Lincoln the second best with $2,600, $400 to the good.

The Orpheum found out how bad a straight picture could be in its last half with "The Private Life of Don Juan" for four days. The first three with "Little Men" and a five-act stage show carried the week's load and fanned up a bare $1,800, which is down by $500. The Varsity, too, slept with the second week of double features, "Let's Live Tonight" and "In Spite of Danger."

Total first run business was $9,200. Average is $9,100.

Estimated takings:

Week Ending March 28:

"LITTLE MEN" (Mascot)

$35,000,000 more in revenue is needed for poor relief, old age pensions, schools and whatnots. To get the money he now proposes renewal of the 10 per cent amusement tax, gross income taxes, one per cent personal income taxes, a one per cent payroll tax, a professional tax on physicians, dentists, attorneys and others, an impost on checks, safe deposit boxes and tourist homes; an increase in the rates on gasoline, motor vehicles, utility companies, transportation, chain stores, and a tax on matches.

The only thing that escapes is trees. Governor Davey is a tree surgeon.

Lehman Gets Sunday Bill

ALBANY, April 4.—Sunday legitimate theatre shows are now up to the Governor. The two Berg bills, one permitting opening and the other requiring one day off in seven for performers and theatre attaches, have passed both houses of the Legislature.

Equity yesterday wired Governor Lehman protesting Sunday night performances for legitimate attractions. Theatre managers hold that they would close Monday nights if the Sunday ban was lifted.

Dorgan Bill Is Embalmed

BOSTON, April 4—The Massachusetts House has refused by a vote of 57 to 31 to offer a substitute measure following an unfavorable report by its Public Welfare Committee on the petition of Representative Thomas Dorgan, former bus driver of Dorchester, to ban everyone under 14 from seeing pictures not passed by an appointed religious board. A similar Dorgan bill was killed last year also.

The House's action was a victory for Arthur Howard of Allied, Joseph Brennan of the M.P.T.O.A. and Martha Ferris of the Film Board of Trade, who had waged a strenuous fight against the measure.

Delaware Sunday Bill Defeated

DOVER, April 4.—A bill to permit Sunday films in Delaware after 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon was defeated here yesterday in the House, 8-20, just before the present session was scheduled to adjourn.

The measure, which has caused more protests and controversies than any other bill, called for a referendum in cities and incorporated towns.

Battle N. H. Tax Bill

CONCORD, April 4.—Strenuous opposition has developed to a theatre licensing bill similar to one just defeated in Massachusetts. It would authorize town and city authorities to impose any fees, regulations or restrictions they consider desirable.

Defeat Daylight Bill

CONCORD, N. H., April 4.—A bill prohibiting daylight saving, which was passed, 188-100, in the House, was voted down by the Senate today, 13-10. Under the terms of the bill fines would have been imposed for the display on clocks of any time except Eastern Standard Time.

Vote for Maine Racing

AUGUSTA, Me., April 4.—The Senate today passed the bill already approved by the House which would legalize harness racing and pari-mutuel betting. It is expected Gov. Louis J. Brann will sign the measure. More than a dozen Maine fairs are expected to stage races between Aug. 1 and Oct. 20.

Amateur Critics Go On Air from Strand

Now that "amateur hours" are the current rage on the radio, Warners, by reason of a brain-child of S. Charles Einfeld, are sponsoring their own amateur program. They go on the air for a half hour every time a picture opens at the Strand and feature "amateur critics culled at random from the outcoming audience." It is being bruited about, however, that Warners are not being as altruistic as they appear, but that the program is really an exploitation stunt.

The Strand lobby was turned into a broadcasting studio yesterday morning and the "criticisms" went out over the ether via station WNEW. Announcer Martin Black, assisted by Sid Rechetnik and "Ding" Miller and other members of the home office publicity staff, herded the departing audience after the first showing into a lane that led to a battery of microphones. The inducement dangled before the patrons, none of which didn't want to go on the air, was a $50 prize for the best sounding voice combined with the best criticism of the film. A similar amount is given to runners-up. The judges of both voices and criticisms were station executives and Warner officials who happened to be tuned in on the program. It was denied, however, that the radio officials judged the voices and the theatre men the criticisms. It wouldn't have made much difference anyhow, since every person said he liked the film.

The idea will be continued until the theatre either runs out of "amateur critics" or something happens to prevent Warners from going on the air.

"Black Fury," which is set to open next Thursday, will be the next film to be "air-critiqued."

Meyer Planning to Improve Universal

HOLLYWOOD, April 4.—Fred S. Meyer, new business manager of Universal, stated today he is laying plans to erect a new administration building, relandscape the studio grounds and refurbish the entire plant.

Meyer said his sole policy was to see the studio operated on a budget and pictures made on a budget basis. He asserted production activity will be handled by Stanley Bergerman as executive producer and Carl Laemmle, Jr., as independent producer, adding he would confine his own activity to the business end.

The first feature on the 1935-36 schedule, according to Meyer, will be "Diamond Jim Brady."

In an open letter to employes Meyer asked cooperation and invited criticism.

Cohn, Hepburn Head East

HOLLYWOOD, April 4.—Jack Cohn and Abe Montague of Columbia are on their way east by plane. Ditto Katharine Hepburn.

Aylesworth Favors Radio-Theatre Aid

theatres, but nothing has been done about it.

"You will find more and more cooperation between the radio and screen in the future," he prophesied. "Radio has never kept people away from the theatre and I feel that radio is one of the greatest exploitation mediums for pictures.

"Newspapers have been a vital force in publicizing films, but I still feel that there is a greater opportunity for exploiting pictures by use of radio."

Prior to Aylesworth's talk, Howard Dietz, toastmaster, in his introductory speech stated that Aylesworth had had an opportunity to be elected governor of Colorado, but preferred a radio post.

Taking his cue from Dietz, Aylesworth rose to the occasion and stated that he probably would have made a "lousy" governor of Colorado and he has made out just as well as an RKO executive.

"Every suggestion I have offered to RKO or NBC has been turned down," he averred, "but I may yet get a chance to have one of my recommendations adopted."

He commented on the work done by members of Ampa, declaring that "if we made pictures as good as you publicity men put them over we would be making a lot more money." He said he was sincere about that.

He Touches on Television

Without stating that he had seen the article in MOTION PICTURE DAILY, Aylesworth said: "I read this morning in the trade papers that Samuel Goldwyn, from London, talks about color and television. I believe Goldwyn stated that color depends on the reception of 'Becky Sharp.'" At this point he turned to Ned Depinet, sitting on his right, and said: "I believe that it's our picture, Ned, isn't it?"

The NBC is not perturbed over television. He added: "We know television is coming. So is color, but like other innovations we will meet them."

He wound up by saying "Let's take the great forces of radio and the theatre and make them work for each other."

There were 250 in the M. P. Club's dining room and another 50 had to be turned away. William R. Ferguson, president, introduced John Boettiger, Mrs. John MacCormick, David R. Strumpf and numerous guests in addition to several past presidents. He thanked the various committees and members for their splendid cooperation during his term of office and then turned the gavel over to Dietz. From this point on it was a free for all, a riot of fun with Jack Pearl, Jimmy Durante, Rex Weber, Blackstone, Dietz, Ferguson and Rube Goldberg providing the antics.

It was Ferguson's last open meeting and one that will go down in the annals of Ampa history as a never-to-be-forgotten funfest.

Move Started To Pick Dual Bills in K.C.

Emanuel Rolsky have been named as the I. T. O. representation on the committee.

This group is to meet once a week and agree on the features to be doubled. Product that can stand up by itself will not be selected for multiple bills, according to the plan. All double bills will be set back 28 days in clearance.

The independents' original idea to dual all features with the clearance setback found opposition in at least one major distributor and Fox Midwest. The circuit came back with a proposal for selecting only certain product for twin bills.

While distributors want an accord from exhibitors, Jay Means, I. T. O. head, said a complete agreement would not be necessary and that if the great majority approved the plan it would be adopted. However, the first runs have not been seen as yet, and it is probable that opposition will be forthcoming from these sources. Major circuits operating first runs have expressed opposition to dualling this season's product at subsequent runs.

Cleveland Pact Up Today

CLEVELAND, April 4.—The Cleveland M. P. Exhibitors' Ass'n. will meet Friday after lunch to discuss the single feature situation. An effort will be made to secure signatures for renewal of the present single feature agreement, but it is understood that those exhibitors now in direct competition to houses playing double features will not sign a new agreement.

would be playing double features," he said.

"I have two double feature houses, the City and the Savoy," Reade said, "and both have to wait from 53 to 80 days after Broadway."

Pointing out an example of the compound protection by circuits, Reade declares that he had to wait until now to play "Kid Millions" at the City. The U. A. film was released generally Dec. 28, last. He holds that Loew's is responsible for holding up the date.

The Mayfair and Astor on Broadway, also operated by Reade, are single feature houses. In the event the Criterion is demolished and Loew's abandons the New York, Reade will adopt a twin bill program at the Mayfair, he says.

Percy H. Johnston, Henry R. Luce, Charles A. McCulloch, Maurice Newton, Frank A. Vanderlip and Adolph Zukor. The eight soon to be elected are Stephen Callaghan, Robert K. Cassatt, H. A. Fortington, William S. Gray, Jr., John D. Hertz, Floyd B. Odlum, Charles E. Richardson and George J. Schaefer.

The underwriting of the $6,400,000 of new Paramount stock subscription warrants is also expected to be agreed upon by the creditor groups in the near future, with present indications pointing to underwriting by a group which will include Kuhn, Loeb & Co., Hayden, Stone, Lehman Bros., Lazard Freres and possibly others. The new securities must then be approved by the Securities and Exchange Commission. Election of officers of the company will be delayed for several weeks inasmuch as there now appears to be little semblance of agreement among the creditor groups on those who will occupy the top posts.

In all, the processes of corporate organization of the new company may require about eight weeks, it is now estimated. About June 1, it is expected, a decree will be entered directing the trustees, Charles D. Hilles and Eugene W. Leake, to turn over Paramount assets in their possession to the new company. Simultaneously, the final report of the trustees will be filed with a petition asking for their discharge.

The approval by the Federal court at Brooklyn of Allied Owners' $5,000,000 claim settlement with Paramount increases the assents to the Paramount reorganization plan to a total of almost $40,000,000, as compared with the approximately $51,000,000 of claims entitled to vote on the plan.

pictures during the next two years, each of which would be budgeted at not more than $250,000, as contemplated in the original proposal. Production, however, will probably be slated for the Paramount studio, instead of an outside studio, and new financing principals for 50 per cent of the production cost will also be proposed. The vetoed offer contemplated 50 per cent financing by Paramount and the remaining 50 per cent split between Erpi and Ralph Kohn. No objections have been raised by creditors to participation in the financing by either Paramount or Erpi.

Footage Levy Emerges from Minn. Battle

exhibitors pay this tax, if and when imposed.

In the new Minnesota bill the levy is one-half cent for each linear foot of film used in the state. This would be $30 on a 6,000-foot feature. Whether it would be levied just once after the arrival of a print at an exchange or for each showing and how the payments will be worked out is not clear.

Exhibitors have expressed a willingness to accept a fair share of the tax burden, they say, but what they were fighting for was to keep the industry from being set apart as a luxury. One of the worries over the footage levy is the possibility that it might result in a reduction in the number of prints and their use until they become antiques.

That exhibitors will have to work the tax into admission prices sooner or later is regarded as a foregone conclusion.

Playdate Veto Seen Possible

COLUMBUS, April 5.—Signature of Governor Martin L. Davey to the bill of Senator Edward N. Waldvogel, to prohibit designated playdates is being withheld pending a decision requested from Attorney General John W. Bricker as to its constitutionality.

Belief that distributors, who have contended that the bill is unconstitutional, are exerting pressure to influence a veto, is strengthened by the fact that this is the first time since taking office in January that Governor Davey has asked advice from the attorney general, who is of a different political affiliation. Heretofore, he has sought legal information on legislative questions from attorneys on the state payroll, or relied upon his lawyer friends for the necessary counsel.

Delaware Beats Film Bills

DOVER, April 5.—Not one of the four bills affecting films introduced in the Delaware Legislature had passed when the session adjourned sine die.

Only two, the bills to permit Sunday shows and dog racing, were called up for a vote. Both were defeated by the House.

One of the other bills called for a censor board and the other was intended to apply a three-cent tax on each admission.

New Ontario Taxes Loom

TORONTO, April 5.—Theatre and exchange executives of Ontario are wearing furrowed brows as a result of an announcement by Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn that the province closed the fiscal year with a deficit of $30,599,000 and that new taxes will be imposed.

The change of the date of the fiscal year from Nov. 1 to April 1 is causing confusion in study of the statements.

The statement of ordinary revenue for the past five months shows the amusement tax produced a total of $297,628, or an average of close to $60,000 per month. Yet the amusement tax item in the budget for the year starting April 1 is $850,000, which means that the Government expects to collect better than $70,000 per month.

The same situation is found in the censor board figures. During the past five months revenue from censorship fees totaled $38,887 and the estimated receipts from this source during the next 12 months are $91,000.

Debate California Tax

SACRAMENTO, April 5.—Continued debate over the income tax is continuing to occupy practically the entire time of the House. A Democratic bill boosting the proposed rate from two to 25 per cent has been offered as an amendment to the Administration bill which calls for a third of the Federal rate.

The bill will come up again Monday for amendments.

Hexapods Stirring Alarm

his meditations are disturbed. Lately, however, possibly due to the advance of spring and Governor Merriam's insistence on a high income tax, hexapods have been showing temper. Whenever the lids have been lifted from their boxes they have stood on their hind legs and glared balefully at all and sundry. Some of the older hexapods have even gnashed their teeth.

This is a bad sign, according to expert hexapodists, but novices have taken these manifestations as a matter of course—just as when a trained flea displays temperament.

Miss Bradley was a novice. She lifted one struggling hexapod without using the cube sugar tongs and dropped it into the goldfish tank. Togo, her favorite, the one with the big fan tail, flashed under a tiny coral arch on the side of the tank where the marine grass was thickest, and waited for the hexapod to drown. This, in spite of the fact that Togo hadn't eaten since breakfast. It was then late afternoon.

Still unaware of her danger, Miss Bradley grasped another hexapod just abaft the shoulder blades. This was where she made a mistake. The grip should have been behind the ears. The hexapod turned on her with an ugly leer and sank his fangs into her forefinger right near the base of her polished fingernail.

She screamed—not loudly, of course. Just a cultured scream suited to a microphone.

Now she is under the care of a physician and experts are attempting to analyze the poison, and the publicity department is maintaining a discreet silence in order to avoid a panic in Hollywood, the western edge of San Fernando Valley, Beverly Hills, Santa Monica and Malibu Beach.

this season run about 4,500 feet to 5,000 feet each. The new ones will run 7,000 feet.

A third sound stage will be built following Asher's arrival. It will be 100 x 120 feet. A new administration building and a new power plant are also on the new construction program. Asher conferred with Harry M. Warner yesterday on these matters. Latest types of equipment will be installed.

No decision has been reached on taking American stars over for British pictures. Asher said he hoped to get a few but nothing is definite. Laura LaPlante, his wife, will make four next season, the first of which will start the end of May. It is tentatively titled "Water Nymph," an original by Guy Bolton. The star is now in Hollywood arranging to take her mother to England. She will be in New York in two weeks.

"In making our new pictures, we will aim for a world market," Asher declared. "We are not going to make $300,000 and $500,000 pictures and are not trying to compete with this type of production. We will try to make good, salable product, and if we can do this we will have no difficulty finding a market."

Jerome Jackson, formerly with Gaumont British, has joined the Warner outfit as associate producer under Asher.

"Production is booming in England," the Warner executive said, "and theatre business is swell; in fact it's hard to get tickets at many theatres. This is due, I think, to good product."

The New York poultry case is declared by Donald R. Richberg, chairman of the National Industrial Recovery Board, to be an almost perfect subject for a test, as it involves most of the disputed points in the Recovery Act. In the lower court the Government was upheld on 17 of the 19 points involved.

An effort is to be made to secure an early hearing on the case in the hope that the court will render an opinion before Congress passes the bill extending the life of the Recovery Act.

$100,054 Is Granted For Code Operation

tures during December, plus $500 for legal fees made necessary by a suit filed against the Cleveland grievance board and $1,100 for the payment of accounting and auditing service rendered Code Authority.

The money is to be spent from surplus funds available as of Dec. 31 last.

Orders authorizing Code Authority to use a $36,000 surplus from last year's contributions to meet operating expenses pending the development of a budget for the first half of the current year have been approved by the National Industrial Recovery Board.

Because of the issuance of an order some days ago in which assessments on a flat basis or by brackets were prohibited, approval of the current budget has been held up pending the development of a new formula for contributions.

Use of the surplus will not prevent the return of money to industry contributors, either as credit against their assessments or in cash, since it is considered merely as a loan to save the authority the embarrassment of panhandling for funds with which to operate until it gets a new budget.

clearance and zoning schedule. J. Robert Rubin will be chairman of the session and the full Campi body will hear the various protests.

William T. Powers and Edward Alperson of Fox West Coast will be on hand. It was the original F.W.C. petition protesting 13 situations that brought on delay in putting the schedule into effect.

With Dan Michalove as chairman and A. J. Mertz and William Yoost on the appeals committee, two Boston clearance and zoning complaints were aired yesterday. The cases were: Charles Ross, Strand, Windsort, Vt., against Peter D. Latchis, Latchis, Clairmont, New Hampshire, and M-G-M; Somerville Capitol, Somerville, Mass., and the Capitol, Arlington, Mass., appealing on the entire schedule for the territory.

After a two-day session, Campi yesterday completed all appeal cases up for decision. There were 38. Ed Kuykendall was chairman. Nothing was done about appointing impartial men chairmen of local boards.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Spring Tonic"

(Fox)

HOLLYWOOD, April 5.—This picture has a capable cast that is handicapped by story. Claire Trevor, Lew Ayres, Walter King, Jack Haley, Zasu Pitts, Siegfried Rumann and Mitchell and Durant with others equally able gather only occasional laughs from involved farce situations.

The story starts with Miss Trevor walking out on her wedding to Ayres. Taking Miss Pitts, her maid, she motors to a deserted summer resort which is used as a moonshiners' hang-out by Rumann and Mitchell and Durant. At a circus playing nearby King frees a tiger to keep his wife, Tala Birell, busy so he may philander. Eventually the characters and the tiger chase each other all over the countryside with Haley, on the scene as a newspaper reporter, contributing a good part of the comedy. When the tiger is captured and proves to be a tame one, Ayres is restored to Miss Trevor and the other characters continue about their business.

Clyde Bruckman has directed with slapstick technique, at times getting much out of the situations. The production of Robert T. Kane is suitable and the photography is all right.

No Decision Is Made On Huffman Appeal

WASHINGTON, April 5.—No determination of action to be taken on the decision in the Harry Huffman case at Denver in which it was held the code did not apply in intrastate commerce has yet been reached by the Department of Justice.

Department officials explained today they had not yet received a report from the district attorney in that city. In any event, it is not anticipated an appeal will be pressed by the Government at this time in view of the probability that within the next six weeks the Supreme Court will render an opinion in the New York poultry case, which is considered a test of the validity of the Recovery Act and the poultry code as a whole.

RKO and Century in Joint Campi Appeal

RKO will join Century circuit in appealing the decision of the local clearance and zoning board which on Thursday declared RKO's Columbia and Strand, Far Rockaway, L. I., noncompetitive to the Fantasy, Rockville Center.

The Alden, Jamaica, clearance over the Century house stays, according to the majority opninon. Eugene Picker of Loew's and Robert Wolff of RKO Radio were the two dissenting voters.

Salem Clearance Is Cut

BOSTON, April 5.—The clearance of Salem over Beverly, Danvers, and Peabody has been cut by the clearance and zoning board, acting upon a complaint of the Sudbury Amusement Co., which operates the Orpheum in Danvers. Salem shall have a maximum clearance of 14 days over these three communities, "except on such pictures as Salem fails to play within 28 days after availability." In these instances, Salem has clearance over theatres directly involved and no more.

More N. E. Code Signers

BOSTON, April 5.—The Alley, Groveton, N. H., has assented to the code. The house is operated by Art Sharby. The Art in Springfield and the Plymouth in Worcester, Charles Caballero houses, also have assented.

film until next Tuesday or Wednesday.

Second week of "Naughty Marietta" at the Capitol wound up with $27,000, or $11,000 under the first stanza. "I'll Love You Always," a Columbia film, was a complete disappointment at the Roxy. It took in a reputed $19,000 and Irving Lesser says it's the lowest gross in 41 weeks.

"The Wedding Night" ended its three-week run at the Rivoli last night. The tally for the final session was about $12,623. "Traveling Saleslady," at the Strand, took in approximately $12,189. The Mayfair, with "The Man Who Knew Too Much," grabbed roughly $8,000 on a second week holdover and the Gaumont British film stays another week with indications the gross will average around the same figure.

Maloy Estate Sued On a Fraud Charge

CHICAGO, April 5.—Thomas E. Maloy, whose dictatorship of the I. A. T. S. E. here was terminated by gang fire on Feb. 4, is named along with his widow and 11 of his lieutenants in a suit filed in Circuit Court today in behalf of Harland Holmden, third vice-president of the union, who charges misappropriation of $500,000 of union funds.

An accounting of the union's books is asked in the suit, which charges that $400,000 paid over to the union was never even entered.

U.A. Group Returning

HOLLYWOOD, April 5.—Joseph M. Schenck, Al Lichtman and William Phillips left by plane for New York today after a week conferring with Darryl Zanuck, Edward Small, Harry Goetz and Walt Disney on future product and reviewing the California tax situation.

"Stupid" Law Moves Are Hit By Kuykendall

Blames Sales Policies For Pettengill Bill

Responsibility for the harassment of the industry with "stupid legislative panaceas," such as the Pettengill Bill, is placed squarely at the door of distributors and their "stupid, short-sighted" sales policies by M. P. T. O. A. in the organization's current bulletin released Saturday by Ed Kuykendall, president.

In an attack on the Pettengill Bill and consideration of its probable adverse effects on smaller theatres and the industry at large, the M.P.T.O.A. bulletin declares, in effect, that a reasonable cancellation privilege of 20 per cent granted to exhibitors without nullifying conditions, would close the door to the introduction of legislation

"The Big Broadcast," which Barney Glazer will make, is likely to be included on the 1935-36 list. This is not yet set.

COLUMBUS, April 7.—The Waldvogel bill designed to ban designated playdates is unconstitutional, according to an opinion handed down Saturday by Attorney General John W. Bricker to Gov. Martin L. Davey.

British Quota Quality Will Receive Study

By BRUCE ALLAN

LONDON, March 29.—"Full consideration" to any suggestions which might be made by the Films Act Advisory Committee to improve the quality of British quota films, has been promised in the House of Commons.

Dr. Burgin, Parliamentary secretary to the Board of Trade, in replying to this effect to Herbert Williams, pointed out that the act had 10 years' duration and there was plenty of time to consider recommendations. An inquiry into the working of the act was not considered necessary, nor were developments in the trade regarded as having made it obsolete.

This reply is considered very significant in view of the fact that an LINCOLN, April 7.—Four of the nine downtown houses here are using double features now as a result of J. H. Cooper's decision to put two films in the picture half of the week at the vaudefilm Orpheum, the other Cooper spot now offering two is the Sun.

Both L. L. Dent houses, the warring Westland Kiva and Varsity, have duals, too. This is close to the one time record when six of the nine downtowners had two features on every program in the spring and summer of 1934. The Lincoln has also cut the afternoon price from 25 cents to 20 cents.

Revival of Idea Set for Beginning of 1935-36 Theatre Season

Reticent to an extreme because they argue specific tips may break down their objective, important circuit operators headquartering in New York are discussing a number of pooling deals throughout the United States to become effective immediately prior to, or with the advent of, the 1935-36 season. If the plan, as aired now, develops, it will mark a revival of the pooling idea on a scale not even transcended in the months which followed the era of bankruptcies and receiverships.

The development is born of the continued necessity of paring costs and an apparent desire to reduce cutthroat type of operation engendered by high speed competition. A third factor, less tangible but rating consideration in the deliberations, is the belief pools on more or less of a wholesale scale will

By RED KANN

CAN the members of the exhibition family live in the same big house without tearing each other apart? Volumes in the written and unwritten history of the business say they cannot. Certainly the preponderance of evidence bears out the conclusion. Yet, lurking somewhere behind the conversations current today in several quarters about the possibilities of and plans for theatre pools here, there and perhaps everywhere throughout the country is an intangible idea which might be somewhat loosely defined as family harmony. A thought such as that very often springs from a common ill or a mutual objective. The ill today is that theatre business, improved as it is over depression-depths days, is not what it ought to be; the objective, obviously, is to improve it. . . .

Regardless of what makes the idea persuasive, the inclination today appears to be for pools and more pools to cut overhead, split available product, perhaps reduce clearance from a phantom to a fact and to bring about a friendlier, round-the-Maypole attitude where strife and drawn swords now flash. It may be something else tomorrow, for this business, by its makeup, is nothing if it is not volatile. But the plan, in outline, is interesting and something to contemplate with what actual results time alone will tell. . . .

In exhibition, also, another thought is shaping itself. This has to do with the theatre's primary consideration: product, how good or how bad, and from that point on, what? Generally recognized is the truth that hit pictures from all sources total somewhere in the neighborhood of only 15 per cent. Advertising and exploitation, intelligently conceived and applied, are doing a job for the remaining 85 per cent. However, and drawing upon a survey of their grosses, there is a growing coterie of theatre operators who, gradually but inevitably, are veering toward the conclusion that a way out is to give extended playing time and repeat runs to wow attractions. . . .

Typical of this attitude and cited here largely because it is the latest to hit the deck is the observation brought back to New York the other day by Nate Blumberg, general operator of the RKO circuit. He expressed himself as convinced that more days for the unusual and, so, less for the usual attraction constitute the new note in theatre operation. We are doing it, not only with pictures, but with stage attractions as well. "There will be more of it in the future," he stated. Why not? One point on which practically all film men agree is that the day of the in-between attraction, flesh or celluloid, is a constantly diminishing factor and that more reliance must be placed on real drawing cards whenever they come along.

This brings to mind a lengthy talk with Irving Thalberg in Hollywood about a year ago. He was the only producer on the coast—and this commentator saw, sat with and conversed with all of them—who refused to pass the buck to the exhibitor. Thalberg argued then and, today undoubtedly feels the same way about it, that the fault with grosses was not the slavery of the exhibitor to his ritual of one change or two changes or three changes of film a week, but with the producer in Hollywood, who did not furnish theatres with attractions in numbers sufficient to warrant holding them two, three or even additional weeks beyond that. It was his idea at the time that exhibition will continue as hazardous as it is today until Hollywood develops or acquires producers enough to deliver pictures enough to rate substantially with the public. An interesting thought with which this observer agrees thoroughly, although he now expresses his doubt about the ultimate reaching of such a gold-lined Utopia. . . .

This column's favorite ill-advised actor went at it again late last week. Having taken one earlier crack at the commercial screen and stage which rewards him handsomely and, presumably without violent objection on his part, for stint behind camera and before audiences, Leslie Howard, that brave soul, continues with ideas about autograph hunters. What, for instance, does he think of the species? "They belong to the movies and the typical movie fan is a sort of freak," replied Howard, according to The New York Times. He's been annoyed by them, has Howard, who further illustrates his business profundity with: "Autograph hunting is bad manners, apart from everything else." It might be pointed out to this current matinee idol that the adulation of his public, which takes one form of expression in the autograph hunting which he finds so distasteful, is something for which Howard should express his gratitude in prayers if he utters any, as well as in autographs. Popular stars of other days and of other times have become second leads, character actors and even less in fewer seconds than it takes to read this. . . .

official announcement was made earlier in the week that the quota provisions of the act would not be varied. This was read in some quarters as an assurance that no amendment of the act in any detail was contemplated.

Suggestions by local authorities that free film shows of a patriotic character shall be given to children, during the King George "Jubilee" celebrations have been generally negatived by C. E. A. branches. Epitomizing the general opinion of members of the exhibitors' association, the Scottish branch has passed a resolution that ordinary matinee prices shall be charged at special "Jubilee" performances.

Associated British Pictures has declared an interim dividend for the first time, paying four per cent. Trading figures are believed to have exceeded all estimates and a final distribution of 10 per cent for the year is regarded as a possibility in financial circles.

Gaumont British, leading rival of the Maxwell group, paid three per cent interim and its last year's total dividend was six per cent.

Immediate conferences will be held between exhibitor and distributor nominees of C.E.A. and K.R.S. to see if agreement can be reached on a standard contract.

This was one of three urgent matters on which the exhibitors recently deputized distributors. A definite refusal has again been given by the K.R.S. to the suggestion that they should cooperate in a campaign against overbuilding.

A joint committee has been appointed to go into the question of varying "small exhibitor" preferential renting terms. Exhibitors want the classification extended to theatres taking an average of £175 a week.

Warners are having trouble with more censors over Paul Muni's latest, "Black Fury." The film was scheduled to go into the Strand here some time ago, but was held up for a time. Over the weekend it was revealed that Chicago censors had banned the picture on the ground it was "inflammatory and conducive to social unrest."

The Maryland state censors refused to pass the film, also, demanding certain deletions be made.

Warners will contest the actions, it was announced here.

NSS Says Warners Knew of Trailers

was disclosed on Saturday with the filing of the answer in state supreme court here.

The answer is known as a "defense of estoppal" and is based on the contention that Warners failed to exercise the vigilance required in equity proceedings of the kind in order to contest the practices complained of. National Screen declares in its answer that not only has it produced trailers based on Warner pictures for a number of years but that, in some instances, these National Screen trailers were used by Warners in their own theatres. It is also alleged that the practice continued with the "acquiescence, consent and encouragement" of Warners.

The answer contains a general denial of the charges made in the Warner complaint and asks that the action be dismissed. The case is not expected to go to trial for several months yet.

In its original complaint, filed early in February, Warners sought a permanent injunction and $1,000,000 damages, alleging that the distribution of Warner trailers by National Screen constituted an unfair and unauthorized practice. It was also charged in the complaint that copyrighted titles of Warner pictures and names of players under contract to the company were used in the trailers without authorization and that these practices lessen the Warner revenue from its own trailers and diminish the popularity of its players.

Shirley Temple to Rest

HOLLYWOOD, April 7.—Shirley Temple has been granted a 12-week vacation by the studio, and will take a trip to Honolulu during her rest period. Upon her return, Shirley will go into "Curley Top."

Theatre Pools In Offing for Many Sections

tend to reduce the difficulties of setting up clearance and zoning.

The move, in its present form, does not set up as a condition deals involving major circuits alone, but takes into consideration operating agreements between circuits and independents where coalitions appear feasible.

Recent pooling deals closed in the east have Paramount taking over operation of the Peekskill, Peekskill, from Raymond Wittickson, who also has the Pickwick, Greenwich, Conn., not involved in the set-up. Paramount never sold Wittickson while he operated the Peekskill house.

In Newark, Warners last week pooled its Regent with Levin Brothers' Elwood. The Capitol, Belleville, a Warner unit, is also tied in with the arrangement, which brought to a close a long pending clearance and zoning case filed by Lou Levin against Warners. An appeal hearing was slated for April 13 before the Industrial Appeals Board in Washington.

Loew's and RKO are now partners in the Orpheum, Denver, with the latter operating. RKO had the house alone before Harry Huffman took it over on a deal with the receivers. M-G-M product is now being booked into the house in addition to Radio's.

There is talk of Loew's making operating affiliations with Chicago independents to supplement a number of theatres slated to be built by the circuit.

On Wednesday the pool between Si Fabian and RKO in Albany and Schenectady is to become effective. Fabian owns the Plaza in Schenectady and the Palace in Albany which have been run by RKO in pools with Farley and Charles Buckley. Fabian becomes the new operator with RKO buying and booking.

Samuelson May Take Up Loew Expansion

Jersey meeting tomorrow at the Lincoln.

Samuelson declared he had nothing more to say about the Loew matter at this time. He pointed out that a resolution was passed at the Minneapolis two-day session of Allied Theatres of the Northwest whereby action would be taken by the national organization in the event Loew's goes through with its building program in the Windy City.

raging for weeks. S. & C. have had the Beacon and Paragon. It is planned to close the Paragon and put vaudeville into the Beacon on Saturdays. Prices will be increased.

The Astor on Broadway may also go to S. & C. A bid has been made to Walter Reade and turned down. However, reports have it that Springer & Cocalis want the house to buck Harry Brandt's Globe. Another bid is expected to be made within the near future.

"Stupid" Law Moves Are Hit By Kuykendall

by professional organizers through which have come the Brookart, Pettengill and other measures.

"We are opposed," the bulletin states, "to the stupid, legislative panaceas that have been proposed, which would perhaps cure block booking but would impose such severe hardships and burdens on the small exhibitor that he would be destroyed. It cannot be improved through legislation any more than censorship laws can improve pictures. But the stubborn attitude of the distributors who, through their counsel, have blocked all reasonable efforts to modify their sales policies with respect to full-line forcing, gives the reformers a golden opportunity to 'raise hell with the movies.'"

"We have fought for years," the bulletin observes, "to obtain a reasonable rejection privilege on group buys, partly accomplished in the code entirely through our persistent efforts. But it's not enough, should be at least 20 per cent on each group of 10 or more features, without qualifications or tricks."

Lists Points Against Bill

Reciting some of the injurious effects which the M.P.T.O.A. believes would result from enactment of the Pettengill Bill, the bulletin says that "it is quite likely that it will double film rentals at the smaller theatres, insure uniformly mediocre box-office attractions, provide a Roman holiday for lawyers in the endless, costly litigation it would breed, and rapidly spread unfair and disastrous non-theatrical competition throughout the country."

"It's like taking arsenic for a cold," the bulletin concludes. "You can get rid of the cold, but the cure is so much worse than the disease that nobody tries it—more than once."

The bulletin compliments the Department of Justice on its efforts to obtain an early trial of the Federal suit against Ascap, and urges exhibitors to support the bill introduced by Senator Duffy of Wisconsin to amend the copyright laws, declaring that the measure would afford some relief and would curb "the Ascap monopoly to a limited extent."

A plea for retention of the exhibition code as an aid to the regulation of "unscrupulous competition" is made in the bulletin, which also strikes at dormant clearance and zoning plans in the face of the approach of a new selling season.

Pick MPTOA Executive Body

The new executive committee of M.P.T.O.A. has been elected by directors of the organization representing six sections of the country, it was reported Saturday by Ed Kuykendall, M.P.T.O.A. president.

The new committee includes the following: George A. Giles of Cambridge, Mass., for the New England and New York divisions; O. C. Lam, Rome, Ga., for the southern division; Jack Miller, Chicago, for the central division; Lewen Pizor, Philadelphia, for the eastern division; Charles E. Williams, Omaha, for the mid-western division, and Morgan A. Walsh, San Francisco, for the western division.

Kuykendall and Morris Lowenstein of Oklahoma City, M.P.T.O.A. national secretary, are also members of the executive committee.

Women Oppose Film Taxes

Los Angeles, April 7.—The Los Angeles County branch of the California Federation of Women's Clubs, with a membership of 12,000 voters and now in its fourth annual convention at Covina, has adopted a resolution which has been forwarded to the current assembly urging the legislators not to levy any excise taxes which may bear heavily on the industry and cause it to remove operations from the state. The organization cited the loss the state would suffer. A resolution expressing appreciation for the excellent pictures now being released was also adopted.

No Tax Cut, Paris Talks of Closings

Paris, April 7.—Threats of closing film theatres during May and August are being heard because the Chamber of Deputies adjourned without reducing theatre taxation, but they are not taken seriously in some quarters.

The failure to reduce taxes is laid to a maneuver by French exhibitors. They had inserted in the pending bill a provision that houses showing American films would not get the cuts. A protest was lodged by the U. S. Government and the bill was allowed to die.

Kennery to Cornwall

Cornwall, N.Y., April 7.—Ed Kennery will be the manager of the New Cornwall, 600-seat house, which is expected to be ready for opening the early part of May.

Ohio Playdate Bill Invalid, Ruling Holds

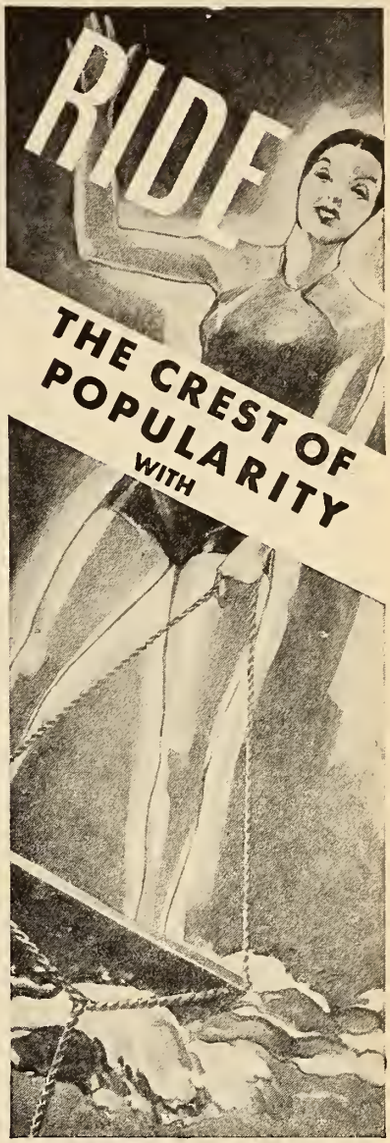
questions as to its constitutionality were presented to Governor Davey he sought a ruling from the Attorney General before signing it.

In his ruling the Attorney General said: "Each film, before it may be shown in this state, must first pass muster with the board of censors and it is presumably fit to be exhibited on any day of the week.



"Exhibition of motion picture films is, of course, subject to regulation in the interest of the public welfare, providing such regulation is not arbitrary and does not have some relation to the public health, safety and morals. This act does not seek to regulate exhibition, but arbitrarily prohibits the making of a contract within this state, whereby the seller, lessor or vendor makes such contract upon condition that the films must be exhibited or shown at certain times.

"In 1927 a similar bill was before the then Attorney General and he held as follows:

" 'The motion picture business is not so affected with the public interest as to justify legislation, as proposed, designed to regulate the making of contracts between producers or distributors and exhibitors.' "

Tracks Temporarily Checked

Boston, April 7.—The Supreme Court here has granted an injunction preventing the State Racing Commission from issuing licenses for the operation of horse tracks in the state. A court hearing of the matter has been set for Tuesday morning.

Variety Club Chatter

Cincinnati

Cincinnati, April 7.—Sam Gallanty, district manager Columbia, and a member of the Washington tent, was in town last week conferring with Allan Moritz, chief barker of Cincinnati No. 3, and local Columbia manager.

Mike Spanagel has returned from an extended selling trip through the sticks.

Max Stahl, who recently came here as United Artists manager, is the latest recruit into resident membership.

Des Moines

Des Moines, April 7. — Committees have been chosen for the newly organized Variety Club by President W. E. Banford.

G. Ralph Branton heads the temporary house committee; Harry Hiersteiner of the Family is chairman of the permanent house committee; Stanley Mayer, Fox manager, is chairman of the membership committee, and Stanley Brown, district manager for Tri-States, is head of the entertainment committee.

Kansas City

Kansas City, April 7.—According to present plans, the club will be ensconced in its new quarters in Country Club Plaza April 13. Housewarming is scheduled for two days later.

Chief Barker George S. Baker and other new officers are to be honored at a banquet in a few weeks.

A representative detachment of local barkers went to St. Louis for "Kansas City Day" at which the tent at the other end of the state was host. The delegation included Finton. Jones, Arthur Cole, Dick Biechele, Earl Jameson, Sam Abend, C. A. Schultz, William Wagner and Harold Lux.

Subjects of mutual interest were discussed, and a tentative decision was reached to hold a joint meeting some time in the future at a point midway between the two cities, either Jefferson City or Columbia.

With 55 winning games safely tucked away, it appears that Gus Kubitzki's Fox Film pinsmen will capture this year's bowling league tournament—again.

Short Subjects

"The Call of the Savage"

(Universal)

The background of this serial is the African jungle at the present time, and although the first three reels are packed with thrills that should prove interesting to audiences, most of the situations are a bit too far fetched. Fights between various animals have been clipped from several familiar jungle features and an observing audience will pick many a flaw in the film.

The story has Noah Beery, Jr., a wild boy in the jungle, living with a chimpanzee. Beery had grown up with the animals after his mother had been killed while with his father, a doctor, was in the jungle searching for a paralysis serum. Tragedy overtook the family just as success reached the father, who wrote half his successful formula on a parchment and half on a silver wrist band which he put on his son. It is the silver band that is the reason for all the trouble that besets Beery through the medium of two confederates of his father seeking to recover it.

Besides Beery the cast includes Dorothy Short, H. L. Woods, Bryant Washburn, Walter Miller and Fredric MacKaye.

Louis Friedlander's direction, up until the end of chapter three, keeps the action moving right along. The photography by William Fryer and William Sickner is good.

Adults may not appreciate this serial, but children will probably rave over it.

Production Code Seals No. 658, No. 659, No. 690. Running time, 20 minutes per chapter. "G."

"A Nose for News"

Joe Cook is featured as a newspaper reporter and his comedy antics are better and funnier than in the other numbers of this series.

Assigned to police headquarters to interview a gangster, Cook finds himself mistaken for the crook. He escapes from jail several times, only to be returned. This gives him the opportunity for his usual gags and remarks. The second reel winds up after a funny court scene with the gangster being captured and Cook freed.

Recommended. Reviewed without production code seal. Running time, 18 mins. "G."

"Pardon My Grip"

(Columbia)

Featuring such well known wrestlers as Jim Londos, Ray Steele, Everett Marshall and Man Mountain Dean, this short will appeal chiefly to men and sport fans. It may be a little too rough for women, since it is a series of scenes from wrestling bouts. Production Code Seal, No. 0318. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

Warners to Dine Jolson

Warners will stage a dinner party at the Casino de Paree April 16 in honor of Al Jolson. It will be the eighth anniversary of the signing of Jolson's first contract with the company, the one which resulted in "The Jazz Singer"—and sound. The festivities will be broadcast and a newsreel record made.

Well known stage, screen and radio personalities will attend.

Looking 'Em Over

"Stone of Silver Creek"

(Universal)

Western fans should go for this. Buck Jones is his usual virile self, but there is plenty of action tied together by a good story. Director Nick Grinde made full use of these elements to present an entertaining picture. Photography by Ted McCord is satisfactory.

The yarn has Jones, disappointed in love in the east, attaining a position of prominence in the western town of Silver Creek as the owner of a gambling hall and saloon. Jones gets a half interest in a mine owned by Murdock McQuarrie when he saves the latter from crooked gamblers. Marion Shilling, McQuarrie's daughter, tries to reform Jones by taking him to church where he strikes up a friendship with the minister, Niles Welch. The gamblers from whom Jones saved McQuarrie return and rob his safe and Welch is wounded trying to stop them. Jones then chases and captures them. In the meantime, the girl he lost in the east comes to work for him and Jones and she are re-united. Thus all ends well.

Others in the cast are Noel Francis, who turns in a good performance, Grady Sutton, Harry Semels and last, but not least, Silver, the horse.

In small towns and neighborhoods and where westerns are liked, this picture should have no trouble. Production Code Seal, No. 668. Running time, 60 minutes. "G."

Charnow Wins Case After Seven Months

in the hands of a committee for several months. Charnow has claimed that because of the North Bergen and Union City protection, he has had to wait from 60 to 90 days for pictures after they have been shown on Broadway.

Want Protection Shifts

PHILADELPHIA, April 7.—Shifts in protection where first runs reduce admissions is to be demanded by the M.P.T.O. of Eastern Pennsylvania, Southern New Jersey and Delaware. There have been a number of such cuts recently in this territory and the unit is to seek help from Campi.

It was also decided that Code amendments are needed and a committee was named to formulate a program on these.

Weekly payments on shorts were opposed and the unit again went on record against the proposed Pennsylvania 10 per cent ticket tax.

After some debate a letter was sent to Columbia expressing opposition to alleged circularizing of Doylestown, Pa., because J. A. Wodock, operator of the Strand and the only exhibitor there, refuses to play Columbia pictures.

Sports Program Set At M. P. Club Forum

The M. P. Club's luncheon forum tomorrow will offer an All Sports program, headed by Jimmy Johnson, general manager of Madison Square Garden, bolstered by an array of sport writers and champions in many fields of sports.

Included in the guest list are "Hype" Igoe, sports editor of the Evening Journal; Bennie Leonard, former lightweight champion; Paul Gallico of the News; Bennie Friedman, professional football star and former University of Michigan All-American quarterback; Marcus Griffin of the Enquirer; Ned Brown, sports writer; Harry Hershfield; Jack Doyle, heavyweight champion of Ireland and amateur vocalist; Bob "Believe-It-Or-Not" Ripley; Bugs Baer; Gene Sanger, squash champion, and Alfred Letournier, six-day race champion.

The luncheon is scheduled to begin at 12:45 P. M. sharp, and the program will be broadcast over stations WHN, WMCA and WIP, Philadelphia.

N. E. Allied Unit to Meet

BOSTON, April 7.—Independent Exhibitors of Massachusetts, Inc., New England Allied unit, will meet April 9, to discuss potential legislation detrimental to the industry. Representation at the convention in Atlanta will be among matters to be given attention.

Kent Assures Booking Ban On Fitzgerald

I.E.P.A. Wisconsin Move Gets Prompt Reply

MILWAUKEE, April 8.—As the result of a protest to Sidney R. Kent by the I. E. P. A. against buying and booking combination of H. J. Fitzgerald, general manager of the Wisconsin Amusement Enterprises, Inc., Fox subsidiary, members have been advised that Fox does not intend to permit its theatre department to book product for a booking fee.

It is charged by the independent association that Wisconsin Amusement is interested financially in only about six theatres in Wisconsin, but is doing booking on a percentage or flat fee basis for some 30 other houses.

This situation, as well as other problems, including the present four per cent tax on gross receipts now before WASHINGTON, April 8.—Threatening abandonment of the Blue Eagle unless present conditions are remedied, representatives of independent exhibitors today demanded of the Senate Finance Committee modification of either the Industrial Recovery Act or changes in the code to provide for more equal representation on Code Authority and its subordinate boards.

Submitting voluminous exhibits for the record, Abram F. Three in New England Added, More on Way Shortly Now Station W1XBS, Waterbury; Station WPRO, Providence, and Station WMEX, Boston, tied in with Loew's, Inc., on Sunday as a three-way step in what is looming as the development of the third nationwide chain of broadcasting stations. Three or four more deals are in various stages of negotiation with the probability a strong one that their annexation will be clinched in a week or 10 days.

The New England outlets are the remnants of the Amalgamated Broadcasting Corp., fostered and fathered some months ago by Ed Wynn, who later withdrew from the enterprise.

The move gives Loew's four stations to date, the nerve center of the budding network being Station WHN atop of Loew's State Building in New York. terprise, while it is not designed to confine radio talent bookings to the Morris office, will foster and develop acts for the ether outlets, boost studio talent over the air and be instrumental in placing popular radio turns in Loew theatres.

While executives of the circuit will not concede that there is afoot any fixed and definite plan to extend a network from coast to coast, such an idea is known to be in their minds. The latter day development of WHN which is actually a combination of three outlets, the others being originally WPAP and WRNY, now permits broadcasting on a 17 or 19-hour day without recourse any longer to the use of electrical transcriptions.

IEPA Hits Chicago Moves

PHILADELPHIA, April 8.—The Independent Exhibitors' Protective Ass'n in its current bulletin predicts dire results for M-G-M should Loew's go ahead with its program to invade Chicago.

Asserting that M-G-M "may make an exhibitors' cause celebre of this Chicago situation," the bulletin continues:

"We warn the Loew executives that if they build theatres in opposition to the independents who cannot use their films because the terms are unreasonable, they may witness and be the victims of an uprising that will leave a far more lasting impression on them than was left on the Paramount of 1921."

The reference to Paramount has to do with this company's alleged efforts 15 years ago to force exhibitors to accept its terms on product on threat of setting up competitor theatres.

Gordon Is Expanding

BEAUMONT, Tex., April 8.—Sol E. Gordon of the Jefferson Amusement Co. has purchased the Dixie in Bryan; Rialto in Jacksonville, Austin in Seguin and Stone Fort in Nacogdoches from Inca Theatres, Inc., headed by Claude Ezell and W. G. Underwood. This presages the end of Inca's activity on its own.

Ampa Slate Ready

Official announcement of the new Ampa slate will be made tomorrow by Mel Heymann, secretary. The regular nominating committee is understood to be set on a selection for the candidacy for the presidency. The opposition committee has presented its list of candidates.

Hays Calls Producers

HOLLYWOOD, April 8.—Following several postponements, Will H. Hays has called the annual meeting of the Producers Ass'n for Thursday.

Hollywood's Most Famous Bad Man Joins the "G-MEN" and Halts the March of Crime!

Leave it to Warner Bros. to make the first big picture of America's greatest battle in the war on crime!

The producers of "The Public Enemy" have trained their cameras on the men who trained their guns on the craftiest killers of this day and age.

They've brought the G-MEN, mighty man-hunters of the Department of Justice, out of the shadows of secrecy into the brilliant glare of the picture screen.

Yesterday's screaming headlines are a feeble whisper compared to the sensational revelations in this shot-by-shot dramatization of gangland's Waterloo.

It's all here!...every graphic detail of how the deadly trap was set—and sprung—on the Mad Dog of the Mobs, and of how the Big Shot no jail could hold kept his rendezvous with death!

"G-MEN" would be a great picture without any star. But the fact that Jimmy Cagney, the historic "Public Enemy" of 1931, now plays the lead in this epic of the end of gangdom, makes its appeal infallible.

As usual, Warner Bros.' "G-MEN" will be the first picture of its type to reach the screen.

You will be the first in your city to show an authentic story of Uncle Sam's sensational secret agents if, and only if, you show "G-MEN".

So 'phone for a date today before the cream is taken off this rich box-office theme.

Withdrawal From Code Threatened

Administrator William P. Farnsworth and other NRA officials, Myers outlined the negotiation of the code, declaring that the committee "should be eager to ferret out the iniquities" of the document.

Asserting that the "Big Eight" completely dominated the negotiation of the agreement, Myers answered an inquiry by Senator King, Democrat of Utah, as to who actually wrote the code by saying: "I do not think Rosenblatt drafted it, because I do not think he had the grasp of the industry problems, or, perhaps, the subtlety to draft a code like this." He intimated that he thought that Nathan Burkan exercised considerable influence in its writing.

Continuing his discussion of the negotiations, Myers told the committee Allied had been treated as "outcasts" and had never been invited to sign the code before it was sent to the President.

Sees Protection Nullified

The executive order which accompanied the code, he said, held the promise of protection which his group sought, but this was nullified by an "interpretation" charged to have been secured by the "Big Eight," which virtually emasculates the order.

As a result of the Code Authority setup, he continued, there is a fixed division of seven to three on all matters which arise between sellers and buyers and between the different classes of theatres.

Myers read to the committee a letter from Nathan Yamins of Fall River, Mass., in which it was charged the producer-distributor members of Code Authority were permitted to name the members of the local boards who were to represent them without any interference from exhibitors, but the latter were permitted to name the exhibitor members, all of whom were approved only after investigation and approval by the distributor members.

Yamins charged evasion of the code by the insertion of provisions in contracts and alleged that Code Authority had refused to send protests on this matter to the legal division of the NRA for an opinion.

It was charged that, when a matter comes up in which a member may be disqualified to sit because his company has an interest, interpretation of the code provision to define "sitting" as voting makes it possible for such member to enter into the argument which precedes the decision, Yamins continued.

Holds Independents Slighted

"My conclusion after one year's service on Code Authority," he said, "is that the independent receives little or no consideration when his interests conflict with those of the affiliated members."

The present code, he concluded, is unfair to small exhibitor interests and is being administered against the interests of independents and in favor of the interests of producer-distributors.

Although Rosenblatt two months ago recommended that Code Authority study and submit recommendations for revision, nothing has been done, he asserted, and when the matter is brought up by the executive secretary it is immediately tabled.

The independents have several times recommended to the National Industrial Recovery Board that the code be reopened and have received only "the most evasive" replies, Myers charged.

Discussing with Senator Barkley, Democrat of Kentucky, the assents to the code by exhibitors, the witness pointed out that many operators had signed up, not because they approved the code, but because in no other manner could they secure the right of appeal or other privileges which it held forth.

Barkley, who had apparently been given information on the code, asserted that there were 10,143 theatres in operation Feb. 1, of which 9,169 had voluntarily consented to the code, 6,500 of them being independent operators.

"You do not contend that these evils did not exist prior to the code?" Barkley asked.

"What the code did," Myers replied, "was to take each of these practices and, without materially remedying them, incorporate them in the code."

"Are you advocating discontinuance of the NRA?" Barkley asked.

Asks Better Board Setup

"No," said Myers. "On the contrary, I am complaining only of the motion picture code in its present setup. The exhibitors are threatening to withdraw from all cooperation until there is a better balance of the boards."

Asked by the Senator as to the operation of the local boards, Myers declared that "so far as I know, no exhibitor has received any adequate assistance through that method."

Barkley pressed the witness for an expression which would show that the provision covering forcing had been successful, but Myers refused to admit that the exhibitors had received any national benefit.

He read into the record the resolutions adopted at the New Orleans meeting last December, and also referred to a telegram sent to the committee following the Minneapolis meeting last week incorporating the resolution demanding revision of the code.

"From your experience as a member of the Federal Trade Commission and an assistant attorney general," Barkley asked, "do you believe that the Federal Trade Commission or the Department of Justice or any other department that has to go through long drawn-out litigation in order to decide cases between two people can be effective in eliminating unfair practices by which large groups of business industries have sought to injure their competitors?"

"No," responded Myers. "On the contrary, I think that with fair codes and proper safeguards for the public, undoubtedly it can be better done by a code system."

Offers New Code Provision

As a means of remedying the situation, Myers suggested that there be included in any legislation drafted by the committee for continuation of the Industrial Recovery Act, a provision that "all codes which authorize the code authority or other board or agency created thereunder to hear and determine controversies between concerns engaged in different branches of the industry affected shall, as a condition of their validity, provide that such code authority or other board or instrumentality shall be composed of an equal number of bona fide representatives of each branch of the industry embraced in such code and shall also provide for a representative, or representatives, of the Government with power to cast a deciding vote in case of a tie; provided that any concern embraced in any such code which is engaged in the manufacture or production of any commodities or products, or in making the initial sales or leases thereof and is also engaged, directly or indirectly, through holding companies, stock ownership, interlocking directorates or otherwise, in the buying or exhibiting of such commodities or products, may be represented on any such code authority or other board or agency only in its capacity as a manufacturer, producer, or original seller, or lessor thereof."

"Unless the code is amended the exhibitors of New York will haul down their Blue Eagles," the committee was told by Melvin Albert of Weisman, Quinn, Allan and Spett, attorneys for the I.T.O.A. He declared that his association has refused to comply with an order of the Regional Labor Board to reinstate certain employes and has sought to have the board take the matter into the courts, which it has not done, because, he charged, "they know the code could not stand investigation."

Says ITOA Distrusts Boards

Members of the I.T.O.A., he continued, refuse to take cases before the local board because they know they will not get justice, but are continuing to take them to the courts, as they did before the code.

Referring to the Darrow report, Albert declared the review board "found that Rosenblatt was biased and prejudiced" in favor of producer-distributor elements in the industry as against exhibitor, "yet, despite the report of that committee, Rosenblatt is still the head of the motion picture code and no further investigation of any kind has been made to determine that finding of fact by the Darrow group."

New York independents have not signed the code, but have defied it and the Regional Labor Board, he said. Albert referred to the provision in the code permitting the appearance in controversial cases of anyone at interest, under which, he said, an attorney for producers-distributors sat in all cases, and that attorney's opinion is usually asked by some member of the board so that, indirectly, the witness charged, he influences the decision.

"Producers-distributors," he said, "were the first to consent to the code. The exhibitors knew nothing about it. The code was rammed down their throats. We feel that we need a code, but the independents will not approve the code they now have."

Before the hearings conclude, it is anticipated Rosenblatt will seek an opportunity to appear before the committee to refute charges made by Myers and Albert.

"U" Cancellation Case Up

First complaint against Universal for refusing 10 per cent cancellations came up on appeal yesterday before a Campi committee composed of Walter Vincent, chairman; Harry Buxbaum and Henry Sussman. Protestant in the case was the Lincoln, Cincinnati.

Other appeals were: Samuel A. Tannenbaum, Palace, Atlantic City, against the Lyric, same city, for holding up release dates. Tannenbaum appeared, but the respondent didn't. Philip Semelroth, Riverdale, Dayton, against William Chesbrough, Salem, same city, on premature advertising and reduced admission; Nordland, Cincinnati, against the Paramount, Peoples Corner, M-G-M, Fox, Columbia, Paramount, Warners, U. A., Universal and RKO on clearance and zoning.

Californians Want L. A. Schedule Now

no further delay on putting the schedule into effect.

With Harry Vinnicoff, who is accompanying him, Berenstein will oppose the F. W. C. application before Campi on Thursday. He insists that the Los Angeles schedule is nationally important because it is holding up other clearance schedules in key cities.

"We want the schedule installed," he said, "because, having been approved by an impartial governmental body, it will become a precedent for future clearance structures, even after the NRA is discontinued, and will serve as a basis for future litigation in case the independents have to go to court to establish clearance and zoning in the absence of the NRA."

Berenstein expressed confidence that Campi would accede to the independents' demand for immediate application of the schedule as it was approved by Campi and was to have gone into effect March 31.

"Campi gave us a pretty fair setup," he declared, "but it is opposed by F. W. C., which wants to buy protection over independents."

Both men will return to the coast Friday night.

Code Cost Change Will Be Taken Up

assessments that can be developed. He will probably urge the inclusion in the producer distributor schedule of the payment of one fourth of one per cent of the gross as an alternative for the sliding scale originally adopted, which, it is felt, may meet the approval of the Administration. The exemption will be sought for the exhibitor schedule, which, it is pointed out, as now written offers protection against the double taxation of integrated companies.

New Conn. Clearance Move

NEW HAVEN, April 8.—Retaliating against the New Canaan and Stamford complaints seeking to increase their clearance, the Darien, Darien, through Judge Mark W. Norman of Cummings & Lockwood, its counsel, has filed a counter complaint which also names as respondents the Empress and Palace, Norwalk.

Norwalk, Stamford and New Canaan take clearance over Darien, and it is claimed that when Norwalk and Stamford first runs book too far apart, Darien is delayed as much as 60 days. To remedy this situation, a maximum of 30 days after Norwalk or Stamford is demanded.

All four complaints have been scheduled for hearing by the clearance and zoning board on Tuesday.

the state legislature, will be aired at a statewide independent exhibitors' meeting to be held April 12 at the Hotel Plankinton in Milwaukee.

The board of directors of the association has also authorized Abram F. Myers, general counsel for Allied, to represent association members on hearings on the Pettengill bill. It has also agreed to support him in his testimony given at a hearing of the Senate Finance Committee, on the NRA.

The association informed Kent that unless something were done to curb the Fitzgerald buying-booking combine, it would use "increasing and relentless efforts to persuade independent exhibitors to refuse to buy Fox product next season."

a session scheduled for today at the Astor.

Leading independent and circuit heads were notified by mail last week to attend the session, but yesterday telephone calls to all of the exhibitors slated to appear informed them that the conclave had been postponed indefinitely. Another date is expected to be set later.

Regular meetings of the I.T.O.A. membership will be held bi-monthly. The next session is slated for April 17. However, the Wednesday morning board of directors' sessions will be continued. The film situation will be the topic for tomorrow's session.

Duals Cause End of Para.'s Two-Reelers

Double featuring has virtually eliminated the market for two-reel short subjects, Lou Diamond, Paramount shorts head, said yesterday in making known Paramount's plans to produce only single reel shorts next season.

Diamond predicted that the "raucous flub-dub and aimless slapstick" of lengthier subjects would be replaced next season by "smartly made single reel subjects."

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"The Bride of Frankenstein"

(Universal)

HOLLYWOOD, April 8.—Skilfully constructed, cunningly produced and bringing out new horror angles to give audiences fresh creeps, this is a smart and worthy successor to "Frankenstein" from the viewpoints of the box-office and production.

If anything, the camera work, lighting effects, music and direction are better than the original, blending dread fear and morbid curiosity for more intensified thrills.

Starting where its predecessor left off, the shrewd story building by John Balderston and William Hurlbut achieves a human note in giving the monster, Karloff, childlike emotions in the scenes with a violin playing hermit, O. P. Heggie, and ascribing primitive romantic inclinations as he meets his strange bride, Elsa Lanchester, who is created by devilish scientists Ernest Thesiger and Colin Clive.

Besides picturing Karloff as a fiend satisfying those who like murder chillers, the imaginative element of man creating man by scientific means has appeal to highbrows.

Karloff is startling in his makeup with the characterization weird and scary. Una O'Connor, as a frightened maid, gives a great performance. Ernest Thesiger is a rare portrait of a hellish character. Colin Clive, Miss Lanchester, Heggie, Dwight Frye and others support well. James Whale's first class direction is attuned to the hair-raising mood. John Mescal's photography, Charles Hall's sets and Franz Waxman's music rate bouquets.

Junior Laemmle's first independent effort aimed at the box-office hits the target.

No production code seal. Running time, 90 minutes. "A."

Looking 'Em Over

"In Spite of Danger"

(Columbia)

Neighborhood houses should find this film nicely suited to their needs. With Wallace Ford and Marian Marsh playing the chief roles, "In Spite of Danger" offers a fast-moving narrative packed with action and excitement. It is well acted, too, not only by Ford and Miss Marsh, but also by Arthur Hohl, Charley Grapewin, Charles B. Middleton and a youngster named Jay Walter Ward.

To be sure, the villainy is hardly subtle and some of Ford's escapes from death smack somewhat of the miraculous; still the film has enough good points to overlook these faults.

Ford is a racing driver forced to give up his risky business as result of an accident on the track. He goes to convalesce on a farm owned by Grapewin, who operates a trucking business in competition with Hohl. Ford becomes a partner in Grapewin's business; but with Hohl determined to put the Ford-Grapewin venture on the rocks, there is a tough road ahead for the duo.

Hohl tries every trick in the screen villain's bag and he holds the upper hand until shortly before the end, when he dies a victim of his own villainy. The film is filled with scenes of speeding trucks that ought to stir the youngsters in particular.

Worked into the story is a romance between Ford and Miss Marsh, Grapewin's daughter. Lambert Hillyer directed.

Production Code Seal No. 637. Running time, 55 minutes. "G."

"Strauss' Great Waltz"

(Tom Arnold Prod.)

Here is a film that will charm music lovers because of the immortal compositions of the two Strausses, father and son, but except for this there is little else in the way of entertainment. American audiences will probably fail to appreciate what little humor is presented and the character portrayals are weak, except on the part of Jessie Matthews and Edmund Gwenn.

Tired of the jeers of his father at his lack of musical ability, young Schani Strauss (Esmond Knight), at the behest of his sweetheart (Miss Matthews), leaves music to join her father in his confectionery business. An accidental encounter with a countess (Fay Compton) revives

Theatre Liability Rates Are Shifted

Thus, the old rate of 40 cents per seat per year for $5,000 and $10,000 of liability insurance on theatres in the metropolitan area now becomes 11 cents per 100 admissions. On theatres outside the metropolitan area and in most territories throughout the country the old rate for standard limits was 12 cents per seat per year. Under the new plan, the rate for these theatres is six cents per 100 admissions for the same limits.

It is pointed out by Herbert R. Ebenstein of Stebbins, Leterman & Gates, Inc., insurance brokers, that liability insurance premiums for theatres in the metropolitan area can remain the same as before only if average daily admissions for a year equal the seating capacity of the house. By exceeding it the new rates can be higher, but otherwise they will be lower than the former premiums.

For theatres outside the metropolitan area, the new plan is regarded as likely to result in substantial increases in liability insurance costs. For these theatres, if average daily admissions for a year exceed 30 per cent of the seating capacity, a higher premium than formerly will result, but if they are less than 30 per cent of the seating capacity the premium will be lower.

The new plan provides for a reduction for liability limits in excess of $5,000 and $10,000. Theatres will continue to be subject to credits on application wherever warranted by "loss experience."

G. B. to Sell 13 Here Next Season—Balcon

HOLLYWOOD, April 8.—Michael Balcon said today his company will sell 13 pictures in America next season. The Gaumont British executive, who leaves Friday for New York, from where he sails a week later for England on the Berengaria, has signed many deals for American players to appear in these pictures.

Gaumont British has completed arrangements with M-G-M for the services of the latter's contract players as they become available.

Madge Evans has been signed for G.B.'s forthcoming, "The Tunnel." She will play the feminine lead, while Richard Dix, signed last week, will have a prominent role opposite Conrad Veidt, who stars.

Maureen O'Sullivan and C. Aubrey Smith will play in "Soldiers Three" by Rudyard Kipling. Geoffrey Barkas is now in India shooting exteriors.

Boris Karloff and Peter Lorre have also been signed.

Take Amalgamated Out of Inactivity

"Pimpernel" Pittsburgh's Top 2d Week

PITTSBURGH, April 8.—Lent seems to be hitting hard this year, with grosses dropping from week to week. The only exception last week was the showing of "The Scarlet Pimpernel," which collected a nice $5,500 in its second week after an opening figure of close to $9,000. The Stanley, too, fared well with "Mississippi," getting around $9,000, which is $1,000 above par.

Elsewhere, however, things were pretty dull, the houses with stage shows particularly falling down. The Penn, with "West Point of the Air" and Dave Appolon's revue, took it on the chin at $17,000, while the Alvin, with "The Mystery of Edwin Drood" and the Dorsey Brothers orchestra with Bob Crosby, had nothing to crow over at $9,500. Things weren't so good at the Warner, either, where "The Whole Town's Talking" and "Evensong" were a disappointment at $4,400.

Total first run grosses were $45,400. Average is $46,500.

Estimated takings for the week ending April 4:

"MYSTERY OF EDWIN DROOD" (Univ.)
ALVIN—(2,000), 25c-40c, 6 days. Stage: Dorsey Brothers orchestra with Bob Crosby. Gross: $9,500. (Average, $10,000)

"THE SCARLET PIMPERNEL" (U. A.)
FULTON—(1,750), 15c-40c, 6 days, 2nd week. Gross: $5,500. (Average, $4,500)

"WEST POINT OF THE AIR" (M-G-M)
PENN—(3,300), 25c-40c, 6 days. Stage: Dave Appolon's revue. Gross: $17,000. (Average, $19,000)

"MISSISSIPPI" (Para.)
STANLEY—(3,600), 25c-40c, 6 days. Gross: $9,000. (Average, $8,000)

"WHOLE TOWN'S TALKING" (Col.)
"EVENSONG" (Gaumont British)
WARNER—(2,000), 25c-40c, 6 days. Gross: $4,400. (Average, 5,000)

"Ruggles" $11,000 Lead in Montreal

MONTREAL, April 8.—"Ruggles of Red Gap" stood up well in the Capitol at $11,000, which was quite a bit above par.

"Gold Diggers of 1935" started off well as the second attraction at the Palace since this house reopened and wound up with $10,000 for the seven days.

Total business was $39,500. Average is $40,500.

Estimated takings for the week ending April 6:

"RUGGLES OF RED GAP" (Para.)
"RUMBA" (Para.)
CAPITOL—(2,547), 25c-35c-40c-50c-60c, 7 days. Gross: $11,000. (Average, $9,500)

"STORMY WATERS" (M-G-M)
IMPERIAL—(1,914), 25c-30c-40c, 7 days. Stage: World Cruise musical show. Gross: $3,000. (Average, $3,500)

"DEVIL DOGS OF THE AIR" (Warners)
"BABBITT" (Warners)
LOEW'S—(3,115), 30c-34c-40c-50c-60c, 7 days. Gross: $8,500. (Average, $10,500)

"GOLD DIGGERS OF 1935" (Warners)
PALACE—(2,600), 25c-35c-40c-50c-65c, 7 days. Gross: $10,000. (Average, $11,000)

"LET'S LIVE TONIGHT" (Col.)
"BEST MAN WINS" (Col.)
PRINCESS—(2,272), 30c-35c-50c-65c, 7 days. Gross: $7,000. (Average, $6,000)

Gensler in Para. Post

HOLLYWOOD, April 8.—Lewis E. Gensler has been made an associate producer at Paramount.

"Adopt" a Boy

Omaha, April 8.—Columbia exchange has unofficially adopted a four-year-old boy. The kid, whose home is in a hovel across the alley from Columbia, wandered in hungry and ragged.

The entire office and backroom force swung into action. Within an hour, the lad had new clothes, a bath and food. His father is in jail and his mother only recently gave birth to another baby. So the boy has become a part of the Columbia organization, the backroom girls seeing that he is kept clean and sharing their lunches with him.

Salesmen take him out for rides week-ends.

Short Subjects

"Impressions of Seville"

(Gen'l. Foreign Sales Corp.)

A run-of-the-mill travelogue, but one entirely devoid of off-screen dialogue or any comment. Rudolph Perak has composed a special musical accompaniment that tries to fit the subject being shown and, in some places, he succeeds. Scenes of Seville that are repeated in some instances are shown and they range from busy streets and parks down to quiet, secluded gardens. For sheer architectural beauty this subject is recommended, but it has little entertainment value. Reviewed without production code seal. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

"Remember the Alamo"

(Vitaphone)

The third of the "See America First" series being produced by E. W. Newman and falls slightly below the standard set by the previous two.

The reel opens with shots and explanatory remarks about West Point and Annapolis and then shifts to Texas, where it covers various historical missions and buildings, winding up with views of the Alamo.

Reviewed without production code seal. Running time, 18 mins. "G."

"Desert Harmonies"

(Universal)

This is one of the better Mentone productions chiefly because of the singing of Robert Halliday and Evelyn Herbert.

As is usual in these productions, the story is such that a group of night club or vaudeville entertainers are worked into the film. They perform in a hotel in Algiers.

Besides Miss Herbert and Halliday, Moran & Casper, Phillip Ryder, the Four Black Jacks, Gracella & Theodore and the 12 Mentonettes are in the picture.

Entertaining. Production Code Seal, No. 0362. Running time, 20 mins. "G."

"Ibbetson" for Cooper

HOLLYWOOD, April 8.—Paramount has definitely set "Peter Ibbetson" as Gary Cooper's next. Sidney Howard is doing the screen play, and Henry Hathaway will direct. Production will start late this month.

First of Pathe News Broadcasts Goes Out

The first of a series of bi-weekly radio programs under the title "Pathe News of the Air" went out last night over a network of five stations from WOR.

The initial presentation included interviews with speed champions, heavyweight contenders and pilots of old and new transport systems, among others. The total effect was distinctly that of a newsreel showing. Some phases of it proved to be reminiscent of "The March of Time."

Para. Properties May Offer Revamping Plan

LOS ANGELES, April 8.—Paramount Properties, Inc., owners of the Paramount theatre and studio properties, today was authorized to submit a plan of reorganization to bondholders and creditors under Section 77-B of the new bankruptcy act at a hearing before Federal Judge Charles G. Briggle.

Dinner for Al Somerbee

BOSTON, April 8.—A dinner in celebration of Al Somerbee's elevation to the presidency of the G. B. Lothrop Co. after 35 years' continuous service with the organization was given at the Copley-Plaza Hotel tonight. The affair was sponsored by Allied Theatres of Mass., M.P.T.O.A. affiliate, of which Somerbee is a member.

Joseph Brennan, executive secretary of Allied, was in direct charge of arrangements. Louis M. Boas and Stanley Sumner acted as treasurer and secretary, respectively.

Revivals Prove Hit In Providence Spot

PROVIDENCE, April 8. — Showmen here are watching an experiment at the Fine Arts, formerly the Modern, a burlesque house. Departing from its usual policy of booking so-called arty films, the management recently booked "It Happened One Night," "One Night of Love" and "Three Little Pigs." Capacity audiences resulted and the bill was held over.

The unusual feature of the booking is that all of these pictures have played the neighborhood houses at 25 cents top and less while the Fine Arts collected 35 cents. Three shows were given daily and it is likely that the management will look around for more of these sixth-run double features.

Higgins Seeks Court Aid

SCRANTON, April 8.—Permission to continue operation despite heavy liabilities and claims is asked in a debtor's petition filed by Higgins Enterprise, Shamokin, exhibitor, in U. S. District Court here.

The petitioner claimed assets of less than $10,000. Liabilities are $665,000, which are made up of a $400,000 bond issue, a mortgage of $242,300 and about $23,000 in claims and taxes. The petition declared the best interests of the creditors could be preserved by continuing in business. It was claimed the concern is operating at a profit and will eventually meet its obligations. The court deferred action.

Ohio Playdate Bill Is Unsigned Law

test its validity despite the Attorney General's opinion.

P. J. Wood, business manager of the Independent Theatre Owners of Ohio, said his organization planned no immediate action.

"We believe the law is O. K.," he said, "until the courts hold adversely. We can present many facts which, we believe, will justify our position. Despite the Attorney General's opinion, we want the courts to iron the matter out."

Governor Davey late today issued a statement in which he said: "I allowed the Waldvogel bill to become law without my signature to hasten its day in court."

The governor added: "There has been widespread public opinion favoring the control of pictures of sex and gangster types. The purpose of the act being good and the attorney general's opinion on its constitutionality being adverse, I decided to let the bill become law without my signature."

Any attempt to enforce the law is expected to precipitate a strenuous legal battle in view of Attorney General John W. Bricker's ruling Saturday which held the measure unconstitutional.

Press Jersey Dog Bill

TRENTON, April 8.—A fight on dog racing legislation is expected in the Assembly tonight when Assemblyman Vorsanger will try to force his parimutuel betting bill from committee. The measure is another attempt to legalize dog race betting, although the Court of Chancery ruled last summer that such gambling was unconstitutional.

Despite the court ruling, word was received at the capital today that Atlantic City officials will attempt dog racing again this summer in the municipal auditorium. A certified check for $25,000 has been deposited with city officials to guarantee payment of rent. Shore exhibitors, whose business suffered last year from competition of the dog track, were informed that Attorney General David T. Wilentz will prosecute any one attempting to operate dog tracks in violation of the court ruling.

California Tax Bill Up

SACRAMENTO, April 8.—When the Assembly battle over income taxes begins its second week here today, Assemblyman Meehan, Oakland, will inject a bill calling for a state sweepstake lottery similar to the Irish Sweepstakes. It is estimated such a lottery would raise $50,000,000 annually.

The Chatter income tax bill, calling for one-third the Federal rate for state income, faces its test this week in the House with the author confident the necessary 41 votes can be mustered. The more conservative Senate is expected to cut the rate, however.

Florida Gets Tax Bills

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., April 8.—Two bills have been introduced into the state legislature here that call for industry taxes. The first, proposed by Senator Smith of Lake City calls for an annual license fee of $50 on all houses grossing less than $10,000 annually. From $10,000 to $25,000 the fee would jump to $1,000, and any amount over $25,000 would require a license costing $5,000.

The second bill, introduced by Senator Bass of Live Oak calls for a 10 per cent tax on admissions.

his hopes of achieving fame and her encouragement results in his composing "The Blue Danube." A break with his sweetheart occurs when he conducts his father's orchestra, the countess arranging that old Strauss (Gwenn) be delayed that Schani may have his opportunity. Gwenn is enraged at the trick but accepts the inevitable when his son is a success. The young lovers patch up their differences and all ends well.

The direction of Louis Levy places stress on the music and neglects the story and characters. Photography and sound are fair.

Where English pictures are liked this might do well if particular stress is placed on the musical angle by exhibitors. No production code seal. Running time, 72 minutes. "G."

Goldwyn Threatens Removal to England

HOLLYWOOO, April 8.—Upon his return here over the weekend from a stay in New York and a short trip to England, Samuel Goldwyn said if the state of California decides to continue its program of unjust and excessive taxation of the film industry he would move to England and continue production in that country. On his arrival in New York after his trip abroad, Goldwyn told MOTION PICTURE DAILY he was considering a move to England.

"I am not going into any other state in this country," he said, "although many have made us offers. I am going to England where they want, respect and appreciate the film producer. Great Britain knows what it means to have at its disposal world wide exploitation that can be obtained through the medium of films and the government is now trying to pass laws to help producers inasmuch as it means the spreading the name and fame of England everywhere in the world."

"When I came to Los Angeles 22 years ago," Goldwyn added, "the Chamber of Commerce asked me to place on all screen titles the phrase 'made in Hollywood, California,' and I did as asked. I know some feel the studios are bluffing, but they are wrong. I would not like to leave California where I have millions invested, yet if conditions are forced on us, what choice is left? Although I do feel the industry should bear a just burden of taxation, as all industries should, yet we're being forced to the wall by ill-advised individuals whose slogan is 'Soak the Film Industry'."

Fabian Says Bid on Fox Met Is Not Set

cluded in the bid. These might retain Skouras and Randforce as operators or install Fabian as operator.

Fabian made emphatic denial that Warners are associated or interested in any way in the contemplated bid. His principal financial associate is said to be the Bankers Bond & Mortgage Co., with possibly Albert M. Greenfield of Philadelphia participating on an investment basis only. The bid, to receive consideration from the Fox Met bondholders' committee, would have to better the 75 cents on the $1 offer made by the Schenck-Fox Theatres' plan.

Grand Central and Fox here for the past 18 months. He intends to develop a circuit of suburban and subsequent run houses, the field in which he started before joining with the Skouras brothers a number of years ago.

Koplar, in association with a number of local financiers, has organized St. Louis Suburban Theatres. His brother, Sam Koplar, builder and managing director of the Park Plaza Hotel, is associated with him in the new company.

The first of his new circuit will be a new house to be erected in the West End and North Grand district. The second, he says, will be at the corner of Natural Bridge and Grand Ave. A third will be on the South Side around Gravois, and a fourth will be in the Maplewood center. He expects to have them ready in 90 days. Other spots will be acquired, according to his plan.

Erpi to Reach Decision Soon On Servicing

Will Finish Experiments Upon General Work

Erpi's experiments in connection with the servicing of all phases of theatre engineering are expected to be concluded within the next 60 days, at which time a final decision will be made on Erpi's entrance into the extended servicing field on a permanent basis, it was stated yesterday.

The experiments in general theatre engineering servicing have been going on for several months in a number of theatres throughout the country on a non-commercial basis. Results to date have indicated the possibility of savings to theatre owners ranging from $300 to $3,000 per house annually, in all types of theatres, an Erpi official reported.

It was again stated that if a decision is made to make the extended

The major circuits—Fox, Loew's, Paramount, RKO and Warners—have agreed to donate 10 per cent of their May 20th receipts to the N. V. A. fund. At the same time, it has been decided to abandon the long-standing plan of "passing the hat" around in theatres.

Other plans are embryonic, but the acknowledged attitude is to raise sufficient funds to keep the N. V. A. sanitarium at Saranac well financed in order to assure its continued operation.

Verbal Bouquets Hurled At M. P. Club Sport Forum

By J. M. JERAULD

Verbal bouquets in the sporting world are wrapped around bricks so that recipients can take them when tossed, or exercise footwork. The idea spread to the film contingent at the M. P. Club forum yesterday.

Charles C. Pettijohn started the bombardment by introducing himself as one of the only two real Americans present. The other one was Chief Little Wolf of the Navajos. Pettijohn didn't say whether he was a Winnebago or a Leni Lenape, but he was emphatic on the point that he and the Navajo wrestler were the only two "off color" citizens present.

It was sports day for the forum.

U. A. Theatre Expansion in England Seen

Expected to Work With Odeon-County Merger

London, April 9. — John Maxwell has taken over the three London de luxe houses operated by H. A. Yapp. They are in Wandsworth, Putney and Kensington.

This is regarded as merely a prelude to other big theatre deals by Maxwell and other major operators in the British exhibition field.

By BRUCE ALLAN

LONDON, April 9.—United Artists Theatre Circuit, Inc., by authoritative report, will enter British exhibition on a wholesale scale by association with an amalgamation of Odeon Theatres, Ltd., and County Cinemas, Ltd., which today number approximately 70 houses and expect to have 100 by the end of 1935.

Viewed in some quarters here as a definite move to develop a third nation wide chain in competition with Gaumont British and Associated British Cinemas, Ltd., the impression in several well informed directions is that the step is more directly aimed at the former than the latter, which is John Maxwell's company.

Heard also is comment that M-G-M may tie in, the basis for the impression no doubt linking up with the close relationship between Joseph M. Schenck of United Artists and Nicholas M. Schenck of Loew's and

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

ANENT the position, struck in this space a handful of days ago, having to do with celluloid reproduction of recognized works as the author wrote them or not at all, the Memphis mail brings this from M. A. Lightman, an exhibitor with a thinking cap usually found perched on his head where it belongs:

"The best thing you said (he points at us) in the article was: 'Fidelity is an attribute which Hollywood, it is this opinion, is expected to observe.' I think it is an obligation of the industry that Hollywood be authentic in reproducing stories of well-known authors and writers. In the first place, it is good, sound business to do so. People, who are familiar with a book or the work of some well-known author, are attracted to the screen version very often on account of that knowledge. Naturally those who go to the theatre, expecting to see a true adaptation, are sorely disappointed and thoroughly disgusted when they see a distorted or untrue version on the screen. If there is any value at all to the name why destroy it? In other words, some people go to the theatre on account of the story and they expect to see it in its true form. Others stay away on account of the story. I do think, however, that it is permissable to make slight changes in instances where the author is so bold as to take liberties that the screen could not afford to take."

More from the same communication:

"There is another exception and that is why I said I agree with you almost entirely. Sometimes a story does offer a very good idea, but is not adaptable for use on the screen. I don't think it is entirely amiss for writers in Hollywood to change the name of such a story provided all that they take from it is an idea and rewrite a different story. As a matter of fact, in such instance the name should be changed. Sometimes an occasional title chosen by an author is impossible in pictures and a better title might be chosen. That should be permissible, particularly if the press book and advertising carry the line 'adapted from'."

Comment, some guarded and some loose, about Consolidated and Herb Yates, Monogram and Ray Johnston, Majestic and Herman Gluckmann, Liberty and M. H. Hoffman may find itself in the limbo of the forgotten any day now. True, a deal has been cooking. It's taken many forms because many interests are involved. The latest turn may easily prove to be no turn at all, for prospects of a deal, any kind of a deal, are slipping into the mist. . . .

METRO is not kidding when it fanfares its policy of refusing to deal with booking combines. Letters signed by Felix Feist have gone to every exhibitor in Texas and ditto in Wisconsin where Sidney Kent has just stepped on an idea along above lines fostered by Harold Fitzgerald of Wisconsin Amusement Enterprises, an outgrowth of the old Fox Midwesco outfit. "If you want Metro, deal directly with Metro representatives, for nobody else is authorized to sell you," is the gist of Feist's communication. Metro's stand on the issue, the relative merits of which have no place in this space at this moment, must rate commendation. Where fellow distributors have proceeded under yes and no policies, apparently varying with the city that raises the issue, Metro has remained adamant, frequently at a sacrifice . . .

Was there something complaining in his voice when Merlin Aylesworth told the Ampa the other day:

"Every suggestion I have offered to RKO and NBC has been turned down, but I may yet get a chance to have one of my recommendations adopted."

Or was he merely plaintive? . . .

one of which will be the life of Samuel Pepys. The life of Cecil Rhodes will also be filmed and a deal is under way now to star Walter Huston as Rhodes.

The other films are "Soldiers Three," "Secret Agent," by Somerset Maugham; "Clairvoyant," "Alias Bulldog Drummond," "King Solomon's Mines," "Car of My Dreams," "39 Steps," starring Robert Donat and Madeleine Carroll; "King of the Damned," "Gay Masquerade," "The Tunnel" and "Brown on the Resolution."

Michael Balcon, production head, has also closed a deal with M-G-M for the loan of its contract players when available and it is expected that Maureen O'Sullivan will be the first player to work for Gaumont British under the new agreement. She will probably be Dinah in Kipling's "Soldiers Three," which will go into work shortly.

concerns having branch offices in that country was announced today by the State Department. The agreement will become effective Jan. 1 next.

At present, in addition to the various taxes imposed upon the income and dividends of French subsidiaries of American companies, an additional tax is assessed against the parent corporation in this country, based upon the dividends which they have declared, on the theory that a portion of the earnings and profits were derived from French sources. Under the convention France will no longer collect this tax if the American subsidiaries located in France comply with certain procedural conditions.

In the case of American firms operating through an unincorporated French branch, the dividend tax will be eliminated if a corresponding tax is paid upon three-quarters of the profits derived in France by the branch.

risen 40 per cent in the last six months," Berinstein declared. "The 15-20 cent average has been boosted to 25-40 cents," he averred.

"This is due to the hopes held by exhibitors that they will be able to clear pictures away from F. W. C. If they are successful in doing this they will increase scales higher yet.

"The coast schedule had already been adopted by Campi and we had approved it. I don't see why Fox West Coast should hold it up. If the plan is not made operative, there will be a price crash that will resound as far as New York and all the good work done in boosting prices will be of no avail. The former levels will be put into force again.

"There is no good reason why the schedule should be held up," Berinstein declared. "F. W. C. has raised a lot of technicalities. That's all."

With his arrival yesterday, the coast exhibitor was drafted as a member of an appeal committee by John C. Flinn. He is against hearing a case unanimously decided by a local board on appeal. He stated: "When a local board makes a unanimous decision there should be no appeal. There is no one better to judge these cases than the men on the ground.

"Here I am from southern California. I am sitting on two cases, one concerning Virginia and another Pennsylvania.

"What do I know about these territories?

"They should get men to sit on these cases who know the territory," he concluded.

Burr-Maynard Case Dropped by Campi

the code in the four complaints filed by Ruben Frels against Jefferson Amusement Co. and J. C. Long, Code Authority reversed the lower verdict and dismissed all actions against the respondents. Frels and Long came to New York to try the case on appeal. Long retained Louis Nizer as counsel. Frels presented his own arguments.

A request for clearance for Publix Great States theatres in Peoria, Decatur, Quincy and Springfield, Ill., first run houses, was turned down by Campi.

In 16 instances Campi sustained local boards handing down decisions against respondents employing various forms of bank nights under Article V-E, Part 3, Section 1. The bank night complaint by V. E. Hamm, Gem, Muskogee, Okla., against the Ritz, Broadway and Yale, same city, was dismissed because the issue was brought before the Dallas grievance board instead of the Oklahoma City branch.

Campi upheld Loew's College, New Haven, in the clearance complaint filed by J. B. Fishman's Dixwell. The College, a second run, by negotiation reduced the regular clearance of 60 days downtown first runs to 30 days, which Code Authority held is not improper. No opinion was expressed on any part of the proposed schedule for the city of New Haven.

Reade Tosses Verbal Bomb

Walter Reade didn't mince words yesterday when brought before the local grievance board for distribution of "service" passes at the Astor on complaint by Howard S. Cullman, trustee for the Roxy. Cullman was in Florida and Irving Lesser appeared in his stead.

"You shouldn't entertain complaints from a bankrupt, receivership-operated theatre," Reade declaimed. "They have no standing here. The Roxy is unfair competition. It pays no taxes nor interest and is operated under a political court order.

"It is the most unfair outfit in the business," he said. "We have 39 theatres and we have never filed a complaint. Cullman is just a notoriety seeker.

"The committee will probably order me to cease and desist, but we did so five weeks ago."

Leo Justin, Reade's partner explained that the passes were issued on a "reissue" and that it had been the fault of a new manager.

Lesser, in rebuttal, stated that the Roxy is living up to the code in every respect. He added that Cullman was a good citizen and conforms to all the regulations provided in the code and that there was no personal issue involved.

Five premature advertising complaints by Consolidated Amusements against the Astor, Liberty and Harris were decided in favor of the complainant.

Delay New Bedford Case

BOSTON, April 9.—Hearing on the complaint brought before the grievance board by Oze Tessier of New Bedford against E. M. Loew has been postponed again. The case has dragged on for months.

Another premium complaint, this one brought against Jerome P. Jerome's Park, Woonsocket, R. I., seems to have been settled outside the code rooms. The Park has closed.

End Omaha Two-for-Ones

OMAHA, April 9.—The grievance board has ordered Morrie Segal, manager of the Magic, downtown second run, to stop two-for-one admissions. Ralph Goldberg, complainant, told the board that if it would allow him the same privilege, namely, "ladies free when accompanied by men," he would withdraw the complaint. The board refused, so Goldberg, who manages the Town, rewrote his complaint against Segal and the latter changed his policy after the board gave him orders.

Throttle Pushing

By H. E. N.

ATLANTA, GA.

Miles A. Metzger, secretary and treasurer of the Lucas and Jenkins circuit, is fast becoming a real "Georgia cracker"; he eats grits every morning for breakfast. Metzger sends his regards to all his old associates in the Publix office in New York.

Bob Wilby of the Wilby-Kincey circuit, predicts that block booking is certain to be abolished by legislation in the very near future. Jimmie Harrison, the Wilby booker, has been with this organization since he wore long pants.

Harry Ballance, Fox district manager, whom we first met in L. A. dashing out of Paramount's office one noon in 1920, received his first lesson in air acrobatics then when a Ford ran over him, carrying him 100 feet before he made a pancake landing. Harry is now a licensed transport pilot and uses his "Condor" to ferry approved contracts from the different Fox offices in his territory.

W. H. Kimberly, president of Visugraphic Film, announces a new process for animating background on all announcement trailers. This organization has a trailer service and is also agent for the Holmes projectors in Georgia and Florida.

Joe Jack and C. E. Adair, owners of the Liberty Film Lines, Dallas, were visiting along Film Row last week. These boys were looking over the Georgia and Florida territory with a view of starting a film trucking service here, the prospects not being very bright.

Bernie Shapiro, Triangle Poster and Printing Co. manager, is in from Philadelphia and New York. Jake Shapiro dropped in from the Middle West for a conference with Bernie.

Amity Exchange and Jack Barrett will move into larger quarters at 109 Walton St. this week.

CHARLOTTE, N. C.

No wonder the Fox office was in the money—referring to the S. R. Kent drive—with that dynamic salesman, George Ebersole, covering the Carolinas. Georgia school marms do help!

The Jesters Club is negotiating for a new clubroom to occupy on May 1. The proposed site will be over a leading downtown restaurant adjacent to Film Row. Present club officers are Jack Kirby, Paramount, president; Walter Griffith, vice-president; Ralph Jackson, Carolina Delivery, treasurer; W. P. White, National Theatre Supply, secretary.

Sam Craver, who has been ill for a few weeks, is back at his desk planning a bigger and better circuit. His Paris theatre, Greenville, S. C., which is being practically rebuilt at a cost of $50,000, will open May 15 under managership of H. V. Wynne.

"Heck" Everett, Jack London, Cy Dillon, sales staff of the Bromberg exchange, bought pajamas and other things for their trip to Hollywood. The boys left April 6 for Atlanta where they joined the Bromberg "special" which picked up the New Orleans contingent at Birmingham, going west by way of Kansas City where they are hooking on to the Sante Fe and Fred Harvey eats. The local exchange will move into larger quarters May 1, occupying space in the old Film Building, which is being remodeled.

Jack F. Kirby, local Paramount manager, has left on his annual vacation to New York, Philadelphia and Madison, N. J. His oldest son Jack, is with him.

servicing a permanent adjunct of Erpi's activities, no merchandising of parts or equipment other than that having to do with sound reproduction, is contemplated. Contrary to reports, it was stated that operators' locals not only have made no official protest to the contemplated servicing by Erpi engineers but, in situations where the current experiments are being conducted, have regarded the new service as an aid to operators and favored its continuance, it was said.

Numerous Erpi sound equipment service agreements are expiring currently and are being renewed, with the new agreement which offers an optional number of service calls annually. Expiration of the contracts is the result of the supplemental agreements made by Erpi with exhibitors over the past two years. Under these agreements, usually made for a two-year period, the exhibitor has been granted the right to negotiate a new contract if fully paid up on charges at the expiration of the supplemental agreement.

Wider Choice Offered

The new contracts offer either 12, 17 or 26 service calls per year, with correspondingly reduced charges for the lesser number of calls. The old contracts were for 26 calls exclusively, except for the special 52-call contracts made with large de luxe houses, which are still being offered. The new contracts are being made for one, two and three-year periods.

With the simultaneous expiration of a large number of service contracts in the Detroit area recently, Erpi was faced with competitive servicing bids made to the local theatres by Allied of Michigan, the Allied States exhibitors' unit headed by H. M. Richey, and the Detroit operators' local. New contracts were closed recently, however, between Erpi and the Paramount-Trendle theatres and the Butterfield circuit. Paramount theatre operating partners nationally are also in the process of closing new servicing agreements with Erpi. Since the first of the year the only large theatre group not to renew has been Warners, which developed its own service department.

Kuykendall to Build

COLUMBUS, MISS., April 9.—Ed Kuykendall, owner of the Princess, will soon start his second theatre. Work is under way on another house. When the two are completed Columbus will have three. Kuykendall said the old Princess would be completely remodeled, the work to start at once.

Ohio Senate Blocks Move On Tax Bills

a sine die resolution in advance of the day fixed for final adjournment. This, he said, would serve as a definite safeguard against enactment of legislation which might upset the present taxation system.

The income tax bill, proposing rates more drastic in the lower classifications than those of the Federal government, has been recommended for passage by the House Taxation Committee, but no vote has been taken.

Attack Tax on Grosses

HARTFORD, April 9.—An attack on a recommendation of the Fairchild special tax commission which would impose a five per cent tax on the gross receipts of amusement enterprises was led today at a hearing before the finance committee of the Connecticut legislature by Ed Levy, secretary of the T. O. A. of Connecticut, and Jake Fishman, president. There were no spokesmen at the hearing who favored the proposal.

Levy contended that the tax, if imposed, would discriminate against the poor man whose only entertainment is the moderately-priced picture theatre. He described the proposal as a violation of the principle of sound taxation and declared that the theatre industry is already greatly overtaxed.

That the public would regard the tax as a nuisance and retaliate by remaining away from theatres was the contention of Arthur Lockwood, operator of the Middlesex, Palace and Capitol at Middletown.

"There are 150 theatres in Connecticut," he said. "Most of them are in little towns and open only a few nights a week. Many of these would be forced to close because the public would not pay a nuisance tax and the theatre owners would be unable to absorb the tax."

L. A. Shaeffer, operator of the Crown, Hartford, told the committee that 17 per cent of a theatre's revenue already goes to city, state and Federal taxes. Others who spoke against the proposal included Joseph Shulman of the Rivoli, Hartford, who stated that while the tax might raise $400,000 for the state it would decrease theatre grosses by $600,000. More than 100 theatre owners and managers appeared in opposition to the measure and were augmented by I. A. T. S. E. members and representatives of numerous other amusement enterprises in the state.

California Tax Hits Bumps

SACRAMENTO, April 9.—The greatest stumbling block in the state administration's efforts to balance its $256,000,000 budget was thrown in its way today in the course of an income tax debate in the Assembly.

A new development in the tax and budget muddle is the prediction by Administration leaders in the Assembly that the Chatters bill carrying a third of the Federal rate on incomes will pass by a majority of five votes.

Anti-administration leaders are still claiming enough votes to substitute a Democratic tax measure carrying higher rates intended to produce $45,000,000, as against the Administration's $28,000,000.

Compromisers are frowning on both groups, attempting to muster enough votes to make the income rates produce $35,000,000 biennially.

Lieutenants of Governor Merriam said that bills to raise the bank corporation franchise tax rates and place a new tax on real estate transactions will be brought to a roll call as soon as the income tax has been settled.

Assemblyman Latham's substitute for Merriam's budget plan with a gross transactions tax measure favored by western film representatives came before the Committee on Revenue Taxation late today. A fight over it is believed certain.

The Legislature is well along in the week without passing a single bill to help out the state's budget muddle and without an important revenue bill passed in either house.

Still Weigh Minn. Playdates

MINNEAPOLIS, April 9.—Al Steffes reports that the playdate bill is still in committee and that the film footage tax probably will be licked in the conference committee. The House is sticking to a 10 per cent admission tax. Daylight saving has been reported out unanimously by a committee of both houses.

Signs Tennessee Sunday Bill

NASHVILLE, April 9.—The ban on Sunday films has been partially lifted by the signing of a local option bill by Gov. Hill McAllister. Communities can now decide the problem by popular vote.

Neptune Obliges

Boston, April 9.—M-G-M's chartered fishing boat put out from here today to get storm scenes for "Mutiny on the Bounty," after the production company had tried unsuccessfully for weeks to get the shots on the Pacific coast.

Obligingly, the stiff nor-easter which has been blowing for the past two days churned up a terrific sea for the M-G-M camera crew.

investigation of the film code by a Senate committee. Nathan Yamins, Code Authority member, presided. The next meeting of the organization was tentatively set for May 14, at which time plans for participation at national Allied's Atlanta convention, May 21 to 23, will be discussed.

Present indications are that about 25 Allied members from here will attend the Atlanta gathering.

Labor Law Charge Filed

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 9.—Charges of violating state child labor laws in employment at the Circle of Keith Wayne Schultz, six-year-old vaudeville performer who was killed Saturday in a traffic accident, have been filed against Regal Theatres.

The complaint was made before a justice of the peace by Mrs. Zelda Harrell, deputy labor commissioner.

Britain's Building Gains, Says Eckman

"There are now about 4,500 theatres in Great Britain," he added.

M-G-M has one theatre in England and, as far as Eckman knows, no others are planned, he said. He referred all questions on production plans by the company abroad to Arthur Loew, foreign chief.

Theatre business in Britain is the same as it is here, Eckman declared. "Good pictures do the business and bad ones don't." He was accompanied by Sidney Wright of Wright & Webb, attornevs for the company in England, who is here on his first visit. Wright plans to spend a week in New York, he said. Wright is also a director of M-G-M, Ltd.

Margaret Sullavan and her husband, William Wyler, were expected to arrive on the same boat, but apparently cancelled reservations at the last minute.

Sybil Jason, six-year-old actress, came over on the French liner and today will meet Harry M. Warner. Irving Asher, production head of the Teddington studios in England, sent her over for tests and she is expected to be signed up by the company and leave for Hollywood within the next few days.

Mayer Shaping Plans

HOLLYWOOD, April 9.—Louis B. Mayer is expected to make an announcement on M-G-M's production plans in England before the week is out. It is understood he has been corresponding with Arthur Loew, head of the company's foreign department, in regard to making pictures abroad and will be ready to make a definite announcement within the next few days.

Capra to Head Unit At Columbia Studio

by "It Happened One Night," which is the current holder of the Academy award.

The plan, as conceived, would set up Capra as virtually a producer on his own with an organization at the studio concentrating its activities on Capra productions solely. Additional personnel, prospects for which are now being interviewed, is to be arranged for.

The director has had a long string of notable productions to his credit. He is the man who made "The Bitter Tea of General Yen" and "Lady for a Day" in 1933 and "It Happened One Night" and "Broadway Bill" in 1934. It is understood "It Happened One Night" is Columbia's heaviest grosser to date.

Columbia executives in New York last night stated "not a whisper" had come through from Hollywood along the above lines.

Closes Booking Deal

DALLAS, April 9.—W. M. Shields, operator of the new Liberty in Athens, opened a few months ago, has completed a deal with Texas Consolidated Theatres, Inc., a subsidiary of Interstate Circuit.

Shields will continue operation of the theatre, with the Consolidated offices in Dallas handling his buying.

M-G-M. Joseph M., incidentally, is expected to leave New York for London on April 20 in connection with Odeon-County Cinemas amalgamation. U. A. headquarters here are reticent, going only so far as to intimate that Schenck's impending visit may concern this latest, but extremely important, move on the domestic exhibition checkerboard.

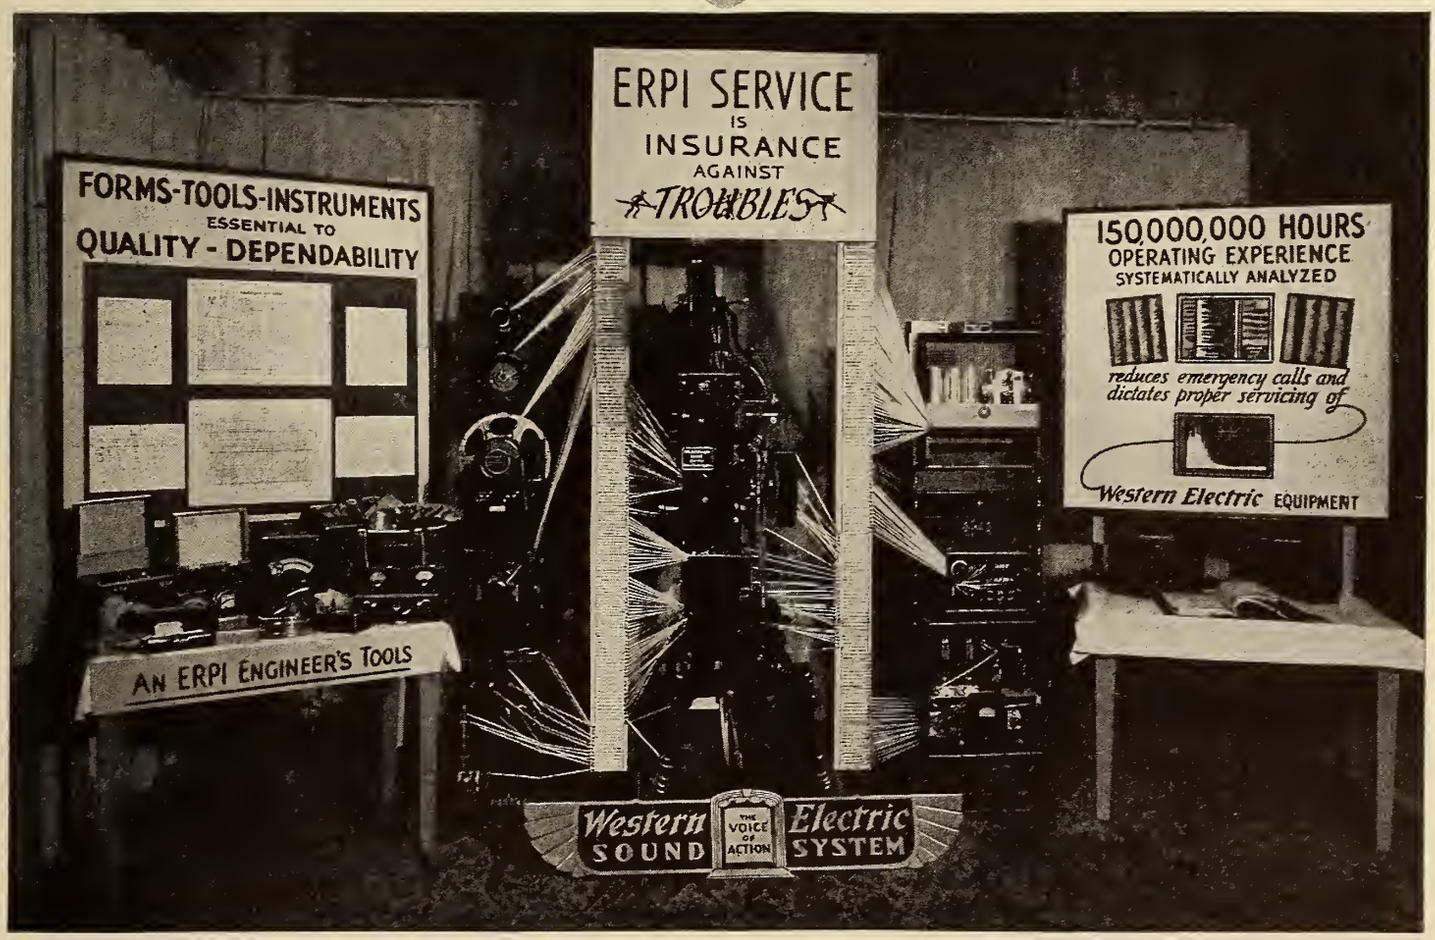
Oscar Deutsch controls Odeon and Charles J. Donada, County Cinemas. Reginald Bromhead is to join the board of the combined companies and a large public stock issue is in the offing. A big figure in the deal is J. Amery Parkes, lawyer representing Donada's financial backers and previously associated with the Bromheads. It is generally believed along Wardour St. that the Halifax Building Society's millions are behind Deutsch.

In the light of this theatre alliance, the recent flotation of the Scophony, Ltd., a private company capitalized at £140,000 is viewed as significant. It was organized by O. T. Falk & Co., a financial house, to take over the old Scophony Co., and its television device. S. Sagall, managing director, as well as Deutsch and Arthur Levey, who were directors in the old corporation, join the new board, of which the chairman is Sir Maurice Bonham Carter, director of Falk & Co. The deputy chairman is W. S. Verrells, who is chairman of E. K. Cole, a large radio concern.

Scophony plans televisors in competion with Baird and E. M. I. and claims to have an optical system which reduces standard-width film one hundredth of its present length in the same screening time. This also opens the door to conjecture if the plan is not designed to be in opposition to Gaumont British's activities in the field of television.

No Comment Available

Arthur W. Kelly, vice-president in charge of foreign distribution for United Artists, stated last night the London cable seemed to him like activities concerning United Artists Theatre Circuit. He, therefore, referred inquiries to Harry D. Buckley, who could not be reached at his office.



Arthur M. Loew, vice-president of M-G-M and in charge of that company's foreign film sales, likewise could not be reached for comment on the angle tying in M-G-M.

Stallings on Coast

HOLLYWOOD, April 9.—Laurence Stallings has arrived by plane to rejoin his old collaborator, Maxwell Anderson, and William Slavens McNutt on the screen play of Paramount's "So Red the Rose." The picture will feature Fred Stone, Margaret Sullavan and Pauline Lord.

Stallings has an arrangement with Fox Movietone News whereby he can obtain leaves of absence to engage in writing, it was stated yesterday. He will resume his editorial duties with the reel in about four weeks.

Jersey Allied Takes Up Several Reports

Various committee reports were discussed by Allied of New Jersey yesterday at the Lincoln. Sidney Samuelson, president, was chairman.

A report on the local film situation will be made next Tuesday when the unit holds a session at the Douglas Hotel, Newark. Next Monday the eastern regional conclave will be held at the DeWitt Clinton Hotel in Albany. About five members from New Jersey will attend.

The Harry Huffman code decision in Denver, legislative matters dealing with dog racing in New Jersey, the Pettengill Bill, non-theatricals, shortage of prints, the hearing in Washington Monday by the Senate Finance Committee, the Atlanta convention, and resolutions adopted at the Allied of Northwest meet in Minneapolis were other topics discussed. The Chicago invasion by Loew was not stressed, but came up as one of the Minneapolis resolutions.

After the session, Samuelson said: "We made no motions, we passed no resolutions and we made no errors."

Loses in Tax Appeal

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Expenditures incurred in connection with the organization of the Motion Pictures Capital Corp. and increase of its capital stock and fees paid to list the additional shares on the New York Stock Exchange were today held by the U. S. Board of Tax Appeals not to be deductible as losses sustained in the year of merger with another corporation.

The board also held that legal fees and expenditures incurred by the corporation in connection with its merger with the Investors' Equity Co., Inc., were not deductible as ordinary and necessary business expenses.

Bromberg Party in K. C.

KANSAS CITY, April 9.—Arthur C. Bromberg, head of Bromberg Attractions of Atlanta, arrived here today with his sales force comprising 10 men. The party is en route to Los Angeles. Bromberg is giving the trip to his salesmen as a reward for exceeding their quota on a recent sales drive. Among the members of the party are branch managers John Mangum of Atlanta, Carl Floyd of Tampa, Leo Seicshnaydre of New Orleans and H. Everett of Charlotte.

Dismiss Asther's Case

HOLLYWOOD, April 9.—Nils Asther's contract case against Universal has been dismissed by the Academy Conciliations Committee because of the settlement reached between the actor and the studio. Under the terms of the settlement Asther will do one picture for Universal.

Gross Joins Sol Lesser

HOLLYWOOD, April 9. — Edward Gross, former chief compliance director of the NRA Dress Code and also with Paramount, has been appointed business manager for Sol Lesser to succeed Frank Melford, who resigned last week.

State $100,000 Was For "Defense" Fund

CHICAGO, April 9.—In the suit for an accounting of $400,000 of operators' union funds alleged to have been misapplied during the Tom Maloy regime there are a number of specific charges.

One of these is that Thomas J. Reynolds, president, withdrew $100,000 of the local's funds on July 1, 1931, "for the pretended and unlawful purpose of a so-called defense fund for himself and others who were under indictment in criminal court." Except for an entry showing a return of $12,500, the sum is unaccounted for, the bill charges.

Harlan Holmden's action is expected to wind up a complete renovation of the local union's affairs. Previously a group of operators who had rebelled against Maloy had sought a similar accounting. Their actions were temporarily halted when Fred Oser, leader of the group, was shot to death in union headquarters by Ralph O'Hara, a union organizer. O'Hara was acquitted on a self-defense plea.

It is rumored that the rebel operators who had been unable to secure employment under the Maloy domination may soon find themselves behind the projectors once more. Holmden's house cleaning is expected to include dismissal of a number of "permit" operators, who, it has been charged in the past, were placed in theatres with the understanding that they would "kick back" 10 per cent of their weekly pay to the union.

"Worlds" Does $19,000

"Private Worlds" ended its second week at the Paramount last night with an approximate $19,000, or $9,000 less than the first week. Second week of "Ruggles of Red Gap" at the Rialto was good for $12,000. Arthur Mayer is pulling the picture tomorrow night, after 16 days. The house will be closed May 15. The new Rialto, which will replace the present structure, will be opened Oct. 15 or thereabouts.

SOL. E. GORDON
CHAIRMAN OF BOARD

Mr. Red Kann,
Motion Picture Daily,
1790 Broadway,
New York, N. Y.

Dear Red:

Your publication, the "Motion Picture Daily," is certainly a dandy.

My observation has led me to the deliberate conclusion that it prints the news red hot off the griddle, accurately and concisely, without fear or favor; being neither biased nor prejudiced, for or against any particular political clan or class; investigating thoroughly, all news items before publication in order to be sure they are accurate in truth and in fact.

There has been such an inclination during the chaotic days of the industry to print "anything" so long as it is a story, that it gives me great pleasure to state to you that I consider your daily publication the best daily on the market today.

Very sincerely yours,

Sol E. Gordon

"Birobidjan"
(Amkino)

The Soviets are using this Soyuzkino production as a means of letting the world know what they are doing for their Jewish population. As may be expected, they lose no opportunity to tell that Communism has been a blessing to the Jews of Russia. They make sure to point out that 'twas never thus under the czars.

The film is a record of life in the Jewish province of Birobidjan, which enjoys complete autonomy. It is but mildly entertaining, although in Jewish communities it may find a warm welcome. The production is most interesting in those scenes showing the struggle of the Jews to reclaim the wilderness and hew out a new life for themselves.

The film has been provided with subtitles in English and Yiddish.

No production code seal. Running time, 35 mins. "G."

"Old Age Pension"
(Universal)

Henry Armetta fans will be disappointed in the comedy their favorite hands out in this short. All of his old tricks are there, but despite the assistance of Arthur Lake his clowning appears to fall flat.

The film is built around a dream that Armetta has about losing all his money and living, as a result, on a government old age pension. His family torment him through two reels of film and he finally wakes to find he is still financially secure and the head of a happy family.

Only slightly entertaining. Production Code Seal, No. 653. Running time, 21 mins. "G."

"Pop Goes the Easel"
(Columbia)

The Three Stooges run riot again, this time in an art school. Their antics are still funny, but not as ribtickling as some of their previous efforts.

Chased by a cop for stealing three brooms, the boys hide in an art school and disguise themselves in smocks, pretending they are students. Their antics with paint and brushes are typical of them. Their usual manhandling of each other is also present. The film winds up in a fight with everyone hurling clay at each other.

Recommended. Production Code Seal, No. 648. Running time, 20 mins. "G."

"The Mormon Trail"
(Vitaphone)

This, the fourth of the "See America First" series being produced by E. M. Newman, is entertaining and very interesting from an historical point of view.

The reel opens with views of the early homes and final resting places of Abraham Lincoln and Ulysses S. Grant and then shifts to the Mormon Trail. Salt Lake City and all the monuments to Mormon history are pictured, with off-screen dialogue to explain the significance of each historical relic.

Recommended. Production Code Seal, No. 327. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

Pettijohn was pinch-hitting for Jack Alicoate. He presented Chief Louis Nizer as the champion of champion toastmasters.

Hype Igoe was the only speaker who was not the target of a verbal bombshell. Nizer described him as a "noted writer and brilliant cartoonist," and Harry Hershfield agreed with this later, but most of what Igoe had to say was lost behind the microphones.

Benny Friedman, presented as "one of the greatest quarterbacks of all time," told a story about a young Jewish newspaper man who couldn't understand why he was satisfied with a sweater bearing a large "M" as the reward for a season's football work at Michigan. Immediately afterwards Nizer made Friedman scowl by remarking that "even movie men couldn't understand the rewards that some football players get nowadays."

James Braddock, heavyweight contender, and Alfred Letournier, six-day bicycle race champion, were introduced, but Nizer's remarks about "bicycling," while they amused the audience, didn't cause Letournier to crack a smile.

Marcus Griffin of the Enquirer interviewed Chief Little Wolf on the subject of wrestling. After the chief had admitted that he could beat all comers, "Chief" Hershfield remarked: "When a man falls in love with himself it's the beginning of a lifelong romance." He said he had once met a wrestler who didn't mind the wrestling, but found the "rehearsals were hell."

Six Days to Get Nowhere

Then he looked at Letournier and remarked: "This is the only country in the world that would stand a six-day race three times a year. They ride around and around for six days and at the end of the sixth they are in the same place."

The verbal bouquets were flying around.

Hershfield was serious, however, in talking about Igoe. He described him as really one of the "great writers and great cartoonists of the day."

"He has done a lot in these hard days to keep up the morale of the people," declared Hershfield. "Thirty years ago I was a cartoonist on the Chicago Daily News and the San Francisco Chronicle, and I know."

Benny Leonard spoke briefly. He was followed by James J. Johnson, matchmaker for Madison Square Garden.

He was in rare form. Some of the present day champions are a "disgrace to boxing," he said. "They won't fight. If Braddock could meet Baer," he said, "maybe we would have a heavyweight champion who would do more fighting and less talking."

"This boxing game is getting to be a nondescript affair," he went on. "It's something like your game. We try to work up a great show and sometimes we are ashamed of it."

He recalled the time when George Klein was promoting "Quo Vadis." "He wanted me to put my money in films," Johnson continued. "If I had, maybe I'd be down at Miami bathing in the sun right now instead of up here sleeping with one eye open to see that they don't take away from me what little I've got."

To the Rescue!

Cincinnati, April 9.—A special preview of "My Heart Is Calling" will be staged at the Mayfair, April 20, with all seats reserved at $2. Proceeds will be donated to the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra. The program will include a return showing of "The Constant Nymph."

This is the orchestra that had Rubinoff as a leader for a one-night benefit show, and some of the members walked out because of the "undignified ballyhoo" which preceded the concert — also because they didn't feel they "could do justice" to the program.

Cincy Lyric Cuts Scale

CINCINNATI, April 9.—Prices at the RKO Lyric have been reduced to 25 cents for any seat until 1 P. M., with a 30-cent matinee rate. Evening scale is 30 and 40 cents for balcony and lower floor, all prices including three per cent state tax. Former scale was 35 cents for matinee and 42 cents evenings.

Mrs. Looran Reports 96% of Films Clean

HOLLYWOOD, April 9.—Speaking at a luncheon given for her at the M-G-M studio today by Louis B. Mayer, Mrs. James F. Looran, film chairman of the International Federation of Catholic Alumnae, declared that because of the improved tone of pictures since July of last year her organization was able to endorse 96 per cent of the product of major producers. She said the alumnae body had come to the realization that the function of the screen is to entertain only.

Bishop J. J. Cantwell praised the new trend in film entertainment as indicating that America possesses conscience.

Will Hays said the cooperation of producers had made the improved quality of films possible, pointing out if good pictures are not supported bad ones will come back again.

The clean film agitation has benefited the industry, Mayer asserted. The production of entertainment without offense was seen by him as the solution of one of the industry's biggest problems. He expressed the wish that more members of the clergy and welfare bodies work with producers on this score.

The clergy, welfare workers and players made up most of the gathering.

Nicholas Schenck Coming

HOLLYWOOD, April 9.—Nicholas M. Schenck left on the Chief for New York tonight. A passenger on the same train is Myron Selznick, who said it is purely a business trip.

Parent Group Aims Include Federal Rule

M. P. Herald Quotes Its Printed Prospectus

In spite of denials by Mrs. B. F. Langworthy of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers that the organization is backing the Pettengill anti-block booking bill as an entering wedge for Federal control of the industry and a means of fostering non-theatrical competition, Motion Picture Herald will state today that the objectives of the organization include these projects.

In its current issue, out today, the Herald quotes from the organization's printed prospectus of its objectives to show that these are included in its program.

California's Footage Tax Meets Defeat

Committee Opposes It After Hard Battle

SACRAMENTO, April 10.—A film tax of a half cent a foot intended to raise $20,000,000 biennially has been killed in the Revenue Taxation Committee after a bitter battle.

The tide turned against the bill after C. J. S. Williamson of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce had warned the committee that imposition of unjust taxation would cause the industry to leave California and do irreparable damage to the state.

"There has long been exerted eastern pressure for the film industry to move closer to New York, New Jersey or Pennsylvania," Williamson told the committee. "If you pass this

When asked yesterday to comment on a London dispatch to Motion Picture Daily to the effect that United Artists Theatre Circuit, Ltd., was contemplating an expansion of exhibition activities in Great Britain in conjunction with a merger of Odeon Theatres, Ltd., and County Cinemas, Ltd., Joseph M. Schenck said he had "nothing to say at this time."

He arrived from the coast yesterday.

Chicago Board Of Alternates Is Challenged

CHICAGO, April 10.—The case of Publix Great States theatres against E. E. Alger Amusement Co. before the local grievance board on the matter of cutting off Alger's film service was continued until next Tuesday. An impasse was reached when Alger's attorneys, Rosenberg, Toomin & Stein, objected to alternate members serving on the board and amplified this objection with the declaration that industry code boards generally did not conform to the NRA.

Rosenberg, Toomin & Stein are also attorneys for Charles Roder of the Astor and Jack Rubin, Public, in the current case of these exhibitors in U. S. District Court charging conspiracy on the part of local distributors, circuits and exhibitors.

A balance of representation between RKO and Meehan was effected a year ago with the entrance of Herbert B. Swope into K-A-O. No Registration for Pathe's New Issues

The new Pathe securities, issuance of which was authorized with the recent approval of the company's plan of financial reorganization, need not be registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission, due to the fact that the Pathe financial reorganization does not come within the meaning of the Federal Securities Act, it was learned yesterday.

The fact that registration is not required is regarded in Pathe as simplifying and hastening the final steps of the reorganization. The actual transfer of assets of the old company to the new Pathe company, originally scheduled to become effective as of March 30, has not taken place yet due to the fact that preparation of the company's balance sheet has not been completed. This and several other minor phases of the reorganization are expected to delay formal election of directors and officers of the new company for several months, it was stated yesterday.

To Build at Great Neck

A 700-seat de luxe house is to be built at Great Neck for an unnamed client of D. Seymour Wolfson, Manhattan attorney. A plot has been leased from Pomander Square, Inc., on Middleneck Road, opposite the entrance to Great Neck Estates and adjacent to Kensington. The house will be ready for use about Oct. 1, according to the plans.

Reade Holds Two Films

Walter Reade is holding "It Happened One Night" and "The Man Who Knew Too Much" a fourth week at the Astor and Mayfair, respectively. The Columbia film for the third week garnered around $4,800 and the Gaumont British picture tallied in the neighborhood of $6,400.

'G-Men' Gathering Here to Rub Out Last of Mobsters

Scores of "G Men," the famed secret agents of the Department of Justice, are converging on Memphis for America's greatest battle in the war on crime.

James Cagney

Thursday is the date set for Uncle Sam's final show-down with the marauding mobsters who have terrorized the country for the past five years.

The heroes of the greatest manhunt in history have at last bottled up the notorious Central Station killers, the Big Shot no jail could hold, and many others.

Leading the Federal men is none other than Jimmy Cagney, once celebrated as Public Enemy No. 1, now enlisted on the side of the law.

This epic encounter will take place at the Warner Theatre on the stroke of nine Thursday morning, in the first picture of its kind to reach the screen — "G Men."

Filmed by Warner Bros., famous as producers of "The Public Enemy," first of a long cycle of gangster films, "G Men" launches another era in screen melodrama by showing for the first time on the screen the heroic courage and amazing secret methods of the famous federal agents who have halted the march of crime.

The grippingly sensational story, based on famous headline cases, reveals many details of the "G MEN'S" remarkable operations never known before.

The success of "G MEN" is sweeping the country. It is a picture all Memphis will be talking about. Don't forget the date — Thursday morning at the Warner!

bill you are helping the east to accomplish its aim."

Williamson said the industry could move, acquire large property holdings, form a city of 30,000 or 40,000 overnight and through the means of deals make enough to pay for the costs of moving.

Assemblyman Voigt, a proponent of the bill, who has M-G-M, Roach and RKO in his district, assailed Louis B. Mayer as a tax shirker and said he thought threats to move the industry out of the state were a bluff. He added that if these studios did move, they would be replaced by others.

"We can get along without Mayer. I hope he will move out of California," he said.

Assemblyman Morgan, also a proponent of the bill, who has the Fox studio in his district, said that if the industry can pay Irving Thalberg $900,000 a year and "some putty faced girl $8,000 a week, it can afford to pay the tax."

The 30-hour week and the income tax bill came up before the House today.

Minnesota Levy Opposed

ST. PAUL, April 10.—A strong Farmer-Labor minority in the Minnesota Legislature is battling to keep the 10 per cent amusement tax out of the new omnibus tax bill.

Efforts to get a committee to kill this part of the bill last week resulted in substitution of a footage levy, but this action was reversed before the final report.

Special features of the bill are a sales tax, check tax and amusement tax, by means of which the sponsors hope to lighten the load on real property.

Exhibitors are now centering their efforts on a movement to persuade Gov. Floyd B. Olson to take a hand. He leads the Farmer-Laborites and may be expected either to demand that the sales, check and amusement taxes be eliminated, as his cohorts propose, on a threat of veto.

Al Steffes is confident that the amusement tax will not be included.

Florida Tax Held Certain

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., April 10—As a result of a favorable report by the joint Judiciary Committee of the Legislature it is regarded as certain that a 10 per cent amusement tax will be enacted. This joint committee is working under a new legislative procedure adopted this year.

The tax is sought by schools as a substitute for a general sales tax proposal.

Nebraska Tax Killed

LINCOLN, Neb., April 10.—The two per cent sales tax measure in the Legislature here, designed to smack, along with gross proceeds on commodity sales, all tickets sold to places of amusement, went down in debate and by a vote of 58 to 25 here today. This action kills out the one of three anti-theatre bills before the session with the best chance of passing.

The bill carried the tag saying money so raised would be used to reimburse school deficits in the state, and this was expected to aid its passage. A 10 per cent rental tax had previously been killed and now only the two-men-in-a-booth and circuit tax measures remain.

General opinion here is that the passage of these two measures is unlikely.

Withdraw Conn. Dog Bill

HARTFORD, April 10.—Film men who went to the State Legislature to protest a bill which would permit dog racing in Connecticut today were not required to show their strength. It was announced at the outset of the hearing that the bill had been withdrawn.

The theatre men, however, who have organized themselves to fight several measures this week, are mapping a program to oppose a censorship bill, which comes up annually before the legislature, and two measures involving activities in the projection room. One would make certain safety devices compulsory and the other calls for an extra man in a booth.

All three bills are scheduled to be heard this week.

Affects Non-Theatre Shows

SPOKANE, April 10.—A licensing ordinance aimed at non-theatrical competition has been presented to the city council by theatre managers. It is proposed to impose a flat $25 fee on each non-theatre showing.

Hit Bay State Dog Racing

BOSTON, April 10.—The Massachusetts Senate has hit dog racing by reducing the appropriation for the State Racing Commission and specifying that the money shall be used only for administering the horse racing law.

"Black Fury" Standout

By 4 P.M. yesterday, the Strand ticket machines had registered and passed their 7,310th admission. At the rate "Black Fury" was zooming along, Warner executives anticipated a $7,000 opening day, including an extra show early this morning. Prices are 25 cents to 1 P.M.; 55 cents from 1 to 6 P.M. and 85 cents in the evening until 11:30 when the midnight show goes in and the price drops back to 55 cents.

The "shock and horror" note struck upon by S. Charles Einfeld as the keynote of his New York newspaper campaign, as well as censor opposition publicity, were held responsible for keen advance interest in the picture.

Emigration of attorneys attached to the staff of the Paramount Publix trustees in the home office continued yesterday with S. S. Isseks, Rupert Warren and George T. Washington quitting the Paramount Bldg. for the Root, Clark, Buckner & Ballantine offices downtown.

Isseks conducted much of the interrogation of Paramount executives in the early stages of the company's bankruptcy and handled numerous important claim settlements and litigation for the trustees. Warren and Washington were his assistants. About one-third of the bankruptcy legal staff which occupied most of the eighth and ninth floors at the home office has now left.

under the present setup of the code board, the meeting threatened to develop legal situations obviously beyond the scope of the sitting board. Impartial member, Judge Harry Porter, saved what might have been an interminable session with a closed meeting of principals and their attorneys.

At the conclusion of the huddle M. M. Rubens of Great State Theatres asked for a continuance.

Nate Wolfe, independent exhibitor member sitting as chairman, then attempted to draw from Alger's counsel an expression as to a board personnel which would be agreeable. He was told that no board would be acceptable —unless it was one composed entirely of exhibitors.

Rubens then asked that a written opinion be obtained from Campi sources on the matter of board personnel. In the meantime counsel for Alger indicated willingness to appear before the regular board at the next meeting. At that time they indicated they will face one of two courses—either accepting disregard of their objections to the board setup or pursuing the case in other channels.

Omaha Passes Start Row

OMAHA, April 10.—A. H. Blank's Paramount will face the grievance board Friday on charges of free admissions. The complainants are four neighborhood managers. The Paramount, located somewhat west of the regular business district, has joined in with adjacent merchants in an attempt to create a business district of their own. Merchants have tied in with Paramount newspaper ads on a reciprocal basis.

Last week Manager George Bickford distributed free tickets to all the merchants personally and their employees as a goodwill gesture. The neighborhood managers filed charges immediately. They are: August Hermann and Irving Gossick, managers of the Muse; Epstein Theatres, Inc., operator of the Circle; L. B. Grobeck, manager of the Mueller, and G. A. Ruth, manager of the Military.

Object to N. H. Board

NEW HAVEN, April 10.—Clearance disputes involving Stamford first runs and Darien, New Canaan and Norwalk have been postponed as a result of objections to the makeup of the clearance and zoning board brought by James E. Casey, Playhouse, New Canaan.

Casey contended the board included three subsequent run members. He objected particularly to Joseph A. Davis, alternate, from Southington.

the calendar and another meeting may be called for tomorrow to discuss other business.

Al Hansen, city manager for F.W.C., arrived from the coast by plane yesterday to assist W. T. Powers and E. L. Alperson in presenting arguments for delaying the schedule.

Telegrams Reach Flinn

LOS ANGELES, April 10.—Telegrams were sent today by a number of I.T.O. of Southern California members to John C. Flinn protesting any delay in making the local schedule operative. The general tone of the wires was that Campi should put the plan into effect, and if any changes are in order they should be made out here and not in New York.

Among those sending the missives were H. W. Chotiner, president of the unit; Jules Woolf, Lincoln; Max Sinkler, Empire; H. Lewis, Los Feliz; Irving Carlin, Alvarado; M. A. Kurstin, Boulevard; Earl Johnson, Knoll; Edward L. Thompson, Metro, all in Los Angeles; Roland Levinson, Oriental, Hollywood; A. W. Wardman, Whittier, Whittier; James Edwards, Monterey Park, Alhambra.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"The People's Enemy"

(Select-Radio)

HOLLYWOOD, April 10.—This weak gangster melodrama is at best of only double-bill calibre. The story deals with the triumph of the Federals over Public Enemy No. 1. Strong exploitation along these lines may aid the film in some spots.

Preston Foster is the people's enemy who, after evading the law on numerous occasions due to the efforts of Lawyer Melvyn Douglas, is sent up the river on an income tax evasion charge. Douglas follows Foster's instructions and tries to financially aid Lila Lee and the young daughter of Foster's family when a romance starts.

Douglas fails in a parole plea due to the work of a crooked politician (Herbert Rawlinson) and Foster breaks jail to put Douglas on the spot, believing the tips supplied by his brother (William Collier, Jr.). Rawlinson and Foster die at the climax, with Douglas carrying on Foster's romantic obligations with Miss Lee.

Shirley Grey does well in the role of Douglas' secretary. Crane Wilbur directed. Edward Dean Sullivan and Gordon Kahn did the original screen play.

Production Code Seal No. 599. Running time, 68 minutes. "G."

Looking 'Em Over

"Circle of Death"

(Syndicate Pictures)

Indians attacking wagon trains, performing their ceremonial dances and on the warpath are revived in this western in a manner that audiences in neighborhood houses will get a kick out of this picture. Besides the redskins there is a plausible and well presented story.

Frank Glendon's direction keeps things moving right along. The photography of James Diamond is fair.

The story has Monte Montana adopted by a tribe of Indians when a small baby after his parents had been massacred. He grows up and believes himself to be a member of the tribe. Returning to an old hunting ground preferred by the aged chief, Montana meets the daughter of the rancher who owns the property and with the aid of his fellow tribesmen aids her father in saving his cattle from a conniving gambler. Love blossoms between the girl and Montana and the finale has the two lovers in each other's arms when it is revealed that he is really a white man.

Children should get particular enjoyment out of this film and there is enough action to satisfy adults. Others in the cast are Tom Glendon, Yakima Canutt and Princess Ahteenah.

Reviewed without production code seal. Running time, 60 minutes. "G."

Peace's Dove Seen Soaring Over K-A-O

K-A-O directors and was described as a "bloodless affair," regarded in some quarters as a rarity in K-A-O stockholders' meetings. The thirteenth director elected was Monroe Goldwater, law partner of Edward F. Flynn, whom he replaces on the board without change in the representation.

Directors reelected were Swope, chairman of the board; David Sarnoff, M. H. Aylesworth, L. E. Thompson, W. G. Van Schmus, Paul M. Mazur, Frank B. Altschul, Meehan, Donald K. David, Jay E. Eddy, Malcolm Kingsburg and Peter J. Maloney.

Ostensibly, Sarnoff, Aylesworth, Van Schmus and Mazur are RKO representatives; Meehan, Maloney, Goldwater and Kingsburg, Meehan representatives; Altschul, David and Eddy, neutrals, while Swope is chairman of the board and Thompson, president. These are the divisions, however, which, it was said, were wiped out by yesterday's election, with everybody voting for everyone else, regardless of past alliances, to achieve a "perfect unanimity" of the board.

The board will meet in about two weeks to elect officers, with no important changes in the present line-up expected.

The meeting also approved a profit-sharing plan by which Swope and certain K-A-O officers nominated by him and approved by a non-participating board committee, will divide 10 per cent of the net earnings of K-A-O after a sufficient amount to take care of preferred stock dividends has been set aside. The proposal is similar to that given Swope as an inducement to come into K-A-O a year ago and is understood to have been extended to include other officers of the company at his suggestion.

The committee which will pass on Swope's recommendations of those to participate in the plan consists of Sarnoff, Mazur, Maloney, Altschul and Goldwater, who will not, themselves, participate in the dividend.

Brandt's Audubon Appeal Withdrawn

Weisman, Quinn, Allan & Spett, advised the local board and Campi that the practice had been discontinued and the appeal withdrawn.

Representing the legal firm above mentioned, Melvin Albert has filed three reduced admissions complaints for the Empire, Brooklyn, a member of the I.T.O.A. The protests were against the Comet, Bobby and Imperial, and are slated for hearing by the local board next Tuesday.

In Washington on Monday, Albert told the Senate Finance Committee that members of the I.T.O.A. refuse to take cases before the local board because they insist they will not get justice, but are continuing to take them to the courts, as they did before the code.

Rogers' Film Hits $23,400, Detroit High

DETROIT, April 10.—Will Rogers piled up a terrific gross at the Fox last week. The $23,400 take passed par by $8,400.

It was the only big business in town. "Vanessa" was $1,200 up on a $21,200 gross at the Michigan and "Mississippi" went over the line $600 on a $10,600 gross at the United Artists, but elsewhere business was pretty dull.

Total first run business was $64,700. Average is $60,000.

Estimated takings for the week ending April 4:

"I'LL LOVE YOU ALWAYS" (Col.)
"RENDEZVOUS AT MIDNIGHT" (Fox)
ADAMS—(1,770), 10c-40c, 7 days. Gross: $2,200. (Average, $5,000)

"LIFE BEGINS AT 40" (Fox)
FOX—(5,100), 15c-55c, 7 days. Stage, 5 acts vaude. Gross: $23,400. (Average, $15,000)

"DEVIL DOGS OF THE AIR" (Warners)
"SOCIETY DOCTOR" (M-G-M)
(Second Run)
FISHER—(2,975), 10c-40c, 7 days. Gross: $3,100. (Average, $5,000)

"VANESSA" (M-G-M)
MICHIGAN—(4,100), 15c-55c, 7 days. Stage, 5 acts vaude. Gross: $21,200. (Average, $20,000)

"McFADDEN'S FLATS" (Para.)
"MYSTERY OF EDWIN DROOD" (Univ.)
STATE—(3,000), 10c-40c, 7 days. Gross: $4,200. (Average, $5,000)

"MISSISSIPPI" (Para.)
UNITED ARTISTS—(2,070), 15c-55c, 7 days. Gross: $10,600. (Average, $10,000)

Nebraska Town Again Beats Sunday Shows

BEATRICE, Neb., April 10.—Sunday shows lost in the city election here yesterday by a small margin of 161 votes and the town remains the last spot in the state of any size to have a ban on Sabbath shows. This was the seventh time the issue had been brought to vote. The population of the town is over 10,000.

Mercy Circuit Meets

PASCO, Wash., April 10.—Managers of the Mercy circuit met at the Liberty to discuss policies for the coming season.

Among those present were Frederick Mercy, Sr., head of the group; Frederick Mercy, Jr., Arch Bartholet, S. G. Turner, H. A. Gillespie, Arch MacArthur, Jack Wright, Carl Jones, Don Cisger and Milt Wright.

Darmour Gets G. B. Task

HOLLYWOOD, April 10.—Michael Balcon of Gaumont British has appointed Larry Darmour special Hollywood representative to continue the company's talent negotiations. The job will not interfere with Darmour's own production plans.

Loeffler in New Fox Post

HOLLYWOOD, April 10.—Louis R. Loeffler today resigned as an associate producer for Fox and will become head of the cutting department at Movietone City.

Colman as Sidney Carton

HOLLYWOOD, April 10.—Ronald Colman was signed today to play Sidney Carton in M-G-M's "Tale of Two Cities." He may do a dual role.

G. B. Plans 16

Gaumont British is rounding out plans for the distribution in this market of 16 features for the 1935-36 season.

This matches the company's current schedule.

general sales managers to determine if they should participate in the plan, which is said to be similar to Chicago's. All branch managers seem to favor the plan, according to the I.T.O.

With J. F. Rigney and E. Rolsky representing the independents on the board, Elmer Rhoden, Fox Midwest division head, has named Martin Finkelstein, district booker, as the circuit's member. Arthur Cole, executive of the Paramount exchange, has accepted nomination as the impartial man. The fifth member is to consist of the exchange representative whose features are up for selection.

The board will meet according to the setting of release dates, probably once a week or twice a month. Features picked for duals will be played 28 days behind the singles spot for that particular admission. The plan is for subsequent runs only and the board does not include a first run representative in its personnel because, according to independents' spokesmen, after the first runs have completed a run it is immaterial to them whether features are dualed or singled.

Prosecutor at K. C. Moves on Bank Night

KANSAS CITY, April 10. — The county prosecuting attorney will hold a hearing Thursday at which Rube Finkelstein, operator of the suburban Belmont, and R. W. McEwan, bank night distributor, will be requested to prove that bank night is not a lottery. Failure to show to the satisfaction of the official that the stunt does not violate the Missouri lottery laws may result in charges.

The latest development follows resumption of bank night in Kansas City and filing of a complaint with the prosecuting attorney by an exhibitor.

In recent decisions the attorney general of the state has ruled the stunt is a lottery and cannot be interpreted any other way, despite the fact no admission is required to participate.

It has been learned that a group prominent in local pictures here have retained the firm of Massena and du-Pont, local architects, to draw plans for the center, provided a suitable site can be obtained.

When questioned about the proposed Wilmington sports center yesterday, S. L. ("Roxy") Rothafel denied he was connected with the proposition. "The report is untrue," his office said, "and you may say that 'Roxy' has nothing to do with such a venture."

"Roberta" Is Still Up 4th Seattle Week

SEATTLE, April 10.—"Roberta" had all the first run managers wishing they were playing it instead of the Music Box. In its fourth week it was still $300 over a first week average on a take of $4,300.

"Grand Old Girl" proved a good attraction at the Music Hall with a stage show headed by Al Pearce. The take was $7,100, up by $600. "Folies Bergere" took a fair $4,100 at the Blue Mouse.

Total first run business was $36,400. Average is $37,000.

Estimated takings for the week ending April 6:

"FOLIES BERGERE" (U.A.)
BLUE MOUSE—(950), 25c-40c-55c, 8 days. Gross: $4,100. (Average, $4,000)

"RUGGLES OF RED GAP" (Para.)

"A NIGHT AT THE RITZ" (Warners)
ORPHEUM—(2,450), 25c-35c-50c, 7 days. Vaudeville headed by Beverly Hill Billies. Gross: $5,600. (Average, $5,500)

"THE IRON DUKE" (Fox)
"CAR 99" (Para.)
PARAMOUNT—(3,050), 25c-35c, 7 days. Vaudeville headed by Fuzzy Knight. Gross: $5,200. (Average, $6,000)

"Lady" with "Folies" Wow In Cleveland

CLEVELAND, April 10.—"Transient Lady" and the "Folies Bergere" revue cracked a two-year record at the RKO Palace. The $39,000 take was $24,000 over normal and was within about $1,000 of the mark set by Glenn and Cross two years ago.

Three holdovers were strong. "Life Begins at 40" took $7,100, or $1,000 over average, in its second week at the Hippodrome. "Roberta" was $2,000 up with $5,100 in its fourth downtown week at the Allen. "It Happened One Night," a revival, did the biggest business at the Circle since the opening of the house.

Total first run business, the highest in 18 months, was $70,200. Average is $41,000.

Estimated takings for the week ending April 5:

"ROBERTA" (Radio)
ALLEN—(3,300), 25c-35c, 7 days, 4th week downtown. Gross: $5,100. (Average, $3,000)

"LIFE BEGINS AT 40" (Fox)

FWC's 9-Zone Plan Attacked Before Campi

Moves by Fox West Coast to merge the 28 different zones proposed in the Los Angeles clearance schedule into approximately nine zones and increase the present seven-day protection to 14 days for each five-cent advance in admissions were attacked yesterday by Harry C. Arthur at the Campi hearing on the coast plan.

Arthur declared that the "extension of zones as proposed by Fox West Coast would perpetuate a monopoly and would put independents out of business." He added that "the only chance independent exhibitors have is to play within the zones as constituted."

The issue came up when Al Hanson, Los Angeles city manager for

Court Bars Move to Upset Hub Clearance

BOSTON, April 11.—No matter how many weeks a first run house may hold over a feature, clearance for subsequent runs is to be figured as being after the initial week, a local court has decided in effect. RKO was first refused an injunction to prevent Fox from supplying Publix houses with "The Little Colonel" within 28 days, normal clearance time, after the first week at the Keith Memorial. The matter was taken to court to obtain a definite decision.

Lecture Started Hammons

E. W. Hammons' switch from real estate to films was due to a speech he made before a Red Cross group at Briarcliff 20 years ago. Gordon White says so.

Hammons' talk was about a scenic picture produced by Robert C. Bruce, a friend. He took the film with him, and became interested in it.

That's why Fox has set aside next month for a special sales and booking campaign for Educational in honor of the company's 20th anniversary.

Hammons' original idea, after the Briarcliff talk, was to produce non-theatrical programs of an educational nature for schools and clubs, but it spread out.

Declare Jump Would Be Gift Costing Them Million or Over

No increase in cancellation above the prevailing 10 per cent will be consented to by distributors at this time, it was disclosed by a canvass of sales executives yesterday which revealed an unvarying and emphatically decided distributor attitude on the subject.

Indications are that nothing short of legislation or court orders could bring about an increase in cancellation to 20 per cent, or even 15 per cent, such as is currently being proposed by M.P.T.O.A. Moreover, the present distributor attitude indicates that even an exhibitor effort to re-draft the code cancellation clause to effect a higher cancellation leeway would be spiritedly opposed by distributors.

The conclusion to be drawn from the viewpoint expressed is that the best that exhibitor factions can hope for through negotiations with distributors is an elimination of current sales practices which tend to nullify the full benefits of the 10 per cent cancellation. Anything more liberal would have to be brought about by long

By RED KANN

OVER mountain grades and across desert and plains comes word—disquieting word, it unfortunately happens to be—about the status of matters at large on the Paramount lot. There, the new regime under the guidance of Ernst Lubitsch and Henry Herzbrun, with enough to do in the matter of making pictures, finds itself confronted with the problem of morale and how to prevent its dissipation. That is always a heartache of a task. . . .

The background of the current condition appears to embrace the actions, intentional or thoughtless, of two prominent bankers closely identified with the company's reorganization. Percy Johnston, he of the Chemical National Bank and, at least, once on record for a Paramount dominated as well as operated by bankers, is said to have engaged the services of an investigator to report directly to him on the way the studio discharges itself. The investigator, an ex-producer who never cut much ice, presumably landed the job through a devious set of circumstances. His wife happens to be the chum of the wife of a prominent official of the Chemical Bank. The story spins itself in this vein, at any rate. . . .

One of the more outspoken executives on the Paramount lot, so it came to pass, met the investigator while he was about his business of investigating and inquired why the move at all. Instead of responding, the investigator is reported to have remarked:

"People who are on the job have nothing to fear from my findings."

Snapped the outspoken executive:

"But even competent people are made inefficient by investigation, their morale is lowered by useless prying. The studio is interested in making pictures. They don't want to get involved in the politics of the company. They don't want to be made the football for financial opponents." . . .

He said more:

"Studio people know how such investigations stir up strife and encourage knifings. In self-defense, the entire studio becomes charged with a spirit of unrest. How, in that kind of atmosphere, can they produce good pictures and how do they expect the best from creative talent under circumstances such as these?"

Imparting little, the investigating influence, however, had an answer of a sort:

"Our investigation is for information and not for conflict."

"Then it's having the opposite effect," said the executive in rebuttal. "Instead of permitting the new regime to get the most from workers, instead of permitting Lubitsch the opportunity to devote his energy to the making of pictures, it's damaging morale, hampering progress and making certain incompetents conscious of their power and thwarting official plans." That marks finis, currently, to the Johnston phase of this account. . . .

From Palm Springs and parties tendered to many of the Hollywood bigwigs, the second banker, Frank Vanderlip is declared to have "sounded off" in remarks that quickly made their way through the studio's grapevine. Expounding his thoughts on studio personnel, Vanderlip is reported to have named two men, not at present with Paramount, whom he considered the only two in all Hollywood competent to handle the Paramount production job. This good-sized firecracker causes more uneasiness with reactions to Vanderlip's alleged comment hardly printable. . . .

Impartial observers in Hollywood consider talk and actions of both bankers merely as indiscreet. The studio, more delicately attuned perhaps and unnecessarily jittery perhaps, views the incidents in a different light. One spokesman there finds himself reminded of a story. He recalls the early days of the depression and how an executive was dragged over the carpet by his studio chief in the presence of a small local banker for privately discussing the financial condition of that bank. The executive was dressed down severely, was told he was breaking down the confidence of depositors, that he might cause a run, that his comment was thoroughly anti-social.

Today, that same executive is being treated to the reverse spectacle of two bankers treading on the confidence and shaking the morale of an entire studio organization. There is a difference, however, for, in the first instance, the executive was right in his analysis. The bank he had discussed failed and its folding caused havoc among many white collar workers. The Paramount lot, the deliberate or unwitting target of loquacious bankers, is girding its loins to withstand a whispering campaign launched, deliberately or unwittingly, by its own banking affiliates. There is something splendid and courageous in an attitude like that. . . .

Present Contracts In M. & S.-RKO Case

Film contracts made by RKO theatres with Warners were introduced in evidence yesterday with the resumption of arbitration hearings of the breach of lease charges brought against RKO by Meyer & Schneider, lessors of the Hollywood and Apollo. Testimony as to film playing policies at the houses while under Meyer & Schneider operation was given by Benjamin Sherman, former M. & S. operator, and Charles Steiner, formerly in charge of the Hollywood.

M. & S. alleges that RKO has failed to play the same product concurrently in the Hollywood and Apollo that it plays in other RKO neighborhood houses because the two houses compete with Loew's Avenue B and Delancey. M. & S. contends that the alleged failure results in breach of the lease made with it by RKO. The hearings were begun before three arbitrators more than two months ago. They are scheduled to resume again today.

Ramsaye Discusses Stage and Pictures

"Relations between the Stage and Screen" was the subject of a discussion before the Cinema Guild of the Young Men's Hebrew Ass'n delivered by Terry Ramsaye, editor of Motion Picture Herald Wednesday night. Ramsaye was introduced by Paul Kalbfuss, president of the guild. The Cinema Guild of the Y.M.H.A. has a membership of several hundred. It holds periodical screenings of pictures of special appeal. Its next program is scheduled for May 15, when "A Nous La Liberte" will be presented. William Kolodney is educational director of the association, and Elias Katz is chairman of the speakers' committee.

Grainger Sets Dates For 6 "U" Features

HOLLYWOOD, April 11.—Before leaving for the east on the Chief last night James R. Grainger, general sales manager for Universal, stated some releases had been delayed by casting difficulties, but he definitely set a number of dates.

"Magnificent Obsession" will be ready in August, he said, with "Showboat" and "Sutter's Gold" following Oct. 1, a second Margaret Sullavan feature Oct. 15. He also confirmed dates on "Hunchback" and "Hangover Murders."

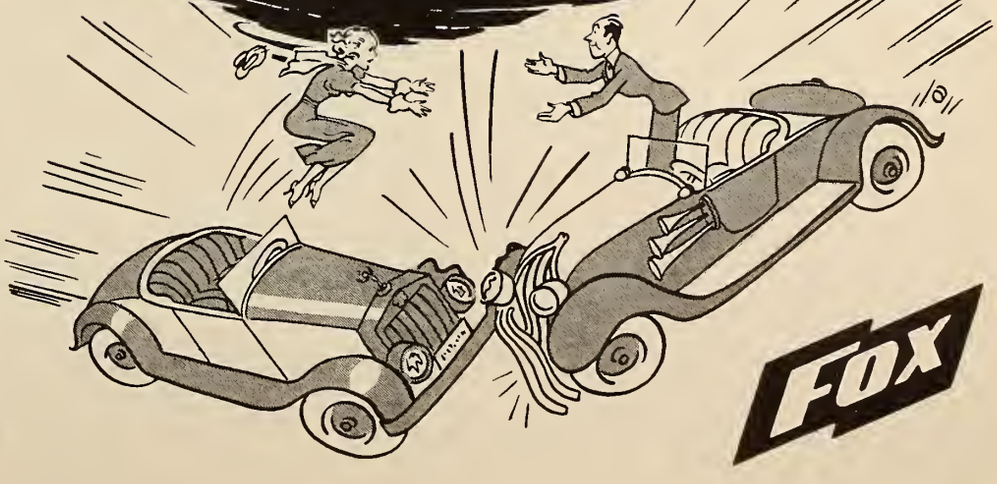
Next season's leader will be "Under Two Flags," he stated.

"Miserables" Out Soon

"Les Miserables" is not to be roadshown, according to Joseph M. Schenck. It will go into the Rivoli April 20, and will be released generally after its run there, he says.

Manheim to Coast

N. L. Manheim, foreign sales manager of Universal, leaves Sunday for Hollywood by air to discuss 1935-36 production plans with Carl Laemmle, Sr.



A good time will be had by all!

"Refreshing fun is this show's entertainment and showmanship quality. It is continuously light, gay and airy and, as it tells a catchy comedy romance story, there is never a serious moment. The show is the kind of entertainment in which audiences always find amusement."

Frisco Business Men Hit Industry Taxes

gone on record opposing "discriminatory action by the state legislature that would tend to discourage continuation of any legitimate industry in California."

Action was inspired as a result of threatened adverse film legislation in Sacramento.

"Soak the Rich" Plan Fails

SACRAMENTO, April 11.—The "soak the rich" amendment to the state administration's income tax has been killed in the Assembly by 48 votes to 27. The amendment, sponsored by the Democrats, would have made the rate two to 25 per cent—more severe in some brackets than the Federal tax.

By a vote of 70 to five the Assembly today passed the administration bill calling for a third the Federal rate. Trouble on the bill was forestalled by a resolution presented in the Senate calling for the creation of a joint committee of both houses to mold the present mass of tax legislation into a program to raise $400,000,000 for government purposes and unemployment relief in the biennium.

Sees Nuisance Tax Flood

COLUMBUS, April 11.—Exemption of food and clothing from the sales tax "would result in the greatest mass of nuisance taxes ever levied on any people," declares Carlton S. Dargusch, vice-chairman of the State Tax Commission. This would include reinstatement of the 10 per cent admission tax.

"If the Legislature enacts a proposal now before it to ban food and clothing from the levy, the estimated revenue of $56,000,000 for the year would be cut approximately in half," he said.

What action the Legislature will take is anybody's guess right now.

Maine Bans Open Sunday

AUGUSTA, Me., April 11.—Moves to legalize Sunday shows in this state have died in committee. The Committee on Legal Affairs reported the bill unfavorably. The House refused to consider a substitute bill, 78-58, and the Senate turned it down, 24-6.

Some houses have been giving Sunday "benefit" shows lately.

Colorado Tax Killed

DENVER, April 11.—Adjournment of the Legislature automatically killed a bill calling for a two per cent ticket tax. The two per cent sales tax now in effect exempts tickets. The industry escaped adverse legislation.

Approves Ohio Labor Bill

COLUMBUS, April 11.—The House labor committee yesterday approved a bill to limit the working time of all women and boys under 18 to six days a week. The measure, intended allegedly to supersede the code, would prove costly to exhibitors.

Para. Is Bowling Champ

By winning two games out of three from Consolidated in the final competition of the M. P. Bowling League Paramount has carried off first prize, having won 55 contests out of a total of 63 for a high score of 957. Other team records were: RKO, 46 games won; Fox, 39; Columbia, 30; Consolidated, 29; United Artists, 19; M-G-M, 18; Warners, 16.

Purely Personal

MACK GORDON and HARRY REVEL, who are among the foremost of Hollywood's tunesmiths, will do the same sort of job for "Saratoga Chips," stage musical in which the HOWARD brothers—WILLIE and EUGENE—will appear.

HERMAN SHUMLIN is Hollywood-bound to confer with LILLIAN HELLMAN, now on Samuel Goldwyn's payroll, about her next play. You guessed it; SHUMLIN will produce it.

FRANK FARLEY, special Paramount home office foreign department representative, is on the high seas bound for Paris after a visit to the home office and coast studio.

Quip of the Day

Will Rogers, acting as master of ceremonies at a recent dinner tendered by the Fox studio to Sol Wurtzel, John Stone and Max Golden, brought up the subject of the studios moving to South Carolina.

"Imagine once we get down there and Mr. Kent goes into conference with Mr. Sheehan. It might go something like this:

" 'How you all like it down hyeah, Winnah?'

" 'Suh, ah'm'a thinkin' eva-things gonnah be quat ohll'raght.'

"And if the studios move to Jersey," Rogers continued, "imagine Garbo going through a love scene (plus mosquitos)."

" 'Ay tank (slap) ay go (slap) home (slap-slap)'."

HENRY MOLLISON, British actor, who came in on the Ile de France, leaves for the Universal studios on Monday to work under a long-termer.

ELLIOTT MCMANUS gave a dansant for the trade press and members of the Marble Hill younger set Wednesday night.

MERLE OBERON, due to arrive from the coast yesterday, canceled her trip at the last moment because of a slight illness.

ANITA KURTIN, winner of a screen contract in the metropolitan district in association with M-G-M's traveling studio, leaves Monday for the coast.

CHARLES B. GARRETT, RKO Havana representative, is bound for his office there after a series of conferences at the home office.

GUS SCHAEFER, general manager for Paramount in Europe, sails on the Berengaria April 19 for Paris, his headquarters.

FRANK MELFORD, formerly production manager of GEORGE O'BRIEN westerns for SOL LESSER, is en route from the coast by automobile.

BOB WOLFF, RKO exchange manager here, is in Florida pursuing the "finny ones."

LOUIS HYMAN plans to stay around another week yet before hitting the road.

DAVID BERNSTEIN is observing his 30th year with Loew's.

HARRY C. ARTHUR gave a few impersonations yesterday while waiting in the Code Authority ante room. Among his audience were FELIX FEIST, E. M. SAUNDERS, IRVING LESSER, BEN BERINSTEIN, HARRY VINNICOFF, E. L. ALPERSON, BILL POWERS, AL HANSON and I. LEVINSON. And was he a riot—but without success. There were no bookings.

SI FABIAN's deal to pool his two upstate New York houses with RKO has not yet been signed. Hence, no definite date when it goes into effect. However, the papers—many of them by the way—are in the lawyers' hands.

MILTON WEISS is also an impersonator. Try and get him to try Hitler as he did yesterday at the Ampa meeting.

ARTHUR POOLE, Pathe treasurer, is back at the home office after two months in Hollywood looking after Pathe west coast affairs.

JIMMY FINLAYSON will arrive from London April 16 en route to Hal Roach's studios. He will fly to the coast following his arrival here.

HAL ROACH gets into New York on Monday. He will be accompanied by MRS. ROACH.

CHARLES REAGAN of Paramount fell asleep during the hearing yesterday on the Los Angeles schedule.

HOWARD S. CULLMAN, vacationing in Florida, is expected back in about a week.

S. BARRETT MCCORMICK is due back from the coast Monday.

Manager J. GLEASON of the Studio Theatre is meeting success through distribution of 5,000 hand bills in packages as a tieup with merchants.

FRANK B. BENSON, formerly with the Ross Federal Checkers, is now accessory manager for Universal, taking the place of JOHN ROWBERRY, promoted.

R. D. THOMPSON is the new manager at the Paramount offices here, hailing from St. Louis and replacing E. G. EPPERSON.

HUGH BRALY, district manager for Paramount, is spending 10 days in the Salt Lake office.

MRS. A. E. HUDSON of the local Paramount personnel just returned to duties after a five weeks' absence, having undergone an operation.

J. T. SHEFFIELD of the Sheffield-Monogram exchanges spent some time here before heading for Seattle.

A. H. HUOT, new branch manager for Sheffield-Monogram, due to take up his office duties this week, having covered the Idaho and Montana territory en route.

JOS. H. RAYBURN, uninterested member of the grievance board here, headed east for a month's visit.

Col. Signs Chatterton

HOLLYWOOD, April 11.—Ruth Chatterton has been signed by Columbia for two pictures, "Feather in Her Hat" and "A Modern Lady." She reports June 1. The actress is now on her way to New York, from where she will sail for Spain.

Alice Brady in "U" Film

HOLLYWOOD, April 11.—Universal has cast Alice Brady in the role in "Lady Tubbs" for which May Robson had been borrowed. Work on other films has made it impossible for the latter to start in the picture on Monday, when production gets under way.

Popular to Make 'Zorro'

Popular Pictures will produce "The Mark of Zorro," the Alexander Dumas tale, as the first of a series of 18 pictures planned for 1935-36. The company will also distribute.

Cancellation Jump Opposed By All Majors

drawn out litigation or legislative lobbying, it is indicated by the prevailing distributor attitude.

Sales executives, expressing themselves in emphatic terms, declare that an increase in cancellation would be equivalent "to throwing out the window $1,000,000 to $3,000,000" in production costs for each large company, depending upon the number of pictures on the company's annual schedule, and whether a five per cent or 10 per cent increase in cancellation was granted. Exhibitors, they contend, would use the privilege not to avoid the playing of pictures for moral reasons, but to side-step those of low gross possibilities, whether a picture was capable of returning a profit to the exhibitor or not.

Doubt Would Better Product

Distributors disagree with exhibitor leaders who assert that a higher cancellation privilege would spur producers to better efforts and thus bring about a higher quality of product with resultant increased playing time for the better pictures, higher admissions and higher grosses and rentals. The distributors assert that increased cancellation would be a costly, one-way gift, with no one but the exhibitor standing a chance of being benefited. They repeat that no producer deliberately sets out to make an inferior picture, and the chances that sub-quality product will result are just as great with a high cancellation privilege in force as without it. They hold that exhibitors would not pay more for the product played, that the distributor would not be compensated in any way for the unplayed product and that the playing time for good pictures would not be increased as the good pictures now receive all the playing time they are worth.

In addition, it was pointed out by some sales executives that a number of companies would refuse to grant a cancellation privilege voluntarily, regardless of whether or not others would. Such companies, it was stated, would have an unfair advantage over those granting increased cancellation in being in a position to take advantage of full-line forcing for extra playing time made available by the exhibitor's cancellation of the other companies' product. In this connection, distributors hold that the code lacks sufficient enforceability to protect those companies granting the increased cancellation from those that did not, and for that reason they would oppose exhibitor efforts to bring about increased cancellation via the code.

Another View of Matter

If the enforcement provisions of NRA were first made unassailable by the Recovery Administration, it was intimated by a few, at least sufficiently so to assure a sales organization that it would suffer no unfair advantage at the hands of a competitor, then moves for a moderately increased cancellation under the code might not be opposed. This view, however, was distinctly a minority one in distribution ranks. The attitude popularly held by sales executives is that the present 10 per cent cancellation, even as now administered, is costly to distribution companies and wholly unjustified.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Party Wire"

(Columbia)

HOLLYWOOD, April 11.—Containing an even balance of comedy, drama and romantic flavor, "Party Wire" pleases as average entertainment.

The small-town story's romantic thread entwines Jean Arthur and Victor Jory, a rich man's son, blending drama and humor when the girl's father (Charley Grapewin) in an inebriated moment during a telephone conversation drops a verbal bombshell which gabby listeners misconstrue as scandal about her.

The usual town gossip builds up to a big explosion, coming when Jory's invalid aunt (Helen Lowell), endeavoring to save Miss Arthur's good name, draws back the curtain of hypocrisy, revealing the scandalous activities of the town's nose-pokers. Grapewin decides not to commit suicide and Jory and Miss Arthur tie the knot.

All performances are smooth and convincing, with Erle Kenton's direction draining the original Bruce Manning-Vera Caspary yarn for laughing suspense. Ethel Hill did an interesting screen development.

No production code seal. Running time, 68 minutes. "G."

Looking 'Em Over

"Red Morning"

(Radio)

This picture, after close analysis, doesn't appear to have much body, but it is nevertheless a good hour's entertainment. It has been built around a fair story that is packed with hair-raising action for the most part.

The character portrayals, particularly on the part of Steffi Duna and Regis Toomey, are good. Director Wallace Fox concentrated his material for a maximum of action and a minimum of dialogue for effective results. The photography of Harold Wenstrom is good.

Fox's and John Twist's story has Miss Duna an officer on her father's ship trading in the South Seas. She and Toomey are about to wed when her boat is scuttled by Raymond Hatton and a gang, and the girl and her father are left to perish. They escape to an island and become friendly with the natives there. Miss Duna saves the chief's son's life. Miss Duna's father dies and she starts home alone. En route she discovers Toomey, who has been searching for her, and rescues him from cannibals. Reunited, the two lovers punish Hatton for his villainy in a telling climax.

On dual bills and in small towns this film should prove good fare. Children, also, will be attracted to it. Reviewed without production code seal. Running time, 63 minutes. "G."

Farnsworth Confers On Reels' Schedules were Jack Connolly of Pathe News, A. J. Richards and William P. Montague of Paramount News, Charles Ford of Universal Newsreel and Mike Clofine of Hearst Metrotone News.

Employes presented a difference in opinion on the working hour basis of cameramen. One group stated that cameramen get credit for four hours even if they do not work on the ground all the time. Another group stated that, even if they do not work, they have to sit around in order to get credit for full time. The background of this argument is that about a year ago Pat Casey met with these various groups and reached an agreement on working terms for cameramen. However, today there is a difference of opinion as to that agreement, although a compromise is said to have been effected. Farnsworth will meet Louis Krouse, first vice-president of the I.A.T.S.E., for the union's angle on the controversy and then will decide whether to hold a joint session of all parties to iron out the situation.

Farnsworth has been endeavoring to get in touch with Krouse in Washington for the last couple of days without success, he said. Krouse spends at least three days a week in that city on union matters.

NVA Widening Its Drive

All independent theatres throughout the country are being lined up for the annual NVA drive by the committee in charge. The plan is to have the theatres donate 10 per cent of the May 20 receipts.

producing and distributing company. The Monogram name will be permitted to lapse after the current season's product has been delivered. J. P. Friedhoff is secretary and treasurer of the new company and Edward A. Golden will continue as sales manager. Edward Finney continues as head of advertising and publicity.

Republic Prod., Inc., has been organized as a wholly-owned producing subsidiary of Republic Pictures. Robert E. Welsh continues as executive producer; Herman Schlom is production manager; Ernie Hickson, technical director; Lindsley Parsons, west coast publicity director, and William Leyser, editor of Republic's house organ, "The Co-Operator." Production will be continued at the Pathe studios in Culver City and the present Monogram production personnel will be retained intact.

The company's new season schedule will call for 26 features at a substantially higher negative cost than was allotted to Monogram productions. In addition, the schedule calls for 16 westerns, eight of which will feature John Wayne and additional product may be added to the schedule from time to time, the company stated. The production program will be assisted, Johnston said, by $2,000,000 of new capital which has been made available for production purposes.

Foreign Affiliate Formed

In addition, Republic International Corp. has been organized to handle foreign distribution for the new company, with Norton V. Ritchey, president; Johnston, vice-president, and J. V. Ritchey, secretary and treasurer. Agencies will be maintained in London, Paris, Buenos Aires and the Far East.

An advisory committee to plan and direct policies has been named, consisting of Johnston, Carr, N. V. Ritchey, Herman Rifkin, Boston; C. C. Ezell, Dallas; Irving Mandel, Chicago; Arthur C. Bromberg, Atlanta; J. S. Jossey, Cleveland, and Floyd St. John, San Francisco.

It was stated that the names of the 33 exchanges being acquired will be changed to Republic Pictures Corp. and that negotiations are under way for acquisition of additional exchanges in competitive spots for the strengthening of distribution facilities. With the development of the national organization, the local franchise system maintained by Monogram will be abandoned, with the former franchise holders becoming units of Republic and handling that company's product exclusively.

Time Gets Out Campaign

March of Time has issued a novel campaign sheet on its third release, set for April 19. It's a snappy two-color job with plenty of red done on four sheets of heavy coated stock.

It starts off with: "Call in the boys! Light up! Make your plans to tie with the big new third release campaign of the March of Time." To make the catch line catchier a package of cigarettes is attached.

F.W.C., asked that Burbank and North Hollywood be combined into one zone. Arthur retaliated by saying that each of the towns should support their own theatres and that each town should get the same availability. Arthur denounced F.W.C.'s moves in the presence of Harry A. Babcock, who was an official observer for the Federal Trade Commission in Washington.

Babcock told MOTION PICTURE DAILY that he was making a record for the commission because of the F.W.C. consent decree.

Alperson answered Arthur stating the only one affected by the revised Los Angeles schedule is F.W.C. and "we're not asking for anything we did not have before."

Berinstein Asks for Speed

Ben Berinstein, who represented the Los Angeles board and also the I.T.O. of Southern California, demanded that the schedule be put into effect immediately and that, if any changes were necessary, protests could be filed with the local board later.

During a part of the testimony Berinstein hit the major circuit's buying power when he said: "What chance has a small man to buy against Fox West Coast?"

Hanson did most of the talking. He brought along a map on which the zones in Los Angeles and its adjacent towns were divided. After he had finished explaining his reasons for the elimination of certain zones, Berinstein followed in rebuttal. In some instances, Alperson followed Berinstein.

Among the 13 situations to which F.W.C. objected were the Forum-Uptown, the Carmel-Marquee, Egyptian-Gem-Apollo-Hollywood-Sunset, Fox Florence-Huntington Park, Fox Village in Westwood-Beverly Hills, Belvedere Gardens-Whittier, Cosmos-Glendale and the Balboa.

J. Robert Rubin, chairman, reminded the various principals that the session would be run in orderly manner and asked that bickering and innuendoes stop. At another time when Golden insisted on asking Hanson and Arthur for certain facts that had not been brought out, Rubin said: "Either you or I am chairman," whereupon Golden apologized.

Alperson Warns of Price War

Alperson warned the board that the very next day after the schedule is put into effect there will be a price slashing contest.

Arthur, who was general manager of F.W.C. a number of years ago, gave the board a complete breakdown of the coast protection situation, holding that at the time he was in charge clearance was set up according to the circuit which had the buying power. He also said that eventually every county in the Los Angeles area will be zoned as one group.

In addition to the various speakers, attending were Charles Reagan, Paramount western division manager; Felix Feist, general sales manager, and Edward M. Saunders, western division head for M-G-M; Harry Vinnicoff, representing the I.T.O. and owner of the Strand, L. A.; William T. Powers, attorney for F.W.C., Deputy Administrator William P. Farnsworth, Irving Lesser and I. Levinson of Warners' legal staff.

John C. Flinn, who made a complete survey of the coast situation, was on hand for considerable questioning.

Hanson, at one point asserted: "This action is not going to end here unless you straighten this thing out."

Coast Grosses Gain By 15-20%—Hanson

Al Hanson, Los Angeles city manager for Fox West Coast, states that theatre business on the west coast has gone up about 15 per cent to 20 per cent in the last year. He also states that all industries on the coast are gaining. He is in New York attending hearings on the Los Angeles clearance and zoning schedule on behalf of the Fox West Coast. He plans to leave for home Monday or Tuesday.

Hanson has 27 theatres under his supervision and reports that the four drives a year conducted by Fox West Coast are very successful and that it is really a profit-sharing plan with managers benefiting according to the increase in their receipts.

Charles Skouras has taken over the operation of the four first runs in Los Angeles. These houses were formerly under the supervision of Reeves Espey, who resigned to join Samuel Goldwyn several week ago.

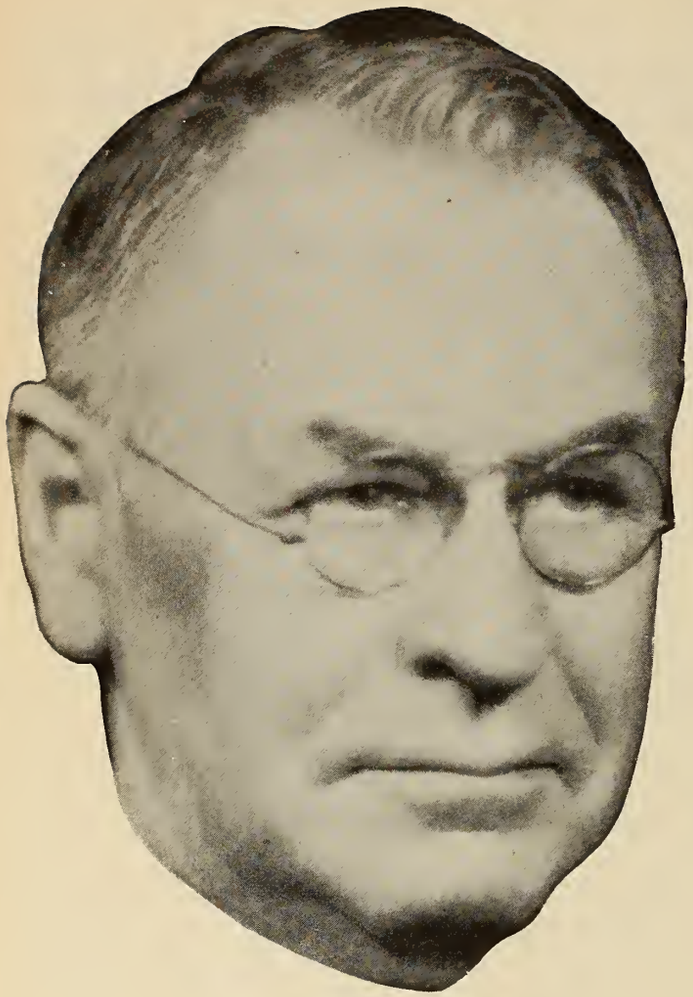
comment from all over the country voiced the fact producers had proved successful in meeting the important test of the industry's ability to use its opportunities to discharge its responsibilities. He added the industry stands today in a position of friendship and high respect, with an ever-increasing appreciative public.

The present turnout of films was said by Hays to represent a year's labor in developing a quality demand and to answer the requirement that major dramatic themes be treated with full regard for their entertainment values yet with the utmost consideration of their social usefulness and good taste.



Louis B. Mayer was reelected president for the fifth consecutive term. All other officers were also renamed, including Jack L. Warner, first vice-president; Winfield Sheehan, second vice-president; Fred W. Beetson, secretary-treasurer; Joseph I. Breen, director of Production Code Administration. The board remains unchanged except for two changes, Henry Herzbrun replacing Emanuel Cohen for Paramount and Stanley Bergerman succeeding Carl Laemmle, Jr., for Universal.

NEW BLUE

Not a line of type of any of the previous editions of this famous work is being used in Richardson's new BLUE BOOK OF SOUND AND PROJECTION. Alert to the refinements in equipment, accessories and practices of the last several years that have made his previous editions obsolete, Richardson has written a completely new book. Leading engineers and projectionists who read it in manuscript rate it as the most comprehensive and useful treatise on the subject that has yet been published. It contains over 700 pages and 153 illustrations. The new edition is 6 x 9 in size, allowing for large readable type.

THE AUTHOR

The name of F. H. Richardson is synonymous with good projection everywhere. Three decades spent in this important branch of the theatre have won him international recognition from theatre owners, producers and manufacturers. He has travelled widely in behalf of his profession, has lectured and taught his favorite subject in many places, and has written innumerable articles. His Blue Book School of Projection in Motion Picture Herald is an established feature of the industry. He carries on a vast correspondence with projectionists all over the world, and thousands follow his Questions and Answers in Better Theatres. He is one of the founders of the American Projection Society. His Blue Books, in previous editions, are used in thousands of projection rooms where skill and honest craftsmanship is valued.

Author Will Autograph the First 200 Copies

Because of the wide demand from projectionists and theatre managers for autographed copies of the new BLUE BOOK, Mr. Richardson has consented to autograph 200 books to go to the first 200 buyers. The prompt return of this coupon will reward you with one of these highly prized autographed copies.

Nearly 700 Pages of Text

QUICK-FINDING INDEX SYSTEM

The indexing system used in the new Blue Book is another of Richardson's many important contributions to the art and science of motion picture projection. It is comprehensive and extremely simple and enhances the value of the work to every theatre technician. Since Richardson's books are designed to be used as part of each day's projection routine it is essential that the projectionist find what he wants within the instant. By the indexing method Richardson has especially devised for this new Blue Book a twirl of the pages with your thumb is enough to take you at once to the text dealing with your problem. Projectionists of long experience in projection rooms will be the first to appreciate this time-saver.

6th Edition

BOOK OF PROJECTION

A PRACTICAL GUIDE TO GOOD OPERATING AND QUICK TROUBLE-SHOOTING

IN ONE HANDY VOLUME

Richardson's new Blue Book is complete in one handy volume. It is a great improvement over the former expensive and cumbersome three-volume sets. The new book, running to nearly 700 pages (containing 153 illustrations), is up-to-the-minute in sound and projection practices and equipment, and has the most efficient, quick-finding index yet devised for an information text. It is handy to keep and handy to use.

COMPLETE AND UP-TO-DATE

The new Blue Book does a three-fold job: (1) it gives a valuable and detailed description of the construction, wiring and functioning of every piece of sound and projection apparatus used in a modern projection room. (2) It gives careful instructions on the operation and maintenance of this equipment, and (3) it contains a complete trouble-shooting department, enabling the projectionist to spot and repair sudden breakdowns. It displaces all previous texts because of its completeness and up-to-dateness.

Send for It Today

Do not delay. Clip the order blank on this page now and mail it to the Quigley Bookshop with your remittance by next mail. Remember that only the first two hundred copies ordered will bear Richardson's autograph—and you want to be sure that yours is among these highly prized copies. Remittance must accompany order to insure the autograph. Act promptly.

Charts and Operating Data

AT A NEW LOW PRICE

The organizational facilities of Quigley Publications permit a great reduction in the price of the BLUE BOOK over previous editions. Although it is superior in every respect, it is priced at only $5.00. The new price places it within the purchasing power of every projectionist and theatre attache in the country.

Giveaways on Road to Ruin, Says Lichtman

Heading Industry Back To Nickelodeon Days

Giveaways, two-shows-for-the-price-of-one, bank nights and similar stunts are heading the industry straight back to nickelodeon days, asserts Al Lichtman, vice-president and general manager of United Artists.

These practices are "equivalent to telegraphing producers to 'stop making good pictures,'" he insists.

"The film industry," Lichtman says, "is no longer thought or spoken of as being in 'swaddling clothes.' With the release of such intelligent and highly entertaining pictures as 'David Copperfield,' 'Les Miserables,' 'One Night

Tri-States to Meet Sunday at Memphis

MEMPHIS, April 12.—The semi-annual convention of the M.P.T.O. of Arkansas, Mississippi and Tennessee opens here Sunday. It will continue through Monday. A large delegation from the Tri-States area is expected, according to William Landers, president. No election of officers is scheduled for this session, the annual election being held at the fall meeting.

Ed Kuykendall, M.P.T.O.A. president, left New York last night for Memphis to attend the semi-annual Tri-States convention.

Move to Reorganize Fox Theatre, B'klyn

A petition for reorganization of the Fox, Brooklyn, under Section 77-B of the bankruptcy law was filed in Federal court here yesterday by the holders of $3,000 of the theatre corporation's bonds.

The petition states that interest payments are overdue on a $5,675,000 first mortgage bond issue outstanding on the theatre building, and that the present valuation of the property "is not more than $3,000,000."

British Film Producers To Receive Code Data

Martin Quigley Accepts Invitation to Explain— Carl E. Milliken Going as Hays Office Representative

Will H. Hays has received from the Film Producers' Group, Federation of British Industries, an invitation to present at a conference in London an explanation of the production code under which the organized industry in the United States is operating. The conference is intended better to familiarize British producers with the requirements of the code in order to facilitate distribution of their pictures in the American market.

On account of engagements in the United States which make it impossible for him to attend the conference, Hays has invited Martin Quigley, editor-in-chief of Motion Picture Herald and MOTION PICTURE DAILY, to attend in his stead and has designated Governor Carl E. Milliken to attend as secretary of the association. Quigley has accepted the invitation and together with Governor Milliken will arrive in London on May 2.

"For many years," said Hays, "Mr. Quigley has cooperated actively in the industry's plans and arrangements to provide effective self-regulation of the moral character of motion pictures to the end that pictures should attain the widest possible acceptability with the public.

"In the development in 1930 of the production code to its present scope and character, Mr. Quigley played a leading part. Prior to that time and since, he has taken an active interest in the work and is well qualified to detail for the information of British film interests the production code as it affects the exhibition and distribution of motion pictures in the United States.

"Mr. Milliken, in his official capacity, is thoroughly familiar with the details of the industry's progress under the code, and will be of assistance in meeting the purposes of the British invitation.

"The Association and myself are gratified that Mr. Quigley and Governor Milliken are able to attend the conference."

California's House Passes Tax on Income

SACRAMENTO, April 12.—Film interests lost the first round of their fight against the Administration's tax program today when the Assembly passed the income tax bill, 70-5. This calls for a levy at one-third the Federal rates, but the surtaxes combined with the Federal rate would make the tax on a $1,000,000 income about 76 per cent.

The bill faces its hardest test in the Senate, but Governor Merriam's pressure may force the bill through that branch, thereby forcing a showdown on the industry's threat to move out of the state. It is claimed that passage of this bill would give Cali-

Campi Delays L. A. Zoning To April 23

Code Authority hearings on Fox West Coast's application for a rehearing of the Los Angeles clearance and zoning plan were described as "illegal procedure" yesterday by Ben Berinstein, president of the I. T. O. of Southern California, following Campi's postponement to April 23 of a ruling on the F.W.C. application.

Berinstein declared that the Los Angeles plan had been approved by the exhibitors of the territory and by Campi and that the code does not prescribe or authorize petitions for rehearings such as the one in progress, nor provide for changes in an adopted clearance and zoning plan by any pro-

Move Started To Make Code Use Voluntary

McCarran Wants Pacts For Intrastate Trade

By BERTRAM F. LINZ

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Legislation under which adoption of codes would be purely voluntary with no distinction between interstate and intrastate commerce, is being drafted by Senator McCarran, Democrat of Nevada, critic of the NRA and co-author of the Nye-McCarran resolution calling for the investigation now being made by the Senate Finance Committee.

The bill, which will be offered as a substitute for the pending legislation extending the Recovery Act for two years in substantially its present form, will require adherence to the anti-trust laws, suspended under the present law for the benefit of those who adopt codes, McCarran said today.

Quip of the Day

An exploitation man recently attended a Communist rally social affair recently. In the course of conversation, he was asked by one of the radicals the nature of his trade. He answered he was an exploiteer.

"Aha," exclaimed the Communist, "an exploiteer. Don't you know an exploiteer has no place in our system?"

With that, the press agent was calmly, but forcibly, ejected from the premises.

Bill Usdin of Warners tells this.

ADOLPH ZUKOR was reported to be showing slight improvement yesterday at his home, where he has been confined for the past week with a minor ailment.

Soviet Films Fail To Draw in Boston

BOSTON, April 12.—Showing of Soviet films at the Majestic has been stopped by Levrad Corp. The American Legion demanded the stoppage on the ground that reds were flocking to the house.

Al Tulipan, manager, retorted that if reds had been flocking to the place they must have been slipping in through the stage door, because the cash drawer was getting rusty.

That's why he veered to the extreme right and decided to let Boston get along without arty cinema.

Forum to Hear Flyers

Aviation and air transportation in general will be the topic at the M. P. Club Forum next Tuesday. Igor I. Sikorsky, designer of the flying boats now being tested on the proposed trans-Pacific line; Harold Crary, vice-president and general traffic manager of United Airlines; Clarence Chamberlin, transatlantic flyer; Clyde Pangborn, round-the-world pilot; Rex Cleveland, aeronautical editor of the N. Y. Times; Frank Coffyn, pioneer air photographer, Casey Jones and James Mollison will be among the guests.

Produce New Color Film

Eastman Kodak has produced a new 16mm color film called Kodachrome which can be used in ordinary cameras without special lenses and can be projected with the regular lamps, it states in the latest issue of its house organ, Cine-Kodak Salesman.

The effects are obtained by three very thin emulsions on the negative, each of which is sensitive to a primary color. The film is claimed to be not much thicker than regular black and white stock.

Philadelphia Gets Break

PHILADELPHIA, April 12.—The local Warner outfit is getting a break on its personal appearances. Nelson Eddy, a Philadelphian, now on concert tour in the East, was here tonight for a personal appearance with "Naughty Marietta," which got off to a big opening yesterday at the Boyd. Al Jolson will be over next Friday night to attend the opening of "Go Into Your Dance" at the Stanley. Hugh Herbert started a week at the Earle today.

Goetz on Talent Deals

To further interchange of talent between United Artists' links and London Films, William Goetz, vice-president and general manager of 20th Century, will sail April 20 on the Paris for Europe. Mrs. Goetz will accompany him.

Included in the trip, which will last until June 1, will be stops in Paris and Rome for openings of "Les Miserables" and "Cardinal Richelieu."

Tri-Ergon Claim Voided

An order expunging the American Tri-Ergon claim against Paramount Publix for an indeterminate amount for alleged patent infringement was signed yesterday by Federal Judge Alfred C. Coxe. The order was the result of the Supreme Court ruling holding the Tri-Ergon patents to be invalid.

cedure such as that being invoked by F.W.C.

"If the plan needs changing after being placed in effect," Berinstein said, "the proper procedure would be for exhibitors to go before the local board in Los Angeles with their complaints."

Berinstein stated, however, that he would remain in New York in order to be on hand when Campi rules on the subject at the adjourned hearing. The postponement was taken because Campi required a stenographic transcript of Thursday's hearing on the F.W.C. application in order to make its decision. While this would consume only a day or two, the lengthier adjournment was taken because Ed Kuykendall, Campi member, is scheduled to attend several exhibitor meeting in the south next week and cannot be back in New York before the time set for the next Campi session. The I.T.O. of Southern California wants Kuykendall to be present when the Campi decision is made.

LOS ANGELES, April 12.—The news the local schedule had been postponed to April 23 received an angry reception today from the Southern California I.T.O. and Associated Exhibitors. The I.T.O. is aroused over the alleged failure of Campi to take action on 50 protest wires. It plans to take more drastic measures at a meeting of the board and membership on Monday.

Court Upholds Bank Night Ban

DES MOINES, April 12.—A grievance board ruling on bank nights was upheld here today by Federal Judge Charles A. Dewey, who refused to grant the Central States Theatre Corp. an injunction restraining the board and six major distributors from interference with the practice.

Counsel for the plaintiff took issue with the board's contention that bank night is an interstate matter and borders on a lottery.

Two Held in Bombings

PORTLAND, Me., April 12.—Herbert Wilkins and Wood Hedgepath, former stage employes at Keith's here, one of the Lieberman theatres lately the target of bombers, were held yesterday for the grand jury on charges of conspiracy to kill with arranged scenery bags Gordon Foss, an employe at the same house. The case may solve fires and other violences perpetrated against the Lieberman and E. M. Lowe circuits and other theatres, it is believed.

Lloyd and Para. Sign

HOLLYWOOD, April 12. — Contracts were signed today between Harold Lloyd and Paramount on "The Milky Way" and Leo McCarey was assigned to direct.

Chatkin Closes Office

CLEVELAND, April 12.—David Chatkin has closed his Cleveland office and will henceforth operate the circuit from New York, with weekly visits here.

Dress List Dropped By Casting Bureau

HOLLYWOOD, April 12.—The Central Casting Bureau today abandoned its dress list to conform to the new system, effective immediately, eliminating all classified distinctions in extra ranks with the exception of the reclassification of extra talent into groups as provided in the code.

In the future the bureau will give studios the established right to select, retain or advance employes on individual merit.

The elimination of jealousy and ill-feeling was given as the reason for the change.

Campbell MacCulloch at the same time was made vice-president of Central Casting without relinquishing his title of manager.

Wis. ITPA Favors Further Code Probe

MILWAUKEE, April 12.—The Wisconsin Independent Theatres' Protective Ass'n went on record here today for further investigation of the code and endorsed a bill in the state legislature to outlaw preferred playdates and the stand taken by exhibitors against the Fitzgerald buying and booking combine.

The meeting was attended by 127 exhibitors.

Technicolor Deficit Up

Technicolor and wholly owned subsidiaries were in the red by $282,607.96 last year, according to earnings figures issued yesterday. The net loss for 1934 was after interest, depreciation, amortization of patents and other charges and after capitalizing expenditures of $30,806.

In 1933 the loss was $249,396, after capitalizing expenditures of $36,830, repesenting research, development and patents costs.

weeks notice. While the Ambassador is closing, plans are under way to reopen the new Grand Central in about two weeks for revivals of old films.

F. & M. will continue to show their Class A films at the Fox and Class B pictures at the Missouri, both on Grand Boulevard. The Ambassador, a downtown house, in recent weeks has been operating with films only, but for several years had put on elaborate stage shows with a large orchestra and featured organist.

F. & M. also control the St. Louis which is now dark.

Alleged inability of the controlling company to obtain product for these five theatres was one of the charges that led to the Federal indictment alleging conspiracy to violate the Sherman Act against major companies and individual company officials.

Coincident with the recent resignation of Harry Koplar from Fanchon & Marco's St. Louis operations, Allan Snyder has also withdrawn from the F. & M. financial setup there, it was learned yesterday.

against the latter by M. & S. in connection with film playing policies at the Hollywood and Apollo.

On behalf of his clients Steuer agreed that if M. & S. had suffered damages as a result of the alleged breach of the leases, it would be impossible to establish the financial extent of the damages. The admission came with the resumption of testimony before the board of three arbitrators hearing the charges. Charles Steiner, former head of the Apollo, testified as to grosses, film rentals and profits of the two houses from 1929 to 1935, and designated the product available to the houses prior to RKO operation.

The hearings will be resumed on Monday, with Steuer about ready to conclude the complainant's case. RKO will begin its defense immediately afterward and expects to conclude the case on Wednesday. Steuer's remaining objective will be to require specific performance of the Hollywood and Apollo leases by RKO in the future, it was said.

of Love' and others, films attain their full maturity.

"I was impressed, on my recent trip to Hollywood, by the amount of money producers are spending. A good picture costs not less than $400,000. One film this year has already run up to $1,700,000.

"And yet in Chicago alone exhibitors are giving away $30,000 worth of pottery a week on premium nights. That money eventually comes out of the producer's pocket, because it forces him to make cheaper pictures. When an exhibitor spends so much for premiums he is forced to chisel elsewhere. In the end the product is cheapened, the public sours and the vicious circle is completed.

"If the public wants to see a double feature, I say give it to them, but not two features for the price of one. This is only a cutthroat practice and exhibitors should remedy it by charging admissions fair to producers and thereby encourage the making of better films.

"The entire business is only as good as the pictures it makes and the producer can't make pictures unless his return is commensurate with the cost. Lower costs mean cheapened product. The problem is squarely up to the exhibitor. And he may well ask of himself:

" 'Will it be a dignified product with the unqualified support of the public, or are we to return to the days of the catchpenny nickelodeon?' "

Bank Night Charges Are Delayed in K. C.

KANSAS CITY, April 12.—Action by the county prosecutor against bank night operators was delayed a week when Prosecutor Graves was called out of town. Mrs. A. Baier, Lindbergh Theatre, had sought to obtain warrants for the arrest of R. W. McEwan, bank night distributor, and Rube Finklestein, Belmont, for running bank nights in violation of the state lottery law and the prosecutor informed her the men were entitled to a preliminary hearing which was to have been held yesterday. The hearing will be held next Thursday, and, if the evidence warrants, formal charges will be filed according to the prosecutor.

McEwan said bank nights will continue at the Belmont and will open at other houses.

The Senate Labor Capital Committee has killed five 30-hour week bills in spite of Democratic efforts to get them through.

Explain Florida 10% Tax

TAMPA, April 12.—Members of the Florida legislature, returning to their homes for the week-end, following the opening week of the session, in which a bill was introduced to tax amusements 10% on the admission scale, have done some explaining of the proposed bill.

According to these members, the bill is not a straight 10% tax on all admission prices, but in the case of dog tracks there would be an added tax of 10 cents on each ticket. The price at most all dog tracks is 20 cents with three cents of this going to the state, so should the bill pass, the admission total would be 30 cents with 13 cents going to the state. This straight 10 cents per ticket tax would also apply to automobile, motorcycle and horse racing; to boxing and wrestling bouts and games. Agricultural fairs, educational, charitable and war veteran entertainments would be exempt from any tax. The 10% tax would apply to theatres, cabarets, night clubs and the like.

Another proposal that developed over the week-end was an amendment to the bill to charge a license fee on bank night, which has been declared legal by the Attorney General, provided the purchase of a ticket is not required in order to win.

Favors Mass. Betting Bill

BOSTON, April 12.—The Massachusetts legislative committee on legal affairs has favorably reported a bill allowing betting on pari-mutuel horse and dog racing on public-owned property. Injunctions, pending legislation and other measures are still checkmating work on tracks for which licenses have already been granted.

A hearing will be held Tuesday before Supreme Court Judge Field of a petition for an injunction prohibiting the Eastern Racing Ass'n horse track in East Boston on the ground its license was unlawfully issued. Work on this track has been so delayed that only by a miracle could it be ready for the 37 days' racing scheduled to begin June 29, even if it were allowed to operate.

An appeal to the full bench of the Supreme Court is planned if Judge Field rules against the film interests on Tuesday.

Oppose Conn. Two-in-Booth Bill

HARTFORD, April 12.—A large delegation of the M.P.T.O. of Connecticut appeared before the judiciary committee of the General Assembly here today to oppose a bill requiring two operators in every booth, no matter how small the theatre. The measure has the support of organized labor. Theatre men contended the state police already have sufficient jurisdiction in the matter to order as many men as deemed necessary for safety.

A bill creating a Connecticut board of censorship received no support from anyone at the hearing. Several private citizens of Hartford opposed a measure to permit Sunday shows.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Doubting Thomas"

(Fox)

HOLLYWOOD, April 12.—As usual with Will Rogers' films which are high in laugh content and entertainment values, this one also hands out Rogers' personality, plus enjoyment.

Based on George Kelly's stage play "The Torch Bearers," depicting a comedy of errors attendant on amateur theatricals, this film, adapted for the screen by William Conselman, covers domestic drama, burlesque, slapstick, some romance with a new Hollywood slant and a Rogers impersonation of a crooner that will have them rolling in the aisles.

The story is of Rogers trying to dissuade his wife, Billie Burke, from expressing her suppressed desire of exhibiting her talent at an amateur show. Rogers pays off the town barber, John Qualen, to impersonate Von Blitzen, a Hollywood director, thereby discouraging his wife and insuring domestic tranquillity and bringing Frankie Albertson together with Frances Grant. Alison Skipworth, Andrew Tombes, Sterling Holloway, Gail Patrick, Frank Albertson and George Cooper contribute to the laughs.

David Butler, in his direction, has concentrated on a hilarity of an explosive type with the Hollywood angle, novel and exploitable.

Will Rogers' name in a well known farce gives ample assurance of good business.

Production Code Seal No. 720. Running time, 78 minutes. "G."

Looking 'Em Over

"Roaring Road"

Telling a story that is plausible and unhampered by far-fetched situations, this picture should prove excellent fare for children. There is enough, also, in the character portrayals and fast-moving action to hold the interests of adults.

Director C. Edward Roberts has concentrated his efforts on those sequences that have particular adolescent appeal and brings his story up to an exciting climax. The photography of Robert Cline is good.

The yarn has David Sharpe the ward of two maiden aunts who have almost ruined his life by protecting him and the great fortune he has inherited. Fed up with the treatment of the two women, Sharpe runs away from home and picks up Mickey Daniels, a homeless hitch-hiker. Driving along they run into Gertrude Messinger with her brother's racing car and strike a friendship with the girl. The brother, Jack Mulhall, had been injured driving his racer so Sharpe volunteers to race it in an attempt to win enough money to pay off a mortgage they have on their home. After several amusing sequences followed by a few exciting ones, Sharpe wins the race, is forgiven by his aunts and a romance between him and Miss Messinger is hinted at the fade-out.

Sharpe is good in his part of the "poor little rich boy." Daniels, aided by Mary Kornman, produces several comedy bits.

This film should do well. Production Code Seal No. 663. Running time, 58 minutes. "G."

Columbia Picks Title

HOLLYWOOD, April 12.—"After the Dance" has been picked by Columbia as the release title for the third feature in which Nancy Carroll and George Murphy will be teamed.

"Bride" Gets $10,656

"The Case of the Curious Bride" grossed about $10,656 last week at the Strand Theatre, while "Brewster's Millions" in its first week at the Rivoli did approximately $13,400.

Answers "Night" Suit

TAMPA, Fla., April 12.—A demurrer has been filed to the suit brought against the Tampa by Hazel Greene, who is seeking to obtain $650 which she drew in a bank night contest at the theatre on Feb. 1 although she was not in the audience at the time. The defendant asserts the bank night idea does not constitute a valid contract between theatre and public.

Lesser After Story

HOLLYWOOD, April 12.—Sol Lesser is negotiating with Hy Daab and Victor Mansfield for rights to an original called "Clancy from De Lancey," written by the pair. The yarn is a drama of the streets of New York. Lesser is planning it as a special on his 1935-36 schedule.

"Pimpernel" Los Angeles' Only Grosser

LOS ANGELES, April 12.—Lent and heavy rains socked grosses all along the line. The only first run attraction to show any strength was "The Scarlet Pimpernel" at the 4-Star where it took $5,300.

Even "Life Begins at 40," a hit elsewhere, couldn't make the grade. It took a weak $8,500 at the Chinese and was down to $12,100 at Loew's State. In its second week at the Paramount "Mississippi" garnered $15,500, with the help of a stage show, but elsewhere managers hoped for better days.

Total first run business was $66,200. Average is $91,200.

Estimated takings for the week ending April 10:

"LIFE BEGINS AT 40" (Fox)

SOPHIE TUCKER will be honored by the Executive Council of the American Federation of Actors Wednesday night at the Hollywood where she is being starred. Among those expected to attend are GEORGE JESSEL, VICTOR MOORE, HARRY BURNS, CON COLLEANO, EDDIE CANTOR, BILLY GAXTON, BOB HOPE, DAN HEALY, JOE LAURIE, JR., DOUGLAS LEAVITT, CHARLES MOSCONI, GEORGE OLSEN, HAL SHERMAN, JULIUS TANNEN and PAT ROONEY.

Quip of the Day

A ranking theatre executive, second in importance only to the head of his company, was questioned by a MOTION PICTURE DAILY reporter on the veracity of a report involving an important change in the company's operating policy.

"I don't know anything about the subject," the somewhat bewildered executive replied. "But, then," he added, a little plaintively, "that doesn't necessarily mean the report isn't true. I first learned about the last policy change when I read it in your paper."

ELISABETH BERGNER terminated her New York stage engagement in "Escape Me Never" Saturday night. Her plans call for a trip to Italy, but it's hard to draw definite conclusions from BERGNER plans.

Kansas City, April 14.—Bigger, if not better, inducements seems to be the policy at some of the local suburbans. The other night the Colonial offered two features, a comedy, cartoon, four acts of vaudeville—"good" acts, according to the newspaper ad—and a piece of china, all for the single admission of 15 cents. On subsequent nights the same bill, minus the china, was sold for a dime.

Cancellation To Be Pushed By Kuykendall

Declares Increase Would Ease Outside Attack

M. P. T. O. A. will continue its planned efforts to obtain a revision of the code to permit an increased cancellation af "about 20 per cent" despite the prevailing distributor attitude of opposition to such a move at this time, Ed Kuykendall, M. P. T. O. A. president, said Saturday.

Replying indirectly to MOTION PICTURE DAILY's disclosure last Friday of the solid opposition within distributor ranks to any move to obtain an increase in cancellation, Kuykendall said that the fight would be continued and that, in his opinion, "any distributor who opposes this cancellation (about 20 per cent) is merely dimming his own light."

Answering the common distributor declaration that an increase in cancellation would be a "costly, one-way gift, with no one but the exhibitor benefiting," Kuykendall declared that

Salem Was Where It Began

Boston, April 14.—Theatre radio auditions, there appears to be evidence, had their birth in New England, as did double features, the Motion Picture Daily learns. Philip Bloomberg, manager of the M. & P.-Publix Paramount in Salem and a veteran theatreman, started the thing during the latter part of 1931. At that time he sold the idea to Myron Shellmen, then district manager and now on the West Coast. At present, the circuit is using the original scheme in more than two dozen New England theatres and is adding spots.

Observing four years ago how many self-made recordings a Salem friend sold, Phil Bloomberg got the idea of drawing crowds

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

ON invitation of the Film Producers' Group of the Federation of British Industries, the mysterious-to-some production code, shortly now will be aired and explained to the men who make England's pictures. The step is not only a significant one in drawing closer the film relations existing between the two principal English-speaking nations, but a sound, commercial endeavor as well. Why this is obvious is dealt with in the paragraphs which trail below. . . .

Take a look at the facts. The production code finally assumed shape and form because a segment of Hollywood simply could not part itself from the conviction that the way to commercial glory was most quickly reached by the offensive in stories, treatment, sequences and dialogue. It was typical of Hollywood provincialism and inflated egoes that these wisecracking bad boys thought the party, as they conceived it, would run on forever. But the brakes were applied from the outside and by sources which recognized what many producers have consistently either failed to recognize or did not want to: that in films there are certain inescapable social connotations which must be observed. In highlight and with many significant angles removed in the cause of brevity, this is what led into the discussion which, in turn, led into the code. . . .

The document is the law today. The major producers, to a man, long since signed it. By so doing, they, of course, agreed to abide by its regulations. Today, no picture, either produced by or distributed through a major company can reach the public without first passing through the rigorous machinery of the code. If English studios, or other studios, now aiming directly at international distribution, want a release in this market, it is fundamentally simple business for them to learn what the code is all about and then to observe it. Obvious should be the reasons. Their acceptance will eliminate difficulty, make their job easier and their sailing smoother. Whether producers here or producers there like the code is another story. The point about it all is that the code is with us and from it at this time there can be no escape. . . .

Furthermore, substantial and sound judgment in high places in the industry here agrees no escape should be sought, for the code and the halt on unbridled liberties which it called definitely belong. The favorable impression which the current crop of pictures has left on the average picturegoer supplies another answer to any doubts about the code's efficacy. The quality of product is up. As a matter of fact, it is decidedly up. Types of pictures are constantly bouncing through from Hollywood today which never would have been thought of as recently as a year ago. Maybe Arthur Caesar, who knows how to tickle funnybones, was right when he remarked recently: "The code made producers read books and that's why pictures are better." Even if he erred on the cause, there is no argument about the effect. . . .

It began a long time ago. All through the years that W. Ray Johnston has been part and parcel of the picture business he has been moving toward the majority which he is about to reach in Republic Pictures. Outgrowth of Monogram which has been doing all right by itself and by its franchise-holders, this new Johnston enterprise, which gets going with the first flush of the 1935-36 season, is designed to step into a new and higher notch in the film scheme of things. Johnston, with plenty of financing, plans his new company as a national distributor, not on paper or in conversation, but as the McCoy. Contracts, for instance, will be approved by him in New York; district managers are in the offing as a later development. Four pictures, and perhaps more, will emerge on Republic's schedule of 26 with a negative cost for each which no company of comparable size has attempted until now. Johnston is after first run time next year and understands that the shortest cut to that objective is to catch on celluloid sufficient of the necessaries in entertainment to rate consideration of first run operators. His theory is sound and his experience ample to place that objective within his reach. . . .

Now that the Waldvogel bill banning preferred playing time in Ohio has become a law by inaction on the part of Governor Davey, the question which looms large and inexplicable is how new product deals will be made by distributors in that state. Can they make designated playing time contracts in view of the attorney general's interpretation which maintains the law is illegal? Or must they abide by the tenor of the law now on the statute book?

Universal's history over the years demonstrates that, exactly when the company needs it most, a wow picture hits the deck. Advance word from Hollywood would indicate an attraction in that class is "The Bride of Frankenstein." "Laemmle luck" so far has never failed Uncle Carl. Like the hero riding to the heroine's rescue in the nick of time, the age-old melodramatic situation may repeat itself. . . .

"The March of Time" is in the throes of something again. All new outfits in this business have a habit of going through the same growing pains; it's the price which youth pays. Messrs. Larsen and Rolan may find comfort of a fashion in this. . . .

Probably you have never heard of Sybil Jason. The extremely youthful Miss Jason—she's six—arrived from London the other day with screen tests in the offing. She may be Warners' Shirley Temple. . . .

Photography Volume Useful for Ad Men

Ansel Adams' "Making a Photograph," eighth in a "How to Do It" series, is just off the presses in this country and in England. The American printing is done by The Studio Publications, Inc. The field is covered so extensively that the volume ought to be valuable to amateurs as well as advertisers and publicity men.

The first section of the volume is devoted to cameras, lenses, studio and laboratory equipment, dark rooms and finishing rooms. Drawings are included. A second principal division is devoted to practical theory and aesthetic considerations. These go beyond the scope of most amateurs, but are of practical value to students of advertising illustration.

Technical problems such as preparation, setting up, composing, conditions of exposure, etc., are handled in the third section.

It is illustrated with a number of unusual photographs as well as drawings.

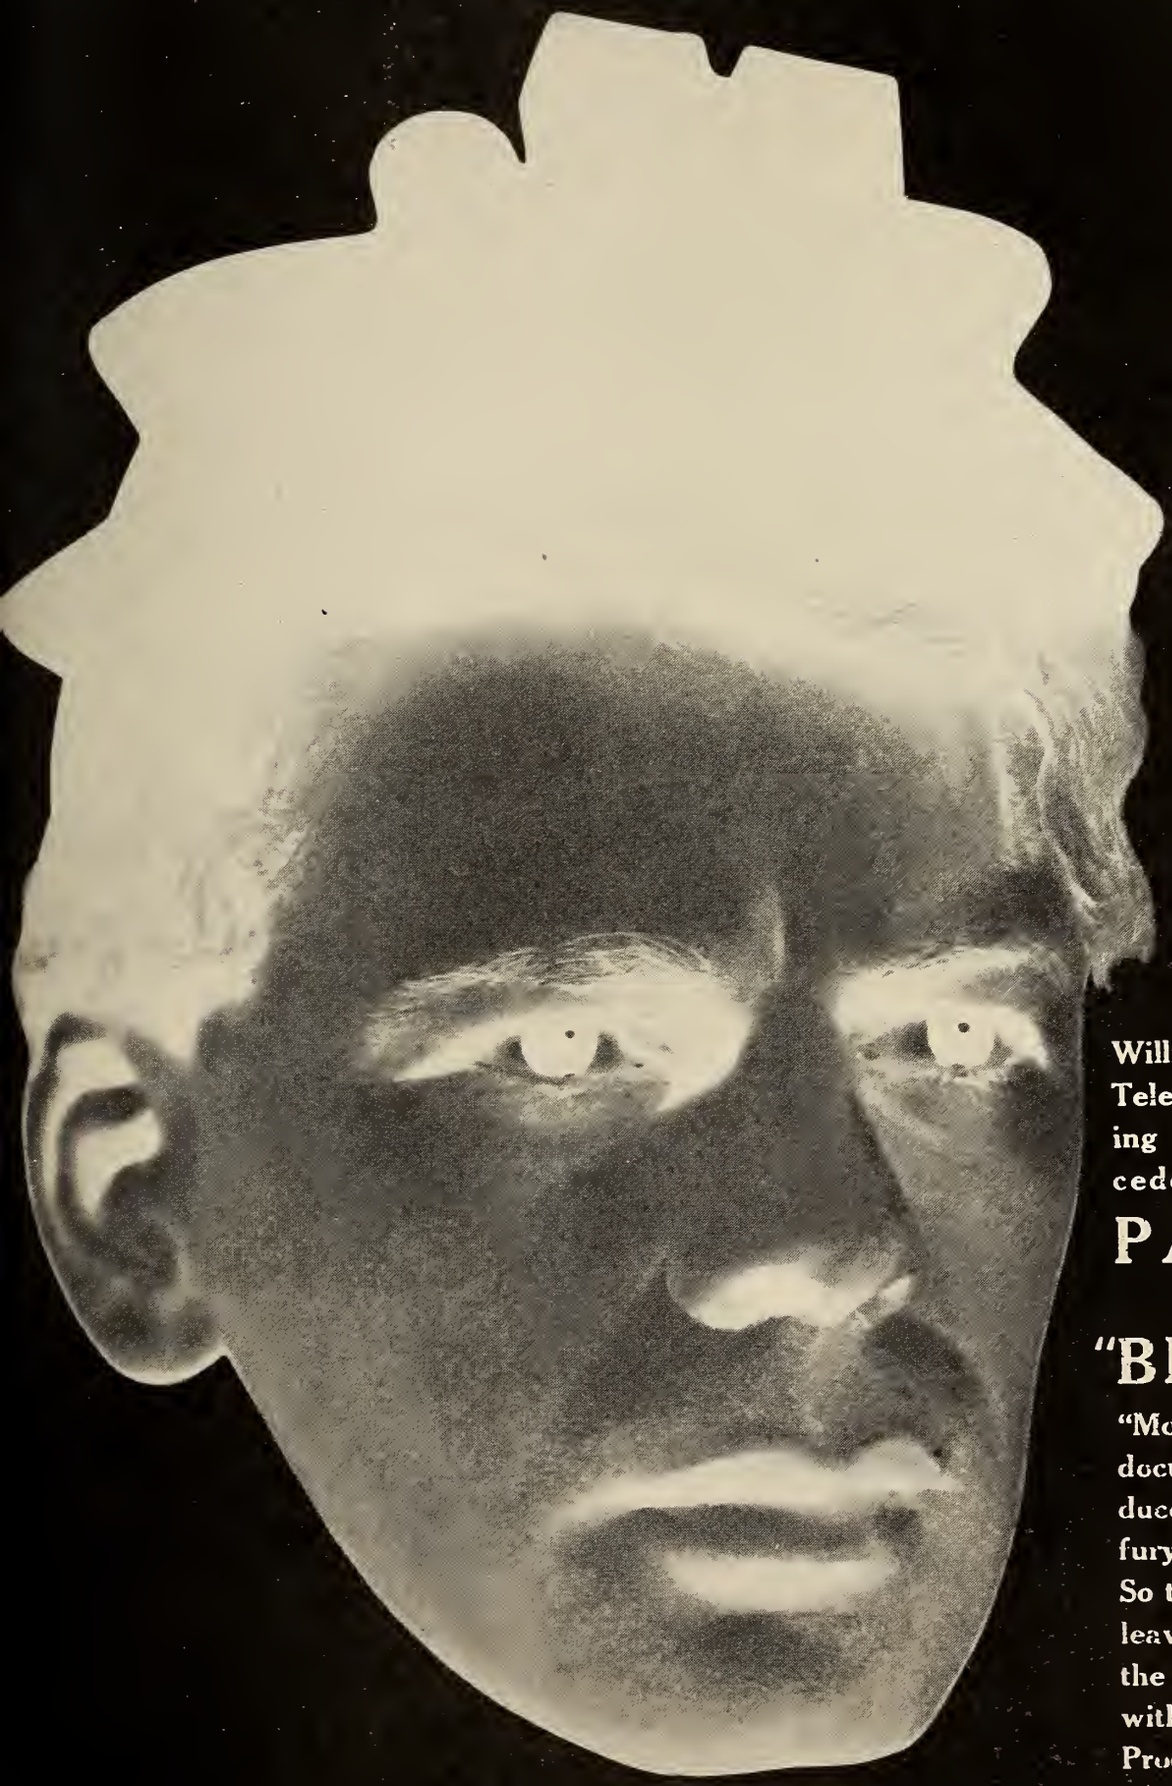
Buys American Films



The first purchase of American films by the Soviet Union took place late last week when the Soviet government bought "The Invisible Man," "Peter," "La Cucharacha" and two Walt Disney colored cartoons, "The Three Little Pigs" and "Penguin Island," for distribution in Russia. The pictures had been sent to Moscow for the World Cinema Festival held there in February.

It is understood that deals are pending for the purchase of other American pictures shown at the festival.

Interstate Plans New Suburban Theatres

DALLAS, April 14.—A general building program calling for new suburban houses in all the principal cities of the Interstate circuit is in prospect. First of these will be the Tower, suburban, ground for which has been broken in the Highland Park section.

Locations are being surveyed in Houston, Fort Worth, San Antonio and other spots. Sites are being leased, it is said.

One prediction is that 15 or 20 of these houses will be started before the end of the summer.

Memphis Blue Law's End Set For April 28

ordinance, which must pass at two additional meetings of the City Commission to become law.

Other cities throughout the state are expected to act on the local option measure within the next few weeks.

Credit for its passage is generally given to the Memphis delegation in the legislature, Memphis having contended for the right to have Sunday amusements ever since the blue law was passed 12 years ago.

May Test Beatrice Law

BEATRICE, Neb., April 14.—With Sunday films definitely defeated again, there was talk here that the three theatres, operated by Phil T. Hill and Frank Hollingsworth, will open anyway on a Sunday in the near future in the hope of beating the law.

Opening in defiance of the election result would force the issue from a different and untried angle. City Commissioners would be forced to close all other amusement and commercial businesses, it is contended.

Fox Met Creditors Study Plans Today

secured creditors have had an opportunity to study the bid for the circuit submitted late last week by the Bankers Bond & Mortgage Co. and Alfred M. Greenfield, Philadelphia realty investor.

According to report, the latter bid proposes a sale, rather than a reorganization, of Fox Met, with the operation of the circuit to be handled by Si Fabian. Unofficial bondholder comment over the week-end was that the sale and discontinuance of the Skouras and Randforce operating contracts created leasehold complications and, in addition, left unsecured creditors with causes of action against the company.

The Schenck-Fox Theatres plan, under which the 86 Fox Met houses would be absorbed by United Artists Theatre Circuit, with operation by Skouras and Randforce continued, would not disturb existing leases or contracts and would bring about the end of all litigation against Fox Met by its unsecured creditors, of which Fox Theatres, owner of all of the common stock of Fox Met, is the largest.

Variety Club Chatter

Albany

ALBANY, April 14.—WILLIAM WILLIAMS is the newest barker.

WILLIAM HASKELL, dramatic editor of the Evening News and Knickerbocker Press, is recovering from a serious illness.

Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE, April 14. — Variety Club entertainers with BILLY SNYDER as master of ceremonies performed at the luncheon at the Plankinton hotel. Kings for a day were HOWARD "BUCK" HERZOG and BEN KATZ.

Guests included Judge F. J. JENNINGS and Attorney W. B. RUBIN, both of Milwaukee, and NATE and BARNEY SILVER of Racine.

H. J. FITZGERALD and ETTA WEISNER are wintering in Florida and Treasurer ART SCHMITZ recently returned from several weeks of sunning in Bermuda.

Plans are being formulated to raise money to use for charitable purposes.

Every Thursday night is club night. Women, with escorts, are admitted on Saturday and Sunday nights and without escorts Wednesday afternoons.

Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, April 14. — Barker MILTON ROGASNER and SAMUEL SCHWARTZ have been selected by the board of directors to attend the Variety Club annual meeting in Pittsburgh, May 18-19, as delegates from Tent No. 13.

Plans were completed at the last meeting to put the club on a stable financial basis. Report showed the tent to be in a healthy condition.

The board of directors has considered new applications for membership.

Chief Barker EARLE SWEIGERT has notified members of the Sunday night trade shows scheduled for April.

Barkers EDDIE CORCORAN and JERRY CROWLEY were kings for the day on April 10. The April 24 luncheon will be omitted because of the Passover. Next regular luncheon will be held May 1.

Washington

WASHINGTON, April 14. — April Fools' Day was appropriately celebrated at the smoker of Tent No. 11. Kings for a day were EDWARD HALEY and ALAN BACHRACH who offered a huge pile of neatly wrapped packages to the assembled barkers.

The packages contained something —or nothing—and the size was not indicative of the value of the enclosed article. Many a surprise was forthcoming.

Monday's gathering took the form of a luncheon, for which the kings for a day were NELSON B. BELL and AL PRATT.

Chief Barker RUDOLPH BERGER has announced a series of parties, many of which will be open to women. The first will be an informal dance at the Willard about the middle of the month. A reception and buffet supper will be held in the club rooms, with dancing in the adjacent Cabinet Room. HARRY BROWN is chairman.

Next on the list for May 15 will be a golf tournament. SAM A. GALANTY will be the chairman.

Tentatively dated for July 20, is a Showboat Night down the Potomac. CARTER T. BARRON, chairman of the entertainment committee, will be in charge.

The committee on welfare and public charities headed by A. E. LICHTMAN, is planning a charitable drive.

Kings for a day for the next few weeks have been tentatively named as follows: April 15—CLARK DAVIS and JAMES B. FITZGERALD; April 22—MASON PETERS and HARRY SUMMERVILLE; April 29.—EDMUND M. TOLAND and DAN S. TERRELL; May 6—CARTER T. BARRON and HARRY E. LOHMEYER; May 13—CHARLES KRANZ and SAM WHEELER; May 20.—HARRY HUNTER and JOE MORGAN.

Tax and Code Topics At Tri-State Meet

Approval of Para. Deals Up to Court

Judge Alfred C. Coxe for final approval.

The Marks Bros. settlement provides for discontinuance of litigation by Paramount in consideration for payment to the latter of $56,208 by the Continental Illinois Bank out of an escrow fund of $146,208 deposited by Paramount as a guaranty of performance of a stock repurchase provision given with the acquisition of the Marks Bros. theatres in 1931. The balance of the fund will be paid to Marks Bros.

Leasing of the Long Island studio by Paramount News until 1941 is authorized in the special master's report permitting the Paramount trustees to participate in the amended plan of reorganization of Prudence Bonds Corp., lessor of the studio. The Elwood proposal provides for assignment to Paramount of a mortgage held by the former on the Miami Beach Community Theatre Bldg., together with two mortgage notes totaling $73,180, as against indebtedness of Elwood to Paramount. Also provided is the cancellation of $56,000 of claims against Paramount and payment to the latter of $33,180.

Sees Ind'p'ts Gaining Nothing by the Code

PHILADELPHIA, April 14.—That the independent theatre man has "nothing to gain" by the extension of the code is the belief expressed by the Independent Exhibitors' Protective Ass'n in its latest bulletin. On the contrary, says the organization, he has "much to lose." Exhibitors are advised to exert their influence in Washington to have the code "either radically revised or scrapped altogether."

Characterizing the code as "one of those which have discredited the entire NRA program conceived by the President" and charging "the Authority is 'packed' with representatives of the major producers," the I.E.P.A. asserts that "the affiliated theatre chains have taken advantage of the code to increase their clearance over independent competitors" and that "they so thoroughly dominate local boards that they can obtain decisions detrimental to the independents."

"the exhibitors would continue to play the same number of pictures each year that they are now playing, therefore the same number of pictures would have to be bought."

He offers the opinion that an increase in cancellation would "do more than any other thing to counteract outside meddling with our industry" and "is one of the essentials to a better understanding and friendly relation between the theatre owner and the distributor."

Also, in answer to the distributor opinion that the code lacks teeth with which to enforce effectively an increased cancellation provision, as a result of which some companies could avoid compliance with it and achieve an unfair trade advantage over competitors who fulfilled the provision, Kuykendall offers the belief that "after the final determination of this government as to what shall and shall not be continued in the various code setups, that out of it will come a revised code for the industry that will force and make binding those things that are right and constructive."

He adds that the M. P. T. O. A.'s code revision committee will go ahead with its plans for meetings with Compliance Director Sol A. Rosenblatt and Code Authority for discussion and recommendation of code changes and revisions.

"This committee," he said, "will not be radical but will be composed of gentlemen who understand the mechanics of this business based upon many years' experience as exhibitors."

arbitrarily price fix and dominate us in the orderly process of our business."

While the American Society of Composers, Authors & Publishers is not specifically mentioned in Kuykendall's statement, there appears to be little doubt that his reference is directed at the music licensing organization.

"The theatre owners of the country," Kuykendall's statement continues, "will be advised in the near future as to just what they will be expected to do along this line (obtaining amendments to the copyright laws) for their common good. There is no limit to what we can accomplish as a coordinated, unified body of theatre owners providing our cause is right."

That the efforts to secure music licensing relief through amendments to the copyright laws will not detract from exhibitor support of the pending Government suit against Ascap was made clear earlier. The Attorney General's office is reliably reported to be proceeding with its efforts to bring the case to trial here at an early date despite the handicap of a crowded Federal court calendar and a lack of trial judges. The latter factor is now being relieved with the return to the bench of Judge John M. Woolsey, recovered from a lengthy illness, and the assignment to this Federal court district of Judge Charles Thomas as a relief jurist. As a result of these developments, it is said, the Government may be expected to move promptly for a preference on the trial calendar for the Ascap action.

to his house by giving the hordes of what he calls "parlor singers" a chance to get on the radio. A tieup was arranged with a Boston station for about $25 for a weekly half-hour.

This was by far the heaviest expense. Nearly everything else was promoted. A typical weekly expense sheet reads: "100 postcards, $1.00; car to Boston, $4.00; sheet music, 35c; meals, $2.00; total, $7.35." The weakest night of the week was chosen for the stunt. Business on these nights at the 2,200-seat house was increased from 100 to 300 per cent. The final winners were given the titles of "Salem King and Queen of the Air." They were presented silver loving cups. Bloomberg even promoted the cups.

Calls It Detriment at Tri-States Session

MEMPHIS, April 15.—Passage of the Pettengill bill would have no effect on the moral issues involved and would be a detriment to both the industry and the public, Ed Kuykendall told the M. P. T. O. of Arkansas, Mississippi and Tennessee in session here today at the Chisca Hotel.

"We find to our amazement," he said, "that several organizations without the industry are taking the trouble to support this measure. These groups are misled and misinformed as to the results that would be achieved.

"Exhibitors would continue to buy, as now, separately rather than in groups, the pictures that bring the

Stuart W. Webb Resigns From Post as Pathe Head

Stuart W. Webb yesterday resigned as president and director of Pathe Exchange, Inc., and will be succeeded by Robert Atkins, a broker.

Webb's resignation, understood to have been brewing for several days, was tendered the Pathe board of directors and accepted yesterday. Webb was not available for comment last night and the Pathe board is reserving issuance of a formal statement until some time today. It is reported, however, that the resignation was impelled by dissatisfaction within the board and from Dupont Film Mfg. Co. with several financing arrangements closed by Pathe recently.

While it is rumored Webb may also resign as chairman of the board of First Division and as a director of Dupont, this could not be confirmed last night. Pathe owns 49 per cent of the Dupont Film Mfg. Co.'s stock and was elected to that company's board by Pathe's stock representation. He was also elected chairman of the board of First Division several months ago as the representative of Pathe's financial investments in that company.

Webb became president of Pathe Exchange about four years ago fol-

Scale Boosts Seen in Rules On Clearance

Efforts to increase admissions where feasible are seen in several decisions handed down recently by Campi. In practically all cases the decisions hold that if higher admissions are charged the clearances are reduced accordingly.

A recent instance is the Dixwell complaint against Loew's College in New Haven. Unless the College maintains a 30-cent admission, or above, it loses its 30-day clearance over subsequent runs. An appeal committee early last week hearing a com-

KAO Will Bid For Fox Met, Court Is Told

Statement Is Made While Schenck Plan Is Up

RKO, through its theatre subsidiary, Keith-Albee-Orpheum, will submit a plan of reorganization for Fox Metropolitan Playhouses, Federal Judge Julian W. Lehman's association with the offer was interpreted by observers to mean that K-A-O probably would have the financial aid of the Lehman Bros. bank in the submission of a Fox Met plan. Lehman, the attorney, is related to the heads of the Lehman banking interests.

Approve Ohio Lotteries

COLUMBUS, April 15.—The House Judiciary Committee has recommended for passage a proposal to submit to a vote of the people a constitutional amendment permitting the state to operate lotteries, the proceeds to be used for poor relief, old-age pensions and possibly schools.

The amendment, which would be written into the present section forbidding lotteries, would read, "unless operated by the state."

If passed by the Legislature and favorably voted upon at the election, it is believed that there would be less likelihood of a luxury tax.

Looking 'Em Over

"Goin' to Town"

(Paramount)

SAN DIEGO, April 15.—Mae West, wise-cracking "How Am I Doin'" gal, goes to town in a big way in this picture. The film has genuine box-office possibilities judging from the enthusiastic reception by a preview audience.

In the story by Miss West she is a "blues" singer in the Texas oil district who loses to Fred Kohler, a cattle rustler, in a dice game to see whether she will marry him. When Kohler is killed before the marriage, Miss West inherits his millions and falls hard for an oil field manager, Paul Cavanaugh. She follows him to Buenos Aires and, with the aid of her manager, Gilbert Emery, tries to crash the social gates to win him.

There, she wins a thrilling race with Cactus, her Texas-bred horse, after her faithful Indian servant, Tito Coral, foils a plot by Ivan Lebedeff and Marjory Gateson, her rival, to put the nag out of the race. In a plan to gain social prestige, Miss West marries Monroe Owsley, related to Miss Gateson, and goes to his estate.

Miss Gateson then tries to frame her with Lebedeff's aid. Owsley is shot by the Russian when the former is caught robbing Miss West's bedroom safe to pay a gambling debt. It looks bad for the buxom Mae but with the aid of Coral she outwits her enemies, and, as usual, gets her man.

Best shot shows Cactus being put to bed in Miss West's palatial Buenos Aires home.

Other players are Grant Withers, Luis Alberni, Paul Harvey, Adrienne D'Ambricourt and Mona Rico.

Although racy in spots, the picture has ample comedy relief and drama to make it popular.

Production Code Seal No. 695. Running time, 60 minutes. "G."

"The Return of Chandu"

(Principal)

Although Bela Lugosi lacks some of the romantic appeal that Edmund Lowe put into the original screen role of Chandu, the Magician, he is, nevertheless, convincing and real in the part. Director Ray Taylor keeps things moving at a fast pace and inserts just enough "magic" into the film so as to make some of the weird incidents convincing. Photography is excellent.

The story has Chandu again protecting Princess Nadji (Maria Alba), this time from the clutches of a mysterious Egyptian sect trying to sacrifice her in order to restore a lost kingdom. Lucien Prival, leader of the mysterious group, captures the princess in the home of Chandu and takes her to a deserted house. By means of his magic ring, however, Chandu rescues and takes her aboard Bryant Washburn's yacht for safe-keeping. She is pursued, and captured again.

Chandu arrives in the nick of time to foil Prival, however, and Washburn loses his life aiding him. The party puts into Suva, and Chandu, with the cooperation of the police, kills Prival and disperses his cult. The way is then clear for him to marry the princess and the fadeout shows them in each other's arms.

Other members of the cast, all of whom perform capably, are Dean Benton, Clara Kimball Young and Joseph Swickard. Sol Lesser produced.

There are plenty of thrills and action in this film, enough to entertain any audience. Children, especially, should appreciate it.

Reviewed without production code seal. Running time, 60 minutes. "G."

"Fighting Lady"

(Principal)

Using a theme that is more than familiar to audiences and presenting it in a haphazard manner, Director Carlo Borcosque has here produced a picture slightly below average in entertainment value and a very dubious one for general patronage.

The yarn has Peggy Shannon a scheming young woman determined to get ahead socially no matter what the price. She travels from man to man on her way until she finally meets Edward Earl. He becomes engaged to her to give an air of respectability to their affair and, through him, meets Jack Mulhall, a conservative, socially powerful banker. By clever work she breaks up Mulhall's engagement to another girl and marries him herself. Thinking herself finally secure, Miss Shannon is ready to rest on her laurels when Mulhall revolts and wants to return to his first love. Miss Shannon refuses to give him up, but is forced to

The charge is made that the State was organized as a corporation only after its officers, G. L. Hooper and George F. Monroe, had been assured they would be sold second run rights to pictures distributed by the defendant companies. After the theatre began operation, the plaintiff charges that through combination and conspiracy between L. T. C. and the majors, the latter refused delivery.

It is further alleged that the L. T. C. of Delaware was washed up in 1932, and the present Nebraska corporation formed on a transfer of the assets, a move designed to defraud the former's creditors.

The suit is being handled by Attorneys Paul Good, former state attorney general and Youngclaus case victor, and Loren Loughlin.

Writers' Board Meets

HOLLYWOOD, April 15.—The new board of directors of the Screen Writers' Guild held its first meeting here tonight. Committees on membership and conciliation and arbitration were discussed. Appointment of an advisory council was also considered.

"Mississippi" And "Diggers" Big in Denver

DENVER, April 15.—A few more weeks like last week will convince local exhibitors the depression is over. It snowed and it rained, but there were two smash hits in spite of this.

"Mississippi" piled up $7,500 at the Denham. This is $3,500 over par and resulted in a four-day holdover. At the Aladdin "Gold Diggers of 1935" doubled the normal take at $5,000.

Total first run business was $28,000. Average is $24,000.

Estimated takings for the week ending April 11:

Cal. ITO in Move to Speed Clearance Plan

LOS ANGELES, April 15.—The Southern California I.T.O. decided today to send Attorney Frank S. Hutton to Washington this week-end to contact the Department of Justice in an effort to speed up the zoning schedule, asserting it has gotten no results from Campi.

The organization will meet this week to decide whether to support or oppose the Pettengill anti-block booking bill pending in Congress, on which the membership is split.

Looking 'Em Over

when one of her early lovers commits suicide and exposes her past. The fadeout has Miss Shannon turning to Earl for protection and the picture ends with the hint she picks up her former life with him.

The editing of the film appears spotty. Scenes shift at times without apparent reason. The photography of Ernest Miller is fair.

Others in the cast are Marion Lessing, Mary Carr, Edward Woods, Betty Blythe and Alice Moore.

No production code seal. Running time, 56 minutes. "A."

"Men of Tomorrow"

(Mundus)

This London Films production is a tale of youthful love and English academic life made interesting primarily by the fact it has been filmed amid Oxford surroundings. Fashioned from "The Young Apollo," Anthony Gibbs' novel, it is familiar material for the most part. While of no great importance, the film holds a certain amount of pleasant entertainment with its humor doing much to help matters along.

The cast possesses two British players who have come to be well known to American audiences—Robert Donat and Merle Oberon. The former plays a sort of college hero who is indirectly responsible for the expulsion of a fellow student (Maurice Bradell), a sensitive soul unable to adjust himself to the ways of the world. Miss Oberon is a co-ed in love with Bradell who takes herself out of his life when he marries another student (Joan Gardner).

The latter half of the film concerns itself with the efforts of the young people of the story to adjust themselves to the realities of life. The romance between Bradell and Miss Gardner comes perilously close to disaster, but is saved in the end when the former decides to meet the world on its own terms and Donat makes his peace with him and helps to promote a happy ending. This is not exactly an easy thing for Donat to do, for he is in love with Miss Gardner himself.

The direction is by Leontine Sagan, the woman who directed "Maedchen in Uniform." Emlyn Williams is also in the cast.

No production code seal. Running time, 55 minutes. "G."

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Mary Jane's Pa"

(Warner Bros.)

HOLLYWOOD, April 15.—Guy Kibbee and Aline McMahon are teamed again in an appealing, homespun comedy.

Kibbee is a small town newspaper owner with an itch to roam, married to Miss McMahon, who is also his partner in his publishing enterprise. Locomotive whistles lure him from the presses for a trip around the world. When he returns, 10 years later, Miss McMahon has moved to another town, established a profitable daily and is firmly entrenched in local politics.

Kibbee, finding her, is given a job as her domestic servant and learns she is being duped by crooked politicians. He secures proof and gets out an edition of the paper personally in time to save the election after the crooks have wrecked the regular presses. Miss McMahon decides to cast her lot with Kibbee again.

Unfolded sympathetically, Director William Keighley has paced the action to draw the utmost from the situations. The cast plays its roles convincingly with the best supporting performances turned in by John Arledge as a reporter; Nan Gray and Tom Brown as young lovers; Robert McWade as a political candidate and Baby Betty Jean Hainey as the couple's youngest daughter. Robert Presnell produced for heart values. It should be liked in neighborhood spots.

Production Code Seal No. 680. Running time, 69 minutes. "G."

Rivoli Goes Dark

The Rivoli closed last night with "Brewster's Millions" and will reopen Saturday with "Les Miserables."

The Cheese Club will hold its first annual picnic on June 8. The festive grounds have not yet been selected.

"One Night," Show, Top in Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, April 15.—"It Happened One Night" with a stage show was the best attraction in a week of rain and low grosses. It took $15,000, over par by $3,000, at the Earle.

"Mississippi" also did well at the Stanley at $15,000. This is $2,000 over the normal take. "It's a Small World" received rave notices and had a stage show to help out. It reached $14,500, above the profit mark by $2,500. "Ruggles of Red Gap" was brought back to the Arcadia as a second run and did well. "Roberta," also a second run at Keith's for nine days, reached $5,800.

"Mississippi" Is Oklahoma City Hit

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 15.—"Mississippi" was the big noise of the week at the Criterion. It pulled $6,600, topping average by $1,600.

"The Whole Town's Talking" went into the doldrums at the Midwest with a gross of only $3,000. "Vanessa" took a strong $2,500 at the Capitol. "Under Pressure," with the help of a stage show, reached $2,200 for four days at the Liberty.

Total first run business was $14,800. Average is $13,500.

Estimated takings for the week ending April 13:

KAO Will Bid For Fox Met, Court Is Told

plans of reorganization for Fox Met were in preparation and might be submitted within the course of the next few days." He added, however, that he was unaware of the identity of the other bidders. The remarks were made in connection with a discussion as to the legal propriety of the court's entertaining consideration for the Fox Met bid being made by Si Fabian in association with the Bankers Bond & Mortgage Co. and Alfred M. Greenfield of Philadelphia.

Bids Lack Required Support

It was pointed out that the new bids lack the 25 per cent creditor support required by Section 77-B of the bankruptcy law for submission of a plan of reorganization for a debtor corporation. The court held that it would continue the hearings of the Schenck-Fox Theatres' plan and that it would hear sponsors of other plans in connection with whatever criticism of that plan they had to make. Preumably, this would give sponsors of other plans the opportunity to point out any weaknesses in the Schenck-Fox Theatres' plan as developed by comparison with their own plans. As a result of these hearings, Judge Mack said, the court might find the Schenck-Fox Theatres plan to be unfair and inequitable and reject it, subject to modification, amalgamation or revision, and at the same time entertain new plans.

RKO's interest in the disposition of Fox Met is regarded as vital. It is pointed out that even if the Schenck-Fox Theatres' plan is accepted, placing the 86 houses under United Artists' management, RKO's metropolitan product supply might be jeopardized by the sale to Fox Met of United Artists and 20th Century product for first run. The withdrawal of this product from Loew's, to whom it is now under contract, would precipitate a vital contest for remaining product, involving Loew's and RKO, and possibly Fox Met, as well, observers believe.

Schenck, Weisman, Rinzler Quizzed

Schenck, Milton C. Weisman, who is receiver for Fox Theatres, and Sam Rinzler, Fox Met operator, were subjected to lengthy questioning on the Schenck-Fox Met plan at yesterday's session. C. Frank Reves, attorney for interests associated with the Fabian bid, sought by his examination of the witnesses to pick flaws in the Schenck-Fox Met bid.

The principal testimony developed was that while there was no binding assurance that Schenck would remain with the reorganized Fox Met company indefinitely, it was given by Schenck as his desire and intention to make the association permanent. To this end, Schenck said he stood ready to make any long term contract with the new company which could be approved. In response to questions he also stated that it was not his intention to sell the Fox Met stock which he would receive under the plan.

Schenck was asked whether Fox Met would have any assurance of receiving United Artists and 20th Century product first run if his plan was accepted, and replied that it would receive "preferential treatment" and "would certainly be given the benefit of the pictures I control on fair terms."

Attorneys for Fabian's interests placed particular stress on the fact that the Schenck-Fox Theatres' plan provides for payment to bondholders of 75 cents on the $1 for their claims, whereas, they said, their plan would give bondholders 100 cents on the $1. It is understood that the Fabian plan contemplates cancellation of of Skouras and Randforce operating contracts, with operation being transferred to Fabian.

A date for resumption of the hearing will be set by Judge Mack today and will probably be later this week.

plaint by Peter M. Pegadiotes of the Colonial and Capitol, Farrell, Pa., against the Warner Colonial, Sharon, Pa., recommended that if Pegadiotes charges 20 and 25 cents the 28-day protection Warners has will be automatically reduced to two weeks.

The Farrell houses now charge 15 and 20 cents, and Pegadiotes stated at the hearing that on unusual pictures he increases each price five cents. The committee, consisting of Ben Berinstein and Henry Randel, felt that the present admission did not warrant a smaller clearance, but if the prices were increased he could get pictures 14 days after Sharon.

"Life Begins" Big Indianapolis Draw

INDIANAPOLIS, April 15.—This town goes for Will Rogers' homespun philosophy in a big way. "Life Begins at 40" garnered $7,500 at the Apollo, which is almost double the normal take for the house.

"Mississippi" was $2,000 up on a $9,000 gross at the Indiana, and "George White's Scandals" at the Lyric and "Naughty Marietta" at the Palace were in the money.

Total first run business was $35,250. Average is $25,000.

Estimated takings for the week ending April 13:

"LIFE BEGINS AT 40" (Fox)
APOLLO—(1,100), 25c-40c, 7 days. Gross: $7,500. (Average, $4,000)

Loew's Decides WHN Will Not Be Changed

WHN, which today celebrates the first birthday of its amateur program, will not undergo a change in name, it has been decided by Loew moguls after consultation on the advisability of renaming the station WMGM. Two reasons were given. One was that WHN has become fixed in radio fans' minds as one of the leading local stations and a change in name would wipe out the background of the station. Two is that WHN is a shorter and easier symbol to remember.

Since Louis K. Sidney took charge about a month ago, the amateur hour has steadily grown in popularity, to the extent that more than 10,000 telephone calls and letters are received after each Tuesday night program. A deal is on with Ward Baking Co. to sponsor the neophytes and, if the contract is closed, the station will be taken out of the red, a color manifest on the books since WHN started operations.

Winning amateurs are given one night bookings in nine different Loew houses. In addition they are booked into night clubs by the WHN Artists Bureau. Jimmy Dearborn, nine-year-old colored singer, who was victorious in one of the programs, is being tested by M-G-M for Hal Roach's shorts. Several winners have also been added to the station's staff.

"West Point" Pulls $24,000 at Capitol

"West Point of the Air" garnered $24,000 at the Capitol last week. "Life Begins at 40" at the Music Hall tallied $58,000. The Roxy with "It Happened in New York" ended with $19,500 and indications are that the current film, "My Heart Is Calling," will wind up with a similar gross. The Palace grossed about $9,000 on the second week of "Roberta."

"Black Fury" had a $9,000 Saturday and an $8,600 Sunday to a total of $17,600 at the Strand.

Figures were released by Warners yesterday.

U. K. Raw Stock Firm Acquires Dufaycolor

London, April 3.—Ilford, Ltd., important British manufacturer of raw film, have acquired a majority holding in Spicer-Dufay (British), Ltd., owners of the Dufaycolor rights.

T. Thorne-Baker, technical adviser to Spicer-Dufay, leaves shortly for the States to consult with Dufaycolor, Inc., of New York.

Manheim-Laemmle Talk

Hollywood, April 15.—N. L. Manheim, manager of Universal's foreign department, has been summoned to the studio for conferences with Carl Laemmle about the company's foreign product. He is due here Tuesday. It will be Manheim's first visit to the studio in three years.

Ridgwell Dies

London, April 3.—George Ridgwell, associated with Vitagraph as a script writer in early days and the director of a series for Stoll in London 12 years ago, is dead.

Seek a Break for Art

Washington, April 15.—A plaintive plea for recognition of the artist and writer whose soul is above all thought of gain was laid before the House Patents Committee today as Congressman Sirovich of New York opened hearings on his bill to create a Department of Arts and Sciences in the Government establishment.

Gently worded criticisms of film and play producers filled the air as witnesses described alleged rules that stories must be true to certain precepts of fiction rather than fact and particularly that they must be published before they will be considered for filming.

"Leading scientists, artists and others have expressed their intention to testify," it was declared by the clerk of the committee in a letter requesting the attendance of newspapermen at what was promised would be "an extremely interesting meeting."

Construction of a National Theatre at which might be produced the works of writers who are not appreciated in a theatrical world whose only thought is the box-office was hinted at if the bill is enacted.

A good time was had by all.

Monogram Men on Coast

Hollywood, April 15. — Eleven Monogram salesmen, headed by Arthur C. Bromberg, franchise holder for 11 southern states, are here to look over the studio.

The party, which comprises the high ranking salesmen in the annual Southern division sales drive, consists of H. H. Everett, Cy Dillon and Jack London of Charlotte, N. C., John Mangham, P. H. Savin and Henry Glover of Atlanta, Carl Floyd of Tampa, and Leo Seicshnaydre, Ed Orte and H. Y. Harrell of New Orleans, in addition to Bromberg.

Back for More Houses

Robert Lynch, branch manager, and Ernest Schwartz, salesman at the M-G-M branch in Philadelphia, returned to Chicago yesterday after conferring with Loew's home office executives on additional theatre sites in the Windy City. The duo had been in town since last Friday.

Five are already closed and a number of new theatre locations will be acquired this week.

Frustrate Omaha Holdup

Omaha, April 15.—Two bandits were frustrated in an attempt to hold up the Orpheum Saturday night when Violet Swanson, cashier, screamed despite a gunman's order for silence.

Oscar Tex, in a private office with $3,300, heard the scream and touched off an alarm. The men fled.

Early Friday Closing

Warners will close its general offices in New York at 1 o'clock on Good Friday to permit Catholic employes to attend church services.

Rename Fox Rockhill

Dover, Del., April 15.—Fox Rockhill Theatre Corp. has changed its name with the Delaware Secretary of State to Fox Laramie Theatre Corp.

Colbert at Warners

Hollywood, April 15.—Claudette Colbert's one-picture deal for Warners is set. The vehicle is "Romance in a Glass House."

Passover on Tomorrow

Tomorrow night ushers in Passover, the Jewish Easter, which continues for eight days.

Zasu Pitts Wins Suit

Los Angeles, April 15.—Zasu Pitts has won affirmation of a verdict of $5,000 in the District Court of Appeals in her suit against Pathe for alleged failure to complete a one-picture contract containing a four-week guarantee.

Pathe never made the picture and maintained in its defense that the pact was merely optional and did not guarantee damages should the studio fail to act.

RKO Opens Its Defense

RKO began its defense of the Meyer & Schneider breach of lease charges involving film playing policies at the Hollywood and Apollo yesterday on the completion of M. & S. testimony given by Charles Steiner, former manager of the houses. RKO expects to complete presentation of its defense testimony late today or tomorrow, at which time the board of three arbitrators presiding at the hearings may take the case under advisement.

Invents a New Blimp

Hollywood, April 15.—John Arnold of the M-G-M camera department has invented a new camera blimp which will be used in the Irving Thalberg production, "No More Ladies." The new device, which has an automatic finder, weighs only 100 pounds, as compared with 240 pounds for the old blimps, it is said.

Buy Don Byrne Story

Hollywood, April 15.—Oscar Hammerstein II and Jerome Kern have purchased stage rights to Don Byrne's "Messa Marco Polo," from Byrne's widow, and will adapt the book as a stage musical for Fall production in Radio City Music Hall. Max Gordon will be the producer.

Operate on Chotiner

Hollywood, April 15. — Harry Chotiner, president of the I.T.O., is resting comfortably today following an operation yesterday at St. Vincent's Hospital for appendicitis.

Pick Wellman's First

Hollywood, April 15. — William Wellman's first directorial effort for M-G-M will be "I Am Joaquim" with Leo Carrillo.

Warfield Cuts, But Frisco Scouts "War"

San Francisco, April 15.—Although the Warfield made a sudden shift in top admission price in this week's show from 65 cents to 55 cents, reports of a "price war" were laughed at by downtown exhibitors.

The new figure, however, is regarded as important, inasmuch as the Warfield withstood five years of depression at its 65 cents figure while other first runs dropped from as high as 75 cents to as low as 30 cents. Most first runs are now asking 40 cents.

The move will not lessen the class of Warfield shows, considered the top locally. It was thought that the Golden Gate, across the street, presenting the best of the Radio and Columbia product, in addition to a stage show, forced F. W. C. to bring the Warfield down.

Brazilian Producer To Make Deals Here

Jaime Yankelevitch, producer and circuit owner in Buenos Aires and head of a South American broadcasting chain, is due in New York May 10. He intends to buy the latest type of sound equipment for his studios and to make a study of new developments in the fields of color photography and television.

Yankelevitch, according to Fally Markus, his American representative, intends to establish an independent distributing system in Argentina, Colombia, Ecuador, Peru, Bolivia, Uruguay and Paraguay.

Rochefort Moved Up

Robert Rochefort, who has been attached to the Paris office of Paramount, has been appointed director of all the company's exchanges in northern Africa.

TRADE REVIEWS ARE TELLING YOU that this is the box-office picture of 1935!

"It will probably go down in film history as one of the great pictures of all times. It will attract millions to the box-office. It is a certain hit and a smash one at that."
—Hollywood Reporter

"Definitely of roadshow calibre. Should be one of the biggest box-office leaders of all time."
—Motion Picture Daily

"A picture of distinction that will live in memory just as the famed classic has become indelible in the minds of the millions who have read this human story."
—Showman's Round Table

"All that any exhibitor could want to sell or patron wish to see!"
—Motion Picture Herald

"Finally the words 'stupendous' and 'terrific' are given a legitimate place in the motion picture language."
—Welford Beaton, Spectator

"It may confidently count for heavy support on its appeal to worldwide legions of constantly replenished Hugo readers, and will carry on sheer dramatic merit to masses who may never have heard of Hugo and his immemorial character, Jean Valjean."

Popular, New Producer, to Have 18 Films

Sets $2,000,000 Budget; Bryan Foy in Charge

A series of 18 features to be made at a total cost of more than $2,000,000 has been lined up by the newly organized Popular Pictures for 1935-36, it was revealed yesterday. Each picture will be produced at an announced outlay of $75,000 to $250,000.

Bryan Foy, Ben Stoloff and Lou Berman are listed among those interested in the company. Foy will have complete charge of production.

A distribution system covering the United States and Great Britain has been set up to handle the company's product. Distribution is said to have been arranged in every key city in

FAVORS SHUTDOWN TO HIT DUALS

Joseph Moskowitz, treasurer of 20th Century, greeting Darryl F. Zanuck on his arrival from Hollywood at the Newark Airport yesterday. Zanuck is here in connection with the second birthday of his company.

Zanuck Says Layoff of Month Would Starve Public for Shows

Closing studios for one month and "starving" the public for picture entertainment would hit a powerful blow at the dual problem and improve pictures, declared Darryl F. Zanuck upon his arrival here yesterday from the coast.

Zanuck came in by plane for celebration of the second anniversary of 20th Century and to attend the openings of "Richelieu" and "Les Miserables."

A production vacation would also be a benefit to producers, Zanuck insisted, because it would permit them to study suitable story material.

He has already applied his theories to 20th Century production. His schedule is so far advanced that he will not resume until July 1.

Zanuck frankly expressed disappointment with the first half of his current output, but was highly enthusiastic over his next three—"Richelieu," "Les Miserables" and "Call of the Wild." He will have 12 for the

K. C. Moves to Put Clearance On Price Plan

KANSAS CITY, April 16.—First run protection would be graduated according to admissions under an amendment to the proposed Kansas City clearance schedule adopted by the local board. It is also provided that when a first run's protection is cut, as a result of price slashes, all subsequent runs are moved up accordingly in availability.

The amendment, which has been sent to Campi, takes the place of a resolution which was submitted along with the final draft of the schedule. It is predicated on the board's belief

College Shows Baffle Campi; Study Ordered

Exhibition of films in colleges in competition with theatres is becoming a problem to Campi insofar as clarification of the non-theatrical clause is concerned.

While it is admitted in Code Authority quarters that the clause is liberal in its interpretation, it is impossible to order state institutions and universities to stop showing films. The subject was discussed for two hours at the last Campi session with no solution.

The matter is now in the hands of the legal committee with Nathan

K-A-O Might Hold Skouras With Fox Met

Bid "Protective," Says Swope in Explaining

Skouras and Randforce may be retained as operators of Fox Metropolitan Playhouses under any plan of reorganization for that circuit which is submitted by Keith-Albee-Orpheum, Herbert Bayard Swope, chairman of the board of K-A-O, said yesterday.

Swope, however, described the operating function as "supplementary" to K-A-O's principal concern over the disposition of Fox Met which, he said, was a desire to protect its own theatres from the threatened invasion of the metropolitan field by a new, first run circuit and its consequent effects on the local product situation. In this light, he emphasized that any effort which might be made by K-A-O to obtain control of the 84 Fox Met houses would be a protective move, "not one of hostility or aggression."

"K-A-O is gravely concerned by any change in a factor of such importance as Fox Met in the metropolitan theatre area," Swope said,

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

"THE MARCH OF TIME" steps up a notch in its third release. As interesting as was its first number, the debut subject merely pointed up what might be in store if subsequent treatment was judicious. Number Two was better than Number One and Number Three ahead of Number Two. Alternately decisive, provocative, biting, but always interesting, the current effort spreads itself over four subjects. Iron heels tramping the capitals of Europe telling the story of an an Old World re-armed for conflict is the first. Louisiana and beyond and the story of Huey Long is the second. Third is Mexico, where Socialist government is pitted against the Catholic Church. Fourth is an episode, complete, of the America's race to span the Pacific with the potentially rich markets of China the ultimate goal. . . .

This time, "The March of Time," veers definitely and sharply in the direction of editorial opinion; its own, of course. Sir Basil Zaharoff, war god and munitions financier, is shown; then the narrator tells more about him while the screen flashes tragic shots of war cemeteries. You see the town of Bedford, England; a gun captured from the Germans during the last frivolities and mute but powerful evidence on the gun itself to prove the lethal weapon was manufactured in the very England which supplied the men the Germans shot down. . . .

Southern neighbors and many of those in the Gulf country, in particular, won't like the treatment in the second episode which describes Huey Long's regime as an "un-American dictatorship." They won't cheer over the famous—or infamous, if you like—episode at Sands Point from which the Kingfish emerged with a blackened optic. But the opportunist tactics of Long and their obvious pandering to the moronic mind are high-lighted in startling clarity. Huey herewith has a pin stuck in him so neatly you can almost see and hear the hot air escaping. The Mexican item, in a few minutes, conveys the essential facts in the why and how of the struggle between temporal and spiritual power and ends on a note of peasant indignation when the instructor who has been teaching atheism to his pupils, is strung up by outraged and incensed peons.

Trans-Pacific, as the final yarn is dubbed, is a re-enactment of the first flight—to come—of the new clipper ship from San Francisco east. It touches on the economic spoils which are in China and, by map, describes the race of the nations to establish effective and regular air contact with this sleeping Oriental colossus. Intimate views aboard the four-engined ship which Pan-American Airways have placed in the field on behalf of America carry the audience across the ocean from 'Frisco to Honolulu, to the Midways, to Wake Island, to the Philippines and, finally, to the eastern terminus. Splendid, dramatically tense camera work and staccato editing are strewn throughout. . . .

Pictorial journalism, unafraid and bold, reaches a new high in "The March of Time's" about-to-be-released two-reeler. Invective makes its appearance through most of the footage, but reaches its most definitely concentrated form in the chapter dealing with the makers of munitions and how they operate. Perhaps the shortest of the four, it packs a significant, thought-provoking commentary on the sort of a world this is, 1935 model. More of it on the screen would be a genuine, humanitarian service. . . .

Turbulent Cleveland is heading for the front page again. In a few days, the inside sizzles sufficiently to impart, a suit testing the rights or otherwise of independent exhibitors there to agree among themselves that it is single and not double bills they want will be filed. One of the better known independent producing and distributing companies is the father of the idea. In preparation for some time past has been an action to test the ban. The success of the Philadelphia suit, which resulted in upsetting dual restrictions in that city several months ago, whetted the independents' appetite for the Cleveland contest. . . .

The latter move has been held in abeyance, however, pending the outcome of the distributors' appeal of the Philadelphia district court's decision. The Cleveland action, if it jells, may now come to a head in advance of the Philadelphia appeal hearing, since Cleveland exhibitors are already working on an extension of the current double feature ban, which expires in June. Opposing independent distributors may hasten their step, therefore, to circumvent the anticipated extension of the ban and so a definite something may develop this week. The difference in the two situations is this: The Philadelphia ban was enforced by several distributors through contract restrictions. The Cleveland ban was voluntarily adopted by a majority of exhibitors there. . . .

Exactly how much of what he talked about the Reverend Jesse W. Stitt, minister of the Marcy Ave. (Brooklyn) Baptist Church was familiar with when he declared, as he did, that the Legion of Decency campaign has cost the industry $10,000,000 is very much of a question. The sum, large even in film eyes, represents the cost of discarded pictures and of changes and cuts in pictures necessary to have them meet the reinforced production code standards, he declared. Offhand, and with sufficient confidence that this department is correct, it asserts that nothing of the sort has happened. It also asserts and stands ready to defend the further statement that, were Dr. Stitt's figures correct, the gain, distributed over the years, would more than offset the cost. . . .

Winchell not objecting, these orchids are borrowed and deposited in the general direction of the Waldorf Towers where Darryl Zanuck is stopping for his production of "Les Miserables." He has captured the theme of social injustice which Victor Hugo transcribed to the pages of his famous, classic novel, and had it wrought into a moving, dramatic picture of a man who learns the exquisite pain of giving because he first suffered. Fredric March, as Jean Valjean, is excellent, and the many-faceted Charles Laughton, who plays the inexorable arm of the law in the person of Javert, is magnificent. Richard Boleslawski's merits as a director emerge from under a hitherto unsuspected bushel. He need never achieve the worth of a "Les Miserables" again, so secure is his reputation as a craftsman hereby established. . . .

Gallup Heads Ampa Opposition Ticket

Bruce Gallup heads the opposition committees' selection for the presidency of Ampa with Gordon White nominated for the vice-presidency, Herbert Berg for treasurer and Edward F. McNamee for secretary. The opposition ticket is signed by James P. Cunningham, Ralph Lund, Bert McKenzie, Berg, Irwin Zeltner, Irving Goodfield and Phil De Angelis.

Selected for the board of directors are William R. Ferguson, Paul Benjamin, Alex Gottlieb, Marvin Kirsch and Melvin H. Heyman. John C. Flinn is named as candidate for trustee for three years and Hal Horne as national counselor, Chamber of Commerce. The auditing committee has Paul Gulick, Edward Finney and Vincent Trotta.

Elections will be held April 25.

that where a first run price is on a level with or not much higher than a second city run, or below other first runs, it is not entitled to existing clearance granted all first runs regardless of admission.

For first runs charging more than 25 cents, the amendment would maintain 35 days' protection over second city run of 25 cents or more. But where the first run price drops to 25 cents or less, the period would be curtailed to 21 days. The price is arrived at by computing day and night adult admissions and taking an average.

The Tower, which charges 25 cents for vaudeville and pictures, would be affected under the proposal. Loew's Midland still maintains the lowest first run admission in town, 15 cents for matinees in the balcony. The RKO Mainstreet dropped this feature two weeks ago but retains the 25-cent price in the balcony at night.

Campi Wins Iowa Decision

DES MOINES, April 16.—Campi has won its first court victory in connection with bank nights.

Federal Judge Dewey in the Southern District Court here has dismissed the application by Central States Theatre Corp., operators of the Strand, Owl and Rialto, Fort Dodge, Ia., for an injunction against the local grievance board, M-G-M, Fox, RKO, Paramount, Universal and Vitagraph.

The board some time ago handed down a cease and desist order against Central States for refusing to stop bank nights and set a deadline, after which the respondent's film supply would be shut off.

In the decision, Judge Dewey refused to grant the injunction on the ground that even if a bank night were not a technical lottery, the manner in which it was conducted was a subterfuge.

Omaha Complaint Withdrawn

OMAHA, April 16.—Evert R. Cummings, district manager for the A. H. Blank circuit, explained the apparent free admissions to the Paramount two weeks ago to the satisfaction of complainants and they withdrew a complaint at a hearing before the grievance board.

Cummings explained that the tickets given to local merchants in the Paramount business area had been meant for them personally and their employes as consideration for the merchants' share in an advertising campaign conducted in newspapers. The tickets, however, got into the hands of the general public through a misunderstanding and merchants doled them out.

Complainants were August Hermann and Irving Gossick, managers of the Muse; L. B. Grobeck, manager of the Mueller; G. A. Ruth, manager of the Military, and Epstein Theatres, Inc.

Pushes K. C. Bank Night Fight

KANSAS CITY, April 16.—The crusade against bank nights here being waged by Mrs. A. Baier, Lindbergh Theatre, was given added impetus yesterday when she filed a complaint with the local grievance board against Rube Finkelstein, Belmont, and F. L. Scoville, Prospect. These two operators were the first to resume the stunt after the attorney general had stated bank nights were in violation of the Missouri lottery laws.

In addition to filing a complaint with the local board, Mrs. Baier is also seeking criminal prosecution of Finkelstein and Scoville.

The local board is scheduled to hear the complaints Wednesday.

To Talk Writers' Code Pact

HOLLYWOOD, April 16.—B. B. Kahane, chairman of the Producers' Branch of the Academy, and Waldemar Young, chairman of the Writers' Branch, today announced the appointment of conference committees to review the writer-producer code pertaining to the working conditions of free-lance writers.

The committee appointed for the writers will be comprised of Howard Estabrook, Howard J. Green, Robert Riskin, Carey Wilson and Young. Representing the producers will be Sam Briskin, Henry Herzbrun, Irving Thalberg, Hal Wallis and Sol Wurtzel.

The committees are slated to study the practical experience of writers at the studios with a revised procedure for the determination of the screen credits adopted after a similar conference last July. The entire code will also be reviewed to determine whether any changes or extensions should be made.

The first joint meeting of the committees is scheduled to be held within three weeks, with alternates appointed later if necessary.

Counter-Charges in Brooklyn Cases

Brought before the local grievance board by David Weinstock, partner of Harry Brandt in the Empire, Brooklyn, for reducing admissions by distribution of "service" and "tax" passes, Abe Drojin of the Monroe, Jacob Leff of the Comet, Herman Savage of the Bobby, and Irving W. Kiritz yesterday accused Weinstock of the same practice.

The four defendants claimed that the Halsey and Marvin, in which Brandt is interested, are violating the code in the same manner, but Weinstock did not bring them before the board.

Savage, Drojin and Kiritz charged Brandt with making promises which he does not carry out.

It was revealed at the meeting yesterday that prior to filing of the complaints, exchanges stepped in and ordered the theatres to stop.

1935-36 season, he said. Of these, 10 scripts have already been selected.

He was emphatic on the tax program pending in the California legislature. The industry "made the state," he said, and now the state singles out the industry for the bulk of its taxes. He expressed the opinion that production would be moved from California unless the tax situation is definitely cleared so that the problem would not recur at every legislative session.

Among the stories already chosen, as previously announced, are:

"Ivanhoe," adapted from the novel by Sir Walter Scott. It will be produced as 20th Century's "most lavish spectacle" and will have an all-star cast.

"The Man Who Broke the Bank at Monte Carlo," starring Ronald Colman, and directed by John Ford from the scenario by Nunnally Johnson.

"Sing, Governor, Sing!" with Paul Whiteman and his band, Phil Baker and his stooges, Beetle and Bottle; and Rubinoff. Songs and musical score by Gus Kahn and Arthur Johnson.

"The Diamond Horseshoe," starring Lawrence Tibbett, with screenplay by Bess Meredyth and George Marion, Jr.

"Shark Island," starring Fredric March. The screenplay is based on the life of Dr. Samuel Alexander Mudd from the book by his daughter.

"Professional Soldier," starring Wallace Beery, with the scenario provided by Harold Long.

Four for which no stars have been selected are: "Nile Patrol," by Phillip McDonald; "Gentlemen, the King!" by Howard Smith; "Earthbound," by W. P. Lipscomb, and "It Had to Happen," by Howard Smith.

Those board members reelected were Kent, Michel, H. B. Clark, Harley L. Clarke, H. Donald Campbell, Daniel O. Hastings, Arthur W. Loasby, Ernest W. Niver, Hermann G. Place, Seton Porter and Towell.

Russell Moon Quits Fox

Russell B. Moon has resigned from the exploitation department of Fox Film, effective May 1. Moon will operate his own business, the Motion Picture Ad-Sales Printing Co. which he launched a year ago. He will specialize in novelty advertising.

Shirley's Birthday Set

Shirley Temple's sixth birthday next Tuesday will be celebrated in 26 RKO houses in Greater New York by the free distribution of 52,000 Charms lollypops to children attending the circuit's houses that day. "The Little Colonel" is being day-and-dated in all RKO houses starting Friday.

Skourases Return to L. A.

LOS ANGELES, April 16. — Spyros Skouras, accompanied by his brother Charles, Mike Rosenberg and Charles Crapman, arrived at Fox West Coast headquarters here today, completing a week's tour of inspection of Seattle theatres. Spyros Skouras leaves for New York later this week.

Yamins delegated to clarify the code provision.

At a meeting of an appeal committee comprising Gordon C. Youngman, Nat Cohn and Harry Vinnicoff, Ben Strozier and Robert E. Bryant, Rock Hill exhibitors, protested against Winthrop College showings for its students and personnel at 10 cents admissions on Saturday evenings.

According to one of the rulings of the institution's board, students are not permitted to attend any of the three local theatres, Dr. Phelps, president of Winthrop, explained. He stated that the college tries to control the pictures seen, time spent and expenditures of the girl students.

The exhibitors contended that the college was unfair competition in that it buys pictures away from the three houses and also permits its students to visit Charlotte and theatres in the town.

creditor groups on the tenure of office of each of the 16 directors is expected this week. It has been conceded already that H. A. Fortington, Stephen Callaghan, Floyd B. Odlum and John D. Hertz will have two and three-year terms apportioned among them. The by-laws of the company provide for one, two and three-year terms for directors.

The Paramount trustees, Charles D. Hilles and Eugene Leake, are expected to receive their final discharge from the court about May 15. The formal election of the new directors may be held immediately prior to that, with probably another month being required to clean up all remaining phases of the organization of the new company. It has been agreed among Paramount creditors that there will be no change in the company name when the new Paramount formally takes over.

Para. Moves Approved

Orders approving Paramount's petitions to participate in the settlement of litigation involving Marks Bros., Chicago, and the Continental Illinois Bank; the leasing of the Astoria studio by Paramount News for a period ending in 1941, and the dissolution of the Elwood Theatre Corp., Miami, were signed yesterday by Federal Judge Alfred C. Coxe.

"and the company, naturally, wants to take any steps which are necessary to protect its own theatres."

Swope declared that the actual submission of a K-A-O plan of reorganization for Fox Met would probably require some additional time, and that its terms would most likely be shaped by developments in the course of hearings on the Joseph M. Schenck-Fox Theatres' reorganization plan for Fox Met, which are now under way before Judge Julian W. Mack. Creditor criticism of the Schenck-Fox Theatres' plan, it is inferred from this, will probably be the guiding factor in determining the exact terms of whatever offer for Fox Met is submitted by K-A-O.

Hearings Resumed Friday

The hearings on the fairness of the Schenck-Fox Theatres' plan will be resumed Friday morning, with the court having declared itself as willing to hear all opposition to the plan from other prospective bidders as guidance in determining the acceptability of the plan now before the court. Si Fabian, in association with the Bankers Bond & Mortgage Co. and Alfred M. Greenfield of Philadelphia, are also in the arena with a plan which, while it offers Fox Met bondholders 100 cents on the $1 for their $12,875,000 of claims, makes no provision for unsecured creditors and proposes the cancellation of the Skouras and Randforce operating contracts. The latter proposal would vest operation in Fabian and would result in the loss to Fox Met of the Skouras and Randforce Fox film franchise. The court was told on Monday that this franchise was "exceedingly valuable" to Fox Met, not only in supplying it with 50 of the 156 features it requires annually, but also in negotiating day-and-date playing agreements for product controlled by other circuits in return for permission to day-and-date the Fox product with Fox Met houses. Such an agreement has been in effect between RKO and Fox Met for the past three years.

It was also stated that the Fox film franchise makes that product available to Fox Met at rentals appreciably below prevailing film costs. Sidney Kent was quoted by Schenck as having said that the franchise held by Fox Met "costs Fox Film $400,000 annually."

Ohio Passes "Fury"

COLUMBUS, April 16.—Despite censorship action in some of the other states, which, at first, it was feared might influence the Ohio board, "Black Fury" was passed here with but two or three minor deletions. The bits which were scissored were inconsequential.

Mae May Do "Klondike"

HOLLYWOOD, April 16.—Paramount has tentatively set "Klondike" as the title for the next Mae West picture. Miss West will write the script herself, and the locale will be Alaska during the gold rush days. "Goin' to Town" is now in the cutting room.

Looking 'Em Over

"Escape Me Never"

(British & Dominions—United Artists)

LONDON, April 5.—Elisabeth Bergner, in her famous stage role. Undoubtedly one of the most sincere, sensitive, and moving performances it is possible to recall. In whimsical humor, in sorrow and in tragedy Bergner is wonderful; her voice, exceptional in its range of expressiveness, is remarkably recorded.

With the prestige of an international stage success behind it, "Escape Me Never," certainly one of the best films ever made in England, ought to make a box-office worthy of outstanding artistic merit.

Although Miss Bergner dominates the film, it is by no means a manufactured star vehicle. There are considerable, and very original, story values and variety and beauty of settings. The predominance of Gemma Jones, waif-lover and victim of Sebastian, ultra-temperamental member of the Sanger family of "Constant Nymph" fame, is the inevitable result of a delightfully original literary invention. Bergner's genius gives it perfect expression.

The play has made the main plot details familiar. Gemma, schoolgirl in appearance, makes a tempestuous entry to the ultra-respectable salon in Venice, of Sir Ivor and Lady McClean, shocks them by the casual disclosure that she is mother of an illegitimate child and shocks them still more by revealing that she is living with Sanger, son of Sanger, the great musician. Jumping to the conclusion that her lover is Caryl Sanger, fiance-designate of Fenella McClean, the family hastily leaves Venice for the Dolomites to enable Fenella to get over her sorrow.

Gemma's companion is really Sebastian, ne'er-do-well brother of Caryl. An accidental meeting of the brothers reveals the unintentional deception played upon the McCleans. The two Sangers and Gemma, penniless, thereupon tramp into the mountains and find Fenella, telling her the truth. Fenella, reconciled to Caryl, is attracted by the Bohemian Sebastian.

Later in London, Sebastian marries Gemma, but keeps Fenella, whose infatuation for him increases, unaware of the fact. Gemma's baby dies because, working as a servant to keep the good-for-nothing Sebastian, she is unable to give it proper care. Heart-broken, she interrupts a rehearsal of Sebastian's ballet to tell him the news, but he brutally hustles her away. That night he plans to run away with Fenella, but Caryl interrupts them and nearly strangles him. Gemma returns and, knowing the worst of him, still takes him back.

Few screen characters have lived as Bergner's Gemma lives. This figure is the film, but the support is good right through, Hugh Sinclair as Sebastian and Griffith Jones as Caryl both interpreting the Margaret Kennedy characters as she wrote them. Penelope Dudley Ward makes an excellent debut as Fenella. Lyn Harding, Irene Vanbrugh and Leon Quartermaine are admirable types. The exteriors in the Dolomites are finely done and there is a very effective stage set in the ballet incident.

Undoubtedly, from any Hollywood studio, "Escape Me Never" would attract special attention. Coming from England it should be a striking demonstration, at least to the better class American public, of the technical and artistic achievement of the bigger London studios.

Running time, 80 minutes. "A."

"The Royal Cavalcade"

(Associated British Pictures)

LONDON, April 5.—A necessarily episodic survey of the 25 years of the reign of King George V, this British feature, which combines reconstructions of historic events with actual news shots, has a sort of "Cavalcade" appeal. It needs rather heavy cutting for America, the interest of some scenes being entirely British while the atmosphere of sentimental nationalism will be found somewhat uninteresting in other countries.

The outstanding scenes are those showing Sir Edward Grey delivering his House of Commons speech at the outbreak of the war; the German request for an armistice to Foch and the Allied commanders in the railway carriage "headquarters"; the Suffrage disturbances in Parliament; Lady Astor, the first woman M. P., taking her seat in the House; and the tragic end of the Scott expedition to the South Pole.

In all these episodes, a close resemblance to famous personages has been achieved and there is striking accuracy of historical background.

Much of the old news material has great human interest by its illustration of a quarter-century's changes in costume, social custom and

"The Mark of Zorro" will be the company's initial production, to be followed by "Lavender and Old Lace." Other films will include Charles E. other officers of Pathe remain as before.

Kolbe's election to the presidency is regarded in reliable quarters as being of a temporary nature.

Webb, reached at his home yesterday, said that he had no plans for the immediate future and would take a vacation immediately. He said he had not yet considered resigning from the board of Dupont Film Mfg. Co., or as chairman of the board of First Division. He declined to comment on reports linking him with an active post in First Division.

Webb's resignation was said to be the result of dissatisfaction within Pathe over financing deals recently closed with First Division and other independent producers.

Herald, at a meeting of Skouras managers in the metropolitan area held in the Paramount Building.

Among campaigns in the exhibit will be many which have won Quigley Awards.

Vogel told the theatre managers that the Quigley prizes had done much to lift theatre grosses and bring about managerial promotions.

"If managers would stop worrying over the proximity of opposition houses and concentrate on getting a fair share of business from their immediate drawing areas, a happier state of affairs would come about for all concerned," asserted Vogel.

"Plenty of live showmen in the subsequents roll up fat grosses on pictures that have not been milked dry in the first runs. These men have forgotten the existence of competing theatres. As far as they are concerned dates are first runs and are so exploited. That they are on the right track is proved by gratifying grosses and by their success in the Quigley competitions."

Oklahoma Bill Hits First Run Showmen

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 16.—First run exhibitors will be restrained from playing second and subsequent runs if a bill amending the Oklahoma anti-trust laws and introduced into the legislature late last week by Senator Howard Morton of Adair County is passed.

A. B. Momand, leading local independent operator, has been prominent in the drafting of the new measure and supplied the senator with most of his data.

Race Bill Meets Setback

BOSTON, April 16.—A bill for the creation of a state corporation to conduct horse and dog racing in Massachusetts was reported adversely today by the legislative committee on state administration.

This committee also suggested reference of the pari-mutuel betting repeal bill to the next session.

In its report the committee said: "The committee was hopeful that it could report certain changes in the present law, notably provisions for compulsory public hearings before the granting of any license; for a clarification of the law relative to the 50-mile limit, so that this restriction would apply only within the commonwealth; and for the prohibition of licenses in any community which has voted against the law. Advice of counsel made it apparent that these changes were beyond the scope of the petition and could not be reported."

In the state election last November citizens of the state voted in favor of horse and dog racing. The committee felt that it had no right to repeal the whole act so soon after a mandate from the people.

Injunctions still hold up the construction of tracks, however.

Looking 'Em Over

"The Royal Cavalcade"

transport. Notably is this so with the series of shots of flight in its various stages, from Paulhan to Amy Johnson and Lindbergh.

It is doubtful whether American audiences will want to see the succession of royal marriage ceremonies and episodes of the King's critical illness and of the general strike also seem to call for curtailment.

A certain continuity is aimed at by the fact that a penny, newly minted in the year of King George's accession, turns up in different hands throughout the years; at one time it is clasped in a dead soldier's hand. Weakness of real continuity is scarcely a fault in a film of this type.

Running time, 90 minutes. "G." ALLAN

"Revenge Rider"

(Columbia)

The ghosts of "Bat" Masterson, Billy Smith and "Wild Bill" Hickok, when they hear of the gun play exhibited by Tim McCoy in this picture, will probably return to marvel and to praise him. In six reels McCoy downs 11 men with his six-gun, rides around the countryside solving a murder and carries on a romance with Billie Seward. All in all, it's good entertainment and there is enough suspense and plausible action in the film to satisfy.

The yarn has McCoy trying to solve the murder of his brother on the ranch of the girl's father. During his investigation he uncovers evidence that implicates the father, played by Frank Sheridan, with a gang of rustlers. But it is proven that Sheridan is innocent and that the culprits were paid gunmen in the employ of Jack Clifford, who turns out to be the cause of all the trouble. After generous use of his gun McCoy cleans up the difficulties and the fade-out has him and Miss Seward riding away after their wedding.

Director David Selman has molded this interesting story into a fast-moving film. The photography of Benjamin Kline is good.

Others in the cast are Robert Allen, Edward Earl and Jack Mower.

The film should have particular appeal to lovers of westerns, but there is enough body to it to draw generally. Reviewed without production code seal. Running time, 60 minutes. "G."

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"G Men"

(Warners)

HOLLYWOOD, April 16.—Spattering and crackling from the screen in the spirit of an outraged nation, "G Men" is loaded with the dramatic indignation of a people aroused and primed with the siren-shrieking thrill of putting the common enemy on the spot.

Springing from the Government's campaign to exterminate gangsters by fighting fire with fire, it reveals the inside workings of the Department of Justice, touches on scientific methods to combat criminals and rips out a yarn of James Cagney joining the service when his G man pal is bumped off by gangland. Shrewdly have the Warners taken a hot idea and produced a blazing entertainment.

Up with the front-line fireworks, all through the film Cagney battles with his chief (Robert Armstrong). He sparks Ann Dvorak, a cabaret performer. He falls for Armstrong's sister, Nurse Margaret Lindsay. He rebels against department restrictions. He is put on the spot and shot. Escaping from the hospital, he shoots it out single-handed with the public enemy holding Miss Lindsay as a hostage in a bullet-pumping windup thrilling to the marrow.

Audience values of human interest, romance, humor, pace and action are here in full measure.

Cagney's performance bristles, is cleancut and in high register, with Armstrong, Miss Lindsay, Miss Dvorak, Barton McLane, William Harrigan and the others vivid and competent.

William Keighley directed in bangup fashion from Seton Miller's screen play and Gregory Rogers' story.

As an important production meting out dramatic justice to criminals it should buttress public sentiment in favor of a crusading government. As genuine entertainment to stir patriots and hoi-polloi it should garner plenty of "G's" for showmen and a grand smash show.

Production Code Seal No. 745. Running time, 90 minutes. "G."

Philadelphia Tries Out Many Revivals

PHILADELPHIA, April 16.—Film revivals, which enjoyed such impetus when "It Happened One Night" and "Imitation of Life" had their second downtown appearances at the Stanton and Karlton, are spreading.

Among the films being revived this week in the neighborhoods are "Whoopee," "Count of Monte Cristo," "She Done Him Wrong," "The Thin Man," "Cimarron," "The Bowery," "One Night of Love," "Little Miss Marker," "Judge Priest," "Servants' Entrance," "Private Life of Henry VIII," "Great Expectations," "The Gay Divorcee," "Cleopatra," "The White Parade," "King of Kings," "Now and Forever," with, of course, "It Happened One Night" and "Imitation of Life" getting a particularly large number of dates.

Berinstein to Seek Duals Ban on Coast

Another attempt to eliminate duals and triples in coast theatres will be made upon the return next week of Harry Vinnicoff to Los Angeles, he declared yesterday.

Vinnicoff, who accompanied Ben Berinstein to New York to attend Campi hearings on the Los Angeles schedule, operates four theatres in Los Angeles, all double bill houses. He believes twins and triples are hurting the business. As a member of the I.T.O. of Southern California he will ask his organization to call a general session to discuss the subject.

About a year ago 76 per cent of theatres in the Southern California territory agreed to drop duals, but when the matter was presented to Fox West Coast, the major circuit refused to go along.

Berinstein was in Elmira, N. Y., yesterday to visit his brothers, Harry and Jules, and is due back today.

Plagiarism Charged In Suits Filed Here

Two suits charging plagiarism and asking damages in excess of $1,500,000 were filed against United Artists and Warners in Federal district court here yesterday.

The action directed against United Artists also names Samuel Goldwyn and Eddie Cantor, and alleges that "Roman Scandals" plagiarism a comedy entitled "Oh, Shah," written in 1929 and said to have been submitted to Cantor in 1934. The action is brought by Mort Eisman, Clare Bellar and Robert Shayon and asks an injunction and accounting and damages of $1,000,000.

The second action names Warners, First National and M. Witmark. It is brought by Irving Gielow of Chicago, who alleges song and story plagiarism in "Flirtation Walk" of Gielow's drama entitled "Give Me This Night." The plaintiff asks injunctive relief, an accounting and damages of $500,000.

Forum Told of Big Planes And Non-Stop World Flight

By J. M. JERAULD

Word pictures were painted yesterday at the Motion Picture Club forum—painted with a matter of fact nonchalance that made the incredible seem credible; the fantastic, commonplace.

Igor Sikorsky said it was perfectly feasible to build a plane now that could carry 100 passengers, but not practicable, because there is not enough concentrated traffic to make it profitable. He predicted 24-hour flights across the Atlantic in the immediate future. Clyde Pangborn detailed his plans for a four and one-half day non-stop flight around the world in July, with a 500-watt radio set that will permit him to talk to the entire world at once.

Noting the gasps his prediction evoked, he said he had sent a code message from north of Australia with a 140-watt set that had been heard around the world, and with the same set had talked with Manila from above Irak.

Vistas of the future were made more pointed by references to the fact that at that moment Sikorsky's new clipper plane was on its way to the Hawaiian Islands and that Laura Ingalls was in the air some place between San Diego and New York.

Louis Nizer described history as "dead," and Rex Cleveland, aviation editor of The Times, pointed out that the whole history of heavier-than-air flight covered only 31 years; that it was only 20 years ago when the first "dog fights" took place over the western front, and but seven years since Lindbergh flew to Paris.

Sikorsky Takes the Floor

The pageant of events unreeled with the speed of film.

Nizer introduced Sikorsky as the man who "translated dreams into realities." It was an apt description. Sikorsky, a mild-mannered man of medium height; slightly bald, with a fountain pen and pencil fastened in the pocket where film men wear colored handkerchiefs, spoke in a musical foreign accent of recent happenings and developments to come.

His comparisons were fascinating. A heavy object dropped from the top of the Empire State Building, he said, would fall only half as fast as the 400-mile-an-hour speed recently attained in Italy, and the speed of this plane was half that of a bullet.

In his recent experiments with the trans-Pacific clipper ship between Miami and Porto Rico dinner was served on the plane and it was so steady his coffee didn't even slop over.

"The time is only a short distance away," he went on, "when planes will be built with lounges, libraries, sleeping quarters—every convenience of a ship except a swimming pool. And Europe will be 24 hours distant, the remote places of the world only three and one-half or four days away. This is not for the remote future; it is at hand."

America, Sikorsky said, is "incomparably ahead of all other countries in its transport service."

Clarence Chamberlin, the first man to fly to Germany, related that when E. R. Thomas, the automobile manufacturer, heard in Miami about the Wrights' first flight he offered them financial assistance. They refused it, because the only future they could see for planes was the building of seven or eight of them for the Government to use in scouting ahead of cavalry.

Distance flights for publicity purposes, he said, had been valuable in directing public attention to the possibilities of flying.

Harold Crary dipped lightly into what now seems a distant past by saying that the first transcontinental plane schedules four years ago were 36 hours and cost $400 and passengers crowded into the mail sack compartment. The cost had come down, he said, from 15½ cents a mile to five and one-half cents; the speed had risen from 90-miles-an-hour to 150 to 189. Planes probably will carry 600,000 passengers this year. Ninety-four per cent of schedules were maintained throughout the winter, he said, and within 90 days the transcontinental time will be cut again.

"The problem," he said, "has been to convince the public that something new is something practicable."

Pangborn's calm announcement that he proposed a non-stop flight around the world from the coming San Diego Exposition lost some of its atmosphere of fantasy when he said that a new Bernelli plane he proposes to use has a fuselage 12 feet wide which can carry 2,500 gallons of gasoline and provide accommodations for a radio operator and sleeping quarters while cruising at 155 miles an hour.

Outlines Proposed Flight

"I can take on 2,000 gallons over New York," he said, "and fly across the southern tip of Greenland and Iceland to Moscow. Another refueling there will take me to Irkutsk near Lake Baikal in Siberia with enough gas to fly around for eight or 10 hours in case the weather is bad. From there to San Diego would be 300 miles shorter than the flight which I made with Herndon from Tokio to the middle of the state of Washington in a two-year-old plane. We made that whole trip at 18,000 feet to keep above the fog."

Ruth Nicholls, another noted flyer, talked lightly of her experiences and reminded her hearers that the first balloon trip into the air was in 1783 and a year later a woman went along.

James Mollison, who has crossed the Atlantic three times, the last time with his wife, Amy Johnson, drew a laugh when he said that family arguments some times develop above the clouds.

"The one with the loudest voice wins," he said. "In the London-Melbourne race, I won the argument, but made a mistake—and I'll probably never hear the last of it." They were forced down in India.

Mollison was even more optimistic about transport flights to Europe than Sikorsky. He predicted that stratosphere crossings would be made in much less than 24 hours in the next two or three years.

"England is only 3,600 miles away," he said.

Frank Coffyn described the making of the first motion pictures from the air which he did for J. Stuart Blackton. "Our Wright plane had a top speed of 45-miles-an-hour," he said.

Casey Jones, the last speaker, said the greatest danger to aviators was "starvation," and he was grateful to flying because his speeches had gained him many free lunches.

Roach to Base Two On Amateurs' Work

Hal Roach will produce two comedy shorts next season dealing with amateur performers in theatres and on the radio. One of the pictures will be made in the east and the second at the coast studio.

Roach has effected a tieup with WHN and Loew theatres whereby winners in amateur contests at the radio station and in every Loew house will be cast for the two films.

"The box-office reception of 'Beginner's Luck' indicates the enormous potentialities of comedies built around amateurs," he said.

Accompanied by Mrs. Roach, the M-G-M short subject producer left yesterday on a flying trip to Culver, Ind., to spend the Easter holidays with his son, returning early next week to resume production conferences with M-G-M sales heads.

M-G-M Plans "Amateur Hour"

M-G-M stated yesterday it would produce a picture titled "Amateur Hour." The suggestion for it came from the program now featured over Station WHN, which is owned by Loew's.

RKO Booker Witness In M. & S. Hearing

Cross-examination of John O'Connor, head booker and film buyer for RKO, by Max D. RKO counsel had expected to conclude the case today.

Steuer will continue with his cross-examination of O'Connor when the hearing resumes today. Following him on the witness stand for RKO will be Nate Blumberg and Major I. E. Lambert.

Crammond Is Named B.&D. Board's Head

To Share Direction with Marshall, Norton

By BRUCE ALLAN

LONDON, April 17.—E. Ronald Crammond has been named chairman of the board for British & Dominions Films to succeed Hubert Marsh, who died recently. He joined the board in 1933 as a nominee of financial interests when reconstruction of the company was in progress, and has acted as chairman since the death of Marsh.

The plan is to have Crammond, Herbert Marshall and Richard Norton share direction of the company.

William Henry Cockburn has also been added to the board. He was a partner of Price, Waterhouse, Fuller & Co. in South America.

Henigson Resigns as Universal Producer

HOLLYWOOD, April 17.—Henry Henigson today resigned his post as a producer at Universal. His contract with the studio, which had several years more to run, was canceled by mutual consent.

Henigson will leave for New York the latter part of the week. No new affiliation was announced by him.

Harry M. Goetz, for years treasurer of Consolidated Film Industries, Inc., has been eliminated from the company's new board to permit him to concentrate his activities on Reliance Pictures which release through United Artists.

Winchester Gives In

Boston, April 17.—After 15 years of consistent defeats, Winchester has finally voted in favor of licensing a film theatre, 2,475-1,717, out of a total registration of 6,294.

Arguments that a theatre would be unsightly beside the limpid Aberjono River, that children would beg on the streets for admission money, despite the fact that Winchester is one of the wealthiest towns in the country, and that undesirables would be attracted to the community finally were downed.

Referendums on this problem began back in 1920. It finally took a house-to-house campaign, a parade of youngsters carrying banners and other things to put the project across.

Florida Sale Tax Sponsors Gain Support

TAMPA, April 17.—With the opening of the third week of Florida's Legislature it looks as though the "sales taxers" are in the saddle again and riding strong. At the opening of the session, the schools, which had advocated a sales tax to raise $10,500,000, claimed to be needed, decided to drop the general sales tax idea and asked for a 10 per cent amusement tax, with an additional cut in the gasoline tax instead.

Bills were introduced in both the House and Senate to assess a 10 per

Tampa Paper Blasts At Bank Night There

TAMPA, April 17.—The editor of the Tampa Tribune, leading daily in this section of Florida, comes out in the Sunday issue with a scathing editorial against bank night, under the heading, "Stop This Racket." A part of the editorial follows.

"'Bank night,' which has been running in Tampa theatres since September, has become a public nuisance, a community evil. It blocks streets,

Lenten Slump Bumps Takes In Most of the Key Cities

Lent began to make the full weight of its depressing effect on grosses felt in the week ending April 4-5. Takes for 139 theatres in 22 key cities declined sharply to $1,242,487.

The drop was abrupt and followed three weeks of excellent totals which set in during the second week of March. For the week ending March 21-22 the total was $1,325,360 and the following week it reached $1,334,375. The falling off for the week ending April 4-5 was fairly uniform for all

Giveaways in New York Area Stir Protest

ITOA and Jersey Allied To Discuss Problem

Giveaways in the local area have reached the nettling point in local exhibitor organizations.

Both the I.T.O.A. and Allied of New Jersey are preparing to hold special meetings for discussion on the premium situation and bank nights.

While the distribution of gifts in theatres is prevalent in approximately 90 per cent of the Greater New York houses, bank nights are far and few between. They are principally encouraged on Long Island.

Exhibitors declare that the giveaway gag has reached the point where it will ruin the business if continued at its present pace.

Some theatres give house furnishings and chinaware to patrons from

Campi March Costs Placed at $24,252.95

Total expenditures for Campi and its various agencies amounted to $24,252.95 for March. Of this sum, $10,161.98 went to home office expense, $1,982.15 for Hollywood and $12,108.82 for the local boards.

Exhibitors' assessments received during the month tallied $6,333. Receipts from producers and distributors amounted to $350. Cash on hand as of April 1 was $23,571.17.

Century-RKO Appeal To Be Heard May 3

Campi has set Friday, May 3, as the date for the appeal hearing on the Century-RKO clearance dispute in Long Island. The local board recently handed down a split decision declaring the RKO houses in Far Rockaway non-competitive to the Fantasy, Rockville Center; that the RKO Alden, Jamaica, was competitive to the Century, Jamaica house. Both sides appealed.

Dropping Stage Shows

BRIDGEPORT, April 17. — The Globe will drop stage shows and return to straight films on May 3.

Purely Personal

JOSEPH M. SCHENCK gave a party at the Normandie for DARRYL F. ZANUCK yesterday by way of observing the second celebration of the birth of 20th Century Pictures. It was quite an affair and it drew quite a turnout. Spotted were these, although they were not all by any manner of means: NICHOLAS M. SCHENCK, DAVID BERNSTEIN, J. ROBERT RUBIN, FELIX FEIST, JOE VOGEL, CHARLES C. MOSKOWITZ, OSCAR DOOB, MARVIN SCHENCK. Also LEOPOLD FRIEDMAN, HERBERT YATES, BEN and BILL GOETZ, MYRON SELZNICK, ARTHUR LOEW, JIMMY DURANTE, LOLA WOURSELL, LEE SHUBERT, WILLIAM PHILLIPS, BORIS MORROS, EDDIE CANTOR, GEORGE DAWES, HAL HORNE, EDWARD CHURCHILL, BOB GOLDSTEIN, GREGORY DICKSON, VIRGINIA MORRIS, AL MARGOLIES, MORRIS HALPERN, AL SHERMAN, SAM ECKMAN, JACK ALICOATE. Then, too, PAUL WHITEMAN, SAM HARRIS, HAL ROACH, AL LICHTMAN, PAUL BURGER, HARRY GOLD, LYNN FARNOL, W. G. VAN SCHMUS, JOE MOSKOWITZ, DENNIS F. O'BRIEN, ED RAFTERY, ED EDELSON, TERRY RAMSAYE, BIDE DUDLEY, LOUIS SOBOL, ARTHUR W. KELLY, VICTOR MOORE, MORTON DOWNEY, ETHEL MERMAN, PETE HARRISON, LOIS JACOBY, HARRY D. BUCKLEY, BERNARD SOBOL, A. C. BLUMENTHAL, JACK COHN, HERB BERG, NATE SPINGOLD, LEO BRADY, LARRY REID, MARY BOYLE, JIM CUNNINGHAM, DON MERSEREAU, ARTHUR EDDY, WILLIAM BOEHNEL, and countless others. HARRY BRAND jokingly remarked the attendance by 7 P. M. had outdistanced "Naughty Marietta" at the Capitol by 217.

cent tax on all amusement tickets. Before these bills could be brought to a vote, it was decided that this tax would not raise enough revenue to satisfy the schools, and the sales tax advocates came out strong again.

The tax that is now proposed would place a straight three per cent on every transaction, with the exception of the sale of gasoline, which is now taxed seven cents on each gallon. According to reports on the proposed bill, which, it is said, has the approval of the Governor, who had been against a sales tax, the law would require the seller to collect at the time of sale a state tax of three per cent and remit it monthly. The seller could not absorb the tax. The question has been asked as to how the tax would be charged against theatre tickets, and the opinion seems to be that a penny would have to be added to each child ticket of 10 cents and two cents added to the 40-cent adult tickets.

Three other bills affecting the industry are in. One, introduced by Representative Sandler of Tampa, would impose license taxes running from $50 to $500 on bank nights; another would ban walkathons, and the third would impose $15 annual license fees on billboards and a tax of 10 cents per square foot.

Missouri Fight Goes On

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., April 17.— Despite Senate opposition, administration forces will continue to wage a fight for a two per cent sales tax. The Senate Ways and Means Committee wants a continuation of the present levy of one half of one per cent with the extension including one fourth of one per cent on wholesaling and manufacturing, which would include film distributors.

Big Vending Tax Impends

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., April 17.— Missouri theatres operating vending machines would have to pay a tax of from $3 to $15 per machine under a bill passed by the House. The impost covers all slot machines and vending devices.

Kill Two-Operator Bill

SACRAMENTO, April 17.—The Assembly Labor Capital Committee today killed the two-man-in-a-booth bill which had been proposed as a "safety measure." This gives the second victory to the industry since the present session opened. The first was the death on the Assembly floor of the film footage tax. Only admission, chain store and income taxes remain as major battle points.

G. B. Party Will Sail

Michael E. Balcon, production head of Gaumont British who has been in Hollywood for the past six weeks on a talent tour, Helen Vinson and Noah Beery sail for England tomorrow night on the Berengaria. Both Miss Vinson and Beery have been signed for roles in G. three to five nights a week. This is regarded as a competitive situation that even the best picture cannot overshadow.

What moves will be taken by members of the two independent exhibitor units has not yet been decided. Unless 75 per cent of the exhibitors in a territory vote for banning premiums nothing can be done about the practice except by agreement within the organizations.

porarily dropped the matter, devoting all his time to NRA business in Washington.

Harry Brandt, who proposed one of three scales recently was delegated by the I.T.O.A. to confer with I.A.T.S.E officials and Rosenblatt. Preliminary meetings were held between Brandt and Louis Krouse, vice-president of the international, but no conferences have been held with the former administrator since the fact-finding committee disbanded.

Rosenblatt is anxious to clear up the union situation in the metropolitan area, but has decided to wait until the NRA bill is signed before giving it any more of his time.

Chicago Code Test Seen

CHICAGO, April 17.—The special session of the local grievance board called in the case of Great States Theatres against E. E. Alger Amusement Co. was continued until April 23 because of the inability of the original board membership to sit.

A previous hearing resulted in an impasse when attorneys for Alger challenged substitute members. As a result of this technicality, the local board secretary is reluctant to call a meeting until the original board is available. On the original board were Alan Usher, Paramount branch manager; Irving Mandel, Security Pictures; James Coston, Warner Theatres, and Nate Wolfe, unaffiliated.

Regardless of the fact that the original board will be sitting at the next meeting, it is expected that Rosenberg, Toomin & Stein, Alger counsel, will challenge the validity of the board as a whole under the NRA. Protest against substitute members at last week's meeting is viewed as merely the beginning of a court attack to prove that the code board is unfairly constituted and the prevailing setup does not offer a fair hearing to Alger.

Alger is charged with unfair competition through use of free merchandise, merchants' tickets and the like. The case is arousing much local interest since the complainant is the powerful Great States Theatres. Alger's film service is threatened and the purpose of the forthcoming meeting is to set a date for cutting off his service.

New Audubon Protest In

Loew's has filed another code complaint against Harry Brandt's Audubon for "Lucky Nights." The Rio is the protestant.

Several weeks ago Loew's got a cease and desist order against the Audubon for giving out "pay envelopes" to children on Saturday mornings.

Ventura Decision Modified

Modifying the decision of the Los Angeles grievance board which unanimously dismissed the overbuying complaint of Mrs. Jenne H Dodge of the Mission, Ventura, Cal., against Fox West Coast, Campi has held that because of the selective contracts held by the major circuit it must accept in writing all pictures 21 days after release date. In the event F.W.C. fails to comply, the undated films automatically become available for purchase by Mrs. Dodge.

F.W.C. has the American and Ventura in Ventura, the houses complained of by the Mission.

In a similar complaint filed by Smalley's, Norwich, N. Y., against Schine's Colonial, same city, the respondent was given from 21 to 28 days in which to decide whether to take pictures. Failure to date within the prescribed time makes undated films available to Smalley.

Rosenblatt Loses Case

Leon Rosenblatt of the Maplewood, Maplewood, N. J., has lost his clearance and zoning complaint against Warners. Rosenblatt sought to follow Warner houses in Newark 21 days after first run.

After a decision by the local board, an appeal committee recommended 28 days, but when Campi decided the issue the entire complaint was thrown out.

and Philip Merivale. R. J. O'Donnell says it's a record, in view of the size of the towns and number of performances.

The show opened in Dallas at the Melba April 5 for three performances—Friday night, Saturday matinee and Saturday night—and grossed $13,750. It is estimated that the end of the run, a total of 10 performances, at Fort Worth Saturday, chalked up $46,530, including Federal tax. This exceeds Katharine Cornell's gross last year and is away ahead of the "Ziegfeld Follies."

Interstate regards it as signs of a general uptrend in business.

Broken down by towns, the grosses were: Dallas, $13,750; Houston, $13,860; San Antonio (one night), $6,710; Austin (one night), $4,150; Ft. Worth (Saturday matinee and night), $7,700.

Ohio Employment Up Over Opening of 1934

months of this year, employment in Ohio increased 6.7 per cent over the first quarter of 1934, according to information just released by the Ohio State University bureau of business research.

The breakdown in percentages shows: Cincinnati, 5.2; Dayton, 4.8; Toledo, 4.7; Cleveland, 4; Youngstown, 2.7; Stark County, including Canton, 2; Columbus, 1.4, and Akron, 0.6. An increase of 3.5 per cent was reported outside of these situations.

DAYTON, April 17.—Business generally shows a marked improvement here, and exhibitors report that they are getting their proportionate share. This is due to a decided pickup in manufacturing and retail activities.

According to report just released by A. C. Wolf, secretary of the Dayton Clearing House Ass'n., March payrolls were more than a million dollars greater than in February. Figures for March are $5,044,865.53; February, $3,739,418.

The March payrolls this year were $157,614.44 more than for March, 1934.

O'Connor on Stand In M. & S.-RKO Case

All of yesterday's session in the hearing of lease charges preferred against RKO by Meyer & Schneider was devoted to continued cross-examination of John O'Connor, head booker and film buyer for the defendant.

The hearing will be continued today, with no session scheduled for tomorrow. It will be resumed Saturday. Counsel for RKO yesterday was not certain the case would be completed by then. Nate Blumberg, Major I. E. Lambert and A. J. Handel, the latter's assistant, are still to testify for RKO.

Most of the examination of O'Connor by Max Steuer, counsel for M. & S., was on stories which appeared in trade papers. O'Connor resumes this morning and it is likely Blumberg will take the stand in the afternoon.

"Roberta" Tops List Of March Champions

"Roberta" leads the list of box-office champions for March, compiled by Motion Picture Herald, out today.

Other winners are "Ruggles of Red Gap," "The Little Colonel," "The Scarlet Pimpernel," "Folies Bergere," "The Whole Town's Talking," "West Point of the Air," and "Sequoia."

Walsh Succeeds Winn

ST. LOUIS, April 17.—Hall Walsh, for the past ten years a salesman in the local branch office of Warners, has been promoted to manager to succeed James Winn, who in turn has been promoted to the managership of the Chicago office as successor to Edward Grossman, who resigned.

Higgins Circuit Bankrupt

SHAMOKIN, PA., April 17.—The Higgins circuit, operating six theatres in this town, Tamaqua and Langsford, has gone into bankruptcy. It is one of the oldest circuits operating in Pennsylvania. John Higgins is head of the circuit.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"The Daring Young Man"

(Fox)

HOLLYWOOD, April 17.—Doubtless inspired by the Welfare Island prison scandal in New York, this film treats the subject as a farce comedy.

James Dunn, a reporter covering fires, weddings, funerals and ship news, falls in love with Mae Clarke, sent on the same assignments by a rival sheet. On their wedding day Dunn is assigned to write a jail story from the inside and leaves Miss Clarke waiting at the church. He finds the jail run as a country club for big shot gangsters with Warden Sidney Toler admitting Warren Hymer, a crook, to hide him from the police. Eventually Toler, learning Dunn's identity, has Hymer and William Pawley chase him to town, where Dunn goes to see Miss Clarke. They bring Dunn back before a raid by the prison superintendent. Slapstick comedy follows the raid, ending when Toler and Hymer shower each other with stolen money and Dunn and Miss Clarke straighten out their misunderstanding about the wedding.

By refusing to treat the incident seriously, Producer Robert T. Kane has made a picture with wide appeal. Director William Seiter has pointed the comedy scenes well. William Hurlbut's screen play from Sidney Skolsky's and Claude Binyon's original is workmanlike.

Production Code Seal No. 746. Running time, 74 minutes. "G."

"Mississippi," which was previewed at the Paramount Tuesday night, was reviewed by wire from Hollywood on Feb. 23.

"Reckless," opening at the Capitol tomorrow morning, was reviewed from Hollywood by wire on April 2.

R. H. Clemmons to Build

NEW ORLEANS, April 17.—R. H. Clemmons says he will build a 1,400-seat house in Lake Charles, as well as open houses in Crowley and Lafayette.

Short Subjects

"Spinning Mice"

(Van Beuren-Radio)

The old fable of the spinning mice is presented in a color cartoon. It should be particularly pleasing to children as well as grownups.

Two children notice a spinning mouse and ask him why he spins. The mouse then explains that long ago an old man tried to change nature and got himself into trouble. All spinning mice, therefore, don't ask why they are forced to revolve all the time but merely go on doing so, all the while remembering the fate of the old man.

Good entertainment. Production Code Seal, No. 0346. Running time, 8 mins. "G."

"Bolero"

(Tapernoux-Metropolis)

This musical film, filmed against the background of Ravel's "Bolero," is excellent entertainment. It should appeal to all types of audiences.

Photographed to the accompaniment of the music as played by the Paris Symphony Orchestra, the reel tells the popular Spanish tale of the young gypsy girl who travels from lover to lover, crushing men's hearts on her way, only to be revealed in the end for what she truly is. It is all dramatically presented.

Highly recommended. No production code seal. Running time, 14 mins. "G."

"Rainbow Canyon"

(M-G-M)

Grand Canyon and Brice Canyon are covered in this Fitzpatrick Traveltalk done in Technicolor. All the shifting colors are caught in their natural hues, and some of the shots are breath-taking. It is the color scenes that lift this short to a position slightly above the ordinary because the ground covered has been gone over many times before in similar pictures.

Recommended. Reviewed without production code seal. Running time, 8 mins. "G."

"The Old Camp Ground"

Featuring Charles Carlisle, this "Song Hit Story" is entertainment that should please audiences, particularly those that like music.

Against a Civil War background, several old-time numbers are presented, such as "Dixie," "Tenting Tonight on the Old Camp Ground" and "Break the News to Mother." Carlisle sings several solos in a pleasing manner.

Recommended. Reviewed without production code seal. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

"I Haven't Got a Hat"

(Vitaphone)

It is commencement day in the country school house and all the animals, including their parents, come to see each other perform. Some recite, others sing and dance or play the piano. The reel winds up with a very funny sequence.

An entertaining color cartoon that should please all patrons. Reviewed without production code seal. Running time, 7 mins. "G."

"Transient" Show, Strong In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, April 17.—The downtown managers last week had reason to believe that Holy Week had arrived seven days ahead of schedule. Takings were way off except in one case, the Alvin, where Mary Brian in person with "Transient Lady" gave the house a nice $11,000. It was the only attraction in town to better an even break.

"Private Worlds" at the Stanley received plenty of attention everywhere save at the box-office and had to be content with $7,700, while the Penn, with "The Wedding Night" and five acts of vaudeville, continued to slip, getting only $15,500. At the Fulton, "The Night Life of the Gods," despite very favorable notices, never got started and wound up weakly at $3,500, while the same thing was true of "Power" and "Car 99" at the Warner, with the take approximately only $3,900.

Total first run grosses were $41,600. Average is $46,500.

Estimated takings for the week ending April 11:

"TRANSIENT LADY" (Univ.)
ALVIN—(2,000), 25c-40c, 6 days. Stage: Mary Brian, Adrena and Hines, Paul Gannon, Madeline Baker, Powell and Nedra, Carter and Holmes, Streamline Alvinettes, Jerry Mayhall's orchestra. Gross: $11,000. (Average, $10,000)

"Marietta" Pulls $10,200, Buffalo

BUFFALO, April 17.—"Naughty Marietta," on which plenty of money was spent for exploitation, took in $10,200 at the Hippodrome, overboard by $2,200. "Private Worlds" also topped normal at the Buffalo, but otherwise pickings were slim. Weather mostly balmy.

Total take was $41,600. Normal is $42,800.

Estimated takings for week ending April 12:

"PRIVATE WORLDS" (Para.)
BUFFALO — (3,500), 30c-55c, 7 days. Stage: Earl Carroll's "Vanities," with Ken Murray, Collette Sisters, Samuels Bros., Milton Charleston, Rosie Moran, Donald Burr, Claire Curry, Helen Charleston. Gross: $15,000. (Average, $14,300)
"THE RIGHT TO LIVE" (F.N.)

"NAUGHTY MARIETTA" (M-G-M)
HIPPODROME—(2,100), 25c-40c, 7 days. Gross: $10,200. (Average, $8,000)
"IT HAPPENED IN NEW YORK" (Univ.)
"LITTLE FRIEND" (Gaumont British)
LAFAYETTE — (3,300), 25c, 7 days. Gross: $5,300. (Average, $6,500)

Throttle Pushing

By H. E. N.

North Carolina

This state is in the throes of the greatest theatre building and remodeling campaign we have ever witnessed. Manufacturers will do well to make a bid for the thousands of dollars that are being spent so lavishly throughout this prosperous territory on equipment, building material and decorations. We have only just started to drive this state and the few towns we have called upon, furnish this:

SPINDALE—P. L. Champion is building a 400-seat house with all modern features. He has taken back his lease on the Carolina from Harrill. Messrs. Yelton, Setzer and Harrill are building a 450-seat house, to be called the New Carolina. This is a modern brick structure and will open May 1 with De-Forest Sound.

GASTONIA—W. T. Gray will close the Loray for a complete remodeling and enlarging. Plans call for 700 seats, modern ventilating and equipment throughout; cost $10,000. Unique cooling plant; local ice company plant adjacent will be hooked up with theatre in summer. J. E. Simpson, owner of Lyric, will build a Class A structure, seating 900, on the site of the old Ideal. Lyric policy will be Class B. Bill Conn's Webb, which is modern in every detail, will play along with what he has.

FOREST CITY—J. W. Griffin of York, S. C., has taken over the Romina here and is remodeling same.

DUNN—Worth Stewart, operating the Paramount, Farmville, N. C., has taken over the Dunn from "Heck" Huff. This house will be completely remodeled, reseated and carpeted, and will open soon.

BELMONT—E. E. Wade, Iris Theatre, will start within the next 30 days to entirely remodel and enlarge to 500 seats. Plans call for an entire new house with the present walls only used. Strictly modern.

KINGSTON—A. B. Huffs, Oasis, which was partially destroyed by fire recently, will be entirely rebuilt along the latest modern lines.

GRAHAM—Mrs. A. B. Thompson's new house, the Graham, will open May 15.

ASHEVILLE—Sam Reevin will close the Eagle in the next 60 days for complete alterations. This house, when finished, will be one of the most modern colored theatres in the Carolinas.

South Carolina

GEORGETOWN—Morris Abrams, Peerless Theatre, is opening a new house in Anderson, date of opening not available yet.

CLINTON—May 1 is a banner day for Jack Sheeley, owner of the Casino here and the Capitol at Laurens. His new house of 450 seats will give Clinton theatregoers an up-to-date and modern house. New Erwin opera chairs, Simplex machines, Walker Screen, furnished by National Theatre Supply, have been installed.

SENECA—Mrs. K. Richardson has closed the Richardson for a complete remodeling of same. Five hundred Erwin seats to be installed, air cooler, new carpets, lighting fixtures and marquee. Expect to be open in 30 days.

DILLON—B. B. Benfield will open a new house at Myrtle Beach May 15. He also operates Chesterfield, McCall, and plans another one in the near future.

"Wedding" at $10,500 Is Best San Francisco Show

SAN FRANCISCO, April 17.—Anna Sten demonstrated considerable drawing power at the United Artists. The take on "The Wedding Night" was over the line by $2,500 for a total of $10,500.

"Ruggles of Red Gap" went into the hardy perennial classification. It held up to $7,000 in its second week at the St. Francis and was given another. This is its fourth downtown week. The only other downtown spot to demonstrate much life was the Paramount where "Traveling Salesman" and "$10 Raise" pulled $11,500.

Total first run business was $78,000. Average is $82,000.

Estimated takings:

PARAMOUNT—(3,050), 25c-35c, 7 days. Vaudeville headed by Georgia Minstrels. Gross: $5,200. (Average, $6,000)

"Marietta" Smash Hit in Providence

PROVIDENCE, April 17.—Raves about the starring combination of Nelson Eddy and Jeanette MacDonald sent grosses skyrocketing to $13,000 at Loew's State which held "Naughty Marietta" over for another week. Eddy, who is a Providence boy, can have the keys to the city.

The Strand also went to town in a big way with "Mississippi," catching $8,600, better than $2,000 over average. Fay's raked in $8,200 with "It Happened in New York" and vaudeville and the RKO Albee and Majestic were up to par, the former house holding "Roberta" over for a third week.

Total first run business was $44,850. Average is $40,500.

Estimated takings for the week ending April 11:

Zanuck Would End B Films, Halve Output

Declares It Would Hit Duals, Aid Industry

If every major company in the business would cut its program in half and concentrate on A pictures it would go a long way toward solving the dual problem and help the industry, declared Darryl Zanuck, vice-president in charge of production of 20th Century, yesterday.

"This business of turning them out for five cents a dozen, allotting $100,000 for this one, $150,000 for that one, $250,000 for the next one and stopping when the money is spent is the bunk," he declared. "It can't be done.

"To make it worse, every picture is advertised the same way—as the biggest and the best. What's the answer? If a man happens to see three of these B pictures in a row he gets disgusted and stays home to listen to the radio. The only way he can tell

Says 9,509 of 10,143 Houses Utilize It; Hits at Critics

By BERTRAM F. LINZ

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Characterizing the film code as a "real experiment in industrial self-government," General Hugh S. Johnson, former NRA administrator, today made a strong defense of the document before the Senate finance committee.

"If there is any antagonism to the code on the part of independent exhibitors," he declared, "it must be well concealed because out of the 10,143 theatre exhibitors, 9,116 have actually signed the code and 340 additional have taken its benefits without signing, so that 9,509 out of 10,143 have either signed or accepted the affirmative benefits of this code."

The former administrator admitted that the code probably needs some revision, but asserted it was his understanding that the NRA is prepared to make needed changes in the near future.

"But when a code authority composed of such divergent elements as nual confab, which is slated for Chicago late next month.

Time and place for the G. B. Sales talks have not yet been set by Arthur Lee. Several additions to the selling staffs throughout the country and a successor to L. J. Schlaifer, who resigned some time ago, will be announced at the first get together of the entire sales force. The number of pictures to be released next season will also be made public at the meeting.

George Weeks, general sales manager, was in Chicago yesterday and will be in Cleveland today. He will return tomorrow.

Kents En Route East

HOLLYWOOD, April 18.—Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Kent left here last night for the east. They will make a brief stop in Chicago, arriving in New York Sunday. Kent will return in June.

Headed for $14,000

"Cardinal Richelieu" grossed $5,620 at the Music Hall by 5 P. M. yesterday, its opening day. Anticipation last night was that the picture would end at $14,000 for the entire day.

Kills 30-Hour Week Bill

SACRAMENTO, April 18.—The Assembly has killed the Democratic 30-hour week bill, 49-26. Studios had opposed it.

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

LARGELY undetermined so far but the object of considerable and serious discussion in parleys headed by Herbert J. Yates, that big laboratory man from Consolidated, is a plan to add more law and order to the independent field. One step in this general direction is the deal whereby Monogram becomes Republic and a national selling organization in the true sense of the word. Yates is supplying the finances, which is passing on no secret at all.

A second and separate step swings around other enterprises in which Consolidated's exchequer is the factor of weight. These companies would be Liberty, Majestic and Mascot. . . .

When you talk merger, you talk difficulties arising from personalities and individual ideas current in the separate corporate entities.

When you consider a strengthening of these entities by the elimination of one of them to bulwark the other two, that's something else which happens to hit very closely to the scheme, on paper so far, but afoot nevertheless. Serious thought has been applied to distribution, the relative importance of the state right exchanges now handling the products individually, how the available ingredients might be reshuffled in an endeavor to rate more and better commitments on playing time as well as on price. . . . .

In the field, to go specific about it, a particular exchange may be handling too many pictures which, in turn, makes its selling too diffused and too scattered to approximate maximum. Another exchange may be weak in point of product and a realignment, as a consequence, may transform it into a distributor sufficiently fortified to achieve better results. In other words, the companies in which Yates plays the dominant financial role have so many pictures releasing through so many exchanges. Availables being what they are, why not add here, subtract there, and re-distribute the cards along lines which will mean an increased return? . . .

On the urging of producers to film classics and near classics as their authors penned them, minus distortion and embellishment, H. E. Jameyson, district manager for Fox Midwest, has something to say. He knows as much, perhaps more, about literature than any showmen in the Kansas City area. He is credited with having interested Fox in the production of "David Harum," which starred Will Rogers and is largely responsible for the campaign launched by Fox Midwest to interest champions of good literature in patronizing pictures drawn from meritorious printed pages. . . .

On this subject then, which is one of this department's phobias, Jameyson's word is this:

Some years ago I won some harsh criticism for the suggestion that the theatres were committing a form of fraud when they advertised the work of some great author, and then gave the public something entirely different. In spite of the abuse that was heaped upon my poor head at the time, I still stand upon that statement.

If the literary construction of a novel is such to make faithful presentation impossible, then I say it should not be produced. We have no more right to mislabel our screen fare than a manufacturer has to mislabel merchandise, and it would not surprise me a bit to see the Federal Trade Commission sometime take cognizance of some of the outrages we have committed upon well-read literature.

But, disregarding the ethical phases of the matter (which to me are paramount), I think it's bad business! To produce "Cyrano de Bergerac" in a modern setting is a crime comparable to mayhem! You have insulted everybody that has ever read and loved the book, and you haven't added to your audience.

I do not mean to imply that it's always necessary to save every detail of a novel in its screen presentation, nor am I arbitrarily stating that the book has to be produced without any changes whatsoever, but the public is entitled to see substantially what they read.

The evidence seems pretty conclusive that faithful reproductions of novels, not only win public approval—but theatre attendance. With the glowing examples of "David Copperfield," "Little Women," "David Harum" and a dozen others I could mention, standing before them as an object lesson, I cannot understand why any motion picture producer would contemplate the rewriting of the books that fall into his hands.

Echoed by this editorial typewriter. . . .

Imposition of fines of $1,000 to $5,000 on companies found guilty of releasing objectionable publicity matter, whether art or publicity was brought about several months ago through an amendment to the Advertising Code. The fines apply only to cases in which the objectionable material has been used after having been rejected by the Advertising Advisory Council. Contrary to reports, there is no provision in the Advertising Code for the discharge of employes responsible for the release of the banned material. The amendment was adopted to increase the enforceability of the pact by strengthening it with penalties similar to those added to the Production Code last year. Publication of the story latterly would indicate some of this department's confreres in various directions have been resting on their heels. . . .

Warners, who made a reputation and box-offices busy places with fast, action melodramas based on newspaper headlines, are back in the field they know so well with "G Men." First of the eight, ten, or maybe it's twelve of the pictures now in work on the coast and dealing with the activities of Department of Justice men, this First National attraction has tempo, pace and excitement and enough of all three to turn it into first-class audience stuff. About the others along similar lines which are to come, there may be some doubt. Not here, however. Priority is important in cycles and near cycles. The Warners know it, are making plans to rush the film out and yesterday set the first two dates: the Roger Sherman, New Haven, and the Warfield, San Francisco, on the 26th. Other keys and semi-key runs immediately thereafter. Smart handling. . . .

Praise paragraph: To all hands who perspired, conspired or whatever it was they did on the daily newspaper display of the opening of "Les Miserables" at the Rivoli tomorrow morning. Simple, yet dignified, and with a handful of words, it merely showed a figure of Valjean, central figure of the story, standing in the flush of a rising sun and with hands outstretched paying mute tribute to the epic drama of the book. . . .

FitzPatrick sails April 27 on the Rex for Gibraltar where he will board the Julius Caesar for Capetown. From Capetown he will visit the heart of Africa where he will spend six weeks shooting the backgrounds. He plans to return on July 21. Distribution plans have not yet been worked out for the feature, although FitzPatrick has a releasing deal with M-G-M for his Technicolor Traveltalks.

The first issue under the editorship of Sir Malcolm Campbell will be April 25. Tom Webster, Daily Mail cartoonist; G. Ward Price, war correspondent and politician; Capt. R. C. Lyle, British Broadcasting Co. racing expert; Guy Nickall, famous oarsman, and Beryl Querton, style authority, will have charge of various departments.

Walter J. Hutchinson, Fox general manager here, emphasizes that Fox is only selling agent here for British Movietone News. The changes indicate the strength of the Daily Mail-Harmsworth interests in the organization and also reflect the prevailing acute newsreel competition.

Want Show Tax Dropped

LONDON, April 8 (By Mail)—An influentially supported movement to obtain exemption from the entertainment tax, or a preferential scale, for theatres offering stage shows either in the form of drama or vaudeville, is obtaining increased publicity on the eve of the budget.

The argument is that these theatres provide more employment than straight film houses and that much of their material has a "cultural" value. As a national asset, it is claimed, they deserve similar encouragement to that extended to the Old Vic and Sadler's Wells "Art" theatres, which have a tax exemption.

the two other houses gives him complete control of Pottstown.

He plans to reopen the dark Victory for traveling shows and community affairs and gatherings. In addition, Goldman said he would take over the Park, Hanover, and the Bandbox and the 56th St., both local houses. The latter is being remodeled and will reopen in September.

The Bandbox goes to Goldman after a long court fight which eneded today with the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals upholding his previous victories.

Goldman now controls six houses in this territory and it is expected four more will be added within the next few months.

The announcement of the Warner deal in Pottstown came as a surprise to Film Row here, although it is known that he is friendly with Harry M. Warner. Goldman's name has been linked with other houses in the past, with his operations even reported to be extending into Pittsburgh, but the official announcement today gave the first complete picture of his operations. He is expected to be a vital force in independent exhibitor circles.

Variety Club Chatter

Cincinnati

Cincinnati, April 18.—May 11 is the date definitely set for the tent's second annual dinner dance, which will be given in the Pavilion Caprice of the Netherland Plaza.

Allan S. Moritz, chief barker, has appointed the following committees: Arthur Frudenfeld, entertainment; Ralph Kinsler, table reservations; Maurice White, decorations; Paul Krieger, printing; Noah Schecter, publicity; Elmer Dressman, radio; Abe Lipp, treasurer, and Jim Grady, tickets.

Grady will be assisted by the following barkers: Harold Bernstein, E. M. Booth, Jake N. Gelman, Stanley C. Jacques, Sam Kramer, H. J. Wessel, Paul Krieger, Joe Oulahan, Al Shmitkin, Elmer Shard, Manny Shure and Maurice White. Attendance will be limited to 700.

Charlie Weigel is looking for the fellow who has been inserting notices in the trade and other publications that he is spending the winter in Florida. He wants to thank him for the compliment.

Col. Arthur Frudenfeld, head man of the side show committee, is taking time out in his Hotel Gibson suite while recovering from a sprained ankle sustained when he tripped over a defective curb at the Film Building.

Karl Rohs, skipper of a theatre bearing his name at Cynthiana, Ky., now has a third member in his family. An eight pound son and heir arrived during the past week.

Max Leflowitz, president of the Community Circuit, Cleveland, and a member of that tent, spent the week-end here, accompanied by the Mrs. They have a son in college.

Noah Schecter is busy readying publicity incident to the early opening of Arrowhead Inn, local night spot.

Cleveland

Cleveland, April 18.—Cleveland Variety Club is holding regular business and pleasure meetings in the club's Statler Hotel quarters. Every Saturday night a large crowd gathers to play keno.

Luncheons are held each Monday, most of them without outside entertainment. There will probably be one more "king for a day" luncheon before the end of the season. Every alternate Wednesday is ladies' day. Mrs. Henry Greenberger, wife of the circuit owner, and Mrs. Deffenbaugh, wife of the RKO Palace artist, were queens at the luncheon held last week. There have been few out-of-town visitors during the past few weeks.

Omaha

Omaha, April 18.—Harry J. Shumow, M-G-M branch manager, has been elected barker of the Omaha club.

Evert R. Cummings, district manager for A. H. Blank, was made first assistant barker; John Gillin, Jr., of WOW radio station, second assistant barker; M. G. Rogers, of Film Transport, wagon man; Ed Shafton, attorney and alternate code board member, property man.

Canvasmen: Joe Scott, Fox branch manager; D. V. McLucas, U. A. branch manager; LeRoy Miller, Universal salesman; Bob Ballantyne, of Scott-Ballantyne Supply Co.; William Miskell, manager of the Orpheum, and H. J. Chapman, Columbia branch manager.

St. Louis

St. Louis, April 18.—Lou Elman is the new Variety Club president.

Other officers named at the recent election are: Vice-presidents, Barney Rosenthal and Joe Garrison; treasurer, George Wiegand; secretary, Henry Budde; chairman of the house committee, Tony Matreci; directors, Ray Colvin, John Walsh, Eddie Rosecran, B. B. Rheingold, Harold W. Evens and Ruby S'Renco.

First big event under the new administration will be a dance April 20.

Washington

Washington, April 18.—Announcement of the new classification of affiliate member has drawn from the parent chapter a gentle rebuke and effective reminder that tents cannot, under the national bylaws, create new membership groups.

Accordingly, this "affiliate" rubric is out from the local bylaws, but nothing has been done to expugn the minutes, and so memberships are being taken of those whose cards might otherwise have been made out for the new category.

Such new members will probably go into the record as associate members, but colloquially Tent No. 11 will recognize them as merely affiliates.

Forthcoming golf tournament and dinner dance, preparations for which are being supervised by Sam A. Galanty, will be held at the Manor Club.

Louisiana Tax Decree In

New Orleans, April 18.—A final decree declaring the newspaper tax act of the 1934 Legislature to be unconstitutional and enjoining Supervisor of Public Accounts Grosjean from enforcing it has been filed in Federal court here. Motions by the state to dismiss the newspapers' suit are dismissed in the decree. Also dismissed are motions by the state to strike out certain portions of the petition and to require the newspapers to particularize. The office of Miss Grosjean was charged with the costs of the proceedings.

St. Louis Houses Drop

St. Louis, April 18.—The annual report of License Collecter Renick reveals that 122 theatres operated here during the last fiscal year ending June 1, 1934. For the previous year there were 152.

New Firm Is Chartered

Albany, April 18. — Westchester Square Enterprises Corp. has been chartered here. Abraham Scheiner, Louis A. Hulnick and Freda Weinger are directors.

"Wedding" Is $11,500 Lead In Cleveland

Cleveland, April 18.—"The Wedding Night," with $11,500 at Loew's State, was the best downtown draw last week.

Total business was lower than it has been in the past six weeks. "Gold Diggers of 1935," plus Gus Arnheim's Cocoanut Grove orchestra, went to $16,000, or $1,000 over par, at the RKO Palace. Other first runs held close to their averages, doing better than the same week last year.

Total first run business was $44,400. Average is $41,000.

Estimated takings for the week ending April 12:

"THE GREAT HOTEL MURDER" (Fox)
ALLEN—(3,300), 25c-35c, 6 days. Gross: $3,000. (Average, $3,000)

"GEORGE WHITE'S 1935 SCANDALS" (Fox)
WARNERS' HIPPODROME — (3,800), 30c-35c-42c, 7 days. Gross: $6,500. (Average, $6,000)

"Roberta" $4,600 Smash in Lincoln

Lincoln, April 18.—"Roberta" was a hit for eight days at the Stuart and the gross teetered into new high ground for the year, $4,600. An average seven-day pace is $3,100.

"West Point of the Air" did nicely at the Lincoln, likewise for eight days, with $3,000, considerably over the seven-day average of $2,200.

The Orpheum's "Straight from the Heart" and "Chicago Follies" on the stage three days, and the dual, "Mystery of Edwin Drood" and "Lottery Lover," four days were worth $2,900, $600 to the good. At the Varsity, there was another dull stretch with "Fugitive Lady" and "Symphony of Living" The tally was $800.

Total first run business was $11,300. Average is $9,100.

Johnson Hits Code Critics; Says It Works

this one, with the interests of affiliated and independent, big and small producers, distributors and exhibitors, buyers and sellers, can cast approximately 94 per cent of its votes on divergent subjects unanimously, I should say that the code had worked pretty well," he commented.

Launching upon a defense of the film code, General Johnson asserted it to have been one of the most difficult to work out in the whole NRA.

"For the first time in the history of the motion picture industry a common forum was set up wherein producers, distributors, exhibitors, the public, actors, labor and the administration are all represented," he pointed out. "There has never been a representative trade association embracing the three economic divisions of this industry and there still does not exist any such trade association.

"It would have been a comparatively easy thing for NRA to have secured a separate code for producers, a separate code for distributors and a separate code for exhibitors, as was the case with almost all other integrated, but yet economically severable industries. But under three codes NRA could never have given even the slightest relief to the independent exhibitors of the nation, since it is an impossibility to take under one code from those who possess rights under another code."

Sees Exhibitors Benefited

Explaining that distributors are essentially sellers, and exhibitors are buyers of film and that they had antagonistic interests, General Johnson told the committee that under the code exhibitors "have been given rights and privileges which they never could have achieved except by changes in our copyright laws or by a statute regulating the transportation of film in interstate commerce."

"As proposal after proposal was placed before the distributors," he continued, "they took the position that NRA had no power to make provision in derogation of their legal rights as copyright proprietors and they insisted that they were entitled to have their rights taken from them only by court action, changes of statutes or their acquiescence and voluntary consent. NRA secured their voluntary consent and acquiescence."

As examples of the concessions secured by the NRA from the various groups, he cited the 10 per cent cancellation clause, under which exhibitors so far have cancelled approximately 18,000 playdates; the provision against overbuying, affording the independent exhibitor relief which "he could not have secured in any court in the land or under any statutes written in any of the statute books"; and the clearance provisions.

Every organization of labor having anything whatsoever to do with the motion picture industry was a signatory to the code, the former administrator said, and, finally, "I want you to know that no one in this industry pays any assessment whatsoever unless the firm has signed the code or an exhibitor has taken its affirmative benefits, such as the privilege of cancellation from the block of films purchased.

"I call this code one of our great voluntary codes and I believe that in its operation it constitutes a real experiment in industrial self-government. At the same time, it is well to point out that prosecutions may still be brought and are still being brought by the Department of Justice where a combination or conspiracy in violation of the anti-trust laws is charged, and that there is not one provision in the code which, so far as I know, constitutes such combination in restraint of trade as would be indictable under the Sherman Act."

General Johnson denied that the big members of industry wrote the codes, asserting that "the most persistent and consistent opponents of codes have been the big interests, while the most zealous advocates of codes have been the small business men."

The former head of NRA paid his respects to the Darrow Review Board, which, he said, he had set up in good faith, charging that the board was not in good faith, but "was a political wailing wall and it recommended communism. There was not one fair hearing before it," he said.

"They disregarded NIRA, packed the record with framed testimony, disregarded every judicial rule of fairness known to man, solicited and accepted unsupported statements, restricted or ignored testimony unfavorable to their purposes, hazed witnesses on that side, insulted NRA officials, and for this spent $50,000 of government money.

"I would not mention these things if this committee had not seemed to accept a great deal of testimony from Mr. Darrow and Mr. Mason as important, or had it called Mr. Sinclair of that board who resigned in protest and disgust."

versus the local grievance board. Attorney General Homer S. Cummings has instructed Attorney M. Pierson Hall to file an answer on behalf of the grievance board.

Hall has wired the San Francisco NRA board for cooperation.

The theatres won the first tilt recently when Judge McCormick ruled exhibition was intrastate commerce and consequently outside NRA jurisdiction. The grievance board was given 20 days in which to file an answer.

corporation under section 77B." Weisman's firm of Weisman, Quinn, Allen & Spett has been retained by the Flatbush & Nevins Corp. to formulate a plan of reorganization.

Such a plan is now being formulated, Weisman said, and will most likely be filed in the Southern District Court in about two weeks. Under the plan a five-year leasing deal Si Fabian has on the Fox will be canceled, he stated.

It is understood that a syndicate or an important circuit is ready to put up $1,000,000 cash to further the reorganization. According to the petition filed by Chess, interest is overdue on a first mortgage bond issue of $5,675,000 and the present value of the property "is not more than $3,000,000."

Weisman believes that the Joseph Schenck-Fox Theatres plan now before Judge Julian W. Mack for reorganizing Fox Met will be accepted by the court. The hearings resume today and are expected to continue for three additional days.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Cowboy Millionaire"

(Sol Lesser-Fox)

HOLLYWOOD, April 18.—As a definite departure from routine western melodrama, with a maximum of love interest and a minimum of riding, George O'Brien also goes in for more comedy than usual. The film, because of the romance angle, has a much stronger feminine appeal than the average O'Brien western.

O'Brien plays the boy who puts on a fake stage coach holdup for a dude ranch to get enough money to develop his rich mine. In a real runaway he incurs the anger of Evalyn Bostock, an English girl. She sets out to pay him off when she thinks that he has wagered $10 on her availability. A chase follows con men, who are after the mine, to England, where a fight at an inn ensues, before the final clinch.

Edgar Kennedy adds to the laughs as O'Brien's dumb partner. Others in the cast are Maude Allen, Alden Chase, Dan Jarrett, Lloyd Ingraham and Thomas Curran.

Ably directed by Edward F. Cline from a story by George Waggner and Dan Jarrett, it strikes a new note in westerns. By stressing the comedy and romance in exploitation, the film should draw better than the usual O'Brien productions.

Looking 'Em Over

"The Swell Head"

(Columbia)

Columbia timed this baseball story for opening of the big league season. It may be possible to get the customers in on the strength of the current interest in the national pastime. Some intensive exploitation will probably be needed, though, to stir up adult enthusiasm.

Ben Stoloff used Sammy Cohen, pal of Wallace Ford, star batter, for his comedy gags. Ford is good and doesn't care who knows it.

The romantic interest centers around Barbara Kent, waitress in a lunch room. Frank Moran, pitcher, takes her to the theatre and this starts a training-quarter fight between Moran and Ford. Moran asks for his transfer to the Detroit club and gets it from Mike Donlin, manager. In the next game Moran beans Ford while he is arguing with J. Farrell MacDonald, the umpire. He gradually goes blind, but an operation cures him at the finish and all ends well.

After about three reels of slapstick that doesn't click strongly, the action builds to a strong scene where Miss Kent discovers Ford is blind after he had been sitting at the bedside of her sick brother, Dickie Moore, all night.

Good fare for neighborhood houses with a heavy kid patronage as a potential factor.

No production code seal. Running time, 60 minutes. "G."

"Cognasse"

(Paramount)

Being a comedy that depends for its effect more on humor of line than of situation, this French production, turned out by Paramount at its Joinville plant near Paris, absolutely requires a knowledge of the language if one is to obtain any real enjoyment out of it.

The story is not without a touch of satire. It tells of a worker who, upon being made the director of a factory, forgets his humble antecedents and permits his good fortune to go completely to his head. He comes to look upon himself as a Napoleon and spends his time putting up a grand front, making quite a ludicrous figure of himself.

Business he neglects to the point where the factory workers, once his fellow-employees, rebel and advance upon his mansion at the height of a gay party. Dressed as Napoleon and entirely plastered, he confronts the men and announces he has abdicated in favor of his son-in-law-to-be. This wins over the crowd. It's highly hilarious stuff.

Tramel plays the title role effectively, if a bit on the side of burlesque. The other players include Therese Dorny, George, Christiane Virido, Christian Delyne, Jean Mercanton and Andre Roanne. The direction is by Louis Mercanton.

No production code seal. Running time, 91 minutes. "G."

Short Subjects

"The Sorcerer's Apprentice"

(Tapernoux-Metropolis)

The symphonic poem of the distinguished French composer, Paul Dukas, based on Goethe's immortal ballad, "The Sorcerer's Apprentice," is here presented in pictorial form. The Paris Symphony Orchestra plays the score as the tale is enacted on the screen.

Lovers of fine music will more than appreciate this film, but its appeal to the average audience is slightly doubtful.

Reviewed without production code seal. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

"Hayseed Romance"

Buster Keaton clowns and cavorts through two reels of good comedy that should more than please audiences.

Keaton answers an advertisement for a helper on a farm and after being accepted proceeds to do everything wrong. In the meantime he has fallen in love with the niece of the woman who owns the farm and is desperate, thinking he has to marry the old woman. The windup finds him getting the young girl.

Keaton fans should get a particular kick out of this short. Production Code Seal No. 624. Running time, 21 mins. "G."

"The Old Grey Mayor"

(Vitaphone)

Those who have seen Bob Hope perform in person will probably be greatly disappointed in the comedy he presents in this short. It is far below the average entertainment he usually hands out.

Cast as the suitor for the hand of a mayor's daughter and refused permission to marry by the mayor, Hope takes it upon himself to win the girl despite the objections. The dialogue and jokes that follow border more on the silly side than on the comical.

Production Code Seal, No. 326. Running time, 21 mins. "G."

"All-Star Vaudeville"

(Vitaphone)

Pat Rooney and Pat Rooney, Jr., sing and dance; Blossom Seeley and Benny Fields do a song routine in the manner that made them well known in old time vaudeville; the On-Wah troupe, Japanese acrobats, exhibit some surprising contortions, and The Runaway Four, a comedy acrobatic quartet, wind up the reel.

It's only midly entertaining. Production Code Seal No. 192. Running time, 11 mins. "G."

when a good one comes along is by word of mouth advertising."

Zanuck warmed up to his subject and chewed the end of a cigar a foot long. He's emphatic and outspoken when he gets started.

"I don't blame exhibitors for dualing and cutting scales," he went on. "Some of the stuff they have to show isn't worth a quarter for two of them."

Zanuck admitted 20th Century had tried a couple of B pictures, but declared he soon found out they weren't worth making.

"We're the only company absolutely concentrating on A product," he declared. "We have no budget. If the idea is good and we have faith in it, we keep at it until its finished—whether it costs $400,000, $500,000 or a million. And we don't try to chop it down to 7,000 feet, if it holds up naturally at a greater length."

He paused to light a match. "Personally," he went on, "I'm in favor of the longer ones, if they're good. Exhibitors won't dual them; they'll stick in a newsreel and a couple of shorts."

The system has its drawbacks, he admitted. "We can go broke or make a fortune quicker than any other concern. We have no theatre commitments to absorb the weak ones. They stand up or fall on their individual merits."

Calls Legion Drive Aid

Zanuck is convinced the Legion of Decency has been a good thing for the industry. Some great pictures have been turned out in the last eight months, he insisted. The Legion, educators and women's organizations are rallying to the support of "Les Miserables," he says.

Guessing the basic idea and its timeliness is the biggest production problem, he says.

"'House of Rothschild' was timely," he declared, "because it treated an old problem that has developed anew. We've got the same thing in 'Les Miserables.' Any man who thinks he's taking some hard knocks now will look at Jean Valjean and get a new mental uplift out of it."

After he takes an Alaskan vacation and gets his next three in work, Zanuck is going to experiment with a new idea on audience reactions. He will make a three-week tour by plane in August, with the south especially favored, for the purpose of studying audiences in theatres in small and large towns. He doesn't intend to introduce himself to exhibitors in getting their likes and dislikes and those of their audiences.

Zanuck thinks color has a future; that Technicolor is advanced further than any other and will eventually reach perfection, but he says he hesitates about using it on dramatic subjects. A flick of Charles Laughton's eyes can mean a lot to a scene, he says, and any pronounced color that diverts attention can damage the effect. In musicals and spectacles where pictorial results are the principal requirement he is strongly for it.

Looking 'Em Over

"The Youth of Maxim"

(Amkino)

Although "The Youth of Maxim," a Lenfilm production, was one of three films to win first honors at the Russian film festival recently held in Moscow in celebration of the 15th year of the Soviet industry, it is no better suited for American consumption than the rest of the Red propaganda pictures.

The film covers familiar ground, which is something not to be unexpected in a communist production. Its unrelieved grimness exerts a most depressing effect, although there can be no denying that it is a powerful, realistic and earnest attempt to place on celluloid the story of the laboring classes under czardom.

For its material "The Youth of Maxim" goes back to the days when the Russian workers started to become class-conscious and implanted the germ that was to become the Bolshevist revolution.

The Maxim of the tale is a young worker who turns to the cause of revolution when he sees his two bosom friends sacrificed to the brutality of the czaristic system. Much of the film, which has been well photographed, records his difficulties with the authorities and his work in spreading the gospel of Lenin.

The title role is played by Boris Chirkov, who is supported by Stepan Kayukov, V. Kibardina and M. Tarkhanov. All do good work. Gregory Kozintzev and Leonid Trauberg directed.

The film has English subtitles.

No production code seal. Running time, 80 minutes. "G."

"Song of Happiness"

(Amkino)

Produced by Vostokfilm, this is another Soviet reminder of what is being done in Russia today to develop the culture of the people.

To illustrate its point, the film tells the story of a toiler in a Russian province with a consuming love for music. The time is 1924. A homemade flute is all the boy can afford. There seems no hope for him to develop his musical talents. His love for a peasant girl only makes him sadder and more dissatisfied. Believing he has killed his employer, he flees from home.

Ironically enough, he doesn't get the opportunity he has always wanted until he lands in a reformatory as the accomplice of a petty thief. When the prison head learns the youth's ambition, he arranges to have him study at a conservatory.

While he is obtaining a musical education the lad's sweetheart is learning to read and write. In five years he is a full-fledged flutist and he returns to his people, who receive him with honor and acclaim, and his romance with the peasant girl is resumed.

The film has been splendidly photographed, with the Volga as a background, and the acting is good. V. R. Gardin, M. Victorov and J. Zheimo are the chief players. M. Donskoy and V. Legoshin directed.

American audiences may find this moderately entertaining. There are English subtitles aplenty.

No production code seal. Running time, 86 minutes. "G."

"On Probation"

(Hollywood)

This is pretty dull stuff even for the neighborhoods. Built of old material, it blunders along stupidly and uninterestingly to the end. The film offers the cast little opportunity to rise above the level of the story.

The picture brings Monte Blue to sight again. He plays a big-shot racketeer who is involved in a city contract. Lucille Browne, his ward, falls in love with William Bakewell, a society chap, who is willing to overlook the girl's background. This burns up Blue aplenty, for his interest in the girl is more than philanthropic. So he goes about making things hot for Bakewell.

Blue tries to use force to have Miss Browne accompany him to the Orient when the police get the goods on him. In struggling with him she smacks him over the head with a bronze lion. The girl thinks she has killed him. In fact, even the audience thinks Blue has been croaked It isn't revealed until the last minute that he survived the lion's attack. Of course Bakewell and Miss Browne are married at the fadeout.

Barbara Bedford, Matthew Betz and King Kennedy are other players. Charles Hutchison directed this Peerless production.

No production code seal. Running time, 62 minutes. "G."

Balcon Feels British-U. S. Entente Begun

Says Coast Trip Helped "Cement Good Will"

Michael E. Balcon, executive production head of Gaumont British, left for London on the Berengaria last night in the belief that, while here, he had started to accomplish what he described as his mission of "cementing good will between the American and British industries."

Denying his visit to Hollywood, where he spent a number of weeks, had been converted into any "raid" on talent, he stated the players and writers he had signed were for specific tasks in specific pictures. The group

Tax Reports Show Box-Office Gains

WASHINGTON, April 19. — Improved box-office takes were disclosed today by the Internal Revenue Bureau in its reports of admission taxes for March. The total is $1,283,595, compared with $1,267,375 for the corresponding month last year.

For the first nine months of the fiscal year collections totaled $11,666,261, a gain of $783,893 over the $10,882,368 collected for the same period last year.

Balcon Likes Production Code; Expects British to Cooperate

"I am keen for the production code and foresee any subscribing to it by British producers as a progressive step," said Michael E. Balcon last night. The executive production head of Gaumont British made the comment as a personal, not as an official, expression of opinion.

"I was very much impressed by my talks with Will H. Hays and Joseph I. Breen, Production Code Administrator, while I was in Hollywood. They explained the machinery to me and I became convinced of its practicability. After all, the code is in work here; pictures made in Hollywood and under it have improved. If we in England want distribution in this market, it is entirely logical that we should be prepared to observe the code principles."

Allied Sets Program for Atlanta Meet

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Allied has completed plans for the annual convention to be held at Atlanta, May 21, 22 and 23 and has decided to transfer it from the Robert Fulton to the Piedmont Hotel in order to get more space, according to the latest bulletin.

Appointment of regional committees is urged in the bulletin.

Sentiment will have been crystallized on the extension of the NRA and

Charge That Code's Unfair Denied by Sol Rosenblatt

By CLARENCE LINZ

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Detailed denial of the charges made before the Senate Finance Committee April 8 by Abram F. Myers, general counsel of Allied, and Melvin Albert as representative of Harry Brandt of the I.T.O.A. of New York City is contained in a brief filed with the committee by Compliance Director Sol A. Rosenblatt, it was learned today.

Accompanying the brief were several documents, including Rosenblatt's report to former Administrator Hugh S. Johnson on the code in October, 1933, never made public, to-

Daylight Time Shift Spreads In New Areas

Takes in 263 More Towns; To Start April 28

Daylight saving shows decided gains this year in tabulations compiled by the Merchants' Ass'n. of New York. A total of 794 communities in the United States will move their clocks this year, a gain of 263 over last year.

In all the places in this country where the change is to be made the new time becomes effective next Sunday at 2 A.M. and continues to Sept. 29. Canada has no uniform starting time. Some start it May 1, 2, 5 and 20; others delay the change to June 1, 11, 29 and 30. The length of time it remains in effect also varies.

Great Britain, Northern Ireland, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Portugal also shift their clocks.

For the first time, the time change has made inroads in the south, the association states. Atlanta, Jackson, Miss., and other spots have adopted

Street Closed Friday

Wall Street and the Stock Exchange were closed yesterday in observance of Good Friday.

Purely Personal

BILL GOETZ called most of the numbers and so coughed up most of the dollar bills to meet the check at "21" yesterday with JOE MOSKOWITZ a swell runner-up. What was launched as a modest affair developed into a real one as the afternoon grew older. The attendance included ARCHIE MAYO, LOU IRWIN, ARTHUR W. KELLY, HARRY BRAND and NORMAN HERRINGTON, of the Northern Transport Co., who is visiting from London. DARRYL ZANUCK and LOU SCHREIBER annexed an adjoining table which made the third floor practically a 20th Century exclusive. ZANUCK leaves for Hollywood by air Monday to preview "The Call of the Wild" and then off to Alaska for bears. He has hired a yacht which he will pick up at Vancouver. His wife and two children go along.

Quip of the Day

Sam, the barber and an attache of some importance in Darryl Zanuck's establishment on the coast, will be one of the hunting party the producer embarks on shortly in Alaska. Coaching Sam on equipment, Zanuck told him recently an essential something was fur-lined shoes, as the days in the field were very apt to prove wearing.

"Fur-lined shoes?" snorted Sam. "What for? When you get home at night, you're still outside."

Sam is the same guy who was asked what he thought of a recent 20th Century preview:

"I'm not looking for advancement. I didn't like it so much."

HAL ROACH took the air lines to Culver, Ind., yesterday to visit his son. Due back Monday. He may produce one of the two amateur shorts he plans in the east before heading for the coast.

TRAVIS BANTON, Paramount style creator, who has been abroad for the past two months, arrives Tuesday on the Aquitania. He'll spend a few days in town before leaving for the coast.

ARTHUR HORNBLOW, JR., arrives Wednesday from the coast. He will stay here a short time before sailing for Europe May 3 on the Majestic for a vacation.

HANNAH HOLTZMAN, who has been on the Fox reading staff for some time, has sold the company an original, "Deuces Wild," as a vehicle for SHIRLEY TEMPLE.

TITO GUIZAR, radio tenor who recently completed his first picture for Fox, is expected here some time next week for a short vacation away from the studios.

ELISSA LANDI, seen walking on Fifth Avenue, all decked up in a little red Easter chapeau, but hiding her Easter finery under a mink coat.

NATE L. MANHEIM, foreign sales manager of Universal, is back from production conferences with CARL LAEMMLE. Hollywood was the scene.

HENRY ROTTBERG, JR., chief tear sheet man in the RKO publicity department leaves today for a week-end in Atlantic City.

LEON SCHLESINGER, producer of cartoon shorts for Warners, is on his way here from the coast for home office conferences.

JIMMY GRAINGER is the latest recruit to patronize "21." WILLARD MCKAY, who is in Florida over the week-end, brought him over.

MORRIS KUTINSKY came in from Lakewood for a few hours yesterday to wind up some pending theatre business.

AL JOLSON is back from a short personal appearance tour of Albany, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia.

FLORINE MCKINNEY is due at the Warwick Monday for a vacation. It will be her first New York visit.

WINIFRED COOPER, film critic of the Utica Observer Dispatch, arrives in town today for a short stay.

ARCHIE MAYO, just in from Europe, will be in town about three weeks.

JOHN EBERSON, the architect, paid the M. P. Club a visit yesterday.

BEN GOETZ takes the birds' route to the coast today.

HERMAN ZOHBEL of RKO hies back to Hollywood this afternoon.

TOM CONNORS has returned from a Canadian trip.

LILY PONS sails at noon today on the Paris for the continent.

U. S. Nearer to Place In Copyright Union

WASHINGTON, April 19.—The Senate today paved the way for entry of the United States into the International Copyright Convention by ratifying the Berne Convention as revised at Rome in 1928.

The convention gives to American authors the right to authorize the filming of their works in all foreign countries which have joined the convention and gives full protection to pictures.

A feature of the agreement is the granting to the author, independently of his copyright and even after its assignment, of the right to object to deformation, mutilation or other modification of his work which may be prejudicial to his honor or reputation.

includes Walter Huston, Helen Vinson, Richard Dix, Madge Evans, C. Aubrey Smith, Boris Karloff, Noah Beery, Peter Lorre, Maureen O'Sullivan as well as Arthur Caesar and Rian James, writers.

G. B.'s 16 planned for American release next season will be drawn from the parent company's 52. Of that total, Gaumont itself will produce between 22 and 26 and acquire, as usual, the remainder from outside producers. Balcon added he had not abandoned his plan of making a comedy in Hollywood with Jack Hulbert, although decision on that point will be made later in London. "I am convinced, particularly after seeing 'Ruggles of Red Gap' that a Hulbert picture made on the coast is entirely feasible," he said.

The British executive was enthused over his coast-made deal whereby Gaumont British will have made available M-G-M contract players when such players are not working. In turn, G. B. personalities will be made available to Metro when they are available.

Golding Resignation Causes RKO Changes

With the resignation yesterday of Lou Golding, manager of Proctor's, Newark, to join Si Fabian as division manager of upstate houses, the independent has taken over, RKO has made sereval changes in the managerial lineup.

Robert Ungerfeld, formerly of the Franklin, Bronx, succeeds Golding in Newark and Mike Edelstein of the Apollo is transferred to the Franklin. Murray Lafayette of the Alhambra takes over Edelstein's former house, and Frank Howard, assistant manager of the Alhambra, is now in complete charge.

Patrons Seek Punch, Says Albert Warner

HOLLYWOOD, April 19.—Exciting pictures with punch are demanded by theatre patrons today, says Major Albert Warner, here on his semi-annual visit. He adds it is a mistake to think the public is slated for a milk-and-water film diet.

Charge Code's Unfair Denied By Rosenblatt

gether with the reports of the several advisers, the reply to the Darrow board report and various NRA office orders regarding code administration and amendment.

In his brief Rosenblatt referred to the testimony of Lowell Mason, who served as counsel for the Darrow board, that the standard contract form is contrary to the Supreme Court decision in the Paramount case.

Explaining that the opinion prohibited the use of a form which would produce "material and unreasonable restraint of interstate commerce," Rosenblatt declared that the provision in the code "was advocated without a dissenting voice by the code-formulating committees in the industry.

"It is a fair and non-oppressive agreement," he asserted. "The provision of the code states that such agreement 'shall be the form of license contract to be used by distributors for licensing the exhibition of motion pictures unless the parties mutually agree that a different form be used.' The only criticism that I have ever heard of this provision of the code is that the provision is not strict enough in compelling the exclusive use of such form of agreement."

With respect to arbitration, he continued, there is nothing mandatory and the optional method provided for "is the customary one, in which each side to the controversy appoints its representative. In case of disagreement, the matter is submitted to an impartial umpire."

Answers Charges One by One

The charges made by Myers and Albert were taken up one by one by Rosenblatt. With respect to the procedure in drafting the code, naming the code committees and naming the Code Authority, he said his report on the code as deputy administrator covers the question of procedure.

"The review of the draftsmanship of the code as originally presented was done and the code in its final form was prepared by Mr. Rosenblatt, with the assistance of his advisers, and particularly his legal advisers," the committee was told. "The innuendoes made with respect to the participation of Nathan Burkan in the drafting of the code are declared to be unequivocally erroneous. Mr. Burkan had no more to do with the draftsmanship of the motion picture code, as approved by the President, than did any of the pages of the Senate.

"Myers' statement that the code was signed in secret is not correct. It was an open secret, since the signature and assents to the code at the time the code was approved by the President on Nov. 27, 1933, represented the overwhelming majority of the exhibitors of the United States."

Rosenblatt also reviewed the investigation by Col. Robert W. Lea, assistant administrator for industry, of complaints filed with General Johnson by the independents and the interpretation of the executive order, which, Myers charged, had nullified it and which the compliance director declared followed a conference at the White House and was at the direction of the President.

He challenged Myers' statements that the votes of the Code Authority are against the interests of the independent exhibitors, declaring that from Dec. 20, 1933, when Campi was created, to the end of last February, a total of 1,091 votes were cast, of which 1,019 were unanimous, and that therefore "of the total votes cast, 93.9 per cent were unanimous; that is, by the action of all the members of Code Authority, including those designated by Myers as representative of the independent exhibitor's interest."

Dissecting the letter from Nathan Yamins, read into the record by Myers, Rosenblatt declared that over 3,000 nominations were received for local board appointments.

"The statement made that practices have occurred tending to avoid strict conformity with the standard form of exhibition contract makes no reference to the fact that a brief is now before the National Recovery Administration for consideration on the question of whether or not the practices complained of amount to code violations."

The NRA official reviewed the attendance records of Campi members to show that they were alert to their responsibilities and met the charge that only Campi could recommend amendments to the code by submitting NRA office orders showing that "any interested party, including the National Recovery Administration, may propose amendments to any code."

Denies Relief Withheld

"The Myers statement that it is impossible for exhibitors to get relief before the code boards is not borne out by the facts," Rosenbatt asserted. "Considering exhibitors' problems alone, the code provides three chances to one for relief through local grievance boards, which consider fair trade practices only. Relief has been granted to exhibitors in 75 per cent of cases tried. Out of 1,020 cases tried by local grievance boards, 771 cases brought relief to exhibitors. In only 24 per cent of cases, or in 237 complaints, was relief denied. In 205 of the cases appeal was taken to Code Authority as a court of appeals and in 85 per cent of the appeals the local board was sustained; in 30 cases, or 15 per cent, the local board's decision was reversed.

"Until the code was achieved, there was no such thing as relief for clearance and zoning problems generally. The clearance and zoning boards are in operation to pass wholly upon those questions. In the first 289 cases brought to these boards, relief has been granted to 172 exhibitors, 59 per cent of the complaints filed. Appeals were taken to Code Authority in 78 of these cases. Eighteen per cent of the appeals heard were reversed and sent back to the zoning boards; judgment was affirmed in 82 per cent of the appeals."

Most of the statements made by Albert were held by Rosenblatt to be answered in his discussion of Myers' testimony.

"One statement made by him particularly stands out," he commented. "Albert stated that the code provides 'that no exhibitor may complain that a distributor has given advantage to a theatre operated by a distributor.' There is a fair sample of the worth of Albert's testimony. The code provides nothing of the kind and such is not the fact.

"The code does provide that a local grievance board shall not have jurisdiction to hear any complaint based upon the fact that a distributor has licensed the motion pictures distributed by it for exhibition at its own affiliated theatres. It would indeed be anomalous for a distributor to be deprived of its right to show its own pictures in its own thetares as the law now stands."

The fact that all labor organizations employed in the industry signed the code was held to cover the statements made by Albert concerning the labor provisions, while his statements concerning the operators in New York "are unfair, to say the least."

"The foregoing is adduced, not by way of complete answer to the innumerable petty, irrelevant and immaterial matters touched by the foregoing witnesses with respect to the motion picture industry code," Rosenblatt concluded, "but should serve to advise the committee generally of the inaccuracy and inadequacy of the testimony given by such witnesses."

Fabian Buying Of Met Notes Up at Hearing

plan for Fox Met before Federal Judge Julian W. Mack.

The disclosures were preceded by a charge made in open court by Isidor Kresel, counsel for Schenck and the Fox Theatres receiver, that Fabian's reorganization plan for Fox Met was not presented in good faith, but "for an ulterior motive," and, therefore, should not be considered by the court as a basis for comparison with the Schenck-Fox Theatres' plan. Without disclosing the alleged "ulterior motive," Kresel stated that Fabian "was tied up with Max Horwitz," a member of the Fox Met bondholders' committee and a partner in Hallgarten & Co., and proceeded to develop the trading in Fox Met securities engaged in by these principals and by William M. Greve, also a member of the Fox Met bondholders' committee.

In disclosing the securities' trading link between Fabian, Horwitz and Greve, Kresel completely reversed the anticipated procedure of the day by placing the critics of the Schenck-Fox Theatres' plan on the defensive, rather than being placed himself in the position of defending that plan against the proponents of the Fabian plan.

$44,000 Bought by Horwitz

It was brought out that Horwitz had purchased $44,000 face amount of Fox Met notes at prices ranging from $6.25 to $11.75, from March to Oct., 1932, and later had sold $31,000 face amount of notes at $13.25 and $10,000 face amount at $21.75, for a profit of $2,768. Horwitz retained $3,000 face amount of the notes. The trading was done through Hallgarten & Co. in Horwitz's own name. Another Hallgarten account, known as "No. 158," was identified by Frederick Pizor, Hallgarten partner and former head of the company's statistical department, as a joint account maintained by Fabian, Greve and Hallgarten & Co. for trading in the Fox Met notes. This account bought a total of $358,000 face amount of notes, with each of the three principals participating equally with $119,500 face amount of notes.

In answer to a question put to him by Kresel, Horwitz said that when the joint account was formed he knew that Fabian was "the highest paid employe in the Fox Met receivership," drawing $1,000 a week, and that he had access to all the books and records of the company. Horwitz said that he had traded in the securities because he "believed in the future of Fox Met and, consequently, bought at prices ranging from $6 to $16 Fox Met notes that his company, Hallgarten, had originally sold to the public at $100." In reply to another question Horwitz said that he considered Fabian's proposal for reorganization of Fox Met to "look better on the face of it" than either the bondholders' committee's own plan, advanced last spring, or the Schenck-Fox Theatres' plan. He added, however, that the Fox Met bondholders' committee "hasn't had time to consider the Fabian proposal yet."

Counsel for Fabian succeeded in having the latter excused as a witness yesterday when Kresel revealed his intention to question Fabian in an effort to show that the Fabian proposal was submitted "in bad faith." Judge Mack held that this procedure was not necessary now, as the Fabian proposal is not in any form which could be given consideration by the court. Judge Mack stated, however, that all records pertaining to trading in the Fox Met notes and to the bondholders' committee and their activities "were of very vital concern and would be open to the fullest investigation."

Sam Rinzler, one of the Fox Met operators, was recalled to the stand to give additional testimony as to operating costs and charges. Asked why he believed the addition of Schenck as an "over-manager" would be beneficial to Fox Met, Rinzler replied that Schenck "wouldn't want to be associated with a failure" and that he didn't believe Schenck "had any use for the theatres except as a source of additional profit."

George Skouras, another of the Fox Met operators, testified that while grosses for the houses operated by them for Fox Met had declined from $8,086,000 in 1932 to $6,300,000 last year they had been able to show an average profit of about $25,000 annually since taking over operation in 1931. Skouras stated that Fox Met "couldn't survive without the Fox Film franchise" and the importance of the franchise was also emphasized by Rinzler. Fabian's proposal would do away with the franchise.

Blumberg Resumes Stand

Nate Blumberg, general manager of RKO theatre operations, resumes the stand today in the arbitration hearings of the M. & S. leasing complaint against RKO.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"The Scoundrel"

(Hecht and MacArthur-Paramount)

Hollywood, April 19.—Brilliant dialogue and perfect casting, direction and photography make "The Scoundrel" an outstanding offering for ultra-sophisticated audiences.

Noel Coward makes an enormous appeal in his first screen role as a sex-crazed book publisher conducting innumerable affairs with a cold, calculating detachment.

Julie Haydon surprises with a vivid, emotional power as a young poetess. She throws over Stanley Ridges for Coward, believing her love strong enough to break the latter's pose of heartless philanderer. She fails. There is an immense scene when she warns no one will weep over his death.

Lost at sea chasing another woman and given a month to find one regretful friend, Coward returns to hear his epigram-spouting circle say: "When a man dies one weeps. When a pose does, one shrugs one's shoulders." Great emotional tension is built during his search for Miss Haydon and understanding tears.

Alexander Woollcott, not given screen credit, plays an important part. Rosita Moreno, Martha Sleeper, Hope Williams, Ernest Cossart, Everly Gregg, Edward Cianneli, Helen Strickland, Lionel Stander, Harry Davenport, Isabelle Foster and Madame Shushkina are perfectly cast.

Lee Garmes' photography and special effects are spectacular. The macabre, sophisticated theme rates critical nipups, but is baffling for suburban audiences in spite of its great emotional appeal.

Hague Bids for Studios

Hollywood, April 19. — Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, Democratic leader of New Jersey and a figure in national politics, conferred here yesterday with all the principal producers, except Warners, on a proposal to establish production in the Hudson County metropolis opposite downtown Manhattan.

Hague is said to have told the majors they could write their own ticket on tax matters.

After listening to the proposals the producers decided to engage John Milton as their attorney and representative. Milton is a former corporation counsel of Jersey City, a former judge and close associate of Hague.

Engineers will be sent to Jersey City to study locations, it was stated after the meeting.

Those present were Harry Cohn, Winfield Sheehan, Irving Thalberg, Henry Herzbrun, Fred Beetson, Pat Casey and Louis B. Mayer.

Another meeting is planned for New York at which, it is expected, Harry M. Warner, Nicholas M. Schenck and Adolph Zukor will be present.

A number of sites are available in Jersey City, it is understood, among them being "Boyle's 30 Acres" where a huge boxing stadium was erected several years ago.

In a number of communities where display of anything but standard time is prohibited, the association finds, industrial establishments will move the working hours of their employes up an hour. Three states will go on daylight time in their entirety for the first time. These are New Jersey, Rhode Island and Massachusetts. Connecticut, Maine and New Hampshire continue their laws forbidding display of the changed time.

Future of NRA Seen Drifting Toward Rocks

Report Roosevelt May Call Extra Session

By BERTRAM F. LINZ

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Recovery legislation yesterday appeared to be drifting toward dangerous shoals with the disclosure that 12 of the 21 members of the Senate Finance Committee are opposed to extension of the NRA.

Strengthened by an arraignment of the recovery operation in a report published last week by the Brookings Institute, opponents of the NRA are seen for the first time in a position effectively to block an Administration measure.

Faced with the repudiation of one of the most important steps in his recovery program, President Roosevelt,

Production Drops; 32 Features Going

HOLLYWOOD, April 21.—Production continued to fall slowly last week. Short subject production gained slightly. The weekly checkup showed 32 features and 10 shorts before the cameras as compared to 36 features and seven shorts for the preceding week.

M-G-M continued to lead, having six features shooting, none preparing and nine in the cutting room. Fox had five, two and eight; Paramount, four, four and three; Columbia, four, two Next step in the penetration of world markets with its own distribution machine will be taken by Gaumont British in establishment of exchanges throughout South America. A story department at New York headquarters is also planned.

Wisconsin Showmen Fight 4% Tax Plan

MADISON, Wis., April 21.—The Carow bill, which would place a four per cent tax on the gross receipts of theatres, was assailed by exhibitors from all over the state at a committee hearing on the measure held here.

Survey Shows 4,994 Houses In U.K., Erin

By BRUCE ALLAN

LONDON, April 12.—On April 1 there were 4,994 film theatres in the United Kingdom and Ireland, according to a survey completed by the statistical department of W. E. Of the total, 4,638 were active, including one silent house, and 356 were closed.

This is a net reduction of 199 houses since the last survey was completed in 1930, but the many new super erections in the period more than balance the seating capacity of disappeared smaller houses.

The distribution of houses, according to W. E.'s analysis, is:

Blind Booking Still Intrigues in England

LONDON, April 12.—Walter Runciman, president of the Board of Trade, stated in the House that he intends to consider very carefully any suggestions for the more effective prohibition of blind booking made by the Advisory Committee of the Films Act.

A question by Lieutenant Commander W. G. Agnew had asserted the booking restrictions imposed by the Act were being increasingly evaded as a sequel to "the development of large theatre circuits."

Cuts Looming Next Season In 2-Reelers

Duals to Force a Jump In Single Subjects

Increases in single reel subjects and decreases in the number of two-reelers made by producers this season will be the trend in 1935-36 announcements by major distributors.

The reason for the demand for one-reel shorts is due to persistent objection by exhibitors throughout the country to playing two-reel subjects. Theatre owners contend that because of duals there is no room for a two-reel subject on a program with two features and a newsreel.

The newsreel is considered more or less necessary to every program, as is a short comedy, but because of

Omaha Worries Over New Outdoor Sports

OMAHA, April 21.—Exhibitors are looking forward to a dismal summer as far as competition is concerned. Besides a night baseball league, this summer will see a night kittenball league for which a new park with lights has been equipped. Horse races have been legalized by the legislature and a month's running is due in May.

Outdoor night clubs spotted in the hills all around the city are springing up faster than spring violets. Last year, the first of legal beer, was tough, but this year liquor is legal, too.

Detectives Watching Theatres Hereabouts

Fearing trouble as a result of renewed picketing by the three local operators' unions, independent exhibitors are reported to be spending $1,000 a week for employment of special detectives in theatres.

The special officers maintain a steady watch for persons entering theatres with packages and also see to it that the sandwich men parading in front of the various houses do not foment trouble, it is stated.

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

THE faithful reader may feel he is being imposed on, so lengthy runs the published account of the obstacle race which Fox Met is running. He should be told, as he is now and as he was several times earlier, that the way this bankrupt circuit, originally put together by Bill Fox with the aid of A. C. Blumenthal and William Brandt, goes is the way the dominance of the Greater New York situation may go. The future of the richest territory in the United States is something to conjure with. Also to write about. . . .

Loew and RKO, for years, have viewed the metropolitan area as their meat. The two dominant circuits with perhaps as much as $75,000,000 to $100,000,000 invested in theatre properties, have had their tussles and, no doubt, will continue to do so. While the exigencies of each season's problems have often loomed as barriers not easily surmountable, somehow or other the two outfits have worked out their destinies as far as competitive endeavor has allowed. . . .

While a particular problem, such as duals, and a particular situation, such as product, often have proven troublesome and always competitive, both groups have never been apart on the issue of their collective control of the area. That brings the tale to its latter day aspects which is where Fox Met enters the picture like the lovely heroine on whom covetous eyes are being cast. For the spoils in the case are sufficiently rich, although latent, to launch a third and powerful chain in this sector. Obviously, this is not to be desired by Loew any more than it is by RKO. Important as a consideration from the Loew angle is to keep Fox Met in hands friendly. If Joe Schenck's offer wins out, the ownership obviously will be. What then, in so far as RKO is concerned? . . .

RKO, acting through KAO, its most lusty theatre subsidiary, realizes the eventuality and thereby arises the explanation, likewise obvious, for its keen interest in the disposal of Fox Met. Whether or not a middle ground can be reached is speculative, beginning and ending with this department, so far as it knows. A Fox Met somehow divided between Loew and RKO, or KAO, is a more sensible conclusion to the fracas than a Loew and an RKO divided into sharply drawn camps with blood in eye and theatre warfare raging up and down the city's five boroughs. . . .

EDDIE CANTOR, who is nothing if he is not versatile, proved the point with conclusions various in a recent interview in Advertising Age. It all had to do with sincerity in advertising copy. Cantor feels strongly and, it is to be hoped, sincerely although what a lot of theatremen across the nation will think is something else. Kid millions talking:

> "The greatest fault of advertising today is its insincerity. The next is lack of showmanship. Given these two qualities and an honest value and advertising cannot fail to sell merchandise at a profit. In my contacts with some professional advertising men I have been dumfounded at the way they ponder headlines, type faces, illustration and so on, while they ignore the factor of sincerity, which is many times more important than all these details put together. I would rather back a sincere advertisement, though it be ungrammatical, as to text and cock-eyed as to layout, than put my money in a perfect example of advertising art which lacks the vital spark of sincerity."

Even when applied to your own pictures, Eddie? . . .

If Marlene Dietrich's discretion were only matched by her pulchritude, there you'd have something. On her return to Hollywood the other day, she told a United Press reporter this:

> In comparison with Broadway, Hollywood is a paradise of virtue. I can't understand why motion pictures are attacked when nothing is done about plays which so flagrantly defy the conventions.

Since Miss Dietrich openly admits she is treading on matters she cannot understand, it is suggested to her that she leave them alone. . . .

Reaching New York from across the Jersey meadows and, perhaps, inspired by up-and-going realtors who have been known to do such things are reports Metro has purchased a country club and golf course at Rumson for a proposed studio site. Arthur and Dave Loew, "Lep" Friedman and Bob Rubin, the story continues, have been buying adjacent property on the quiet for two weeks or more now. This is in case the much-publicized exodus from Hollywood ends in Jersey. Declares Rubin: "We haven't yet." Meaning, of course, no buys yet. . . .

Odds and Ends: At Loew's Rio, "Naughty Marietta" and "Ruggles of Red Gap" on one bill with an "early bird" admission as low as a thin dime. . . . "West Point of the Air" being dualed in some of the same circuit's theatres. Which proves again the Loew fellows, more often than not, run a theatre enterprise, twin-billing their own Metro pictures with others when those Metro pictures don't hold up, in the opinion of the booking department. . . . In many ways, this is the smartest quip of the week: Blank Company has engaged Ely Culbertson to bridge its hurdle from the minor to the major division. . . . The dots and dashes which precede the main title of all Radio Pictures merely spell out, in code: "It's a Radio Picture." . . .

FitzPatrick Setting Next Season's Plans

Having completed production plans for his first feature, "David Livingstone," which will be made in partnership with Gaumont British, James A. FitzPatrick has also set his short subject lineup for next season.

The producer's shorts plans call for 10 Traveltalks and six Highlights of New York, the first series to be made in three-process Technicolor and the other in black and white. FitzPatrick currently has eight Technicolor Traveltalks. Both new groups will be released by M-G-M.

First of the New York series will go into work late next month with Myron Nast directing and Bert Dawley photographing. The series will take in educational highlights as well as "hot spots" of the city. FitzPatrick's idea is to make the group an eastern edition of "Snapshots of Hollywood," which are released by Columbia.

"Los Angeles, Wonder City of the West" and "Guatamala," last of the eight on this season's releases, are now being edited. "Mexico" is the first of the new group. FitzPatrick's wife is now in Japan with a Technicolor unit of five and from there will go to Shanghai, Peiping and Hong Kong to get material for future travelogues.

Klein Explains Quitting

$2,000 a week on its 34 houses. Carow asked Miller if the property tax now being paid on the theatres, which would be repealed by the bill, did not more than equal what the new gross receipts tax would amount to, but Miller declared he had no figures on that.

Opposition to the measure by the Independent Theatres Protective Ass'n. was led by F. J. McWilliams, Madison, chairman of the organization's legislative committee. The bill would also oblige all theatres to secure a license at an annual fee of $5.

Wisconsin exhibitors also are fighting a bill to legalize pari-mutuel betting on horse racing.

The measure has the support of the Wisconsin Ass'n. of Fairs directors and provides that license fees and percentages would be paid into the state general fund, from which $50,000 would be paid out to the state fair and $300,000 to counties, agricultural societies, dairy and livestock associations with surplus above these appropriations to be retained in the general fund.

Ohio Racing Bill Dies

COLUMBUS, O., April 21.—The Handley dog racing bill, which passed the Senate several weeks ago, was reported out of the House committee, seems to have gone the way of all flesh, temporarily, at least.

The measure was on the House calendar for a vote last week, but Speaker J. Freer Bittinger is responsible for the statement that it will not see the light of day during the present session. It now is so far down on the calendar that only the House Rules Committee can lift it to a point where it would be brought to a vote. That body is not disposed to do any lifting it is understood.

Bay State Boiler Bill Out

BOSTON, April 21.—Leave to withdraw a measure introduced in the State Legislature which would require the employment of licensed engineers instead of janitors to operate certain types of boilers has been accorded sponsors of the measure. The bill, which was strenuously opposed by theatre men, would have increased theatre costs appreciably.

Publicity Men to Confer

HOLLYWOOD, April 21.—A publicity committee meeting has been called by the Producers' Ass'n. for next Thursday.

Myrna Loy Gives Up Role

HOLLYWOOD, April 21.—Myrna Loy has been relieved of her role in M-G-M's "Masquerade" at her own request. She felt she was miscast.

Cuts Looming Next Season in 2-Reelers

the time consumed with the two features and the news the comedy must be cut down. Trailers, also a necessity with every theatre, take up from seven to 10 minutes and the only opening for a cut in the running time of the entire program is in the short.

Paramount during the current season started out with a number of two-reelers scheduled, but when the opposition to the length of the shorts continued, it was decided to drop them, and to release single reel subjects in their stead. The new season's program will call for 100 one-reelers only.

M-G-M is now mulling over the lineup for next season and is understood to be leaning toward the single reel idea. Hal Roach, who returns from Culver, Ind., today will resume conferences with Fred Quimby on his program. His two-reel "Our Gang" comedies may be reduced to one reel next season. However, this is not yet definite, but will be decided before he goes back to Hollywood.

James A. FitzPatrick, who has just set his new schedule, will make two series of single reelers. One will consist of 10 Technicolor Traveltalks and the other six Highlights of New York.

RKO Radio, Universal, Columbia and other major distributors are now huddling over the advisability of reducing the number of two-reelers in favor of the one-reel releases.

Changes Numerous in New England States

BOSTON, April 21.—A number of theatre changes have taken place in New England. In Whitman, Ralph Snider has sold the Empire to George Husson. The Pastime in Marlboro has been transferred from William Preston to Arnold Berger, the former continuing as resident head.

The Satuit in Scituate has been reseated. The RKO Boston will soon add another feature and drop vaudeville for the summer, leaving the Metropolitan the first run solo in stage and film fare.

The Lyric in White River Junction, Vt., went into lights yesterday. It is part of the circuit of Allard Grave, Allied executive, who reportedly has signed up for bank nights.

MacDonald Gets Role

HOLLYWOOD, April 21.—J. Farrell MacDonald has replaced Warren Hymer in the cast of "Our Little Girl" at Fox. Studio executives decided that Hymer was too young for the part. Shirley Temple and Joel McCrea have the top spots.

"Ruggles" Is Washington's Repeat Smash

WASHINGTON, April 21.—"Ruggles of Red Gap," in a return engagement at the Metropolitan, was a sensation. It went $4,000 over par to a smash gross of $8,100. Second week of the return engagement of "The Little Colonel" at Loew's Columbia went $1,100 over a par $3,100.

Among the first runs "Mississippi" at Loew's Palace did the best business with $18,000, or $3,500 over the par $14,500. Loew's Fox, with "West Point of the Air" and Cab Calloway's band on the stage, clicked off the above-par gross of $25,000, the best total money of the week.

Total first run gross was $81,000. Average, Belasco excluded, is $71,200.

Estimated takings, exclusive of tax:

Week Ending April 10:

"EVERGREEN" (Gaumont British)
BELASCO—(720), 25c-65c, 7 days. Gross: $1,700.

Week Ending April 11:

"TRAVELING SALESLADY" (Warners)
EARLE—(2,218), 25c-77c, 7 days. Stage: Hugh Herbert, Gracie Barrie, Bob Ripa, Keen Twins & Vic & LaMarr, Gil Lamb & Marion Bellett. Gross: $17,000. (Average, $17,600)

"THE LITTLE COLONEL" (Fox)

"Gold Diggers" Is Denver's Big Noise

DENVER, April 21.—Even in its second week "Gold Diggers of 1935" was the best comparative draw in town. It kept the Aladdin $500 above average for a total of $3,000.

"Traveling Saleslady," another First National, was good for $5,000, up by $1,000, at the Paramount. All other spots were in a bad way, although "Mississippi" grabbed $1,500 in a four-day holdover.

Total first run business was $20,500. Average is $24,000.

Estimated takings for the week ending April 18:

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Ladies Love Danger"

(Fox)

HOLLYWOOD, April 21.—This is a cleverly contrived comedy mystery that holds the interest, defies solution, yet works out logically.

Henry Kolker is murdered just before he is to announce his engagement to Adrienne Ames, an actress. Mona Barrie, passing his apartment when the fatal shot is fired, wanders into the quarters of Gilbert Roland, a playwright. Roland appoints himself her custodian until the mystery is solved, the two setting out to find the murderer with the assistance of John Wray, a police lieutenant, and Herbert Mundin, Roland's butler.

The trail leads from Donald Cook, a stage manager, to Miss Ames, but runs against a blank wall when these characters are murdered. Suspicion then runs to Roland and Miss Barrie and ends when the crimes are pinned on Hardie Albright, stage juvenile and Kolker's son-in-law, who has logical reasons for the killings.

Director Bruce Humberstone has paced the action for real chills and plenty of laughs. The screen play by Samson Raphaelson from Ilya Zorn's story gives no misleading clues, but cleverly conceals the culprit until the last few minutes.

The production, which introduces some backstage business, is unusual scenically, with the novel penthouse apartments of Kolker and Roland out of the ordinary.

The entertainment value is all right for most spots.

Looking 'Em Over

"Congo Raid"

(London Films—United Artists)

LONDON, April 12.—Spectacular values of a highly original kind predominate in this London Films production. It is a pageant of African native life, emphasizing tribal customs and rituals, with a strong connecting story and several good characterizations to maintain dramatic interest.

There is a notable use of sound. The reproduction of native dances, war chants and of the jungle signal drums is an integral part of the pageant, immeasurably increasing its realism. Interpolated songs for Paul Robeson are of a markedly popular type without clashing too obviously with the genuine native music. They are magnificently rendered.

Altogether, box-office values have been blended with an authentic and impressive picture of primitive life in a strikingly successful way and the picture should please music lovers without offending those attracted by its more important and authentic pictorial qualities.

From an early series of Edgar Wallace stories, the plot concerns the activities of Sanders, British commissioner in a large area of Central Africa, where the prestige of his name maintains peace among countless hostile tribes. "Lord Sandi" appoints an escaped native convict chief of a tribe whom he has, unauthorized, brought to order and Bosambo becomes his chief ally against slave traffickers and "the Old King" over the mountains, who fears nothing in the world but the white man.

"Congo Raid" was covered by a flash cable from London on April 3

Sanders goes on leave. A false report of his death is started by gin-runners and spread throughout the country by drum signals. The King takes heart, kills Sanders' deputy and captures Bosambo's wife, Lilongo, in order to lure Bosambo into his hands. Sanders returns by aeroplane and effects a last minute rescue.

Outstanding among the scenes showing native ceremonial are the wedding dances and war chants, each with their actual native music. An impressive river procession of warrior-laden canoes is magnificently done. Plane shots of veldt and jungle introduce effective pictures of herds of big game.

Robeson, physically well fitted to the part of Bosambo, is the outstanding individual. In "The Song of the Spear" and other specially written numbers he has musical material for his followers. Nina Mae McKinney is not given much chance. Leslie Banks, as Sanders, the

"Roberta" Is Boston Draw In 5th Week

BOSTON, April 21.—What this town will do for good grosses after all the "Roberta" prints wear out is beginning to be a source of worry. In its fifth downtown week and its second at the RKO Boston, the Radio musical made the best showing of 'em all, getting $12,000. This is over a first week normal take by $1,000 at this house.

The only other above-par attraction was a dual at the Fenway, "Case of the Curious Bride" and "Hold 'Em Yale," which garnered $5,000. The same bill took a par $7,000 at the Paramount. "The Scarlet Pimpernel" fell off to $10,000 in its second week at Keith's Memorial.

Total first run business was $63,000. Average is $66,500.

Should failure of the measure appear to be inevitable, it is understood he will ask the adoption of a resolution giving a temporary extension to the present law until a special session could convene.

It is considered probable that the Administration would be able to secure such a resolution without great difficulty, but should it fail the NRA and the codes would collapse June 16.

Want Ruling Clear Before Servicing

Charnow films in compliance with the ruling.

Branch managers contend that if they follow the Code Authority ruling contracts with Adam Adams of the Park Lane, Palisades Park, and George Skouras of the Pascack, Westwood, would be breached.

According to pacts entered into with the Westwood and Palisades Park, both houses involved play 14 days after Englewood. The Campi decision gives Leonia the right to play seven days after Englewood with the arbitrary right to play a week ahead of the Park Lane and Pascack, which have always run before Leonia.

Charnow has been around the exchanges for bookings under the code decision, but branch managers are refusing to concede to the edict unless the ruling is clarified so that they are cleared in the event a breach of contract suit crops up.

What action coast exhibitors will take on changes, if any are made by Campi, depends on whether or not anyone is hurt by the decisions reached. If changes are made for the benefit of all parties, they will naturally be accepted without hesitation, he says. Berinstein hopes to return tomorrow night with Harry Vinnicoff, who accompanied him east.

During the April 11 hearings F.W.C. suggested several changes in the proposed schedule which all parties agreed would not affect anyone. It is understood that some of the changes will be adopted by Code Authority.

A 1935 Carrie Nation

commercial influence and unfair competition. She is assertive enough, but unlike berserk Carrie's, her methods are entirely peaceful even if forceful.

Last fall Mrs. Baier waged a campaign against bank nights and as the result of her complaints the local grievance board, supported by Campi, drove them from the city after a tussle with a couple of persistent exhibitors. With resumption of the stunt at two theatres recently, Mrs. Baier sniffed the smoke of battle again and once more plunged to the fray, this time declaring a "war to the finish."

Armed with an opinion from the offices of the attorney general of Missouri to the effect that bank nights, cash nights and similar devices are lotteries any way you look at 'em, Mrs. Baier is seeking the prosecution of bank night distributors and exhibitors on a charge of criminal violation of the lottery laws of the state. When she applied for warrants, the Jackson County prosecutor here suggested it would be only fair if she agreed to a preliminary hearing for the alleged violators. "Being a lady," said Mrs. Baier, she acceded, but when the scheduled hearing was postponed a week and then set over for another week she smelled a rat and announced her suspicions that one of the exhibitors she seeks to prosecute, Rube Finkelstein of the Belmont, "had a drag" with the politicians.

Prior to the second postponement, bank night proponents warned her she "better be careful what she tells the prosecutor," whereupon Mrs. Baier retorted: "I'm a lady and always careful."

Mrs. Baier is convinced the prosecutor's office is giving her "the run-around" and is determined to get action this week if she has to warm a bench all day in the office where they issue warrants. "When the attorney general tells them they're running a lottery and still they persist then they're inviting nothing but trouble," she asserts.

Meantime, her complaints against Finkelstein of the Belmont and F. L. Scovill of the Prospect were dismissed by the grievance board which agreed with counsel for the bank night group that the distance between those theatres and the Lindbergh and the price variations between respondent and complainant houses precluded any element of competition. But Mrs. Baier insists that when a theatre in any section of the city sends its ballyhoo truck into other neighborhoods to advertise bank night it is a plain case of unfair competition and is telling her story in an appeal to Campi.

Members of the Council of the Cinematograph Exhibitors' Ass'n. have conferred with the five newsreel editors on ways and means of remedying the confusion arising from the present system of bidding for "exclusive" rights at big events.

Stating that all newsreels secured pictures of all events, the C.E.A. suggested the abandonment of competitive bidding, which merely put up the price of news films without giving either the producer or the exhibitor the exclusive rights for which they pay.

Discussion is believed to have turned on two alternatives—a refusal to bid for exclusive rights under any conditions or an agreement among newsreels to respect such rights when obtained by a competitor.

Although GB held exclusive rights for the Grand National, Movietone working with them, Pathe, Paramount and Universal combined to "pirate" a picture. The next "exclusive event will be the football cup final, and it is safe to say all reels will carry scenes of the event.

H. & G. Kinemas, Ltd., will proceed immediately with the erection of a new deluxe house at Kilburn, London. The largest capacity in the U.K. is planned. The Kilburn house was announced in connection with the booking agreement between H. & G. and GB, now abandoned. At that time it was stated the capacity would be 4,700 and the cost £350,000 ($1,750,000). The nominal capital of H. & G. (Kilburn), Ltd., is £30,000.

"Congo Raid"

traditional British administrator, half-autocrat, half sportsman, is well cast. It is difficult to overpraise the whole-heartedness and complete lack of self-consciousness of the thousands of natives employed.

There is plenty of exploitable material in this film which shows primitive life as a drama and spectacle. Another angle is its illustration of the extent to which white rule in Africa depends upon personal prestige.

Running time 95 minutes. "G."

"The Morals of Marcus"

(Twickenham-Gaumont British)

London, April 12.—W. J. Locke wrote the original of this as a novel way back in pre-war days; later it became a considerable theatre success. That is rather a long time ago and so the material looks pretty thin today. It cannot be said that much advantage has been taken of opportunities of modernizing and speeding it. Even Lupe Velez, with a sent-from-heaven spit fire part, is afflicted with Edwardian demureness.

The story is that Sir Marcus Ordeyene, who has just succeeded to his title and a fortune after a half-lifetime spent in schoolmastering, gives refuge to a girl fugitive from a Syrian harem, who stows away in his steamer cabin. In London, there is scandal when the news of the one-time woman hater's "ward" gets round. Carlotta's unconventional behavior, in performing harem dances on a restaurant floor and similar escapades, increases the sensation.

Judith, English woman, who loves Marcus, gets her divorce and, in order to get Carlotta out of the way, persuades her that she is an obstacle to Marcus's happiness. Carlotta goes to Paris with Pasquale, a friend of Marcus, but leaves him to earn her living singing in a cafe. In due course Marcus finds her.

Incidental humorous scenes are good, but there is very little conviction in the story. Miss Velez's restraint is foreign to her and to her part and Ian Hunter, in the world's worst suit, is more hick than bookworm. Noel Madison's professional seducer part is cut to pattern, and the same applies to Adrienne Allen's plaintive widow.

Neither a period piece nor a modern version, "The Morals of Marcus" will scarcely get by critical audiences although its sentimentality may recommend it where the Victorian mentality lingers. It is scheduled for distribution in America.

Running time, 75 minutes. "G." ALLAN

Short Subjects

"Screen Snapshots No. 7"

(Columbia)

An excellent member of the series. It should more than please audiences that like to see what their stars do on their days off.

The reel opens with a shot of the Hotel Ambassador Dog Show and almost every big name in pictures is caught showing his prize animal. From there things shift to a fashion show, with Helen Vinson and Marian Marsh as the chief models. The reel winds up at the new Santa Anita track.

Highly recommended. Production Code Seal, No. 647. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

"Roumania"

(Van Beuren-Radio)

Here is a beautifully photographed and interesting travelogue showing cities in Roumania with intimate scenes of Budapest, Hungary, and its environs winding up the reel. Peasant life is also covered as well as industries. Dowager Queen Marie is shown in the reel in several intimate scenes.

Recommended. No production code seal. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

"The Singing Silhouette"

(Vitaphone)

Because his wife, Olga Baclanova, stays away from home every Tuesday night under the pretense of playing bridge, Charles Lawrence falls in love with a mysterious radio singer in whom he becomes interested. The mysterious singer turns out to be Miss Baclanova and all ends well.

On the strength of the musical numbers of Miss Baclanova, this short can be recommended. Production Code Seal, No. 330. Running time, 22 mins. "G."

"Hold That Shark"

(Columbia)

The latest of the World of Sport series here presents a fight between fishermen and a shark. It is pretty obvious that most of the scenes are faked, but fishermen, in particular, will get a kick out of the scenes where the monsters are harpooned. Several shots of fishing off the Grand Banks open the reel.

Fairly entertaining. No production code seal. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

"Life Begins" Leads Detroit With $18,400

Detroit, April 21.—"Life Begins at 40" and "Naughty Marietta" did the bulk of the business here last week, with the former having an edge by going over normal $3,400 for a total of $18,400 at the Fox. The take on the M-G-M musical at the Michigan was $22,800.

Hays Office Moves to Hit Ads in Films

Resolutions Adopted and Study Will Be Made

Advertising on the screen came up for discussion at the session which completed the annual meeting of the M.P.P.D.A. yesterday when it was decided to make a study of the problem because "much concern" is felt over its possible effects.

The sentiment of the meeting was that screens should be reserved exclusively for entertainment and that advertising should not be allowed to creep in directly or indirectly.

The session was a completion of the one adjourned from March 25.

Resolutions covering advertising were adopted as follows:

Upholding of Decision in Denver Might Be Deciding Factor

By BERTRAM F. LINZ

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Possibilities that the film code might be stripped of provisions applicable to producers and exhibitors and left with its terms touching only distributors were seen by observers here today in the recent Denver decision holding exhibition to be intrastate commerce.

Should the decision be upheld by the Supreme Court, it is said, producers would be eliminated from the code because they do not sell in interstate commerce and exhibitors would not come under the code provisions because they do not buy in interstate commerce.

Precedent for elimination of the producers might be found in the Supreme Court decisions which have held mining to be in intrastate commerce and in other opinions that in some instances manufacturing also is an intrastate activity.

It is pointed out in support of the opinion that producers might be elim-

Spring Brings in Theatre Activity Like a Floodtide

Advent of spring this year has brought with it more activity in reopened and refurnished theatres than has prevailed in several seasons, in the opinion of observers.

Yesterday's developments included these:

Building Three in Minnesota

Three new theatres are now being built by Minnesota Amusement Co. and will be opened in the early summer, John J. Friedl, president and general manager, stated yesterday upon his arrival from Minneapolis. The new additions will make a total

Mae Seems Surprised

Hollywood, April 22.—"I've had a lot of things come my way on Easter—colored eggs, flowers and candy rabbits," Mae West says, "but this is the first time I ever got a husband for a present."

This was her comment on a report from Milwaukee that relief workers reindexing old Milwaukee records had found that Mae West married Frank Wallace, an actor, in that city on April 11, 1911.

"How old do you think I am?" she asked.

Nobody answered.

to handle the Republic product for the next six years.

It is contemplated that other independent exchanges in the Philadelphia and local territories will be taken over by Gluckman and combined with the new setup.

Gluckman has also been added to the Republic advisory committee.

In commenting on his new organization, W. Ray Johnston again stated that Republic franchises are being given only to those exchanges which handle that product exclusively. On the other hand, Gluckman says Majestic does not contemplate disbanding its exchanges or production unit.

Merger in Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, April 22.—First Division and Majestic exchanges here will merge on April 27 under supervision of Lee L. Goldberg. Maurice Chase will be financially interested with Fred Levy and Goldberg and also will act as sales manager.

Levy and Goldberg jointly own Big Feature Rights Corp. which has been operating as independent exchange in Louisville for 20 years. Kentucky towns east of Louisville, however, will be handled by the new merged exchange. Frank Decker will handle the latter territory, but work out of Cincinnati. Abe H. Kaufman is being transferred back to Big Feature Rights as sales manager while Joseph Goldberg and Israel Landau continue as office manager and shorts manager, respectively. Sam H. Abrams has been named sales manager of Big Feature's Indianapolis office.

The merged exchange probably will be known as First Division-Majestic and use the Majestic quarters.

Golden in Toronto

TORONTO, April 22.—Edward Golden, general sales manager of Monogram Pictures, is expected here Tuesday to discuss sales conditions with Oscar Hanson, president of Empire Films, Ltd., Canadian distributors for Monogram. It is reported Golden will close with Hanson to handle Republic.

Republic Plans One Here

Republic will produce one of its 1935-36 productions in the east this summer. The picture, "Manhattan Merry-Go-Round," will go before the cameras at Biograph. Ellery Queen's "The Spanish Cape Mystery" has been bought by the same company for coast production.

Two More Units Started

BOSTON, April 22.—Following the formation of Republic Pictures Corp. of Texas, with former Monogram franchise holders in the territory, William G. Underwood and Claude Ezell, named as president and vice-president, respectively, Republic Pictures of New England has been formed here under Massachusetts law with Herman Rifkin as president.

Rifkin is the former Monogram franchise holder in this section.

Republic Buys Story

HOLLYWOOD, April 22.—Robert Eden's story, "Dancing Feet," which was syndicated in 55 daily newspapers and published in book form, has been bought by the newly formed Republic Pictures.

Mrs. Wallace Reid has been signed to the first contract of Republic Pictures. She will be story editor. She formerly was a supervisor for Monogram.

Hays Office Moves To Hit Ads in Films

under way aimed at injecting advertising films into entertainment programs, and the association will conduct a study of the matter. A report and recommendations will be presented to the board at a later date.

"The motion picture theatre is and should be reserved exclusively for entertainment. The motion picture theatre screen is not a proper medium for advertising, whether this be by direct presentation of outright advertising films, or by some indirect effort to present advertising films under the guise of entertainment."

Resolutions were also adopted praising the work of Louis Lumiere on this the 40th anniversary of his work on films.

The legislative situation in California was discussed, but no action was taken, it was stated.

Major Sales Forces To Help NVA Drive

Plans whereby major companies' sales forces will cooperate with the N.V.A. Fund committee were mapped out yesterday when distributors' representatives met with Leslie E. Thompson at the M. P. Club.

Eddie Cantor will make a trailer for the drive and National Screen will handle the distribution. About 4,000 theatres will show the trailer.

Sales forces of the various companies will contact exhibitors throughout the country for pledges for 10 per cent of the receipts on May 20.

Attending the session yesterday were Felix F. Feist of M-G-M, William Kupper of Fox, Joseph J. Unger of Paramount, Sam Dembow of National Screen, Robert Mochrie and Harold Rodner of Warners, Paul Burger of United Artists, Abe Montague of Columbia and A. P. Waxman of Gaumont British. Waxman is in charge of publicity and advertising.

Millard Webb to Be Laid to Rest Today

HOLLYWOOD, April 22.—Funeral rites for Millard Webb, the director, who died in a hospital here yesterday from an intestinal disease in his 43rd year, will be held in Hollywood on Tuesday.

Webb, who was taken ill after he returned from Europe nine months ago, is survived by his widow, the former Mary Eaton; a daughter, his parents, two sisters and a brother, all resident in Los Angeles.

The director, who was also known as a writer, was born in Clay Center, Kan.

F. A. Dahme Is Dead

F. A. Dahme, for years a leader in the title printing field, died suddenly over the week-end from a heart attack. He was 56.

Funeral services will be conducted at 1 P. M. today from his home, 316 W. 101 St. His widow and a son, Jerome, survive.

Pennsylvania Sunday Show Hope Gaining

Scweller, chairman of the House Finance Committee, has proposed a state tax on services such as professional, taxicab, garage, barber service and similar items.

The state's budget is understood to be balanced, except for $6,000,000 for old-age pensions.

No action has been taken on the new proposal as yet.

Bans Washington Betting

SEATTLE, April 22.—Wagering of any kind on dog races will be prohibited again this year in Washington, Gov. Clarence D. Martin has assured theatre interests who visited his offices.

The governor's statement came as a result of a report that California interests were planning to operate dog tracks in Seattle and Vancouver, Wash. Without legalized betting, the tracks cannot be operated profitably.

James M. Hone, executive secretary of the Allied Amusements of Washington, was assured by Governor Martin that the state police would handle the situation if the sheriffs of the counties involved failed to prohibit wagering.

Says Catholics Back Pettengill Measure

Catholic organizations are lining up behind the Pettengill anti-block booking bill, according to a bulletin sent out by the M. P. Research Council.

Those that have indorsed the measure, the council states, are: Knights of Columbus, National Council of Catholic Women, Catholic Central Verein (National Federation of German-American Catholic Women), Catholic Order of Foresters, Catholic Boys' Brigade of the U. S. and the Detroit Council of Catholic Organizations.

Other organizations and individuals that have taken similar action, according to the council, are: American Ass'n. of University Women, National Committee on Education by Radio, W.C.T.U., National Education Ass'n., National Congress of Parents and Teachers, Y.W.C.A., Y.M.C.A., Dr. S. Parkes Cadman and Dr. A. Lawrence Lowell.

Boards Upheld on 58 Bank Rulings

the appeal of the Family and Ritz, La Grange, Ga., on Aug. 23, 1934. The complaint was brought by the Gablex, LaGrange. The last decisions were handed down April 4 and about 25 appeals are pending for disposal.

Only 14 of the 32 boards have been countenancing the practice. In Kansas City and Milwaukee 10 appeals were filed, in Los Angeles, eight. Dallas had seven. Chicago is credited with four. Atlanta, San Francisco, Omaha and Des Moines had three. In Oklahoma City and Denver there were two. Seattle, Indianapolis and Minneapolis has one each.

Lotteries in the form of screeno, country store, gift night, food night, prosperity night and money night totaled 34. Unlike bank night, Campi ordered four rehearings by local boards and reversed one lower verdict.

Indianapolis leads the list of 15 boards where appeals have been taken. This board chalked up seven appeals while Chicago and Minneapolis had four. Milwaukee, Omaha and Denver had three and Buffalo two. Charlotte, Los Angeles, Kansas City, Oklahoma City, New York, Portland, St. Louis and Cleveland had one.

Appeals brought on decisions handed down in connection with reducing admissions below prices stipulated in contracts totaled 18. The 13 boards and cities from which appeals were taken are: Kansas City, four; Charlotte and Philadelphia, two; Atlanta, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Dallas, Oklahoma City, Milwaukee, Cleveland, Detroit, Pittsburgh and Albany, one.

Yesterday a committee comprising Dan Michalove of Fox, Charles Moses of Century circuit and Roy H. Haines of Warners heard 20 appeal cases involving bank night, cash night, cash novelty gift night, premiums, prizes, purse night, jack-pot night and throwaways.

Producer-Exhibitor Out Held Likelihood

inated as in most instances distribution is handled separately. If a producer who sold his output to a distributor was held to be outside the code, the natural result would be the setting up of separate distribution organizations by all producers.

All this, however, it is added, is dependent upon a final adjudication of the Denver decision.

Expect L. A. Changes

Several changes in the Los Angeles schedule will be made by Campi today, it is understood. Harold S. Bareford of Warners will be chairman of the session.

Alterations will be made on the 13 points protested by Fox West Coast at the Campi hearing on April 11. At the hearing both Al Hanson, city manager for F. W. C., and Ben Berinstein, representing Associated Exhibitors, held that if certain changes were made it would be agreeable to them.

These undisputed shifts in zones are expected to be approved by Campi. The changes suggested are in the record and, because the testimony could not be transcribed for a few days, Code Authority decided to postpone the session until it could go over all the various recommendations.

However, it is said that the Forum-Uptown decision declaring the houses non-competitive will not be changed.

"Les Miserables" Accorded Unanimous Critical Praise

New York critics yesterday went all the way in coining phrases and applying adjectives to "Les Miserables" which had its world premiere at the Rivoli Saturday morning. Consensus of their opinions follows:

American—At last a picture has come to town to lift the screen from its forty days of doldrums, and burst, brilliant as an Easter sun, upon a public drenched in movie mediocrity. Such is "Les Miserables." And after more than a decade of loving labor in the cinematic vineyards of the metropolis, this star-gazer forecasts that when the roll is called out yonder, this magnificent achievement will be listed large as one of the major accomplishments of the present season. Or any other.

Daily Mirror—It is an ambitious, brilliantly acted, elaborately staged film version of the Victor Hugo novel, faithful, sober, stately and impressive.

Daily News (*)—impressively transported to the screen. . . . To Richard Boleslawski's masterful direction of the picture, which had its world premiere at the Rivoli yesterday, have been added superb performances by Fredric Marcb in the leading role, by Charles Laughton as the implacable Javert, by Sir Cedric Hardwicke as the benevolent Bishop and by little Marilynne Knowlden in the role of young Cosette.

Evening Journal—Producer Darryl Zanuck has made an impressive picture of "Les Miserables," a richly mounted, splendidly acted version of the Victor Hugo classic. * * * While a liberal translation of the book, follows it arrestingly in general outline, and meaning. The episodes selected were taken with an eye to pictorial as well as dramatic value, thus uniting spectacle and melodrama with the action demanded by the screen.

Herald-Tribune—The great and tragic story of Jean Valjean is told once more by the cinema in a handsome, well acted and earnestly loyal screen version. With Fredric March providing the best performance of his Hollywood career as the noble fugitive, and Charles Laughton offering a brilliant interpretation of the human bloodhound, Javert, Mr. Zanuck's production of the mastodomic Hugo work has an excellent head start to dramatic success. If the photoplay seems episodic and possesses a trace of heaviness, then the insistence on fidelity to the original is responsible.

Post—Here, indeed, is a superlative effort, a tbrilling, powerful, poignant picture, produced on a tremendous scale, yet retaining all the color, passion and intimacy of Hugo's fiercely dramatic tale of nineteenth century France.

Sun— * * * a picture so fine that it will be many years before anyone dares attempt another production of the Hugo classic. * * *

"Les Miserables" has drama enough for a dozen pictures. Somehow it flows along easily, subordinating its backgrounds of melodramatic and elaborate costumes to the undiscussed, never forgotten central theme.

This is a picture of power and hope. It is the perfect picture for Easter. Or perhaps it is just the perfect picture.

Times— * * * unbelievably thrilling in all the departments of its manufacture, and it makes for a memorable experience in the cinema. You will surely be hearing about it for a long time.

In a work which represents the perfect collaboration of many talents, it is difficult to award the laurel adequately. But we can come pretty close by applauding Richard Boleslawski for his direction, Gregg Toland for his remarkable photography, W. P. Lipscomb for a screen play which is a model of telescopic rewriting and the distinguished performances of Fredric March and Charles Laughton. * * * "Les Miserables" bulks impressively among the most notable contributions to the talking screen and it is sure to be remembered when the time comes to appraise the 1935 cinema. It deserves to run for months at the Rivoli.

World-Telegram— * * * deserving of rank among the cinema's finest achievements. Acted witb fine feeling by a superior cast and beautifully directed by Richard Boleslawski, it flashes across the screen without losing a whit of its power and forcefulness. * * * "Les Miserables" may soften once or twice, or it may slacken its pace here and there, but it never relaxes its emotional power and strength.

Rosenblatt Gets $8,948

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Compliance Director Sol A. Rosenblatt, who entered the NRA in 1933 as a deputy administrator at $6,000 a year, now has a salary of $8,948, it is shown by the official register just published by the Civil Service Commission. Only nine others in the NRA, one of them Donald R. Richberg, receive more than Rosenblatt.

Expect Compromise On Cleveland Duals

CLEVELAND, April 22.—The single feature situation for the coming season is still an unknown quantity. The committee of the Cleveland M. P. Exhibitors' Ass'n. has not completed a report, but it looks as though single features are doomed, or, if not entirely doomed, at least subjected to a compromise which will permit duals on specified days of the week. The report is expected within a week.

Return Copyright Treaty

WASHINGTON, April 22.—The Senate today reconsidered the vote whereby last Friday it ratified the copyright convention and returned the treaty to the calendar pending action on the copyright bill which is soon to be introduced.

Plan Television in Nine Key Spots Soon

Television stations in New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Washington, Chicago, Los Angeles, San Francisco and either Portland or Seattle are planned within the very near future, it is learned. Each of the stations will cost in the neighborhood of $250,000.

The first of the eight stations is reported near completion in Philadelphia, and, according to the plans, one studio will be used for sending out films and a second studio for variety entertainment.

Each station will have a useful radius of 75 miles with a non-interfering radius of approximately 60 miles. It is believed that the combined stations will reach more than half of the population in the country if, and when, this population has television sets installed. The price of a set is figured at about $200.

Jersey Unit, IEPA Will Meet Together

Members of Allied of New Jersey and the I.E.P.A. of Eastern Pennsylvania, Southern New Jersey and Delaware will hold a joint meeting in Philadelphia on Thursday to discuss topics of mutual interest. As a result, the regular Tuesday meeting of Allied has been called off today and instead Sidney Samuelson will confer this afternoon with a few members of his unit at a special session.

About 15 exhibitors from northern New Jersey are expected to attend the Quaker City meet.

Short Subjects

"Fish from Hell"

(Syndicate Exchanges)

With the coming of spring this featurette is good entertainment, particularly since many people will have their minds on fishing. The fare presented here is virile, however, and its appeal to women is a bit doubtful.

A California fishing boat takes a camera crew down to the game waters off Mexico. With the aid of an underwater camera swordfish, sharks, tuna, octopi, giant mantas and even a fight between a whale and a swordfish are shown as they are captured.

The film is conventional material for the most part, distinguished only by the excellent photography, except for the fight between the whale and a swordfish. These scenes alone should be enough to satisfy any audience.

Max Stengler's photography is exceptionally good and the narration of Wilfred Lucas is clear and interesting. Marine Prod. produced.

Recommended. Production Code Seal, No. 0398. Running time, 30 minutes. "G."

Union Will Picket In Orchestra Drive

Picketing of all theatres not employing orchestras is expected to get under way shortly unless musicians are installed, according to a bulletin issued yesterday to members of Musicians' Local 802.

"If the bosses will not yield, we must call upon all the craftsmen in the entertainment field to go out on a general strike," the bulletin reads, "unless our demands are granted."

The bulletin urges solidarity within the ranks and shorter hours of employed musicians for the distribution of work.

Famous Canadian to Restore Dividends

TORONTO, April 22.—So satisfactory was the financial showing of Famous Players Canadian for the year ending Dec. 29 that the directors voted to resume dividends at 50 cents a share, payable April 27 to shareholders of record April 24. Earnings were at the rate of 80 cents a share on the 378,790 common outstanding. Earnings were $302,625, compared with $104,885 for the previous year. This will be the first dividend since Sept., 1932.

In connection with this announcement, it was stated that an additional 18,940 shares of common had been offered at $10 per share to holders of record April 25, the right to subscribe being available until June 1 at the rate of one new share for every 20 held.

A substantial improvement was shown in working capital, the net working total being $1,539,648 as against $875,362 one year previously.

The balance sheet, which revealed total assets of $23,100,616, indicated a surplus of $3,762,036 at the end of 1934 as compared with $3,459,411 one year before. The total income for the year was $1,639,372 or more than $300,000 greater than in 1933. Fixed assets were listed at $10,572,815 and depreciation was $679,486. Investments in subsidiary companies not included with fixed assets totaled $2,071,000. Total capital stock at present is $8,991,725.

HOLLYWOOD, April 22. — Edward Sloman has been signed to a long term contract to direct by M-G-M.

Schrader Leaves Firm

SEATTLE, April 22.—Byron G. Shrader has disposed of his interest in Cinema Screen Service to Robert E. Gumm and Harold A. Zell, his associates in the business. The company will be incorporated with Gumm as president and general manager and Zell as secretary and treasurer in charge of production. Gumm was manager of National Theatre Supply Co.'s Chicago branch before coming here.

Another Cut in Frisco

SAN FRANCISCO, April 22.—Another drop in admission price has occurred here. The United Artists, long standing 55-cent downtown house, has gone down to 40 cents with the opening of "Cardinal Richelieu." It followed the move of the Warfield, topnotch first run spot, which skidded from 65 cents to 55 cents.

"Mutiny" Company Back

HOLLYWOOD, April 22.—The "Mutiny on the Bounty" location unit has returned to the M-G-M studios after a tour of more than 14,000 miles, mostly in tropical waters of the Pacific. Frank Lloyd, who is directing the film, was leader of the company, which was away two months.

Ford Signed by Zanuck

Darryl F. Zanuck has signed John Ford to direct Ronald Colman in the forthcoming 20th Century production, "The Man Who Broke the Bank at Monte Carlo."

Option Ginger Rogers

HOLLYWOOD, April 22.—Radio has lifted its option on Ginger Rogers.

Tippy Making Series Of Indiana Speeches

INDIANAPOLIS, April 22.—Dr. Worth M. Tippy, executive secretary of the Commission on Church and Social Work of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, with headquarters in New York, opened a speaking tour throughout Indiana here today under the sponsorship of the Indiana Council of Federated Church Women Conferences "in the interest of better motion pictures." Exhibitors have been invited to attend.

Dr. Tippy will also speak in Lafayette and Crawfordsville today, in Richmond, Tuesday; in Elkhart, Wednesday; South Bend, Thursday; Marion, Friday; here again, Saturday, and Fort Wayne, Monday.

The Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America here told MOTION PICTURE DAILY yesterday that no future trips were planned by Dr. Tippy and that this was the first such excursion he has made in six months. Dr. Tippy has long been campaigning for clean pictures and at one time crossed the continent on a lecture tour, but this is the first time he has left the New York area since the start of the Legion of Decency drive.

More of Fabian's Fox Met Deals Out

by Joseph M. Schenck and Fox Theatres.

Isidor Kresel, counsel for the proponents of the Schenck-Fox Theatres' plan, drew from Frederick Peyser, a partner in Hallgarten & Co., the information that Fabian and Greve had each had an account with that brokerage house for trading in Fox Met bonds in addition to the Hallgarten accounts in which the two were shown last week to have participated to the extent of $119,500 of par value notes each. With Greve on the stand later yesterday before Federal Judge Julian W. Mack, presiding, Kresel drew admissions from the latter of his interest in five additional accounts which dealt in Fox Met notes.

Percival Jackson, counsel for a Fox Met noteholder and believed to be friendly to the prospective Fabian plan of reorganization, charged that the disclosures were being made "to force Fabian out of the picture" and to enable Schenck-Fox Theatres to acquire the Fox Met assets "as cheaply as possible" and "without increasing the payment to Fox Met bondholders" above the 75 cents on the $1 proposed in the Schenck-Fox Theatres' plan.

Greve admitted that in addition to his account with Hallgarten, he had dealt in Fox Met notes through Wood, Low & Co., through Isaac Roshalsky, an investor, and through other houses either in his own name or in that of relatives, friends or corporations he controls. He said the total extent of his dealings was $280,100 face amount of notes.

Admits Schenck Stock Offer

An admission that Schenck had offered a block of stock in the new Fox Met company proposed under the plan to Skouras Bros. was made by George Skouras, on resuming the stand yesterday. Skouras said the proposal had been discussed by Schenck, Spyros Skouras and the late Richard Hoyt of Hayden, Stone & Co., but had not been resumed with anyone since the recent death of Hoyt. When MOTION PICTURE DAILY published this information in its issues of March 16 and 21, it drew a written denial from Milton C. Weisman who, as receiver for Fox Theatres, is one of the proponents of the Schenck plan of reorganization. It is now understood that the stock selling proposal to Skouras has been withdrawn by Schenck, at least for the present.

Skouras testified that he believed the Schenck plan "to be better for both the operators of Fox Met (Skouras and Randforce) and for Fox Met bondholders than the reorganization plans for the circuit presented earlier." He also gave additional testimony as to the value of the Fox Film franchise to Fox Met, which would be retained under the Schenck plan, but not under Fabian. It was also brought out that the Skouras and Randforce stock interests in the new Fox Met operating companies could be disposed of to Schenck or to Fox Theatres providing one of the latter first sold its stock interest in the parent company to the other.

Warners Start a Drive

Warners yesterday started a five-week sales drive.

of 71 for the circuit which is in receivership. It is expected that it will take from six weeks to two months before the company will be taken out of receivership.

The new houses are: El-Jay, Mankato, Minn., seating 400; Gem, Winona, Minn., 400 seats; O'Klare, Eau Claire, Wis., 500 seats. The first two houses will probably be ready in June while the third house may be opened in May.

Recently, Minnesota Amusement Co. reopened its third house, the Orpheum, in Minot, N. D. A new lease was also closed some time ago on the Grand, Fargo, N. D.

Discussing conditions in territories under his supervision, Friedl declared that for the first time in years there is a healthy outlook ahead. Within the past few weeks, he says, there has been rain and snow, indicating good crops for the farmers, which will be reflected at the box-office.

Harvey Buchanan, partner with Minnesota in three houses in Superior, Wis., is accompanying Friedl. Buchanan also sees good signs ahead in his town, a shipping center.

"When the boats start moving oil, wheat and ore, Duluth and Superior feel the activity on the lake at the theatres," he said. The Palace and Peoples are the only Superior houses open, the Strand being closed for the present.

Buchanan plans to stay in New York a few more days. Friedl intends to leave Friday. Joseph W. Finley, attorney for Minnesota, in New York on several code appeals, left last night.

Reopen N. E. Theatres

BOSTON, April 22.—The Sharby Circuit has started its spring expansion with the opening of the Capitol in Hillsboro, N. H., to run on a single feature basis in opposition to the Opera House managed by Charles R. Marshall.

The Palace, in Jamestown, R. I., now operated by A. R. Commetti, will reopen April 27 after being dark some four months, and Jerome Parker Jerome is closing the Imperial in Pawtucket this month.

Maine Theatres Reopen

PORTLAND, Me., April 22.—Theatres in this state are on the upgrade with the return of warmer weather. The Opera House at Rumford has been reopened by Ed Pollard to show first runs in competition with the Maine and N. H. circuit. Hoart and Pollard have put Ricker Hall in Stratton back on the active list, also as a first run. Jack Marsh has commenced operation of the Opera House in Dixfield.

Remodel at Baltimore

BALTIMORE, April 22.—The New Theatre, Morris A. Mechanic, president, has closed to be extensively remodeled and to have the entire theatre reseated. A new first floor will be built in.

Mechanic has just returned from a trip to Hollywood with Norman Clark and Lonis Azrael, drama and movie reviewer and columnist, respectively, of the Baltimore News Post.

Form Oklahoma Concern

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 22.—Blue Moon Theatres, Inc., Oklahoma City, with branch offices at Lindsay, Okla., has been granted a charter by the secretary of state. Capital stock is listed at $5,000. Incorporators are Avece T. Waldron, Oklahoma City; Harry Waldron of Lindsay and Oklahoma City; Mary Hamet Hammet, Garber, Okla.

Will Build at Clinton

CLINTON, Conn., April 22.—A new theatre is to be built here in time for the summer trade. It will seat about 500, according to present plans of the Essex Square Theatre Corp., headed by P. L. Sampsell. The company already operates the Westbrook, Westbrook, and the Essex Square in Essex.

Gen'l Talking Suit Vs. Erpi Under Way

By CLARENCE LINZ

WILMINGTON, April 22.—Trial of the anti-trust action of General Talking Pictures and Duovac Radio, which is no longer an active organization, against Erpi, Western Electric and American Telephone and Telegraph, charging the defendants with having built up a monopoly in the industry through a series of contracts with exhibitors, opened in the U. S. District Court here today before Judge John P. Nields. The trial is expected to last about two weeks.

It is charged these restrictive agreements are tying agreements, licenses or leases of Erpi to exhibitors whereby exhibitors agree to purchase from Erpi all repair and replacement parts for reproducing apparatus and equipment leased by Erpi and exclusive agreements in contractual letters accompanying leases of Erpi to producers whereby producers agree to distribute films produced on producing apparatus only to exhibitors supplied with Erpi reproducing apparatus and equipment.

It is also charged that exclusive agreements in contractual letters require producers to refrain from distributing talking pictures to theatres which have not acquired reproducing equipment from Erpi.

Stanley Co. of America was a co-plaintiff in the case but has since settled its grievances with the defendants.

The defendants amended their answer to charges before the trial opened today by including the statement that Duovac, since the case was instituted has gone into bankruptcy and is no longer an active company and hence is not entitled to any injunctive relief. To this, Samuel E. Darby, New York, leading counsel for the plaintiff, said that had "the vice not existed Duovac might still be in the business" of manufacturing electrical devices including vacuum tubes and photo-electric cells.

The first day of the trial was spent entirely by both sides outlining their case.

in the case and the voluminous exhibits which were filed.

The case, involving RKO's film playing policies at the Hollywood and Apollo, which it leases from M. & S., was concluded late Saturday and given to the board of arbitrators for a ruling. The proceedings were begun in February with Max D. Steuer as counsel for M. & S., and Bruce Bromley of Cravath, de Gersdorff, Swaine & Wood, representing RKO. Steuer relinquished any claim to money damages last week, but sought, thereafter, to require future compliance with the leases which he alleges were breached by RKO in reputedly failing to play all of the product day and date in the Hollywood and Apollo which is played in other RKO houses. Steuer sought to prove that this was not done because of an agreement by which Loew's released certain of its product to RKO houses not in competition with Loew's houses. The Hollywood and Apollo compete with Loew's Avenue B and Delancey.

"Frankenstein" Off To Big Coast Start

"Bride of Frankenstein" is getting off to a flying start, according to telegrams reaching James R. Grainger, Universal sales manager.

San Francisco, Los Angeles, Seattle and Portland are going for it in a big way, it seems. The Orpheum, San Francisco wired: "Frankenstein opened at 3 o'clock with a waiting ticket line a full block long." The gross for the opening day, Friday, was $2,165, "which was sensational," the wire stated. The Portland Orpheum wired that it was necessary to issue refunds as the lines continued all day.

Alexander Pantages sent this from Los Angeles: "Broke all records since we reopened the theatre two years ago." Hamrick's Orpheum, Seattle, wired that "critics ran away with themselves."

Universal to Make Six Spanish Films

Universal will produce six Spanish pictures for distribution abroad next season. They will be originals and not versions of vehicles designed for the American program. N. L. Manheim, foreign sales manager of the company, completed the arrangement while in Hollywood last week.

Plans for European production will be set following conferences here or abroad by Manheim with Universal's representatives.

O.K.'s Dropping Tri-Ergon Claim

The petition of the Paramount Publix trustees to have the American Tri-Ergon patent infringement claim against it expunged was approved yesterday by Special Master John E. Joyce in a report to Federal Judge Alfred C. Coxe. The claim was for an indeterminate amount.

Also approved was a petition for expunging a $1,000 claim against Paramount by W. E. Cannon based on promissory notes issued by the Cocoanut Grove Theatre, Miami, Fla.

Attitude of Groups on Board Not Clear

The Atlas Corp., large investment organization headed by Floyd B. Odlum, a director-elect of Paramount Publix, will submit an offer to underwrite alone the entire $6,500,000 of new Paramount stock subscription warrants to a meeting of the Paramount board today.

Odlum is identified with the so-called Fortington group of Paramount creditors and the offer is regarded in influential creditor circles as evidence of a threatened division of interests within the new board. It is pointed out in these circles that any underwriting offer which failed to include all financial groups interested would probably be considered as a

Ampa Set to Elect Gallup as President

With no opposition in sight, Bruce Gallup will be elected president of the Ampa at the annual elections tomorrow. He will succeed William R. Ferguson. Gallup heads both the official nominating committee's slate and a second ticket signed by seven qualified members.

From a consensus of opinion in the trade, it appears that the second ticket has a stronger lineup of names than the first slate. The elections are expected to be anything but serene and tranquil. The induction takes place Saturday night at the Naked Truth Dinner at the Astor.

Independents On the Coast Win on Zoning

Southern California independents won a smashing victory yesterday when Campi adopted only one of the 13 recommendations in the petition of Fox West Coast for changes in the Los Angeles schedule proposed by the local board.

After previous decisions declaring Warners' Forum and Fox Uptown non-competitive and placing them in different zones, Campi yesterday reversed the lower ruling and put them in one zone. While Warners were defeated in this instance, Harold S.

Turning back the pages of theatre history to those dim nights when Tony Pastor's was lighted by lanterns can be an exciting adventure into that mysterious emotional borderland where laughter and tears play hide and seek with each other.

Those who made the history flicked the pages lightly yesterday at the Motion Picture Club forum. Laughter predominated. It was a masterly exhibition of showmanship, but tears crept into the scene at the finish. Vesta Victoria furnished them.

Kent's Stand Held Help to Schenck Plan

Against a Fox Franchise For Loew, RKO, Fabian

Fox Film would endeavor to cancel the franchise for its product held by the operators of Fox Metropolitan Playhouses if Loew's, RKO or Si Fabian became operators of the circuit, Sidney R. Kent, Fox Film president, testified yesterday before Federal Judge Julian W. Mack during the hearings on the Joseph M. Schenck-Fox Theatres' plan of reorganization for Fox Met.

Kent declared, however, that despite the fact that he considered the Fox Met franchise a poor deal, financially, for Fox Film he regarded the Skouras and Randforce operation of Fox Met in a favorable light. His testimony was regarded by observers as the most favorable and impressive yet given in support of the Schenck-Fox Theatres' plan and led to predic-

"Reckless" Holds Over

The Capitol will hold over "Reckless" for a second week.

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

FIRST expressions from Hollywood tycoons on classics, near classics and this column's unshakeable belief they should be filmed as the authors or playwrights conceived them or left strictly alone.

Cecil B. De Mille: "If a classic is worthy of being screened, the producer should take no liberties with the plot. However, he should be allowed certain latitude as far as dialogue and costuming are concerned. For instance, costumes should only give the feel of a period, if the period happens to be one in which ugly clothes were worn. Also characters should not be made to speak pure Elizabethan English, but their speeches should rather be put in words which a modern audience can understand. This is absolutely necessary as they must not be made to lose track of the plot by missing dialogue.

"Unfortunately, many people believe that 'classic' is a Greek word for Shakespeare. But the Bible stories I have filmed and done very well with are classics, as are the works of many other English writers."

Samuel Goldwyn: "Dramatic license cannot be destroyed. An artist chooses his own medium of expression and, if his art is translated into another medium, the translator must be allowed to make such changes as fit the new medium. But such changes cannot destroy the original work any more than an ugly frame can destroy a beautiful painting."

To De Mille: You subscribe to the argument the producer must not take liberties with plots, yet you argue he should dress up dialogue and costuming. Costumes, you maintain, should give only "the feel of a period." We suppose that, pursuing this theory, you conceivably would sanction dressing Julius Caesar in slacks and polo shirts.

To Goldwyn: Aren't you handing Hollywood a lot with the generally loose and usually abused convenience described as "dramatic license?" You say such license cannot be destroyed. But what about destroying the tempo and the mood of literary works which have developed from years of sweat and toil? You filmed "Nana" not as Zola wrote it, but as you wanted it filmed for commercial purposes, of course, and correctly so, too. The results were not Zola, but Goldwyn. Thereby, we argue you transgressed not only your rights, but your dramatic license as well. . . .

Will H. Hays, talking on Monday:

"Much concern is felt over the reports that various projects are now under way aimed at injecting advertising films into entertainment programs and the association will conduct a study of the matter. . . . The motion picture theatre is and should be reserved exclusively for entertainment. The motion picture theatre screen is not a proper medium for advertising, whether this be by direct presentation of outright advertising films, or by some indirect effort to present advertising films under the guise of entertainment."

All of this seemed to present good and sufficient reason for investigation. The Hays association attitude reputedly hinges on current production efforts by General Electric and General Motors. The latter company reportedly is making two pictures, one to further sales on Chevrolet and another, sales on Cadillac, and is using Hollywood players for leading roles. This looks and sounds like a definite effort at encroachment by these industrial giants on a field in which they do not belong. Simple seems the answer. Hollywood professionals depend on regularly constituted producers for their livelihood and not on the occasional, advertising subject which this or that company determines to take. The answer to the appearance or no of regular players in industrial films, therefore, rests with studio employers. They need only act. . . .

George White, who is so good he supervises, directs and acts in his own musicals, talking to Eileen Creelman in the New York Sun:

"They (the Fox studio or, maybe, it's Hollywood at large) say a picture won't go without a story. There seems to be no reason for it. But they all say that a straight revue won't get over. If it's good enough I think it would.

"Of course you don't have to write much of a story, just a frame-work. They're hard to write just the same. You see, you get the songs and numbers first, the comedy situations, too. Then you write a story that works them all in. And that's hard."

White's attention is directed to the fact that many factors might make a picture go. In such classification might be included star drawing power, treatment, situation and dialogue. But a story, nevertheless, is a pretty good thing to have. There was Shakespeare, for instance. . . .

Fox selling demons in the local area are talking next season to resident theatre operators, their story running something like this: Fifty pictures. Eight in Group A; twelve in Group B; fifteen in Group C and a similar number in Group D. Shirley Temple, now as old as six, will appear in either four or five. Shorts will hit the same number as the current season's. Furthermore, exhibitors do tell, they are to be sold on the weekly payment plan. Which means exactly what it says. The agreed upon price for the year's abbreviated product, divided by fifty-two and payable each week, win, lose or draw. . . .

Eddie Alperson upped to deny yesterday what he describes as an impression in the minds of Wisconsin exhibitors that Harold Fitzgerald was running a booking combine in that state until Sidney Kent squelched it. Alperson, who is chief film buyer for all Fox theatres, declares (1) the story is not true and (2) all that "Fitz" did was to buy for the thirty-two theatres which Fox either owns, operates or in which it holds partnerships. . . .

Miller to Mediate For Writers' Guild

HOLLYWOOD, April 23.—The Screen Writers' Guild board of directors met last night and elected Seton I. Miller chief conciliation commissioner, Joel Sayre chairman of the membership committee and E. E. Paramore vice-chairman of the membership committee. John Grey, Frances Goodrich and Ben Markson were also named members of the Finance Committee.

Skouras Men to Meet

LOS ANGELES, April 23.—Charles Skouras is planning a meeting of all district, division and house managers of Fox West Coast and subsidiaries either in May or June.

The session is contingent on Fox Rocky Mountain and Fox Midwest coming out of bankruptcy. The date set is May 4, but may be held up to May 10. Spyros Skouras is due from New York in two weeks for a general survey. The 10-year contract between the brothers and National Theatres has not yet been signed, but is expected to be as soon as the two remaining Wesco units are turned over to National.

Six Tri-Ergon Suits End

Six additional American Tri-Ergon patent infringement actions were withdrawn yesterday under leave granted by Federal Judge William Bondy as a result of the Supreme Court decision holding Tri-Ergon patents to be invalid. The actions withdrawn were those against Columbia, M-G-M, Universal, 20th Century, Reliance and Du Art Film Lab.

Independents On the Coast Win on Zoning

Bareford, attorney for the company, told Ben Berinstein "we're not through with this situation yet."

Despite the Uptown-Forum reversal, F. W. C. was more vitally concerned with Harry Arthur's Balboa in Los Angeles. Campi adopted the coast board's recommendation to put the house in a separate zone outside of the city group so it can day-and-date with other Los Angeles theatres charging 40 cents. There are 12 40-cent houses in Los Angeles.

F. W. C. executives are up in arms over the Balboa verdict, claiming this house holds the key to all admissions in Los Angeles. Al Hanson, city manager for F. W. C., Edward Alperson and William T. Powers took time off last night to attend a birthday party in honor of George Skouras at his brother's house at Mamaroneck. George last Saturday received a certificate making him a Kentucky colonel. Several pictures were screened, but before the show the various circuit men took up the coast matter.

It is understood F. W. C. will file an appeal with the NRA in Washington. Powers last night asked Deputy Administrator William P. Farnsworth for quick action in the event an appeal was taken. Farnsworth promised to do so. Charles Skouras was called on the phone from Spyros' house and given details of Campi's actions.

Another F. W. C. Request Denied

Request by F. W. C. for a clearance of 14 days between nickels was also turned down in favor of the local board's price schedule. The board's schedule provides from 10 to 11 days between nickels for theatres after downtown first run. For houses charging 40 cents the clearance is 21 days; 35 cents, 31 days; 30 cents, 42 days; 25 cents, 56 days; 20 cents, 77 days; 15 cents, 119 days; 10 cents, 182 days; five cents, 365 days.

Hanson, who expected to be back on the coast today to celebrate his 25th wedding anniversary, will probably take a plane back today or tomorrow, depending on the outcome of the session last night at Skouras' home.

A resolution was passed by Code Authority that the schedule be put into effect not later than May 15. It is most likely the local board will make May 9 the effective date. Another resolution was passed covering the consent decree finding, so that if first run admissions are lowered the clearance is reduced in conformity with the schedule adopted.

During various stages of the Campi session, Hanson and Berinstein were called in to explain certain phases of the 13 points as they were being discussed. After one of the conferences, Hanson came out and charged Berinstein with acting as spokesman for Arthur. The F. W. C. executive declared that Arthur had paid Berinstein's fare east and that Arthur was "destructive." Berinstein denied the charges and objected to bringing personalities into the situation.

Berinstein early in the afternoon promised a sizzling statement, but when advised that practically all of the suggestions of L. A. were adopted, a few with modifications, he changed his mind. However, he was amazed at the reversal in the Forum-Uptown decision.

Prior to the close of the Campi hearing, Berinstein was somewhat disgusted with the whole affair and while waiting in the anteroom stated he was sorry he did not walk out of the April 11 session when F. W. C. was granted the rehearing. He had nothing to say on this after yesterday's hearing broke up.

Accompanied by Harry Vinnicoff, who represented 178 houses in the Southern California I. T. O., Berinstein left last night for Pittsburgh to visit his sister. They will hop a plane from the Smoky City today for home. Prior to leaving, Vinnicoff reiterated he will make every effort to eliminate duals on the coast. He said if he could line up 70 per cent of the independents the plan would go through. Fox West Coast, however, will not become a party to any agreement, an executive for the circuit stated last night.

Ed Kuykendall leaves tonight for Washington, where he will spend tomorrow and Friday, returning here Saturday. Nathan Yamins missed his last train for Fall River, Mass., and had to stay over until this morning.

No other business was taken up and the next Campi session will be held a week from Thursday.

Pages of Theatre History Flicked Lightly at Forum distinguished the Beau Brummels of those days before Theodore Roosevelt had charged up San Juan Hill, told his hearers that an actor's business was to make people happy, but that his art vanished when he passed away.

Then Joe Laurie proceeded to demonstrate that much art which isn't even a memory to this generation of theatregoers has not passed away. Laurie was introduced by Louis Nizer as the man "who has outlived youth and age, the agent and boon companion of great artists of the past and present."

He promptly denied the "agent" designation.

"I haven't seen an audience like this in months," he said. "I gave up being an agent when I heard an argument down in the lobby. An actor met his agent and told him he wanted to pay him what he owed him.

"'Aw, don't bother,' the agent told him. 'Let it go a couple of weeks.'

"'No, I don't want to do that,' the actor replied; 'it'll run the bill up to 40 or 50 cents.'"

Joe was off to a flying start. The crowd howled.

"The last thing I think of is money —when I go to sleep at night," he went on.

It's Been Badly Sliced

"There used to be 35 weeks of vaudeville in New York; now there are only four or five—that is, there were four or five. I haven't been downstairs for the last 10 minutes. In those days they had vaudeville and a feature. Now they have two features, and not very good features at that. Loew's is the only good vaudeville circuit left. I see Louis K. Sidney here—I hope he remembers this."

Dave Genaro was introduced. He was the man who invented the cakewalk. His sister, Lizzie Wilson, the original "Schnozzelbaum," was presented. Fanny Vedder stood up. She was Leon Errol's original dancing partner.

Harry Cooper, restaurateur, was presented as a member of the original Empire State Quartet. He sang one of his compositions, but insisted it was his father who had been in the quartet.

"He can't get away with that," shouted Laurie. "There never were two noses like that."

"That's the reason I couldn't get into the movies," retorted Cooper.

"They could make a two-reeler of it," suggested Laurie. "It couldn't be done in a single."

Joseph E. Howard stalked to the microphone and called Mike Bernard to the piano. Mike played like a virtuoso and Howard sang some of the songs he composed in the days when the "90's" were just beginning to get gay. In a few moments the crowd was singing with him—"I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now," "If I Can Take You From Someone," "It's Lonesome Tonight."

"Besides being a good composer Howard makes good clothes," said Laurie when he had finished. His name is still on Broadway.

Jim Thornton was introduced as the man who has seen half a century of the show business.

He's still seeing it with a laugh and a chuckle.

"I've been 50 years on the stage," he confided. "All I want is another 50 and then I'll retire. Most of the actors I used to play with are dead —they didn't drink. Alcohol is the greatest preservative known to medicine.

And Still They Come

"Some actors are born," he went on, "but they become stagehands and make more money. A bad actor is a ham, but a ham can be cured."

This kept up until Jack Harrower choked on his sliced chicken diet.

Tom Ward took a bow, and called Mike Newman back to the piano.

"Pick your key. You can do anything with a piano. I want to sing," he admonished. Newman hesitated on some of the numbers, but they got going quickly.

There were others. It was like a "Who's Who?" of yesterday, and if the program slowed Laurie broke in.

Vesta Victoria, the woman who made "Waiting at the Church" a classic, first came to this country in 1896, Nizer said. It didn't seem possible. She joined in most of the songs and seemed to have a hilarious time until called upon to speak. Her voice trembled as she thanked her audience.

As she resumed her seat she dabbed at her eyes. "Now you've made me cry."

Seated beside her was her daughter in an old-fashioned costume, with ringlets in her hair—seemingly a replica of her mother in her early days. She was introduced as Iris Victoria.

For once, Harry Hershfield was stopped. He paid a tribute to Laurie's handling of the gathering.

"Anything I might say would be an anti-climax now," he concluded.

Constant Reader

Arnold Van Leer got the idea for yesterday's show at the Motion Picture Club while reading a paper some time ago.

He should keep right on reading. It was a great show. He rates a bow.

Atlas to Make Offer for All Of Para. Issue

challenge to the groups ignored. Similarly, it was stated, an underwriting proposal which included a combination of all groups might be regarded as evidence of cooperation of all factions within the new board.

The Atlas offer is understood to be in a flexible form, adaptable to any direction whatever that might be given by the Federal court. Developments at today's board meeting, however, may result in its being altered or abandoned. The seven new nominees to the Paramount board, not yet formally elected, will be represented at today's meeting of the nine directors elected last December who now constitute the board.

It is also understood that the terms of the several directors who will comprise the full, initial board of 16, which were agreed upon recently, may be ratified at today's meeting.

Indications are that the Federal court hearing scheduled for tomorrow may be postponed because of the large amount of work requiring court approval which remains to be done. This includes the charter of incorporation of the new company, its new by-laws and the form of new indenture, all of which must be approved by the court.

Detroit House Gets Film

DETROIT, April 23.—In the first decision given by the local grievance board in which an independent exhibitor has scored against an affiliated theatre, A. C. Early's Royal and Grand at Kalamazoo have been given relief.

The board, after hearing a complaint filed by Early against P. C. Schram and the Butterfield houses in Kalamazoo, found that, although the exhibitor respondents were not guilty of conspiracy to prevent him from obtaining product, the distributor respondents, Columbia, Fox, Vitagraph and Universal, "independently or in collusion with the exhibitor respondents, on the basis of substantial circumstantial evidence, did without justification operate to prevent the complainant from securing their respective motion picture releases."

The board ordered the distributors to offer their product to Early within 10 days from date of the ruling.

Kent's Stand Held Help to Schenck Plan

tions that with the expected conclusion of the hearings today the court would give its tentative approval to the Schenck-Fox Theatres' plan subject to probable changes which may be recommended by the court.

Kent testified that the 10-year Fox Film franchise for a percentage of the Fox Met gross, which has more than six years still to run, was made with Skouras and Randforce prior to his, Kent's, entry into Fox and added that he would not have made the deal if he had been in the company at the time. He estimated that the franchise was costing Fox Film $215,000 to $400,000 annually as compared with the film rentals it might receive if pictures were to be sold today in a clear market to RKO or Loew's. He testified that he would endeavor to cancel the franchise if operation of Fox Met went to RKO or Loew's because he feared that under a producer-affiliated operation Fox Met would be made a "dumping ground" for poor product to the circuit's disadvantage and, consequently, to that of Fox Film.

Kent Approves of Schenck

Asked specifically what he thought of Schenck as the proposed head of a reorganized Fox Met, Kent replied favorably, pointing out that Schenck had no conflicting theatre interests which might receive preferential treatment to the detriment of Fox Met. In reply to a similar question as to his opinion of RKO operation, Kent replied that he considered the company to be a good operator "as far as its own properties were concerned," but added that he "would want to be out of it (Fox Met) if RKO came in." Of Fabian, who also has a proposal for reorganization of Fox Met which would make him operator of the circuit, Kent said he considered him to be "a good, average operator, but for these properties (Fox Met) not as good as the present operators."

Kent testified that he has consistently refused to agree to assign the Fox franchise to any of the sponsors of Fox Met reorganization plans who have requested him to do so. He said that the sponsors of the present Schenck-Fox Theatres' plan had made such a request and had been refused, as had Nicholas M. Schenck, head of Loew's and M-G-M, at the time that a joint bid for Fox Met was made by Loew's and Warners last summer. He testified that RKO had also made such a request recently and that the Fox Met bondholders' committee, which drafted a reorganization plan of its own last fall, under which it would have been authorized to dispose of Fox Met after May 1, 1936, had been told that Fox Film would not agree to an assignment of the franchise unless it was given the right to approve any proposed new operator of Fox Met.

Kent gave as his reasons for refusing to agree to an assignment of the franchise his satisfaction with the Skouras and Randforce operation and the fact that he had no assurance of what the operating policy for Fox Met would be in the event of a change of operators. When it was suggested to Kent yesterday by Attorney Archibald Palmer that Skouras and Randforce might be able to dispose of their stock in the new Fox Met operating companies and withdraw, Kent declared that "if they (Skouras and Randforce) left Fox Met by any device I would endeavor to cancel the franchise as soon as I could."

Kent remarked earlier that while he hadn't seen "any miracles of operation performed for Fox Met yet by Skouras and Randforce," he considered that, under the conditions of uncertainty which have prevailed in the situation "they have done at least as well as anyone else could." At another point, when questioned as to his opinion as to whether or not he believed Skouras and Randforce could achieve a 25 per cent improvement in Fox Met earnings, which would comfortably care for the interest and sinking fund provisions of the Schenck-Fox Theatres' plan, Kent said that in his 18 years' experience in the industry he "didn't know any one who could have done a better job in Fox Met than Skouras and Randforce and no one whom he considered would do a better one under improved, general conditions."

Holds Schenck Valuable

Kent also testified that he believed Schenck's association with the new company to be "of tremendous value" to it. "He has the reputation of a fighter and of one who looks after his own interests," Kent said. "Moreover, his position in the industry makes him a person who must be listened to and his acquaintances include every one in the industry who must be bargained with in the operation of Fox Met."

He also testified as to the value to Fox Met of the Fox Film franchise. The court later remarked that loss of the franchise would leave Fox Met bondholders "worse off," while loss of the operators (Skouras and Randforce) would be a misfortune but their removal couldn't be made impossible in a reorganization plan.

Kent was followed on the stand by William Greve, member of the Fox Met bondholders' committee, whose trading in the notes of the company was disclosed at earlier hearings. Greve testified that he had made a profit of $57,156 on his Fox Met bond tradings. It was also disclosed that Greve's Prudence Co. financed Fabian's theatre acquisitions at Albany, Schenectady and Syracuse, and that Greve, as a trustee of Allied Owners Corp., had voted in favor of the sale of the Brooklyn Paramount Bldg. to Fabian recently. Percival Jackson, also a trustee of Allied and identified in the Fox Met proceedings as an opponent of the Schenck-Fox Theatres' plan, likewise voted for the sale to Fabian. Greve denied, however, that he favored Fabian's Fox Met reorganization proposal.

Greve stated that he thinks Fox Met to be worth approximately the par value of the bonds outstanding, or about $12,500,000, and that a substantial part of the payment should be in cash. He also said he believes the Schenck-Fox Theatres offer to be insufficient and suggested that if the Skouras and Randforce operating contracts could be canceled both Paramount and Loew's would probably be in the field with a bid for the circuit in 18 months with the expiration of the product deal between the two.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"One Frightened Night"

(Mascot)

HOLLYWOOD, April 23.—This mystery comedy, played by a good cast and possessing a good story idea, is hampered by too much action taking place in the darkness.

Charles Grapewin, an eccentric millionaire, divides his fortune equally among his five hungry relatives and servants, explaining that all the money will go to his missing granddaughter if she is found. As he is about to sign a check, Clarence Wilson, the family lawyer, brings in Evalyn Knapp, claiming that she is the sought after heiress. Later Mary Carlisle, a vaudeville actress, arrives with her partner, Wallace Ford, and also claims that she is a granddaughter. Grapewin, about to confront the claimants with each other, finds Miss Knapp, murdered. The entire cast searches for the murderer. Lights go off and on. Ford and Fred Kelsey, as the sheriff, emerge as the comedy relief when the tenseness subsides. Eventually Lucien Littlefield is found to be the murderer with Grapewin solving the crime from clues not revealed to the audience.

Christy Cabanne's direction paces the chills and comedy alternately in routine manner. The picture will please where audiences like mysteries that are not too strong on logic.

Production Code Seal No. 815. Running time, 61 minutes. "G."

Reveals Why Extra List Was Recalled

HOLLYWOOD, April 23.—The story behind the passing of the extras' registration list yesterday, when the standing committee asked Compliance Director Sol A. Rosenblatt to return the list for a checkup for possible errors, is related by Eugene H. Marcus, attorney who represented extras' organizations in Washington recently.

The lawyer says that Rosenblatt, although not approving the list, hated to override the standing committee directly, asking that the proposed list be submitted to him for voluntary recall.

away as prizes, 55 per cent to the state and not more than 10 per cent to the administration. The measure would be self-executing upon the approval by the people and would make felonious all other lotteries now being conducted outside the law.

Lehman Signs Sunday Bill

ALBANY, April 23.—The Berg Bill authorizing a city, town or village to pass a local law permitting legitimate theatrical performances on Sunday in the same manner as Sunday movies are permitted was approved by Governor Herbert Lehman today as well as the Berg Bill providing for one day of rest in seven for employes and actors in legitimate theatres.

Defeat Mass. Licensing

BOSTON, April 23.—An attempt to force an act for licensing stage hands by the Commissioner of Public Safety through the present session of the legislature has failed.

Hits Choice of Spokesmen

LOS ANGELES, April 23.—The industry would have made more progress in its taxation fight if it had been wiser in its selection of spokesmen, according to Chester Rowell, editor of the San Francisco Chronicle, in an address at Town Hall yesterday.

He stated the drift toward high taxes was due to an absence of cooperation of state and local governments and added it was his opinion the industry had little to fear since it had sufficient political influence to ward off adverse legislation.

Ohio Endurance Bill to Governor

COLUMBUS, April 23.—The bill prohibiting endurance contests lasting longer than 12 hours was passed by the House today, 94 votes to seven. The measure has already been passed by the Senate. Governor Davey is expected to sign it. A penalty of $50 to $300 or 30 days in jail, or both, can be imposed. Each offense would be considered a separate violation.

For Missouri Sales Tax Cut

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., April 23.—The Missouri Senate today voted to reduce the rate in the proposed retail sales tax from two to one-half of one per cent.

Columbia Planning 12 Westerns for '35-36

Columbia will produce 12 westerns next season. Four will be from stories by Peter B. Kyne. These together with eight others to be made by Ken Maynard will constitute a major portion of the company's program of westerns.

"Johnny Harris Week"

PITTSBURGH, April 23.—All of the houses of the Harris Amusement Co. are celebrating "Johnny Harris Week" by way of observing John's official return to exhibition.

"Life Begins" Survives Twin Cities' Slump

MINNEAPOLIS, April 23.—A scarlet fever quarantine on school children and Holy Week combined to hit grosses in both cities. "Life Begins at 40" survived the strain by getting $4,600, up by $600, at the Century here, and by reaching $6,000, up by $500, at the St. Paul Paramount.

"West Point of the Air" was also a good draw. It reached $6,000 at the State here and grabbed the same gross at the St. Paul Paramount.

Total first run business in Minneapolis was $26,600. Average is $28,500. Total in St. Paul was $17,000. Average is $15,500.

Technicians Issue 378 Screen Credits

HOLLYWOOD, April 23.—The first issue of the technicians' credits publication just issued by the Academy Technicians' Branch covers 92 productions made between Jan. 1 and April 1, 1935, by Columbia, Fox, Samuel Goldwyn, M-G-M, Paramount, Radio, 20th Century, Universal, Warners and First National.

A total of 378 technicians received credits for art direction, camera work, editorial, photographic effects and sound recording. Names of laboratories making negatives and release prints are included.

"Marietta" Is Philadelphia Wow, $22,000

PHILADELPHIA, April 23.—"Naughty Marietta" evaded the usual Holy Week slump by sweeping through to a big $22,000 at the Boyd, just $10,000 over average. It will probably go three weeks.

The rest of the town slumped though the stage show theatres, the Fox and the Earle, beat out their averages with $12,500 for "The Iron Duke" at the former and $13,500 for "Traveling Saleslady," with Hugh Herbert on the stage, at the latter.

Week's most drastic nose-dive was taken by "Brewster's Millions," which pulled only $3,000 at the Aldine.

Total first run business was $71,200. Average is $68,900.

Estimated takings for the week ending April 18:

"BREWSTER'S MILLIONS" (U.A.)

ALDINE—(1,200), 35c-40c-55c, 6 days. Gross: $3,000. (Average, $7,000)

Needed Change

Hollywood, April 23.—Judson Stevens, for 16 years a bookkeeper in Walter Wanger's accounting department, threw up the job to become an assistant director on that producer's coming melodrama, "Shanghai." Stevens' friends said he wanted to get into something that looked like a steady job.

"Life" Again Washington's Hit, $5,800

WASHINGTON, April 23. — Will Rogers, again in a return engagement topped Washington grosses, taking $5,800, which is $2,700 over the first week average at Loew's Columbia.

"Star of Midnight" at RKO-Keith's took second place with $14,100, or $2,700 over average.

Third grosser of the week was "Ruggles of Red Gap," playing the second week of its return engagement to the tune of $4,700, or $600 over par. Changing its opening date from Thursday to Saturday, the Belasco reached a week's par, $1,500, in nine days of "Road to Life."

Loew's Fox was weak with "The Casino Murder Case" and the "Spices of 1935" on the stage. And the Earle skidded to $15,000, with "Car 99" and a stage show headed by Eddie Peabody.

Total first run business was $70,100, or $2,600 under par, $72,700.

Estimated takings, exclusive of tax:

Bank Reports Show Big Gains in West

SALT LAKE CITY, April 23.—Bankers' reports here are said to indicate that business in Idaho, Nevada, Oregon, Utah and Washington is better than at any time during the past three years.

The reports covered 30 cities and included bank debits. Banks cashed $2,361,000,000 in 30 cities during March—more than any month since December, 1931, it is said.

Stage-Films Split Weeks Omaha's Top

OMAHA, April 23.—The split week policy at the Paramount continues to be the big noise here. "All the King's Horses" on the screen and a stage show that included Thelma White in a revue for three days garnered $5,800. During the remaining four days a return engagement of "It Happened One Night" and "Great Expectations" piled up $2,350.

"George White's 1935 Scandals" was slightly over average at $5,200 at the Omaha. "Traveling Saleslady" and "Enchanted April" were good for $4,800, up by $1,300, at the Brandeis.

Total first run business was $25,650. Average is $22,500.

Estimated takings:

Milwaukee to Get a Second New Theatre

MILWAUKEE, April 23.—A new 1,000-seat theatre to be called the Sherman is to be built by the Fox Wisconsin Corp. on the west side.

This is the second neighborhood building project here recently. Time Theatre Co., operated by Frank Fischer and Jac Eskin, is building one.

To Take Milwaukee Strand

MILWAUKEE, April 23.—With the announcement that Harold Mirisch, Warner district manager, had joined Standard Theatre Co., comes the report that the new Wisconsin circuit, now operating six houses in the state, will take over operation of the Strand, dark for many months.

The Standard company operates no theatres in Milwaukee, but has houses in several state spots formerly operated by Warners.

It is reported that Lester Krieger, Warner executive in New York and Chicago, will take over Mirisch's job.

Build at Bridgeton, Me.

BRIDGETON, ME., April 23.—The Bridgeton State Theatre Corp. has been organized here with an authorized capital of $25,000 for the purpose of putting up a 600-seat theatre at Maine and Elm Sts. C. F. Millett, manager of the State, the building of which has been sold to Samuel Kurson of Bangor, is president of the new corporation. Mrs. Dorothy Millett is vice-president and treasurer, and J. B. Pike is secretary. An opening sometime in July is expected.

To Open at Tuskegee

TUSKEGEE, Ala., April 23.—The Macon, a new house, will open April 29. It will cost $50,000.

Ralph W. Braswell, Jr., for the past year manager of the Rose, will be in charge.

Beginning early in May, Sunday shows will be given as a result by a two-to-one vote.

Lease Missouri Houses

KANSAS CITY, April 23.—Commonwealth Theatres, of which C. A. Schultz is president, has effected long term leases for the Lee, Clinton, Mo., and Plaza, Trenton, Mo., taking the properties over from Lee Jones and Lenhart Bros. on May 1. The Lenharts will remain as managers.

Form G. T. Amusement

ALBANY, April 23.—G. T. Amusement, Inc., Brooklyn, has been chartered with $1,000 capital to operate film theatres. Freda Jarst, Miriam M. Rosenblum and John G. Zellner are directors and subscribers.

Get Wellsburg Palace

WELLSBURG, W. Va., April 23.—The Palace has been acquired by Urling & Anderson, circuit operators.

Sue to Bar New Theatre

BALTIMORE, April 23.—Suit has been filed in Circuit Court by Mr. and Mrs. Leo Schlenger, property owners on Liberty Heights Ave., seeking an injunction to prevent the building of a theatre by the Perry Amusement Co. and Forest Park Theatre Co., Durkee interests. Defendants have until May 6 to answer.

Rebuild at Rockingham

CHARLOTTE, N. C., April 23.—H. C. Wall is modernizing the Richmond at Rockingham, N. C. The seating capacity will be doubled to 855. New chairs will be installed and posts will be eliminated. The lobby is being widened from seven to 18 feet.

Take Middletown House

MIDDLETOWN, O., April 23.—The Gordon Theatre Co. has taken a long term lease on the Sorg Opera House, which was damaged in a recent fire. After repairs, around July 1, the house will open with films and stage shows. Built in 1889, it is one of the oldest houses in the state.

Miners to Have Theatre

TORONTO, April 23.—The booming mining country of Northern Ontario is to have still another new theatre. This will be erected at Creighton Mine, Ontario, as soon as the frost is out of the ground, by the International Nickel Co. of Canada, Ltd.

Transfer Two Theatres

NEW ORLEANS, April 23.—Two theatre changes have just occurred. W. F. Kent has sold the Vivian at Vivian, La., to N. S. Laird, operator of the Gunwood at Shreveport.

C. K. Hatcher has taken over the Stonewall, formerly the Palace, at Stonewall, Miss., from Max Connett.

Variety Club Chatter

Buffalo

BUFFALO, April 23.—Strange practices of exhibitors in the Far East and in Latin America were related to Barkers by WILLIAM MOSS, foreign sales executive of Remington Rand, at the semi-monthly April luncheon. Second Assistant Chief Barker JACK H. KAPLAN and Canvasman ROBERT T. MURPHY were kings for the day. First Assistant Chief SYDNEY SAMSON, Canvasman MATTHEW V. SULLIVAN and Barker MORRIS L. (TINY) ROSENBAUM won the gifts of the day. Barkers generally agreed that 30 minutes, the time allotted luncheon speakers, was far too little to permit Moss to cover his field, so the crew was asked to invite him to an evening event.

There is a banquet in the offing to celebrate the success of the Independence Campaign. E. R. GRISWOLD of Gowanda, N. Y., was the winner. Barkers SAMSON, NATE SAUBER, CARL W. KEMPKE, JAKE LAVENE and Property Master W. E. J. MARTIN were on the campaign committee, headed by Chief Barker E. K. (TED) O'SHEA.

Barker KEMPKE, who is a member of the club's board of governors, has been reappointed by Mayor GEORGE ZIMMERMAN to the board of examiners for operators.

New Barkers inducted this month are GEORGE H. MOESER of Hollywood Film Exchanges, Inc.; FREDERICK SCHWEPPE of the Capitol, Elmira, and ELMER E. SMITH, business representative of the Buffalo stage employes' union.

Recent visitors to the Buffalo Tent were M. S. ENGLAND of Pittsburgh Tent No. 1 and B. MILLS of Albany Tent No. 9.

Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, April 23.—An Easter egg hunt was one of the highlights at the Saturday night open house and proved a pleasant avenue of diversion.

LUPE VELEZ, headlining the bill at the RKO Shubert, was guest of honor at the noon meeting. She entertained the barkers with typical VELEZ antics.

SAM P. GORRELL of Cleveland No. 6 was a visitor. Others registering were: D. MCRAE, Boston; MILTON LINDEN, Brooklyn, and JOSEPH LUNK (and the Mrs.), Danville, Ill.

COL. ARTHUR FRUDENFELD, although able to navigate with the aid of a cane, is still nursing his sprained ankle.

NATE LEVINE, who was born on Good Friday, celebrated his birthday Easter Sunday. Just how many years ago the original event took place he refuses to reveal.

JOHN SCHWALM is another barker who celebrated last week in honor of his entrance into the world. In this case, too, the deponent sayeth not in the matter of ages, beyond the statement: "Old enough to know better."

Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, April 23.—FRED MEIR of Cleveland tent a visitor for dinner.

JOHNNY HARRIS and GEORGE TYSON every day at that old handball. GEORGE down two pounds; JOHNNY, nine pounds.

BENNY AMDUR with that contented look of victory signed up with Operator's Union after two years fight.

WWSW weekly broadcasts from club very popular.

DICK POWELL writing all his friends at the club at least once a month.

Washington

WASHINGTON, April 23. — JAMES BLAINE FITZGERALD and CLARK DAVIS were the kings for a day at the last smoker.

As the "extra added attractions" for the evening, the kings presented, through the courtesy of HARRY E. LOHMEYER'S Earle, GRACIE BARRIE, who sang several popular pieces, accompanied by BOB STICKNEY.

In addition, the barkers swallowed hook, line and sinker, the work of EUGENE BERNSTEIN, prestidigitator extraordinary, introduced through the courtesy of HARRY BROWN. Magician BERNSTEIN amazed the crowd for nearly an hour with card tricks, spirit tapping and other startling feats.

The following new resident members were approved: CARL GENTZEL, trombonist at the Earle, FRANK STORTY, associate of LOU BERNHEIMER, theatre operator; WALTER K. PETTUS, sound engineer of Warner theatres.

The following were elected as affiliate members: BEN OURISMAN, MARCUS S. GOLDNAMER, A. SIGMUND, JOSEPH D. KAUFMAN, HENRY VINER, SAMUEL T. SCHWARTZ, STANLEY KRENZEL, E. T. KAUFMAN.

New Sales Pushed In Chicago Areas

30 to almost 50 per cent have been signed.

The unusual situation is reported due to the fact that last year one distributor, said to be Fox, beat competitors into the bush by starting a drive before the thaw was out of the ground. Usually the drive for country business has approximated sales conventions, but this year, profiting by last year's experience, distributors sent their crack salesmen into the country territory as early as the middle of February.

Exchange managers are reluctant to discuss the situation on account of possible reaction from home offices and for fear anything they say might be construed as interpreting sales policy for next season. They state however, that deals closed are principally among exhibitors running one and two changes per week. In these situations, they point out, the early bird has the best chance of tying up business. The competition this year has been exceptionally frenzied.

Asked on what basis the new season product was being sold in the absence of quota figures and knowledge of production schedules different views were forthcoming. One manager naively suggested that the faith in which his company was held by exhibitors was such that this alone was sufficient.

Another exchange manager stated that he has been selling the same lineup as last season, adding "these early buyers know we will play ball with them later in the season."

The early selling has been confined entirely to the smaller country houses.

Car Strike in Omaha Hits Theatre Takes smacked in the midriff since Saturday morning.

Everet Cummings, district manager for A. H. Blank, estimated Saturday and Sunday's business in the Paramount, Orpheum and Omaha had taken a loss of between two and three thousand dollars. John Quinlan, assistant to Will Singer, manager of the Brandeis, declared his house didn't feel the strike Sunday as bad as on Saturday when business took a bad soaking.

L. A. Houses Act on Ads on West Picture

Los Angeles, April 23.—Definite action came today from angry exhibitors here following the Fox Wilshire Theatre's advertising a Mae West preview in the daily papers yesterday.

In a registered letter sent by Robert Poole of the I.T.O. to C. Peacock, manager of the Paramount exchange, the former said:

"I regret to inform you I have had a storm of protests from member theatre owners throughout the entire territory regarding the advertising of the preview,and in accordance therewith I am instructed by the board of directors of this organization to write to you demanding this picture. Because of its being advertised it must be considered a first run and as such all exhibitors are demanding the film on the availibility from this date."

Although no written agreement has been drawn regarding this type of advertising, local exhibitors have a verbal agreement clarifying the stunt as unethical.

It is reported also that Associated Exhibitors are planning a similar action immediately.

Nebraska MPTO Will Take Votes by Mail

Omaha, April 23.—Formulation of policy on a number of subjects discussed at last week's meeting of the Nebraska-Western Iowa M. P. T. O. is to be left to a mail referendum among members. Among the matters up for discussion are the Pettengill Bill, the code, state legislation and local problems.

Charles Williams, president, will head a committee of four to tabulate the replies.

Graham McNamee's Father Passes Away

Columbus, April 23.—John B. McNamee, 77, retired corporation attorney and father of Graham McNamee, died here last night of pneumonia.

He was an attorney for the Northern Pacific Railroad, with offices in Chicago, and served with the Department of the Interior during the Cleveland administration.

Gordon Russell Dead

Hollywood, April 23.—J. Gordon Russell, 50, died here last night of a fall following a heart attack. His body was found by his wife, Mrs. Elvira Russell.

Among the films which Russell appeared in were "Tumbleweed," with William S. Hart, and "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

Mae West on Air Friday

Hollywood, April 23.—Mae West will make her bow as a radio entertainer on the Columbia network on Friday evening on the "Hollywood Hotel" broadcast in a scene from her latest picture, "Goin' to Town."

Pete Smith Recovered

Hollywood, April 23.—Pete Smith, M-G-M sports commentator, is back at the studio after three months at Palm Springs recuperating from an illness.

Purely Personal

Robert E. Sherwood, Lawrence Stallings and Sidney Howard are among those who may produce their own stage plays next season with finances advanced by an unnamed, but large, film company, according to the New York Times. Arthur Hopkins is mentioned as executive director of the collaborative effort.

Andre Sennwald, film critic on The Times, is figuring on a coast inspection trip a little later on. Regina Crewe, who occupies a similar post on The American, leaves May 15.

Suit Halts Sale of Fox Theatre Units

holders, who obtained an order from Federal Judge Albert L. Reeves enjoining proceedings until further order.

Lee H. Hamlin, Jacob Smith and William Snowler, all of Kansas City, filed the petition in equity for themselves and others who may want to intervene, setting forth they hold General Theatres debentures aggregating $89,000 and attacking the scheduled sale of the theatres as one of a series of manipulations by the Chase Bank to gain control of Wesco and its subsidiaries to the exclusion of General Theatres bondholders.

The court also set a hearing for Thursday on National Theatres' offer of $1,580,000 for both companies. It appeared to attorneys that the court may vacate the restraining order in a day or so. The attorneys for the theatre companies planned to file an application Wednesday, however, to set the injunction aside. It was also said that the suit was without a basis as the claim is against General Theatres, which is not involved in local bankruptcies.

Four Give Testimony Against 3 Electrics

Wilmington, April 23.—Four witnesses substantiated the charges of General Talking Pictures and Duovac Radio on the second day of the anti-trust action against Erpi, Western Electric and American Telephone and Telegraph in the U. S. District Court here today. They upheld the charges that the defendants, through contracts with exhibitors, exercised a virtual monopoly of the industry.

Those who testified were A. M. Loew, president of Loew's Theatre Enterprises of Boston; Edward Levy, New Haven, counsel of the M. P. T. O. A.; Charles W. Picquet, president of the M. P. T. O. of North and South Carolina, and Harry Pearlman, manager of the Allegheny and Lehigh, Philadelphia.

Depositions were read this morning. The plaintiffs are seeking a permanent injunction restraining the defendants from continuing their allegedly "monopolistic" practices.

Atlanta Takes Fox As City Auditorium

Atlanta, April 23. — The Fox, 4,500-seat de luxe semi-suburban here, built for Fox Theatres Corp. several years ago, and now operated by Lucas & Jenkins in connection with three other de luxe houses, the Paramount, Georgia and Capitol, has been bought by a holding company for the city of Atlanta as a municipal auditorium. Original cost of the theatre and mosque, built for the Shrine Yaarab Temple, was more than $2,300,000, but the city has taken it over on a 25-year amortization for $725,000, to be paid out of the profits, if any. The Lucas & Jenkins lease has until Jan. 1, 1937, to run.

"Imitation" Back In DowntownPittsburgh

Pittsburgh, April 23.—"Imitation of Life," which played a first run at the Stanley here several months ago, has been booked by Mort Shea for a downstay at his local key spot, the Fulton. It opens there May 6 for a run despite the fact that it has already run out its string in this territory, including the 10-centers. The Fulton will keep its present scale of 40 cents.

Although "Imitation of Life" did only a fair trade at the Stanley, it has been sensational in the subsequent runs.

Katz Has No Houses First Time in Years

Atlanta, April 23. — Ike Katz is out of exhibition for the first time in many years. Whether he will start a new venture as a result of the sale of the Dexter and Tivoli in Montgomery to Robert B. Kincy is stirring speculation among his friends.

Katz is president of the G.F.T.A. Independent Theatres' Ass'n. Whether he will continue in this post is uncertain.

KAO-Schenck Make Product Deal for Met

Court Told of Move as Hearing Is Resumed

Keith-Albee-Orpheum, under an informal agreement reached yesterday between Herbert Bayard Swope, chairman of the board, and Joseph M. Schenck, will have a participation in the Schenck-Fox Theatres' plan of reorganization for Fox Metropolitan Playhouses which will eliminate Fox Met as a competitive bidder for product against K-A-O.

Federal Judge Julian W. Mack was apprised of the agreement following a brief appearance by Swope at the resumed hearing yesterday on the Schenck-Fox Theatres' reorganization plan. The court was told that

Bank Night Spreads Around New England

NEW HAVEN, April 24.—Warners have contracted for bank nights in 13 Connecticut and seven Massachusetts houses, according to Ad Johnston, agent for the stunt, who first tried it in his own house, the Strand at Hamden.

Opposition houses are introducing similar stunts rather than making complaints to the grievance board.

M. & P.-Publix and the Fishman Circuit are said to be planning a stunt of their own along somewhat similar lines.

Bergerman Is Out of "U"; Unit System Is Adopted

HOLLYWOOD, April 24.—Stanley Bergerman, associate producer at Universal, confidant of Carl Laemmle, Sr., and his son-in-law, has resigned, purportedly because of family differences, it was learned today. It was reported coincidentally with his resignation that B. P. Schulberg was in line either as studio production chief or a unit producer.

A statement issued by Laemmle said Bergerman had resigned under the most friendly circumstances.

Following his acceptance of Bergerman's resignation Laemmle announced

Campi Budget Of $359,575 Set for Year

By CLARENCE LINZ

WASHINGTON, April 24.—Campi expenses for the current year are fixed at $359,575.01 under a budget approved today by the National Industrial Recovery Board. Permission is given to expend up to $171,197.77 to June 16, and, in the event the Industrial Recovery Act is extended beyond that date, the sum of $188,377.24 will be authorized for the remainder of the year.

No changes are made in the bases of assessment, rates for exhibitors running from five dollars for houses of less than 500 seating capacity in towns of less than 10,000, to $60 for

New Copyright Treaty Limits Story Changes

By BERTRAM F. LINZ

WASHINGTON, April 24.—A provision assuring to the author, regardless of the disposition made of the copyright, the right to object to deformation, mutilation or other modification of his work which may be prejudicial to his honor or reputation is one of the main features of the international copyright convention which the Senate ratified April 19, only to rescind its action April 21 because necessary legislation had not been enacted.

This provision is also incorporated in the new copyright bill which is expected shortly to be introduced, paving

K. C. Is Studying Legal Angles of Dual Bill Action

KANSAS CITY, April 24.—Possible legal entanglements in the double bill releasing plan sought by Kansas City exhibitors are being studied by distributors, it is reported, as a result of objections raised by W. D. Fulton, suburban operator.

While the legal questions are delaying the distributors' decision, independent suburbans are growing impatient and in some instances are dualling features which the companies have restricted this year to single bills. A

Para.'s Board Accepts Atlas Finance Offer

Stockholders' Meeting Is Set for May 15

In a placid session which dispelled early fears that the Paramount Publix board might split into warring camps over the allotment of the $6,500,000 underwriting of the company's new stock subscription warrants to a single financial interest, the Atlas Corp.'s bid to handle the issue alone was accepted.

The bid involves a fee of only $64,000, or approximately one per cent of the issue, and in the face of the economical proposal, from the company's viewpoint, no competitive bids were made. It was agreed at the meeting that the name of any Paramount director, or directors, who majority of independents, represented through the I. T. O., and Fox Midwest have agreed on the plan, which contemplates a five-man committee to select features for dualling at subsequents, product so chosen to receive a 28-day setback in clearance.

Fulton, who is not a member of the I. T. O., holds the organization has no authority to make commitments for him or other non-members. Text of his protest filed with individual major distributors follows:

"According to our information, your company is contemplating entering into a combine with all other film companies and various exhibitors for the promotion of a scheme to control double bills. One of the objectives of this combine is the designation of certain pictures, which I have under contract from you, for double showing.

"We do not know just how far you have gone into this matter, if at all, but feel it our duty to inform you we do not agree with, nor will we become a party to any such collusion as has been proposed to us in this respect. Furthermore, we intend to protect and defend any and all rights and claims we have, or will have, as a result of this proposed action both as to our contracts and the laws of our government."

Fulton signed the protest for the five theatres under his control. He said its purpose was "to keep his skirts clean" in case he was compelled to go to court as a result of developments. He believes that if the court decision in the Perelman double bill case in Philadelphia is upheld by the U. S. Supreme Court on appeal, every member of the proposed selection committee for Kansas City could be liable in anti-trust proceedings which he foresees in event the projected system is placed in effect.

'G' Men to Reopen House

"G Men" will reopen the Warner next Thursday morning. The film is booked for an extended engagement at the theatre, which has been dark for two years. Performances will be continuous at popular prices. "Go Into Your Dance," which was to have reopened the house, will open instead at the Strand on Tuesday.

In a statement issued yesterday, Harry M. Warner announced that his company might probably also reopen the Hollywood "very shortly."

About the others along similar lines which are to come, there may be some doubt. Not here, however. Priority is important in cycles and near cycles. The Warners know it, are making plans to rush the film out and yesterday set the first two dates: the Roger Sherman, New Haven, and the Warfield, San Francisco, on the 26th. Bergerman Quits 'U'; Unit Plan Adopted

Universal production would immediately be placed on a 100 per cent unit basis.

The new setup calls for 36 features divided among a group of producers, with all pictures personally supervised by Laemmle. It was said other executive posts would remain the same.

Laemmle expressed the view that the new system would provide better pictures and greater efficiency and economy, while producers, given greater authority and responsibility, would exercise more care in the selection and development of stories.

Laemmle revealed that Bergerman's resignation would also force him to give his attention to the developing of a schedule for the Chicago convention.

Joe Pasternak, at present in charge of European production for Universal, is slated for a unit at Universal City.

Seven More Testify Against 3 Electrics

WILMINGTON, Del., April 24.—Denunciation of alleged monopolistic practices of Erpi, Western Electric and American Telephone and Telegraph continued in U. S. District Court here today when seven witnesses testified in the anti-trust action brought by General Talking Pictures and Duovac Radio. One deposition, that of George E. Quigley, vice-president and general manager of Vitaphone, was also read.

Max Weiss, former president of Art Class Pictures Corp. and present head of Art Class Film Exchange, testified that the practices of defendants brought about the ruin of the former.

William Jessop, New York, chief projectionist for the Yoost circuit, said Erpi repairmen damaged Duovac tubes, rendering them useless, and then ordered exhibitors to use only Erpi products.

Sam Leibow, New York, independent repairman, told of allegedly exorbitant repair charges by Erpi and parts costs.

Others to take the stand for the plaintiffs were: David Garrison Berger, New York, attorney for William Roland-Monte Brice Prod.; Sam Stein, general manager of the Yoost circuit; Henry D. Behr, former sound engineer and consultant for Paramount Publix, now technical expert for Wilmer and Vincent, and John Miller of the Brunswick Radio Corp.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"The Informer"

(Radio)

HOLLYWOOD, April 24.—Victor McLaglen's grand portrayal and John Ford's fine direction create a triumph of artistic expression in bringing to the screen Liam O'Flaherty's story of a red blooded, fumbling Irishman during the uprising against the Black and Tans.

By subduing both the English and the religious angles the production concentrates on the crushing effect that a struggle for freedom has on a group of people. McLaglen, as Gypo Nolan, caught between the suspicion of the crown and his feeling for the people, finds himself penniless and ostracized by both sides. McLaglen's girl, Margot Grahame, who walks alone, suggests that they go to America. Wallace Ford, pal of McLaglen, with a price on his head, comes out of hiding to visit his mother, Una O'Connor. McLaglen, in a daze, "knowing not what he does," turns in Ford for a reward of 20 pounds. The Black and Tans kill Ford. Preston Foster, commanding the republican guards, uncovers the duplicity and the escaping McLaglen is shot. At last rites in a church, Miss O'Connor forgives McLaglen, who proclaims before a crucifix as if to his dead pal, "Your mother forgives me."

McLaglen's amazing portrayal of a character that is neither sympathetic nor admirable, is etched with artistic completeness. Miss O'Connor, a versatile actress, handles the mother role magnificently with repressed power. Wallace Ford pulls at the emotions in a great part. Miss Grahame, a newcomer, evidences genuine ability and warm appeal. J. M. Kerrigan, formerly of the Abbey Players, gives a finished, seriocomic portrait. Heather Angel, Joseph Sauers, Donald Meek and Gaylord Pendleton contribute good support. An unnamed tenor adds to the mood with distinctive singing.

Artistically effectual photography and Dudley Nichols' screen play are splendid.

The production is unusual and meaty but with class appeal. Showmen may puzzle over its mass entertainment value, yet smart exploitation should help the box-office.

Production Code Seal No. 734. Running time, 95 minutes. "G."

"Village Tale"

(Radio)

HOLLYWOOD, April 24.—This is a depressing, rambling tale of rural lechery and sadism certain to make a lot of audiences change their minds about going back to the farm. A fine cast is defeated from the start by a wandering story and unappetizing types.

Kay Johnson, married to unshaven Arthur Hohl, loves Randolph Scott, a rich farmer. A feud between the rich and the poor in their dirty-minded village makes them victims of a charivari. A brutal, unclimactic fist fight between Scott and Robert Barrat, trouble-inciting brother of Hohl, chases the heavies out of town so Miss Johnson may have a divorce and marry the clean-shaven Scott. Dorothy Burgess is vivid as hickdom's vamp. Guinn Williams and Edward Ellis struggle nobly for comedy. Donald Meek, Andy Clyde, Ray Mayer, T. Roy Barnes and DeWitt Jennings are good in thankless parts. John Cromwell directed from Allan Scott's screen play from the novel by Phil Stong.

Production Code Seal No. 759. Running time, 80 minutes. "A."

Looking 'Em Over

"The Phantom Fiend"

(Olympic Pictures)

Mystery lovers will probably appreciate this Julius Hagen production from England's Twickenham studios, but the film moves too slowly and the plot is just a bit too thin to appeal generally. The acting, particularly of Ivor Novello and Elizabeth Allan, is fine for the most part and the characters are vividly sketched.

Maurice Elvey directed with an eye toward maintaining suspense, and it isn't until the last few feet that the culprit is revealed. The photography by Sidney Blythe, Basil Emmott and William Luff is good.

The story concerns a mysterious killer loose in London. He picks women as his victims and every day finds another unfortunate female lying some place in a park with her throat slit. Scotland Yard brings a foreign police inspector in on the case and he describes the murderer.

role either in Ferenc Molnar's "The Pastry Baker's Wife" or "Invitation to Happiness," a joint effort by Franz Schulz and Arnold Belgard.

Joan Crawford has just been set for the stellar role in "Claustrophobia," a story by Abbie Carter Goodloe; Michael Bartlett, opera singer, will have an important role in Grace Moore's picture, "Love Me Forever"; Radio has signed Peggy Wood for "Jalna"; Charles (Buddy) Rogers has closed a deal with Radio for one picture with options on others; Warners have borrowed Roscoe Karns from Paramount for "Front Page Woman"; Lloyd Hughes, Mahlon Hamilton, Phillips Smalley and Howard Hickman have been signed by M-G-M for "The Flame Within"; Tutta Rolf, European import, has been set by Fox for "The Dressmaker."

Radio has closed a deal with John Robertson to direct "Freckles" and M-G-M has signed James McKay to handle "Tarzan and the Vampires" as the first on a term contract. George Fitzmaurice's first under his new M-G-M pact will be "Suzy."

Deals among the writers include the signing of Milton Krims by Radio to do the script on "Portrait of a Rebel" and the signing of Al Austin and Charles Rogers by Hal Roach to do the story and gags for the new Laurel and Hardy comedy, "Bonnie Scotland."

M-G-M has also lined up a number of song writers. Walter Donaldson and Harold Adamson will do additional music on "The Great Ziegfeld"; Gus Kahn and Arthur Johnson have been assigned to do music for "Elegance," and Nacio Herb Brown and Arthur Freed have been set for songs in an unnamed collegiate picture.

Gift Stamps Start With K.C. Splurge

patrons at the 12 participating theatres in Kansas City. In all, 60,000 stamp books are to be given out.

Announcement of the plan was made in large advertising space in the Sunday Kansas City Star. The words "free" and "premium" were not used, but it was stated that "valuable gifts" can be obtained by saving the stamps available at listed theatres.

Beginning next Sunday, stamps will be given out at the box-office at the rate of one stamp for each five cents paid on admission. When the books are filled they are to be turned in for merchandise gifts ranging in value from $5 to $50.

While the first run Uptown is included, the stamp idea is primarily designed to help the subsequent runs and meet the giveaway craze at the independent houses. Besides the Uptown, Fox theatres giving stamps are the Isis, Benton, Rockhill, Waldo, Vista, Plaza, Warwick, Apollo, Madrid, Linwood and Gladstone. Theatres in Kansas City, Kan., are not included.

Adoption of premiums by Fox Midwest leaves only a half dozen suburban theatres here steering clear of giveaways.

KAO-Schenck Make Product Deal for Met

the agreement would be effective in the event the Schenck-Fox Theatres' plan was approved by the court and that it would result in a permanent continuance of the existing product agreements between K-A-O and Fox Met, under which the former is permitted to day and date Radio and certain other product under first run contract to K-A-O in return for K-A-O's day and date playing of Fox product, which is under franchise to Fox Met.

While the court was told that the agreement did not prevent K-A-O from submitting a reorganization plan of its own for Fox Met, it was learned on good authority that no plan would be advanced by K-A-O if the agreement with Schenck is formally consummated and the Schenck reorganization plan adopted. It was also learned that the K-A-O-Schenck agreement does not contemplate anything like a consolidation of K-A-O with Fox Met under single operation, but embraces only an arrangement under which K-A-O would not be deprived of essential product in the event Fox Met is developed as a new first run circuit.

Schlosser, Niver on Stand

Yesterday's hearing brought Alvin J. Schlosser and Ernest W. Niver of the Fox Met bondholders' committee to the stand. Niver is chairman of the committee and a vice-president of Halsey, Stuart & Co. Schlosser is also a member of that investment house. It was testified that Schlosser did no trading in the Fox Met bonds while Niver had engaged in only two transactions, having acquired a $500 bond for $16.25 in January, 1932, and a $2,000 bond for $175 in March of the same year. He disposed of the bonds in June of last year at a total profit of $749, he said.

Both men admitted having aided in the drafting of the Schenck-Fox Theatres' plan of reorganization. Niver stated that he was ready to call a meeting of the bondholders' committee to obtain a vote on the Schenck-Fox Theatres' plan immediately, but the court suggested that this be delayed until the present hearings are terminated and other bidders are given an opportunity to present plans.

This interlude caused Judge Mack to comment that he would like to see an offer made which would produce a large sum in cash for Fox Met bondholders, rather than large amounts of new bonds such as are proposed in both the Schenck and Si Fabian plans.

"While I am not the guardian of the average man," Judge Mack commented, "I do believe that this is a speculative enterprise and that the average man should not invest in securities based on future earnings, rather than property. If he must invest, he ought to buy United States Government bonds. Moreover," the court remarked, "I do not favor such a bid as was made by Loew's and Warners last summer, which put so many conditions in with their $4,500,000 cash offer that there was no chance of its ever going through."

At another point, in discussing the Schenck-Fox Theatres' plan, the court remarked that the plan "might be fair only if it included a provision, not now present, tying Schenck to the new company for five years, if not 10 years, and with a provision calling for the sale of his pictures (United Artists and 20th Century) to Fox Met."

Raymond W. Whemple, an auditor for Irving Trust Co., as trustee for Fox Met, testified that Fox Met had $2,122,335 cash on hand as of March 31 last, and an additional $225,533 cash in the possession of the trustee under the mortgage.

Milton Weisman, who, as receiver for Fox Theatres, is a participant with Schenck in the reorganization plan before the court, was treated to an uncomfortable half-day's session on the stand yesterday by Frank C. Reavis, attorney for Si Fabian. The cash payment to bondholders proposed by the plan is $192.60 for each $1,000 bond. There are approximately $13,000,000 of Fox Met bonds outstanding and the plan calls for the presentation by Schenck and Fox Theatres of only $750,000 in new cash, the balance required for the proposed payment to bondholders being intended to be derived from the unmortgaged cash of Fox Met. The amount of the unmortgaged cash has not yet been determined and Reavis wanted to know what assurance bondholders would have of receiving the promised $192.60 in the event the unmortgaged cash was insufficient to make up the difference between that amount and the pro rata share of the $750,000 of new cash. Weisman appeared to be at a loss for a definite answer until Schenck volunteered an unconditional guarantee that he would make up any difference which might develop between the amount promised and the amount available.

Faced With Alleged Threat

Weisman was also faced with alleged threats made by him intimating that Fabian would lose his operating contracts on both the Brooklyn Paramount and Fox. Weisman admitted having an interest in the reorganization proceedings filed last week for the Brooklyn Fox and that he had said that the trustees of the Prudence Co. would repudiate the sale of the Brooklyn Paramount Bldg. to Fabian by Allied Owners Corp. and that the transaction was to be investigated by the Sabath committee. Weisman was also questioned concerning an article which appeared in MOTION PICTURE DAILY of April 19 quoting him as saying that Fabian's operating contract on the Brooklyn Fox would be canceled when the theatre was reorganized. Weisman will resume the stand this morning for further questioning.

Harry Brandt, operator of 33 houses in the metropolitan area, and president of the I.T.O.A., for which Weisman is counsel, testified as to his aid in the original formation of the Fox Met circuit and as to the difficulty of a local independent operator obtaining a first run film franchise regardless of the number of theatres he operates.

Court Move May Not Delay Midland Sale

aside the temporary injunction so the sale may proceed. They base their move on opinions handed down in similar cases. Attorneys say the petitioners have no cause for action against the bankrupt theatre companies, since they are several corporations removed from General Theatres, and any action of this nature should be directed against Chase National Bank.

Other General Theatres bondholders have attempted unsuccessfully to obtain an order from the Federal Court in Delaware to instruct the General Theatres receiver to institute action against Chase National and Fox Film for return of assets foreclosed by the bank as collateral.

Commenting on the charge that an appraisal of Fox Midland and Fox Rocky Mountain is inadequate, attorneys say Lee H. Hamlin, as a creditor, could ask the court to set aside the appraisal, but it is claimed by them that the appraisal valuation of about $2,000,000 is excessive, if anything.

A statement from the Chase National in New York printed in tonight's Journal-Post said the bank "is not a party" to the suit, adding that "the allegations against the bank in the suit are absolutely false and totally unfounded."

New Copyright Treaty Limits Story Changes

the way for ratification of the convention under which the United States will become a member of the international copyright union.

The question of the changes which may properly be made in an author's work by a dramatist or scenario writer has long been a perplexing problem. Film and play producers contend that the requirements of the theatre necessitate the following of certain formulae, in which authors agree, but frequently as a result of these "necessities" an author has been unable to recognize his original work in the picture or play.

The authors, in brief, contend that the necessity of making changes does not go to the point where a story of desperadoes on the western plains shows up in the theatre with the locale changed to a bedroom in New York.

"The copyright convention undertakes to assure the author of protection in a moral right in his works," it was explained by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in its report on the treaty; "that is to say, to preserve his works, when in the hands of others, from mutilation or distortion that would injure his own honor or reputation. This is a right which exists to some extent at common law in the United States and it is one that is valued very highly by writers and musicians."

The convention leaves to the individual countries the greatest flexibility in interpreting and legislating for the maintenance of this right. The section dealing with moral rights in the bill now before the committee on patents is declared to have been framed with the idea of striking an equitable balance between authors and those who use their works.

de luxe first runs in cities over 1,000,000 population, while the rates for producers and distributors will run from $60 for those whose revenue last year was not over $12,000 to $11,500 for those with revenue over $20,000,000. The rates are for the first half of the year and are 50 per cent of those imposed last year.

It is provided that if any member of the producer or distributor branches prefers, he may pay to Code Authority one-eighth of one per cent of his total gross domestic revenue for last year in lieu of the assessment in the schedule.

If producers or distributors whose 1934 receipts were not over $750,000 contribute more than $9,000 to the budget for the first half of the year, the excess will be credited to the members in that group pro rata. The same is to apply to receipts from the producers and from exhibitors, should the total contributions of either or both exceed 50 per cent of the budget.

The order will become effective in 15 days, during which time protests may be filed by anyone objecting to the basis of the assessments.

FWC Delays Moves On Coast Schedule

zones eight and nine were continued separately after an analysis by Campi. Zone 20, which takes in the Whittier and Golden Gate, also continues as recommended by the Los Angeles board. Zones two and three, the much disputed Warners' Forum and Fox Uptown, were combined to the dissatisfaction of Warners. The Balboa was also placed outside of the Los Angeles county line, but F.W.C. contends that its only concern is not so much the separation of Harry Arthur's house in another zone as the fact that if both the Fox Florence and the Balboa play simultaneously the same admission should be charged.

Warners, it is said, will start cutting prices at the Forum as a result of the Campi decision declaring it competitive with the Uptown. Both houses have M-G-M product and if the Forum were put in another zone the two houses would play Leo's product day-and-date. As the decision now stands the Forum must follow the Uptown.

The revamped schedule is now being stenciled and will probably be mailed to the coast for the local board to decide when to put it into effect. After the plan becomes operative, complaints against any phase of it can be made to the Los Angeles clearance board.

Ohio Codes Are Held Void in Court Test ing to an opinion handed down by Judge Stanley Struble in Common Pleas Court here.

The decision was rendered when the court denied an injunction in a suit filed for Attorney General John W. Bricker, Columbus, by Louis J. Schneider, county prosecutor, against the Queen City Realty Co., operating the Broadway, neighborhood house, which the state charged was paying its operators less than the code scale.

Delay Chicago Stop Order

CHICAGO, April 24.—No action will be taken by distributors in cutting off film service from E. E. Alger and his down state theatres, it developed at the grievance board meeting on the case. John Flinn advised the local board not to carry out the original stop order following a move by Alger counsel which pointed out that the stop order was directed against E. E. Alger and that distributors would be open to damage action in shutting off service on contracts signed by various Alger corporations.

An amended complaint was to have named the various Alger companies. A series of objections to the personnel of the board were made by Alger, and aimed to develop the case for hearing before Code Authority and a final NRA review if necessary. These were overruled by the chairman and the deck apparently cleared for action when Alger's counsel drew from impartial member Judge Corcoran, sitting for Judge Porter, the admission that he could not recall having filed a written oath called for by the code. As a result of this the amended complaint was set for special hearing April 30.

The complaint against Alger by Great States Theatres is for giveaways and similar reduced admissions. Legal pyrotechnics which have featured previous hearings have created keen interest in local film circles.

End Pittsburgh Giveaway

PITTSBURGH, April 24. — M. K. Miller, operator of the Novelty, has been ordered to stop giving away radios in what is described as a lottery as a result of a complaint before the grievance board. The complainant was the North Side Theatre Co., operator of the William Penn.

End Bank Night, Bargain

KANSAS CITY, April 24.—In deciding that the Plaza, Trenton, Mo., must discontinue bank night, the local grievance board ruled the complainant, S. H. Yoffie, Uptown, same town, must also quit reduced admissions. Specifically, the respondent charged the Uptown had been conducting a bargain sale, admitting two patrons for 11 cents.

Films in Beauty Shop

Boston, April 24.—A beauty parlor here has adopted an idea that might be tried in reverse by exhibitors. Films are shown while women are getting their finger waves dried and their permanent waves set. It relieves the boredom.

Exhibitors might try a "Permanent Wave Night," with each woman guaranteed two features, a set of dishes and a wave.

Gavin Best RKO Bowler

Dick Gavin is RKO's champion bowler. He finished top among 50 contestants in the inter-office competition. Emil Schwab's five won the team championship with 50 games won and 22 lost. The season began in October.

Captain McEntee's team won the high score with 914. Art White's team and Frank Taylor's five tied for second with 891.

RKO finished second to Paramount in the M. P. Bowling League.

Push Action on West Ads

LOS ANGELES, April 24. — The Southern California I.T.O. today forwarded information regarding the alleged advertising of a preview of "Goin' to Town," the new Mae West picture, by the Fox Wilshire, to Attorney Frank S. Hutton, now in Washington, in an effort to get official action in the event the Paramount exchange doesn't act.

His description fits Novello, who has arrived mysteriously at the home of Miss Allan as a boarder. The latter and her family are dragged into the case by Jack Hawkins, a newspaperman in love with Miss Allan and all aid materially in solving the crimes after Novello is arrested. The true murderer turns out to be his brother, and when Novello is released the romance that had sprung up between him and Miss Allan is culminated in their marriage.

Others in the cast are A. W. Bascomb, who supplies all the film's comedy admirably; Barbara Everest, Peter Gawthorne, Shayle Gardner and Drusilla Wills.

On dual bills and in small town houses the picture should do well if exhibitors concentrate on its mystery angles. Reviewed without production code seal. Running time, 74 minutes. "G."

The board set May 15 as the date of the stockholders' meeting at which one present member of the board will resign and eight new members will be formally elected. Yesterday's presiding board consisted of Gerald Brooks, Dr. Julius Klein, Duncan G. Harris, Percy H. Johnston, Henry R. Luce, Charles A. McCulloch, Maurice Newton and Adolph Zukor. Frank A. Vanderlip is also a member of the board at this time, but did not attend yesterday's session, as he was unable to return from a business trip to Chicago until today.

On May 15 Dr. Klein will resign from the board and the following eight designated directors will be formally elected: Stephen Callaghan, Robert K. Cassatt, H. A. Fortington, William S. Gray, Jr., John D. Hertz, Floyd B. Odlum, Charles E. Richardson and George J. Schaefer. All of these directors-elect with the exception of Cassatt attended yesterday's meeting.

Philco Radio and Television Corp. of Pennsylvania and Philco Radio and Television Corp. of Michigan have been incorpated to operate and maintain radio and television equipment, listing a capital of $1,000 each. The incorporators of both companies are Edward B. Hodge, Jr., Edward A. Collins, Jr., and Philip Dechart of Philadelphia.

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

MORE on Hays office concern over advertising films and their encroachment possibilities in the entertainment field. Make no mistake about the extent of the worry; it's genuine and predicated on sound, if so far theoretical, reasoning. To tell the story means to approach it by a circuitous route. The leaders in the field of national advertising individually spend millions each year. A substantial portion goes to newspapers and class magazines; a lot to radio. Indicative of how generous is the splurge in broadcasting is the $2,500 or $3,000 paid Claudette Colbert recently by Lux soap for an hour's condensation of "Holiday." Ether time was another item and a generous one; newspaper advertising heralding the program, another; supplementary cast and music, still others. Combined into what was one program on one Sunday, the same cost calculation applied to the remaining fifty-one weeks conveys an idea what this company alone spends annually on radio advertising. It has plenty of competition from other business fields. . . .

National advertisers have done a good job in newspapers, magazines and in radio. Constantly on the alert for new angles on which to spend apparently limitless budgets, an approach to theatres must be recognized as entirely a logical one. What worries certain of the directors of the Hays organization is the manifestation of what may come as evidenced by current activities—in Hollywood, mind you—of General Electric and General Motors which are financing and having made advertising talkers ballyhooing their Frigidaires, Chevrolets and Cadillacs with professional performers in the cast. . . .

There appears to be some evidence indicating that the G.E. and G.M. flyers do not embrace invasion of the theatrical industry, but plan their films for conventions and dealers. Yet envisioned around a convenient corner is an extension of the idea to embrace other pictures, perhaps feature in length and in treatment, with important players as part of a scheme which would deposit prints in the laps of theatre owners without any cost to them. Advertising reels today get quite a play in some instances and the playing time accorded is not confined to independent theatres by a long shot. Imagine what a well-rounded, well-planned and well-executed feature with a genuine box-office name handed out as largess by its sponsor might do to the regularly constituted production and distribution business! . . .

In their essence, these are the principal reasons behind the Hays office attitude and explain the statement of the other day as well as the reason for study of the matter and which is being undertaken. Peering ahead into a something which does not, but which may, exist today or tomorrow is a sound method of tackling any problem; that's why it is under way. Repeating our slant, a practical method of choking off potential trouble would seem to be direct action by the men who do the employing on the coast. The hitherto untouched angle which makes the picture more or less complete is a fear the production code may be transgressed and the voluntary agreement of major producers to keep their skirts clean violated in the eyes of church and public. Belonging to no integral part of the industry, national advertisers entering production obviously are not bound to observe the tenets of a pact which they did not sign and in which they could have no direct or indirect concern. . . .

This observer felt a need for bright, cheery sunshine and no shadows yesterday morning after a look at "The Bride of Frankenstein." No doubt designed to make its predecessor pallid by comparison, this horror-shocker sequel is supercharged with blood-curdling, skin-chilling episodes which may be fantastic but which grip mightily. In the mood of the subject matter, James Whale's direction fits glove-like. Photographically and in point of sets, John Mescall and Charles Hall did their respective jobs with something approaching the superb. While it may have nothing to do with the case, this is as good a time and a spot as any to sound a note for dramatic heightening through black and white photography when expertly applied. Color, for instance, would have added nothing to, if it would not actually have detracted from, "The Bride of Frankenstein," Technic notwithstanding. . . .

have until then to exercise their subscription warrants. The offer was generally conceded to be highly favorable to Paramount as the commission is variously estimated at either actual cost of the underwriting or less than cost. No objections to the Atlas proposal were voiced at yesterday's hearing.

The agreement including Lehman Bros. and Hallgarten & Co. in the underwriting is understood to have been reached yesterday, subsequent to ratification of the proposal by the Paramount board on Wednesday. Thus three Paramount directors will have an interest in the underwriting. They are Floyd B. Odlum of Atlas, John D. Hertz of Lehman Bros. and Maurice Newton of Hallgarten.

It was reported yesterday that Odlum may be compelled by other obligations to resign from the Paramount board at an early date, but will probably designate his successor in that event.

The underwriting proposal was the only subject presented to the court yesterday. May 10 was set as the date for hearings on the remaining matters incident to organization of the new Paramount company, such as approval of its charter of incorporation, its new by-laws, security forms and other matters. The stockholders' meeting for the formal election of directors of Paramount will be held May 15.

Corporations Formed For Skouras-Century

Skouras Theatres Corp. and Century circuit have set up eight new corporations in Albany in anticipation of the pooling deal now in work and which is expected to become operative on May 4. Signing of the agreement has been held up due to the presence of George Skouras at the reorganization hearings of Fox Met.

The new companies formed are: Greenek Realties, Inc., Merja Realties, Inc., Hemfree Realties, Inc., of which George P. Skouras is president; Huntco Realties, Inc., Frankstram Realties, Inc., Rock Brook Realties, Inc., Washport Realties, Inc., Sunny-Bliss Realties Inc., of which H. Clay Miner is president.

Suit Halting Sale of Fox Units Up Today

KANSAS CITY, April 25.—The claims of General Theatres Equipment bondholders seeking to block the sale of Fox Midland and Fox Rocky Mountain will be threshed out in U. S. District Court tomorrow. The petitioners have been ordered to show cause why the injunction halting the sale should not be vacated and the petition dismissed.

Herbert V. Jones, Fox Theatres' trustee, in his answer claimed the suit was not a valid action since the theatre companies were not directly involved in General Theatres Equipment complications. Sale to National Theatres may be confirmed late tomorrow if the injunction is vacated.

William Wyler Back Seeking a New Pact

Upon his arrival yesterday morning on the Rex with his wife, Margaret Sullavan, after a 10-week vacation abroad, William Wyler, director, stated he had not been with Universal since January. He added that while in New York he will negotiate a new contract, but would not disclose with what company. However, the belief is he will rejoin Universal before he takes a plane to Hollywood on Sunday.

Miss Sullavan brought back two St. Bernard pups. She plans to stay in New York about 10 days doing a lot of shopping. Her next picture will be "So Red the Rose," on a loan from Universal to Paramount.

Gregory Ratoff was on the same liner. He said that while in England he made four pictures for three companies. For Warners he appeared in "Butter and Egg Man," for British International, "Falling in Love" and "18 Minutes"; for Gaumont British "Forbidden Territory." He plans to stay in New York a week before returning to the Radio lot.

Wyler said he might go back to London later in the year on some plans he has in mind.

dispose of 25 per cent of it to K-A-O, the court was told. If the Fox Theatres' option is exercised, however, K-A-O will be permitted to acquire only a 20 per cent interest.

Swope testified that K-A-O's concern in the proposed acquisition of Fox Met by Schenck was solely with the problem of product which would confront K-A-O as a result of the change. He said that a number of plans of action devised by K-A-O as a result of its concern over the situation were solely designed as protective moves and that there was no actual desire on K-A-O's part to acquire the circuit.

The protective moves enumerated by Swope included several conferences with Schenck in California as to his intended policies in the event he acquired Fox Met, which resulted in his being told by Schenck that the latter would be willing "to go along" with the present product arrangements between Fox Met and K-A-O. Swope said, however, that the declarations he received from Schenck were "not very reassuring."

Swope said he also wanted to find out whether Nicholas M. Schenck of Loew's was involved in the Fox Met plan and that he, Swope, had been reassured by David Sarnoff, chairman of the board of RKO, that he was not, and that the Loew chieftain also phoned him in California to tell him the same thing.

Says K-A-O Still Free to Bid

Swope persistently denied that K-A-O had entered upon the agreement to participate in the Schenck-Fox Theatres' plan with the condition that K-A-O would not present a plan of reorganization of its own for Fox Met. He testified that while it was "highly unlikely" that K-A-O would now present a plan if the Schenck bid is successful, the RKO theatre company, nevertheless, is still at liberty to do so. He added that, prior to the understanding with Schenck, K-A-O had discussed the possibility of presenting a plan and financing it with an "outside source," with three different film companies and with Si Fabian, who also is proposing a Fox Met reorganization plan. He denied that one of the companies with which he had discussed a plan was M-G-M. The K-A-O head emphasized that his company was primarily interested in a perpetuation of Fox Met's present operating status in order to "avoid excessive film costs and ruinous competition."

At one point during Swope's testimony Judge Mack remarked that "one of the things that might lead to the overthrow or rejection of Schenck's plan could be the probability of K-A-O offering a plan if the Schenck plan is rejected."

Milton Weisman, associate of Schenck in the reorganization plan as receiver for Fox Theatres, had another uncomfortable session on the stand yesterday. He denied a statement in an article read from MOTION PICTURE DAILY of April 19 which quoted him as saying that he believed the Schenck Fox Theatres' plan would be approved by the court.

Judge Mack remarked that if the statement were true, he considered it "highly improper for an attorney to predict the outcome of a case before the court" and such a remark, if true, "might influence the court now."

Fabian was placed on the stand and interrogated on the proposal he has made for reorganization of Fox Met and testified that he did not consider the Fox franchise of great importance to Fox Met in a reorganization as there would be an "open" film market in the metropolitan area next season with K-A-O assured of only Radio and possibly Fox product. He said that George Schaefer had assured him Fox Met would be able to get Paramount product if it was reorganized under Fabian and that Herman Starr had said that Warners, too, would "continue to sell these theatres." Fabian offered the opinion that Fox Met and K-A-O would be "natural allies" and their combined buying power would eliminate all problems of obtaining product. He estimated that under his plan Fox Met could be operated at an overhead "$250,000 less than it was in 1934."

Fabian will resume the stand today.

Campi to Send Out Code Bills Shortly

With the NRA approval of the 1935 budget for $359,575, Campi within the next few days will send out bills to 9,169 code assentors for the first half of the current year.

The Los Angeles clearance and zoning schedule is expected to be ready today and will be sent to the coast by air mail. It provides for 20 different price schedules, according to zones. The local board is expected to set May 9 as the date when the plan will become effective.

Hanson Confers with Flinn on Clearances

Al Hanson, Los Angeles city manager for Fox West Coast with 28 houses under his supervision, yesterday conferred with John C. Flinn on details of the revised coast schedule. Edward Alperson, chief buyer for the circuit, also attended the session.

Meanwhile, FWC has taken no legal action on the schedule.

Hanson had planned to leave for the coast by plane immediately after the conference, but the length of the session forced him to postpone his departure until today.

Film Congress Open; British Not Present

BERLIN, April 25.—About 1,000 delegates said to represent 38 countries opened the International Film Congress here today. Dutch and British representatives were not present.

Restrictions placed on British films were given as the reason. A British spokesman said the whole German industry was under the domination of the government and there could be no free discussion.

Report New N. O. Studio

NEW ORLEANS, April 25.—Reports are current that George Orth of New York intends to build a two-stage sound studio near the Shushan Airport on a 50-acre plot. Production and rental of space are included in the plans, according to report.

Rosenblatt Charges To Grievance Board

Charges by Leon Rosenblatt of the Rosenblatt-Welt circuit that Skouras Theatres, operating the Pascack, Westwood, employed unfair tactics in buying product away from the Westwood, Westwood, have been referred to the local grievance board by a Campi committee comprising Paul Burger, Henry Sussman and F. Thomas Murray after a hearing.

Rosenblatt claims that for the current season he could get only 49 Columbia films first run with Skouras using the buying power of Fox West Coast to take away products he had had in former years. This, however, was denied by Louis Weber, attorney for Skouras.

The Campi committee held that the local board had no right to certify the case to Code Authority and that a decision must be made after a rehearing with preference on the calendar. If the decision of the local board is appealed, preference will also be given on the appeal calendar.

It was pointed out during the hearing that Rosenblatt previously had won an overbuying case for the Orient, Jersey City, against Skouras, but when Campi finally handed down a verdict the ruling of the lower board was reversed.

Clearance Ruling Is Clarified in Boston

BOSTON, April 25.—An executive session of the clearance and zoning board has clarified a recent Greater Boston decision that stated: "First run Newton shall have clearance over Needham and Wellesley. Availability for Needham and Wellesley shall be immediately after Newton day and date, but not more than seven days after Newton for either town. First run Newton shall have seven days clearance over first run Watertown. First run Newton shall have seven days clearance over first run Waverly."

The new decision of the Board is: "That play dates for pictures may be submitted by either Needham or Wellesley and if accepted by the exchange for either Needham or Wellesley then said date shall be immediately made available for the other, notice to be given by the exchange to the other theatre immediately that such date is accepted with opportunity to book pictures on the same date. The above applies only to dates submitted within seven days after Newton, after which time either town may book irrespective of the other."

the plan to the attorney general, indicated it was permitted in two adjoining states, Iowa and Kansas, and asked since the participant is not required to buy an admission to the theatre for a chance to win the prize, whether bank night falls within the lottery law "or is a legitimate advertising plan."

The opinion, written by an assistant attorney general and approved by the attorney general, recalled that the state law was passed pursuant to a mandate prohibiting lotteries and gift enterprises contained in the Missouri constitution. Numerous court decisions were cited to show it is immaterial that participants do not have to pay a consideration.

Bank Nights Win Round in K. C.

KANSAS CITY, April 25.—Bank night interests won a victory today when Mrs. A. Baier's complaint against R. W. McEwan, bank night distributor, and Rube Finkelstein of the Belmont was dismissed by the county prosecutor, who said he could not act unless she signed as a complaining witness, which she refused to do on the ground that it might involve her in future complications.

Massachusetts Race Fight Tangles Anew

BOSTON, April 25.—More complications have developed in the fight on horse and dog racing with pari-mutuel betting. Daniel Callahan, who sought an injunction to stop work on the Eastern Racing Ass'n. track, has signed an affidavit to the effect that he was given $200 by out-of-state racing interests to start the move.

The House has turned down the Senate bill to refuse appropriations to the State Racing Commission.

To help the proposed racing venture at Agawam, Governor Curley is seeking an extension of the racing days from 70 to 100.

Dog tracks seem to be doomed as a result of the general agitation, but horse racing may get started late in the summer.

Chicago Bans "G Men"

CHICAGO, April 25.—Chicago has banned Warners' "G Men." H. M. Costello, head of the Chicago Crime Prevention Bureau, who cooperates with the censors, said that while the film taught a moral lesson the machine gun scenes "would prove over-stimulating for children."

"G Men" for Strand

Warners yesterday changed their minds about reopening the Warner theatre with "G Men" and the picture is now dated for the Strand May 1. "Go Into Your Dance" has been booked into the Capitol starting May 3.

Senate Moves To Hold NRA Until March 1

Idea Is to Await Court Rulings Temporarily

By CLARENCE LINZ

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Temporary extension of the Recovery Act in its present form, possibly until March 1, next, as a means both of avoiding a bitter fight in the Senate and of giving time for clarification of the situation through Supreme Court action, will be laid before President Roosevelt over the week-end by Senator Pat Harrison, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, it was learned today.

Prior to going to the White House, Harrison will discuss the proposal with Senator Clark of Missouri, by whom it was suggested, and possibly

State NRA Voided; New One Is Signed

ALBANY, April 26.—For about an hour today the state had no NRA act of its own. The Court of Appeals declared the Shackno Act unconstitutional on the ground that it required the acceptance of codes drawn up under the Federal NRA act.

Recently the legislature passed a new act correcting this fault in the original act and providing that when codes are filed with the Secretary of State he can accept or reject them. Governor Lehman signed this new act about an hour after the Court of Appeals ruling became known.

Philadelphia Openings Stir Up Exhibitors

PHILADELPHIA, April 26.—Competition among the independent exhibitors is increasing daily in this territory with the reopening of several old theatres.

One of the old houses is the 56th St., which is to be part of the new William Goldman circuit. It has served lately as a meat market. Another independent exhibitors battle is expected in the northeastern end of the city between David Shapiro and Leo Posel. Shapiro, who has the Admiral, 6th and Somerset Sts., has been negotiating with Posel on the old Bell, recently a bowling alley, at 6th and Lehigh, one block away. Posel is opening the house himself. As a result Shapiro is getting a second house in the same neighborhood, the old State, lately a scenic

Sale of Fox Units Is Confirmed in K. C.

KANSAS CITY, April 26.—Following the dissolution of the injunction obtained Tuesday in Federal court by three General Theatres Equipment bondholders, the sale of Fox Midland and Fox Rocky Mountain to National Theatres was confirmed by Referee Fred S. Hudson in bankruptcy court today. The referee signed the order affirming the sale on an offer of $790,000 for each unit, plus unpaid administration and court expenses.

Transfer of assets is expected in a few days and final reorganization about mid-May.

McAdoo Issues Call On Copyrights Bill

WASHINGTON, April 26. — Senator McAdoo of California today issued a call for a meeting of the Senate Patents Committee, of which he is chairman, on May 1 to discuss what action should be taken on the copyright bill. The committee will determine at the meeting whether hearings are to be held or the bill put over until the next session.

Ampa Boys All Set

Everything's all set for the Ampa's Naked Truth dinner tonight at the Astor. The ballroom has been transformed into a continental night club. Dinner will get under way about 8 o'clock, if the chefs are in good form, and the show will start about a half hour later.

Nearly all the stage, radio and screen names in New York have promised to show up, and a whole staff of masters of ceremonies has been lined up. Joe Laurie, Ed Sullivan, Ted Bergmann and Phil Baker will relieve each other.

Balboa's Scale in L.A. to Be Reheard

At the request of three Code Authority members, John C. Flinn has called a special session of Campi for next Wednesday to reconsider the Balboa situation in the Los Angeles clearance and zoning schedule.

Fabian Tells Court of Dicker on His Plan For a New Setup

Disclosures that Paramount Publix, through financial interests now represented on the board of directors of the company, discussed with Si Fabian the making of a $4,000,000 cash bid for Fox Metropolitan Playhouses, and that Warners sounded out Fabian on the possible purchase of the 18 Fox Met houses in New Jersey in the event a Fabian bid for Fox Met was successful, highlighted four hours of testimony of a sensational nature before Federal Judge Julian W. Mack yesterday.

Prior to the disclosure of Paramount's interest in Fox Met, and the associating of Fabian with it, it was charged by Isidor Kresel, counsel for the Joseph M. Schenck-Fox Theatres' plan of reorganization for Fox Met, that Fabian's present proposal is being made with the sole objective of blocking any plan which is presented at this time. Kresel later elicited from Fabian that the reason why Paramount did not come forward with its own bid at this time was, Fabian said he had been told by the Paramount associates, that it would be unable to do so until it was completely free of

Paramount Bonds Up To New High Marks

Paramount Publix bonds rose six points to a new high of 87 in moderate trading yesterday while the certificates were up five points to a new high of 86⅛. Paramount - Famous - Lasky bonds rose 5½ to a new high of 85½ and the certificates were up six to a new high of 86.

The sharp increase is generally credited to the optimism evidenced by the Atlas Corp., Lehman Bros. and Hallgarten & Co. in underwriting the new Paramount stock subscription warrants at cost.

At Portland it will be switched to the Blue Mouse and in Chicago it will be transferred to the Apollo.

Purely Personal

MARVIN SCHENCK'S embarrassment at his beefsteak Thursday night was simply terrific. He had that telltale flush on his cheek and a brightness in his optics born of nervousness what with all the ribbing and genuine compliments turned loose in his direction by a long array of speakers. One of the genuinely touching incidents in the evening was the paternal glow of LOUIS SCHENCK, brother of NICHOLAS M. and JOSEPH M. Another was the pride evidenced in the halting, but sincere words, from JAKE LUBIN, under whose tutelage MARVIN learned the vaudeville booking job at Loew's. AL JOLSON came in late, said he had nothing else to do and was available for personal appearances at the Capitol with "Go Into Your Dance" next week. AL thought SCHENCK ought to know about that. Later a group, including ARCHIE MAYO, ED CHURCHILL, SI SEADLER, MILT BLUMBERG, and BOB GILLHAM dropped in at BOB GOLDSTEIN'S "saloon" for one nightcap. The Hollywood was its name—the "saloon," not the nightcap.

with Senators Borah, Nye, McCarran and other opponents of NRA extension to learn whether they would acquiesce in such a move.

It is felt that by giving the present law a temporary extension it would be possible to expedite other Senate activities, while also giving Congress the benefit of Supreme Court decisions on the various points involved in the present controversy over the NRA.

While Harrison will take the suggestion to the White House, the final decision as to whether it shall be accepted or the matter fought to a finish immediately will lie with the President.

If either the opponents of the NRA or the President turn down the plan, Harrison is ready to fight the issue out and has prepared a number of amendments to the bill rewriting the Recovery Act.

Under these amendments trade associations would be separated from code authorities, but constituted, should they so desire, as advisory committees, and a definite statement would be made of those things which can be considered as granting immunity from the anti-trust laws.

Balboa's Scale in L.A. to Be Reheard

senting Fox West Coast, stated at the time that the Arthur unit was charging 35 cents.

Last Tuesday, Campi decided to place the Balboa, which is outside the Los Angeles county line, in a separate zone. The reason for the decision was that since the house was charging 40 cents it could play 21 days after first run in the downtown Los Angeles area and day-and-date with the F.W.C. Leimert and Mefa, which also charge 40 cents.

In the Balboa zone, the price schedule states that theatres charging 35 cents and up can play 21 days after first runs in the downtown area. On checking up the F.W.C. allegation, it was found that the Balboa has been charging 35 cents for the last month and under the Campi decision can day-and-date with the two F.W.C. houses at a nickel less.

At the Wednesday session, Campi will either place the Balboa in the same zone with the Leimert and the Mefa or revise the price schedule for the zone it is now in.

Hanson, who was slated to leave for the coast yesterday, canceled his plane reservations and will stay over for the rehearing.

Given Choice of Chairmen

Under a resolution adopted unanimously by Campi, members of the local boards can now elect their own chairmen, doing away with the former plan of rotating chairmanships. Impartial members can also sit as chairmen under the new ruling. Heretofore, the outside member could not conduct meetings.

An application by the Broadway, Butte, Mont., seeking exemption from Article VI, Part 2, Section 7 (a) of the code has been granted by the NIRA.

Para. Interest in Fox Met Is Told to Court court jurisdiction in its own reorganization proceedings and the new Paramount board had been formally elected. Another month may be required before these developments could be realized.

Fabian named the Atlas Corp. and H. A. Fortington as the Paramount financial interests involved in the proposal. Floyd B. Odlum, head of Atlas, is one of the designated new directors of Paramount. Atlas was awarded the underwriting commitment for Paramount's new $6,500,000 stock subscription warrants this week. Fortington, American representative of large British insurance companies, including Royal, is also a director-elect of Paramount. Fabian's discussions were held with George Schaefer, Paramount general manager and a director-elect.

Motion Picture Daily learned from a reliable source yesterday that the Paramount discussions were based on a superficial interest of Atlas and Fortington in Fox Met as a Paramount adjunct and had not been discussed with any other members of the Paramount board than those named, thus necessarily restricting the probability of a Paramount bid for Fox Met to extreme indefiniteness. It was stated additionally that interest in the situation was centered on the probable amount for which the circuit might be acquired, and whether or not a proposal to bid would be submitted to the Paramount board for action depended largely on the estimated purchase price. It was stated definitely that the authors of the idea would not endeavor to embroil Paramount in any costly competitive bidding in the event such bidding developed as a result of Paramount's entrance into the Fox Met arena.

Says Schaefer Called Him

Fabian stated that he had been called to Schaefer's office by the latter over a month ago to discuss the Fox Met situation. Schaefer told him, Fabian said, that "certain interests in our organization (Paramount) were interested and might make a cash offer."

"If you do that," Fabian said he replied, "my plan will be out and I'd like to go along with yours because I think that any cash offer made will be successful over any plan now in existence."

Schaefer then asked him, Fabian said, if Paramount could "come in on" Fabian's plan in the event Paramount didn't make its bid. He said he replied that he wouldn't consider that "at this time" but added that if his (Fabian's) bid was successful he might discuss a participation for Paramount later. He also stated that he had told Schaefer he would like to have 25 per cent of Paramount's bid in the event one was made.

Fabian testified on Thursday that Schaefer had told him Paramount product would be available for Fox Met if Fabian's bid was successful. Yesterday Fabian said that he had again discussed product for Fox Met with Schaefer before coming to court that morning.

In testifying that Herman Starr of Warners had told him that that company would like to buy the 18 Fox Met houses in Jersey in the event the Fabian bid was successful, Fabian said that he had vetoed the suggestion, but had told Starr that he would be willing to discuss a pooling arrangement with Warners for the houses if he acquired Fox Met.

The courtroom full of film men and attorneys, almost inured to shock after seven days of the hearings, was startled at one point when Fabian, answering a question as to Warners' interest in the Jersey houses put to him by Kresel, said that "Herman Starr told me that if the Schenck-Weisman plan is successful, A. C. Blumenthal has promised Warners the Jersey theatres."

Another shock to the sensitive natures of the film men and attorneys came when Kresel, questioning Fabian as to the reports on Fox Met operations of a confidential nature which he had received in his capacity as advisor to Irving Trust Co., receiver for Fox Met, asked Fabian whether he had delivered any of the documents to Warners. Fabian admitted that he had retained copies of these reports in his own possession, but denied that he had given anything to Warners that had not been authorized by either the receiver or the Federal court.

The papers in question included income and cost reports, audits, rents and leases on Fox Met houses for the period from Jan., 1932, to Aug., 1935.

Kresel then asked Fabian if he had not been accused by Alvin J. Schlosser, member of the Fox Met bondholders' committee, with having delivered confidential information to Warners just prior to the Loew-Warner bid for Fox Met last summer, and if he, Fabian, did not admit having done so. Fabian denied this, but said that he had been accused by Schlosser of "breaking faith" with the committee in talking to Warners, and that Schlosser had told him the committee was not interested in any bid but the one it was formulating itself.

Fabian testified that Fabian Securities Corp. owned $132,500 of Fox Met bonds bought at an average of 14 and now worth 45, representing a profit of about $33,000. Questioned on his own plan for Fox Met, Fabian stated that Albert M. Greenfield of Philadelphia was his only associate and that Greenfield's Bankers' Securities Corp. would participate in the financing by putting up $650,000 of the $1,000,000 cash proposed in the plan. The remaining $350,000 would be supplied by Fabian, yet Fabian would receive 75 per cent of the Fox Met stock and Greenfield the other 25 per cent, Fabian said. He explained this by saying that the $650,000 is a loan to him by the Bankers' Securities Corp., for which all of the Fox Met stock would serve as collateral. Greenfield's 25 per cent stock interest would be a bonus given in consideration for making the loan, Fabian said. Fabian Enterprises would have no liability as a result of the loan, it was stated, but dividends from Fox Met would be turned over to Greenfield's bank until the loan was repaid, it was said.

Fabian testified that his plan provided a $50,000 salary for himself as operator and that general creditors' claims would be paid off with a share of the unmortgaged cash of Fox Met, as would those of Skouras and Randforce, whose present Fox Met operating contracts would be canceled under Fabian's plan.

Judge Mack remarked that Fabian's plan stood to return him a profit of $3,500,000 in seven years. Fabian replied that while net earnings could possibly approximate that figure, he didn't consider it a profit, as charges for depreciation and costs of theatre maintenance would be deducted from it.

The court reiterated its frequently expressed view that not enough cash was in sight for the Fox Met bondholders who, Judge Mack said, "continue to hold the bag under either plan," Fabian's or the Schenck-Fox Theatres' plan.

The hearing will be resumed Monday with further examination of Fabian and with his associate, Greenfield, also being called to the stand.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"The Call of the Wild"

(20th Century-United Artists)

Hollywood, April 26.—Jack London's saga of the Klondike gold rush, as deftly produced by Darryl F. Zanuck, unfolds a warm romance and virile action in this high-powered box-office attraction with Clark Gable and Loretta Young for heart and Jack Oakie for laughter.

Motivated on man's primitive quests for love and gold, scenarists Gene Fowler and Leonard Praskins have kept all the human attributes in the foreground without stressing the battle against the elements.

While London's novel dramatized the dog Buck, half wolf and half St. Bernard, the film merely uses Buck to counterpoint leadership as against the love call of Gable, the gambler, and Miss Young, the socialite.

The story, in highlight, tells of Oakie, an Alaskan hanger-on, who interests Gable, an adventurer, in a map showing where gold is to be found by the fistful. On the trek they meet Miss Young, save her and learn that her lost husband is the map owner. The three proceed, locating the strike, and Oakie returns to legalize the claim. Reginald Owen, the heavy, finds the lost husband, Frank Conroy, and also locates the strike. Owen then shoots Conroy, hijacks Gable and, while returning with the gold, is caught in the rapids. Buck finds Conroy wounded in the woods, and Miss Young, after nursing her husband to health, returns with him.

Gable's and Miss Young's romance is strong and tender. Oakie contributes comedy and pathos in his best performance to date. Owen reveals a sharp portrait of villainy finely done. The balance of the cast is good. The dog Buck plays an important role, loving Gable and hating Owen and finally answering the call of the wild.

The production is a scenic treat, harmonizing ruggedness with the beautiful.

William Wellman's direction is expertly fashioned and Charles Rosher's photography is topnotch. The film should go big everywhere, having marquee names, author value and the colorful drama of romance and conflict to appeal to the high and low on Main Street or Broadway.

Postoffice Is Stopping Ads On Bank Night

Orders Are Issued When Question Is Raised

WASHINGTON, April 28.—Numerous orders barring the mails to bank night advertising as in violation of the lottery laws are being issued by the Post Office Department, it was learned here yesterday.

Officials of the department explained that these orders are issued to postmasters who ask Washington whether such advertising is legal. No general order has been issued, nor is any contemplated, it was said.

The effect of the instructions sent to postmasters inquiring on the subject is to bar exhibitors in the affected community from the newspapers, if any copies of the papers are sent by mail, as well as to shut off any direct mail advertising. They do not, however prevent exhibitors from advertising by handbills or posters or by any other medium which does not use the mails.

It was indicated that the department has no idea of undertaking any campaign against bank night advertising. However, when a postmaster asks for instructions the department can do nothing but quote the law.

Union Cinemas Sets 100 Houses as Goal

By BRUCE ALLAN

LONDON, April 28.—Union Cinemas, Ltd., has set as an immediate objective a circuit of 100 theatres.

One step in carrying out this plan is to be a consolidation of 24 theatres in the London area. Next will be construction of 30 houses, already announced and for which the money is available. The London merger will involve £1,000,000, probably to be floated publicly.

Mascot to Make 25 With Four Specials

HOLLYWOOD, April 28.—Nat Levine, head of Mascot Pictures, will make 25 features and four specials as well as several serials for next season, it was revealed over the week-end. Ten features were originally set for this year, but Levine has raised this number to 14.

Hits at Moviegoers

Bedford, Ia., April 28.—Miss M. E. Allen, in charge of relief distribution here, has issued an edict that automatically puts people who are caught attending local theatres, from full-time relief rolls to only part-time relief.

"It is apparent if they can afford to attend motion picture shows, they have more money than they need for living expenses," she says.

Campi Totals 2,116 Houses As Affiliated

Revised total of affiliated theatres throughout the country is 2,116, according to Code Authority's official listing as of March 7.

Top circuit is Paramount with 975. Second is National Theatres and affiliated subsidiaries, the count being 471. Warners is next with 436, while Loew's takes fourth place with 135. Last of the five major circuits in the numerical lineup is RKO with 99.

On June 1, RKO takes over the Orpheum, San Diego, making an even 100 for the company. A deal has been completed with the bondholders and, when the management changes, Cliff Work will include that city in his division. He now has Denver, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Independent code assentors total 7,053, bringing the combined number of code signers to 9,169.

That Ampa Show Was What They Call a Colossal Wow

Those Ampa boys put on a show. It was different, as Ed Wynn says. It really was! It began Saturday night and kept on going.

As fast as masters of ceremonies got out of breath or ran out of gags, a substitute leaped to the microphones. There were many of 'em—masters of ceremonies, not microphones — Joe Laurie, Harry Hershfield, Ed Sullivan, Ted Bergman and Phil Baker. And the talent! It came and went like the tides—sometimes fast, sometimes slow.

Radio, stage and screen were represented. The old Astor ballroom bulged. So did some of the diners in

Asks Court to Sanction Buy of 18,236 Shares

Proposals under which Paramount would acquire an additional 18,236 shares of Famous Players Canadian Corp. stock and would cancel all existing contracts and claims as between itself and Skouras were submitted to Special Master John E. Joyce on Saturday for hearing on May 2.

Paramount now owns more than 96 per cent of the outstanding 378,790 shares of F-P Canadian and will have the right to subscribe at $10 per share to 18,236 shares of a new issue of 18,940 shares just authorized. Under a recent dividend of 50 cents per share declared by F-P Canadian, Paramount will derive $182,363, which the proposal intends to apply to the purchase of the additional stock. F-P Canadian showed a profit of $302,625 for 1934 and has an earned surplus of $3,762,036.

Involved in the proposed cancellation of old Paramount contracts with Skouras Bros. arising out of St. Louis and Atlantic States' operating agreements between the two, and the mutual cancellation of claims thereunder, is a provision by which Spyros Skouras agrees to repay to Paramount the balance of a $100,000 loan, amounting to $90,795 with interest, in quarterly payments over a six-year period.

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

TESTIMONY developed in the latter-day hearings on the Joe Schenck plan of reorganization for Fox Met before Federal Judge Julian W. Mack makes it appear to this sentinel's spyglass that disposition of that important and troublesome metropolitan theatre unit is no nearer settlement than it was before Schenck came into the Fox Met arena, to be followed by Si Fabian with a competitive reorganization proposal. . . .

Contributing more than anything else to this viewpoint is the disclosure to the court by Fabian, urged on by persistent questioning of Schenck's attorney, of the active interest of Paramount and Warners in the ultimate disposition of Fox Met. These, added to flirtatious factors already known to the court whose concern in Fox Met is vital, such as Loew's and K-A-O, Schenck's United Artists and 20th Century, and Fox Film, whose important film franchise is involved, must give any impartial observer a fairly accurate idea of the significance of the properties whose fate is involved. Else, why the scramble? . . .

Contrast this existing interest with the bids made by either Schenck or Fabian, one of which would give Fox Met bondholders a maximum of $750,000 in cash, the other, $1,000,000, with new securities making up the balance of both bids, and decide for yourself whether they measure up to the court's frequently expressed hope of getting "a large amount of cash on the line" for the bondholders. . . .

The imposing array of prospective bidders for Fox Met, even more than the damaging disclosures of cross-interests, trading in the securities of Fox Met by principals in its reorganization, of alleged threats and counter-threats between bidders and prospective bidders and of intimations of improper official conduct inside and outside of the bondholders' committee, make it appear that the fate of Fox Met is as far from being determined now as it ever was. . . .

Consider what the $4,000,000 cash offer which Fabian said had been mentioned to him by Paramount associates as probable, could mean. With or without a possible Warner participation in such a bid, it is difficult to see how Loew's could avoid again being drawn into the situation. K-A-O, too, would be forced in as well, no doubt. Several combinations of theatre and producing companies might be allied either defensively or in taking the initiative. The bidding for the 84 Fox Met houses conceivably could be skyrocketed under such conditions to a level you may name yourself. . . .

And if a sale were consummated under such conditions, even then as vital, or even more vital a contest, might be waged with Fox Met as the center. The supplemental contest would be over product, with prices for whatever pictures were in the market probably being forced to even proportionately higher levels than the price for Fox Met itself, for in its product phase the contest would be a fight for place, with the future of any one of three important circuits at stake. The bidding then would not be on the basis of profitable operation of Fox Met, but on the necessity of self-preservation of existing circuits. . . .

Some believe such a situation could be avoided only if Fox Met, in its future operations, remained primarily a second run circuit or if, as is proposed under the agreement between K-A-O and Schenck, it embraced some cooperative product deal or pool. Another alternative would be its joint disposition to Loew's and K-A-O on a basis which did not disturb existing theatre and film balances. . . .

The former comes up against the stone wall of the Federal court's attitude on accepting a plan that involves only a modest cash contribution while a Fox Met operation destined for a second run policy might not hazard reasonably any large amount of cash in a reorganization. The latter, as pointed out in these columns earlier, could be the sane and satisfactory course, the attorney general willing, for both circuits most vitally involved and for the Fox Met bondholders, as well. . . .

Meanwhile, the situation runs its course with home office eyes focused on its every move, from day to day in court. Representatives of as many as six major companies have been spotted at the hearings as observers. Other companies receive prompt and full reports of the daily developments. Loew's-M-G-M, K-A-O, and RKO, Warners, Fox, Skouras, Randforce, United Artists and 20th Century may be said to be directly involved in the proceedings. As a prospective bidder now is Paramount. Interested in future markets for their product, as a result of the proceedings, are Columbia and Universal. There may be others. . . .

'Frankenstein' in 1st Day Equals Previous Full Week in L. A.;

Los Angeles, April 23.

Though trade is better this year over the Easter Sunday week than last year, majority of the houses with top attractions are not clicking as anticipated. They had to overcome a stagnant Good Friday intake, with Saturday in most of the spots being way off and, in quite a few, Sunday little better.

Outstanding on the take was Pantages with 'Bride of Frankenstein.' Pic opened there Saturday with an 11-show grind that included two of the midnite affairs and hit over $2,700 on the day, which is on a par with the usual weekly take th house has had. Then Sunday ra along the same gait, with seve shows and a straight 40-cent admis sion, which equaled the previou day take, giving house one of bigge weeks it has had in its career.

Pantages (Pan) (2,700; 25-40)- 'Bride of Frankenstein' (U). Be take house has had and with limite advance campaign did $5,500 on fir two days, Sat and Sunday, ar looks as though its first week wi be a cinch, $13,000.

(Best Exploitation: Palace)

Battling it out for the big coin this week are 'Bride of Frankenstein' at the Palace and Casino de Paree unit at the Chicago.

Smash full-page feature yarns, contest tie-ups with the newspapers and other angles were arranged for 'Frankenstein' by John Joseph of RKO and Duke Hickey of Universal here for a bang-up exploitation campaign.

Palace (RKO) (2,500; 25-35-55)— 'Bride of Frankenstein' (U) an vaude. Excellent $24,000. Last wee 'Roberta' (Radio) finished a wallo ing four-week march to gre their starched shirts, but that was to be expected.

There wasn't a speech—and nobody missed them.

The highlight was a special "March of Time" re-enactment, Gridiron Dinner style, of current high jinks of the film industry in the form of imaginary telephone conversations written by the authors who knew their stuff and, because they did, didn't want any credit lines. That was strange enough for this business.

What the loud speakers spread over the smoke-filled air above the tables went like this:

Telephone Bell Rings

Carl Laemmle — Long distance, please—Operator, I'd like to talk to Universal City, please—Mr. Carl Laemmle calling Master Carl Laemmle, Jr. (Pause.) Hello—Joonior—this is papa talking—

Junior—Hello, Pop—did you sell out yet?

Laemmle—Sh, don't be silly—didn't I tell you Universal is not on the market?

Junior — You're telling me — they haven't been on the big board for years—and how RKO stays there, God only knows!

Laemmle—Listen, Joonior, I ain't spending money for long distance calls about other feller's troubles—let them stay off the Curb—and you stay outa the gutter.

Junior—If that last crack means that I'm making dirty pictures—don't blame me—blame your son-in-law Stanley Bergerman. Say, Pop, I hear Stanley's leaving—we gotta get someone for his job—

Laemmle—How about your Tanta Millie's son, August—the one that lives in Carlsbad?

Junior—No, Pa, please, the place is lousy with your relations now—

Laemmle—Is that a nice way to talk—Listen here, Junior—if I didn't take care of my relations—where the hell would you be?

Telephone Rings Again

Operator — National Broadcasting Company.

Schenck—Hello... Hello... NBC? Major Bowes, please.

Girl—Major Bowes' office.

Schenck—Tell him Mr. Schenck is calling. Hurry, please. It's important.

Girl—For application to Major Bowes' amateur hour go to the nearest grocery store selling Chase & Sanborn dated coffee . . . Get one of the application blanks and send it in with—

Schenck—I don't want to go on Bowes' amateur hour . . I want to speak to him. . . . Hurry, please, I can't wait. . . . It's vitally important.

Girl—You'll have to write him a letter. And remember that he judges from your letter whether you have talent enough for a preliminary audition. If you pass this first test then Major Bowes will see—

Schenck (furious)—But I'm a personal friend of his . . . I want to see him about professional, not amateur business. I'm a professional. I'm the one man banned from his lousy program anyway. . . . I—

Girl—Sorry! You're the 169th one man band that's called today!

Another Telephone Ring

Operator—Mr. Jack Cohn? . . . Mr. Harry Cohn calling.

Harry—Hello, Jack.

Jack—Hello, Harry, what's new?

Harry—Have you heard about the Motion Pitcher Academy awards?

Jack—No. How'd we come out?

Jack—Yeah!

Harry—"Best actor's performance—Clark Gable in 'It Happened One Night'—a Columbia picture. Best actresses' performance — Claudette Colbert in 'It Happened One Night.'

Jack—Humph!

Harry—"Best direction — Frank Capra in 'It Happened One Night'—a Columbia director!"

Jack—Humph!

Harry—"Best screen adaptation—Robert Riskin's 'It Happened One Night'—a Columbia writer . . ." Five awards. Isn't that colossal?

Jack—But—what about our travelogues! No awards, Harry?

More Phone Buzzing

Operator—Senator Long calling! Senator Long calling Mr. Roy Larsen of "March of Time!"

Larsen—Hello?

Long—Say, look here, Roy Larsen. I been trying to pin you down for the last two weeks on the phone and I can't seem to get hold of you. Now—

Larsen—Why, I was just going to call you, Senator . . . er . . . I

Long—That's all right, Larsen. But let me tell you something, I gotta speak to you about that last "March of Time" picture of yours and that sequence you showed of me.

Larsen—Why, I did want to talk with you about that—but—

Long—I want you to know, Larsen, that I don't like it a bit—those pictures of me!

Larsen—Why—er—what seemed to be the trouble, Senator?

Long—Trouble! Why, when you and your cameramen come down to Washington to shoot my picture a month ago, why didn't you give me some make-up? And maybe a wig or something. I look just plain God-awful in those pictures!

Larsen—Why, Senator . . .

Long—I look so damn slam-bang God-awful that the manager of the theatre down in New Orleans threw the "March of Time" right out of the theatre on its ear! Wouldn't let it show! Said I looked too much like a fella named Boris Karloff they had on the screen down there last week!

Greta Garbo Calls

Operator—Miss Greta Garbo calling... Miss Greta Garbo calling...

Greta Garbo (worried) — Hello, hello, Mr. Arliss, please . . . Hello, George?

Arliss—Hello . . . Ah, Greta, my dear child . . . It is good to hear your voice.

Garbo—George . . . This is important. What picture are you making now?

Arliss—"The House of Wellington" . . . I mean "The Iron Richelieu" . . . "Cardinal Rothschild." Oh, I forget for the moment . . . something where I walk the world . . . with dignity, something—

Garbo—Yes, I know. But is there any . . . any sex, George?

Arliss—Just a dash . . . a mere fill-up . . .

Garbo—You know—The League of Decency will allow no sex from now on.

Arliss—Who will be left in Hollywood, Greta? What stars can shine without sex?

Garbo—You and me, George. You and me!

Zukor Has a Chat

Operator—Mr. Adolph Zukor, president of Paramount Pictures, calling Bob Gillham, advertising manager.

Zukor—Listen, Gillham, now that the bankers are running this company, we've got to make some changes.

Gillham—We've started already, Mr. Zukor . . . all our publicity stories are being certified by Price, Waterhouse & Co.

Zukor—That's right, my boy. Hereafter, I want you to use this line in all your advertising. 'If it's a Paramount Picture, you can bank on it.'

Gillham—But . . .

Zukor—And from now on the main title billing will read: 'The American Bankers' Ass'n presents . . . A Paramount Picture'."

Gillham—Righto, Mr. Zukor . . . and if there's nothing else now, I'll be leaving.

Zukor—Leaving? What do you mean, Gillham? It's only three o'clock.

Gillham — Bankers' hours, Mr. Zukor.

Cohn Phones Once More

Girl's voice—Hello, operator. Long distance, please. I want to speak to New York City, please. To Mr. Jack Cohn, Columbia Pictures. Mr. Harry Cohn calling.

Jack—Hello.

Harry — Hello, Jack. Wait a minute . . .

Girl's voice—Hello, Mr. Cohn. This is Mr. Harry Cohn's secretary. Mr. Cohn wants to know . . .

Jack—Wait a minute . . .

Girl's voice — Hello, Mr. Harry Cohn's secretary. This is Mr. Jack Cohn's secretary. What did Mr. Harry Cohn want?

Girl's voice—Mr. Harry Cohn tells me to tell you to tell Jack that if he says "Yes" on that deal, he'll say "No."

Big Deal Goes Blooey

Operator—Mr. Laemmle calling Mr. Harry Warner . . . ready. Mr. Warner?

Laemmle—Hello, Harry, are you there?

Warner—Yes, Carl, what is it?

Laemmle—I'm calling about the sale of the studio. What do you say?

Warner—Well, Uncle Carl, I tell you it is a big decision. I'm not alone, you know. I got to think about the stockholders.

Laemmle—Don't worry about the stockholders, Harry, the shock would kill them. Besides, I got to know today . . . so go on . . . yes or no. The whole studio, lock, stock and relatives. What's your price?

Warner—All right. How about $3,000,000?

Laemmle—Okay . . . make out your check. I'll be right over.

Warner—Make out my check, for what?

Laemmle—For buying Universal, that's for what?

Warner—Who wants to buy Universal? I thought you wanted to buy Warners!

Some Warner Conversation

Operator—Mr. Jack Warner calling . . .

Jack—Hello? Let me speak to Max Rheinhardt, please.

Rheinhardt—This is Rheinhardt.

Jack—This is Jack Warner, Max.

Max—Hello, Jack.

Jack—Say, Max! How far are we along on "Midsummer Night's Dream?"

Max — "Midsummer Night's Dream"? It's done . . . It's beautiful . . . It's . . .

Jack—Listen, Max. I gotta idea. We gotta do something about it right away.

Max—Idea? Don't you go to changing anything again, Jack . . .

Jack—This isn't much, Max. And it would help me out a lot.

Max—What you thinking about now, Jack.

Jack—Say, call in the script men and write in a part for Marion Davies, will you?

Max—Marion Davies! "Midsummer Night's Dream!"

Ostrer-Waxman Talk

Operator—Transatlantic telephone, please—Mr. A. P. Waxman, of New York, calling Mr. Mark Ostrer, at Gaumont British, London, England. (Pause.)

Ostrer—Are you there, Mr. Waxman?

Waxman—Hello, Mr. Ostrer . . . this is A. P. Waxman. How do you like that trademark I created—you know, the G-B giraffe?

Ostrer—Did you say the G Dee Giraffe?

Waxman—Haw, haw, haw . . . you kill me, Mr. Ostrer!

Ostrer—Well, that's an idea, Mr. Waxman.

Waxman— . . . and that slogan, "Tops 'Em All"? It's sensational over here. You know, giraffe, long neck, tops 'em all! Get it?

Ostrer—I get it . . . in the neck! (Pause) Waxman, I'd rather use that "Man of Aran" painting of the fisherman.

Waxman—All right, Mr. Ostrer, if you say so. But what about the slogan?

Ostrer—The slogan? Nets to you, Mr. Waxman!

McCormick-Roxy Chat

Operator—Mr. Barrett McCormick calling . . .

McCormick—Hello, Roxy. This is Barrett McCormick. Did you hear what happened to me when I returned to Indianapolis the other day?

Roxy—No, Barrett, what happened?

McCormick—Well, Roxy. You know I used to run the Circle there and when I went back to put on the opening campaign for 'Roberta' all the old gang met me at the station with a brass band.

Roxy — That's nothing, Barrett.

End of Partnership Sought in K. C. Suit

KANSAS CITY, April 28.—Receivership and dissolution of partnership has been asked in a suit filed in Circuit Court by Juliette E. Fulton against her husband, William D. Fulton, operator of five suburban houses.

Mrs. Fulton alleged that she and her husband entered into an oral agreement through which they became partners in the operation of the houses and that she put up the major portion of the capital. Over a year ago, she charges, her husband refused to permit her a share in the operations and retained the profits without an accounting. Appointment of a referee is sought.

Robbins Says Something

Operator—Mr. Robbins calling Paul Benjamin.

Robbins—Hello, Paul Benjamin?

Benjamin—Yes, Mr. Robbins?

Robbins—Say, Paul, where in hell do you keep yourself, I've been trying to get you for over a week?

Benjamin—Well, Mr. Robbins, you see I've been busy with the A.M.P.A. It's good business for us to mix, you know.

Robbins—I know, I pay your salary to have you help Bill Ferguson . . . and Metro starts to make their own trailers.

Benjamin—Well, don't worry, Mr. Robbins. I've given up my office. Ed McNamee is the new secretary.

Robbins—And who's the new president?

Benjamin—Bruce Gallup.

Robbins—Good God! Here's where we lose Columbia!

Mae West Invites 'Em

Operator—Miss Mae West? Miss West, there are three calls for you.

Mae—Who's first?

Operator—W. C. Fields.

Mae—Put 'em on! . . . Hello, Bill!

W. C. Fields—Hello, Mae. How are you doing?

Mae—Swell. Why don'tcha c'm up 'n see muh sometime! (Click) Who's next, operator?

Operator—John Barrymore.

John—How are you, Mae.

Mae—Why don't you c'm up 'n see muh sometime, John?

John—I'd love to. I will! (Sigh) (Click)

Operator—And here's Jimmy Durante, Miss West.

Jimmy—Hatchacha, Mae! Hatchacha! How are you, kid?

Mae—C'm up 'n see muh sometime. (Click)

Operator—There's one more call for you, Miss West. He won't give his name. He says he's from Milwaukee. Says you and him was married there in 1911.

Mae—Married? Well, anyway . . . it's a different approach. Put him on!

Husband—Hello, Mae. This is Frank. Your husband.

Mae—My husband, eh? Well . . . c'm up 'n see muh sometime.

Husband—I have, baby!

Britain's New Tax Light on Stage Houses

Theory Is Latter Give More Employment

By BRUCE ALLAN

LONDON, April 20.—Aside from the expected remission of entertainment tax on seats priced at 6d (12 cents) and less, the outstanding feature of this year's budget is the differentiation in tax scale between film and stage entertainments.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer has undoubtedly established an important precedent by recognizing the claims of those associated with "the living theatre" that, both from a cultural viewpoint, and because they provide more employment, they should be put in a favorable position as regards "mechanical" entertainment.

As from July 1, a separate scale of duty will apply to "entertainments

King Bill Aims to End NRA on June 16

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Legislation under which the NRA would be permitted to die on June 16 and all permissible activities under the Recovery Act be transferred to the Federal Trade Commission was introduced in Congress today by Senator King of Utah.

There is no probability of the bill being adopted, particularly in view of the demand by President Roosevelt in his radio address last night that the NRA be continued.

"U" Name Given to Washington Branch

WASHINGTON, April 29.—The Universal Film Exchange, Inc., has supplanted the interstate Film Exchange, it was revealed today. The move is nothing more than the making official on the part of Universal a title long accepted in the trade, and there will be no change in personnel.

Republic Pictures Corp., formerly Liberty Film Exchange, will open new quarters here before the end of the week.

Wyler May Join Para.

William Wyler, former Universal director, it is understood, will join Paramount in a similar capacity under Henry Henigson. He left for Hollywood yesterday afternoon by plane.

Margaret Sullavan, who has been borrowed by Paramount from Universal for "So Red the Rose," plans to leave Thursday. She starts work May 6 in the Paramount film.

Lighton Joins M-G-M

HOLLYWOOD, April 29.—Louis D. Lighton, formerly a Paramount producer, has signed with M-G-M as an executive producer. He is slated to make six pictures yearly. His contract becomes effective Aug. 1.

New Seymour Office

Seymour Premiums, Inc., open new showrooms Thursday and Friday and are celebrating the occasion by holding open house.

Set Mickey Mouse Deal

United Artists has completed a tieup arrangement with Mickey Mouse Magazine, the first number of which will appear May 15.

It will be called "A fun book for children to read to grownups," with 44 pages for the first issue of 200,000 copies.

Rob a Brooklyn Safe

After kidnapping L. W. McEachem, manager of the Patio, Flatbush Ave. and Midwood St., and forcing him to return to the theatre and open the safe, three bandits took between $2,000 and $2,500.

Philadelphians Ask Compromise on Duals

PHILADELPHIA, April 29.—A compromise calling for the establishment of an "arbitrary percentage of each major company's releases which shall be double featured, if the exhibitor desires," is urged in the current bulletin of the Independent Exhibitors' Protective Ass'n as a means of solving the duals problem.

"No restrictions should be placed on the type of picture which may be twin billed, nor should the theatre's run be affected in any way," adds the publication. "It is obvious that the weaker pictures will be used on the dual bills, so the producers need not fear that their specials will be part of double feature programs."

Asserting "it appears that between 30 and 40 per cent of the major companies' products are so weak that they show few theatres a profit," the organization suggests a double feature privilege of 33 1-3 per cent for "territories like Cleveland and Philadelphia."

IEPA Makes Fourth Addition to Allied

Affiliation of the I.E.P.A. of Philadelphia with national Allied makes four new independent units to join Sidney Samuelson's organization within the last year. Since Allied held its last convention new units to join have been those in Columbus, Atlanta and Washington, D. C. In Columbus the Allied unit is known as the I.T.O. of Ohio, in Washington it's Allied of D. C. and in Atlanta it's the G.F.T.A.

Samuelson states that the Philadelphia unit now makes 38 states for Allied. He believes that within a year the entire country will be covered by his group.

Two for Washington

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Construction will start shortly on two new 1,500-seat Warner neighborhood theatres, according to John J. Payette, general zone manager.

The houses will be in the 3400-block of Connecticut Ave., N. W., and in the 600-block Pennsylvania Ave., S. E. The latter house will be across the street from the present Avenue Grand.

The Uptown and Penn, as the new houses will be called, will have 500-seat balconies, and space for stores on either side of the main entrances.

Small Releases Wood

HOLLYWOOD, April 29.—Unable to complete negotiations for purchase of a second story assignment called for in the contract between himself and Sam Wood, Edward Small of Reliance has suspended the contract he had with Wood in order that the latter could join M-G-M.

Wood recently completed "Let 'Em Have it" for Small, and his next at M-G-M will be the coming Marx Brothers' feature.

Geo. H. Thompson Dead

LAUREL, Del., April 29.—George H. Thompson, 57, manager of the Waller here for more than 30 years, died at his home of complications resulting from a paralytic stroke suffered Feb. 19. He managed the first theatre here. He is survived by his widow, two sisters and five children.

Fox Is Named With Banker On Met Offer

Judge Julian W. Mack, who is contrasting the terms of Fabian's plan for Fox Met with that being offered by Joseph M. Schenck and Fox Theatres Corp. Beyond admitting that he had discussed with Fox the desirability of an investment in Fox Met and having been told by Fox that the latter considered Fox Met to "be a good circuit," Greenfield said he had held no other consultations with Fox on the Fabian plan. He said that Fox had "merely corroborated" his own opinions of Fox Met and the Fabian plan and that, following the discussions, he, Greenfield, had informed Fabian that Bankers' Securities Corp. would finance his plan on the terms outlined to the court earlier.

Offers Check in Evidence

Greenfield brought with him to court a certified check for $100,000 which he said he was prepared to post as "earnest money" to guarantee the performance of his share of the Fabian plan. The Philadelphia banker, a financial associate of Fox's of long standing, disclosed that Fabian had first discussed with him a proposal for financing a bid for Fox Met which Fabian intended making about a year or a year and a half ago. Greenfield also testified that Herman Starr, vice-president of Warners, also discussed with him at about the same time the probability of Warners participating in the Fabian bid being considered then. He said that he had had no recent talks with Starr about a Warner participation in the present Fabian plan, but testified that Warners "wanted to borrow from my company" last summer to participate in their bid for Fox Met with Loew's, but "we couldn't agree on terms," Greenfield said.

Greenfield, who qualified as a film and theatre expert by virtue of having served on the board of Loew's during the period when Fox held a stock control in Loew's, and having served at various times as a financial representative of Fox's and of the Stanley Corp. of America, belittled earlier testimony that product was important in the Fox Met situation. He said that the product talk was "all camouflage" and that Fox Met, as primarily a second run circuit, would have no difficulty in obtaining whatever product it needed.

Fabian Sticks to His Story

Fabian, the only other witness placed on the stand yesterday, reiterated his earlier testimony that he did not anticipate any difficulty in obtaining sufficient product for Fox Met's purposes under his plan, which would cancel the Skouras and Randforce operating contracts and result in loss of the Fox Film franchise held by the operators. He testified that he considered Fox Met to have only seven first run houses in New York and three in New Jersey, and admitted that without a tieup with some other circuit these houses would have difficulty in obtaining the needed product. He stated, however, that for his purposes he was relying on assurances given him by Starr that Warners would sell to Fox Met as they had in the past and by George Schaefer that Paramount product would be available to him if his plan were successful.

He stated that if it was necessary in order to obtain product for Fox Met, it might be possible to organize a third large competing circuit in the metropolitan area through an amalgamation of existing independent circuits with Fox Met. It was developed that under Fabian's plan approximately 20 Fox Met houses not covered by the Fox Met mortgage indenture would be withdrawn, but would not be under the Schenck plan, and that the 20 houses involved had contributed a profit of $239,000 to Fox Met's consolidated earnings last year.

William L. Bainton, of counsel for the Fox Met bondholders' committee, indicated that the committee is prepared to pass upon Fabian's plan as soon as certain provisions, now either undecided or omitted from the informal proposal, have been agreed upon and included in it.

Lost, That's All

Forty of N.T.G.'s Paradise beauties walked into the Ampa Naked Truth Dinner and took seats at a table to the left of the stage. They dined. Then they changed into their white, fuzzy costumes. Then they waited for two hours. Then they went out.

A searching party had discovered they were at the wrong party.

A trombone player spent most of the evening in the orchestra and later discovered he was also due at the other party. It was a big night.

Fox Units' Transfer Is Scheduled May 4 will take place on May 4 when Associated Theatres and Fox Midcontinent will assume operation of the approximately 200 theatres.

Associated will replace Fox Rocky Mountain, but Rick Ricketson will continue as operating head. Fox Midcontinent is the new company for Fox Midwest with Elmer C. Rhoden continuing at the helm.

Spyros Skouras will arrive here May 8 for a general survey of the local situation. From here he will continue to the coast.

National, the only bidder for the two circuits, held unsecured claims of more than $5,000,000 against Fox Midland and approximately $4,800,000 against the Denver corporation. Prior to the hearing on the sale, Federal Judge Reeves vacated a restraining order granted Lee H. Hamlin, ruling that the bondholders had failed to show they had a lien on the assets of the companies and the remedy was through other court channels.

Reid-Sisk to Do 12

HOLLYWOOD, April 29.—Cliff Reid and Bob Sisk will produce a minimum of 12 for RKO Radio next season. Sisk is now in New York and is expected back in two weeks.

nine; Fox, four, three and five; Paramount, four, two and three; Columbia, four, one and three; Radio, three, three and five; Universal, two, zero and one; Roach, zero, one and zero, with the independent group checking up with five, six and seven.

Short subject production also dropped with M-G-M showing one short in work, two preparing and three in the cutting room. Universal had one, zero and zero; Radio, one, one and two; Columbia, zero, zero and two; Roach, zero, one and two; Warners, zero, zero and one, and the independent group three, five and two.

Group Film Ads Stir Campi Appeal Debate

Advertising groups of pictures generally without announcing playdates and admission prices was declared within the provisions of the code yesterday by Sidney Samuelson, president of Allied, who represented William Faulkner of the Park, Newark, N. J., at a Campi appeal hearing.

Warners' Hawthorne, Newark, brought the independent before the local grievance board recently for prematurely advertising more than 30 pictures on a "flyer." The local board decided in favor of Warners and Faulkner appealed.

Attorney Ruffman of the Warner legal staff asserted that the practice was a flagrant violation of the code, but Charles Casey, one of the two members of the appeal committee, disagreed with him. Ruffman stated that despite absence of the admission price and playdate, the Park violated the code. He set forth the argument that the code gives a subsequent run only the right to advertise producers' name, but not titles.

There was considerable discussion about the interpretation of the premature advertising section of the code by the committee and both litigants and it appeared that Campi itself will have to clarify the section.

Arthur Says He Did Not Pay Berinstein

Charges by Al Hanson, Fox West Coast city manager in Los Angeles, that Harry Arthur paid Ben Berinstein's fare to New York in connection with the rehearing of the coast schedule, were denied yesterday by Arthur.

"The charges are false and malicious," Arthur declared, "and were made for personal reasons."

Whether the rehearing on the Balboa situation tomorrow by Campi will be open for further testimony has not yet been decided. Both sides, however, are prepared to introduce new testimony when the session is called. An executive session will be held prior to the meeting to decide on admitting new evidence.

"G" Sets Frisco Record

SAN FRANCISCO, April 29.—"G Men" set a record when it pulled $15,000 for the first three days of its engagement at the Warfield, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. This is $5,000 above the usual take for the three opening days of a picture at the house.

Dallas Court Gets New Film Stoppage Case

a similar Fort Worth case has been decided by the U. S. District Court.

Still another case of this kind is pending in Oklahoma, but the U. S. District Court there has put the matter aside until a decision is handed down by the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals on the Harry Huffman case which originated in Denver. The issues are the same in all three and involve an attack on the NRA's application to what is claimed to be intrastate commerce.

The Walker case is unusual in that he has already participated in a number of cease and desist orders against other exhibitors. He is president of the Theatre Owners' Protective Ass'n of Texas, opposition organization to Allied.

C. C. Esell, Dallas, national sales manager for bank night, insists further court action is useless until a decision has been rendered in one of the important cases, or the NRA is changed by new act of Congress.

Philadelphia Premiums Gain

PHILADELPHIA, April 29.—Premiums are at their height in this territory. When pictures are considered good premiums decline in value.

With doubles likely to spread as a result of the recent Federal court decision invalidating the majors' restrictions on dual bills, exhibitors are wondering what the fate of giveaways will be.

Warns on Ohio Lotteries

CLEVELAND, April 29.—The use of Screeno and all other games of like nature is a violation of the general code of Ohio, according to a bulletin issued by G. W. Erdmann, secretary of the Cleveland M. P. Exhibitors Ass'n. Section 13,063 of the General Code of Ohio prohibits the running of lotteries, drawings, raffles of any and all descriptions whether tickets to such lotteries, drawings or raffles are sold, given away or obtained free of charge.

Withdraw Detroit Cases

DETROIT, April 29.—Complaint of the Colonial, Jacob Schreiber, against the Roxy, Ben and Lou Cohen house, charging overbuying, scheduled to be heard by the local grievance board last Monday, was temporarily withdrawn by Sam Shapiro, Schreiber's attorney.

The board heard the case of M. A. Chargot, Pinegrove and Riviera theatres, Port Huron, against the Butterfield houses there a week ago and reserved its decisions until this week. However, two hours before a ruling was to be given, this case also was withdrawn by Chargot, leading to the belief that a satisfactory arrangement had been made between him and the circuit.

"Midnight" Is Twin Cities' Best Grosser

MINNEAPOLIS, April 29.—"Star of Midnight" was the big grosser of the week in the Twin Cities. In fact, it was one of the few money-makers. The take at the Orpheum here was $1,000 over the line at $6,500, while at the St. Paul Orpheum it was $1,500 up on a gross of $5,500.

"Reckless," day and dating in both cities, was good for $6,000 at the State here and $4,000 at the St. Paul Riviera, both over par. "Sweepstakes Annie" was in the money with $2,500 at the Palace here.

Total first run business in Minneapolis was $29,000. Average is $28,500. Total St. Paul business was $19,000. Average is $16,500.

'Frankenstein' K. C. Wow

KANSAS CITY, April 29.—"Bride of Frankenstein" gave the Tower the biggest Sunday business in its history, topping "Broadway Bill." Despite a downpour the crowd waited for seats from 3 P. M. on.

"Marietta" Portland Hit

PORTLAND, April 29.—"Naughty Marietta" has been seen by 142,000 persons in its first 21 days here, and it is being held for a fourth week. This sets a new run record for the house.

"Richelieu" Philadelphia Hit, $14,000

PHILADELPHIA, April 29.—"Cardinal Richelieu" doubled average at the Aldine by taking in $14,000. It may stay three weeks.

The rest of the town came back nicely after the Holy Week slump. "Hold 'Em, Yale," with the N. T. G. revue on the stage and an extra Monday night amateur contest with Graham McNamee as M. C., boosted the Earle to $14,000. The Fox also topped average, with $13,500 for "George White's 1935 Scandals."

Two other spots in town which did well enough compared to the average, were nevertheless disappointments. —"Naughty Marietta," which started like the proverbial house afire, began to slump with the second week. The take was $12,000, average. After getting off to a good start with a big premiere and personal appearances of Jolson and Keeler, "Go Into Your Dance" took $13,500 at the Stanley, a good figure, but not enough to warrant a second week.

Total first run business was $79,600. Average is $70,900.

Estimated takings for the week ending April 25:

"CARDINAL RICHELIEU" (U.A.)
ALDINE—(1,200), 35c-40c-55c, 6 days. Gross: $14,000. (Average, $7,000)

"THE WEDDING NIGHT" (U.A.) (2nd run)
ARCADIA—(600), 25c-40c-50c, 6 days. Gross: $1,900. (Average, $2,400)

"NAUGHTY MARIETTA" (M-G-M)
BOYD—(2,400), 35c-40c-55c, 6 days, 2nd week. Gross: $12,000. (Average, $12,000)

KEITH'S—(2,000), 30c-40c-50c, 6 days. Gross: $3,200. (Average, $4,000)

"GO INTO YOUR DANCE" (Warners)
STANLEY—(3,700), 35c-40c-55c, 6 days. and two performances. Gross: $13,500. (Average, $12,000)

"McFADDEN'S FLATS" (Para.)
STANTON—(1,700), 30c-40c-50c, 6 days. Gross: $5,000. (Average, $6,000)

"Worlds," Marxes, Portland, $11,500

PORTLAND, April 29. — "Private Worlds" at the Paramount with a stage show headed by the Four Marx Brothers was the heaviest draw for some weeks past. It secured $11,500, or $6,500 over average.

"Go Into Your Dance" at the Broadway rolled up $8,000, which is $3,000 over the regular take.

In its third consecutive week at United Artists, "Naughty Marietta" secured another $6,000, or $1,000 over average.

Total first run business was $34,000. Average is $24,700.

Estimated takings for the week ending April 20:

"GO INTO YOUR DANCE" (F. N.)

It Worked!

Houston, April 29.—Francis Deering, Loew manager, raised $6.96 toward the French war debt and made the front pages for "The Scarlet Pimpernel."

It sounds complicated, but it was this way. He advertised for several French girls to sell flowers on the streets of the city. He got 'em, and their sales talk ran like this:

"We are native born French girls, and because there is a story of the French revolution running at Loew's State called 'The Scarlet Pimpernel,' we are selling these paper flowers to help our country pay its war debt."

Powell Is Draw in Two Omaha Houses

OMAHA, April 29.—William Powell ran a dead heat with himself as a star in two films here. "Reckless" took $5,200, up by $200, at the Omaha, and "Star of Midnight," on a dual bill with "The Unwelcome Stranger," took the same amount at the Brandeis. The latter gross was better in comparison with average, however, as it was $1,700 over the line.

"Stolen Harmony" grabbed $8,500,

"Diggers" Is Big Noise in One L.A. Spot

LOS ANGELES, April 29. — "Gold Diggers of 1935" was a downtown sensation and a disappointment in Hollywood. At the Hillstreet it ran up to $12,700, over par by $4,700, but at Warners' Hollywood it was good for only $12,000, under the normal take for the house by $2,000.

The weather was good and so were grosses for the windup of Lent. "My Heart Is Calling" was away over average on a take of $4,000 at the Filmarte. "The Scarlet Pimpernel" was still strong in its fifth week at the 4-Star. "Stolen Harmony" topped the average mark with $19,000 at the Paramount. "Bride of Frankenstein" grabbed a fine $4,000 at Pantages, and the United Artists' dual, "Love in Bloom" and "It's a Small World," was good at $3,600.

Total first run business was $81,800. Average is $91,200.

Slump Cracks Most Grosses In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, April 29.—The worst Holy Week within memory was what showmen around town were saying last week. Even the Penn, with the only stage show in town, never got started and "Rumba," with the Rooneys and Timbergs in their own unit show, could attract only $15,000, or about $4,000 under average. Elsewhere, too, par wasn't remotely threatened, with grosses falling off from $1,000 up.

"Traveling Saleslady" at the Stanley was yanked late in the afternoon of its closing day to permit a special night premiere of "Go Into Your Dance" with Al Jolson in person and did only $5,200, while at the Alvin, "The President Vanishes" finally got a showing after being on the shelf for several months, but the house had nothing to write home about at $4,-200. The bottom fell out of "The Great Hotel Murder" at the Fulton on $2,800 and the Warner likewise took it on the chin at $3,750 for "The Case of the Curious Bride" and "I'll Love You Always."

Total first run grosses were $30,-950. Average is $42,500.

Estimated takings for the week ending April 18:

"Midnight" Leads Lincoln at $3,100

LINCOLN, April 29.—"Star of Midnight" was the pacer last week and ran up $3,100 at the Lincoln. That's about $900 above average.

"Mississippi" finished strongly with $3,600, $500 to the good.

The Orpheum, leading off with "All the King's Horses" and Gertrude Avery's revue three days and four of "While the Patient Slept" and "Night Life of the Gods" grossed $2,200, $100 below par. The Varsity, with "My Heart Is Calling" and "Take the Stand," got $1,000, $500 down. The house is shuttered now for repairs. The Colonial, with three changes, "Frontier Days," "Great Hotel Murder" and "Behind Green Lights," took $1,000 even, $150 up.

Total first run business was $12,900. Average is $9,950.

Estimated takings:

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Werewolf of London"

(Universal)

HOLLYWOOD, April 29.—A weird story produced and acted in a manner calculated to bring a maximum of thrills and chills, this picture maintains the horror pace set by Universal. Fast-moving with vivid action and dialogue plus nerve-tingling makeup changes building dramatic suspense, the show capitalizes the full entertainment value of its eerie premise.

With a locale in Tibet and London, the picture tells the stark, fantastic story of Henry Hull, a scientist-botanist, who falls the victim of a strange malady. Although possessing the roots of a rare plant, the juice of which is known as an antidote, the buds are stolen by a similarly afflicted Oriental scientist, Warner Oland. Hull, under the spell of full moonlight and knowing the vicious thing into which he will be transformed, turns into a werewolf and precipitates a series of murders that terrorize London. About to kill the one he loves best, Valerie Hobson, his wife, whom he suspects of being too friendly with Lester Matthews, Hull is slain by Scotland Yard officers after he has killed Oland.

Hull and Oland are outstanding in difficult roles. The meager romantic contrast is nicely carried by Miss Hobson and Matthews. The chief comedy relief is carried by haggish Ethel Griffies and Zeffie Tilbury. Minor roles are filled by Clark Williams, Charlotte Granville, Spring Byington, J. M. Kerrigan and Louis Vincent. The eerie writing quality of Robert Harris, who collaborated with Harvey Gates on the screen play, is expertly amplified by Stuart Walker's intelligent handling of the personnel and production backgrounds.

The show affords a wide field for sock exploitation.

Production Code Seal No. 714. Running time, 75 minutes. "A"

"Kentucky Blue Streak"

(C. C. Burr-Puritan)

HOLLYWOOD, April 29.—In "Kentucky Blue Streak," Junior Coghlan, as a high-minded jockey, takes a job on an outlaw track to lift the mortgage on the old homestead. Convicted of manslaughter on circumstantial evidence, he goes to prison for two years, leaving his sister, Patricia Scott, in the clutches of the conniving district attorney, played by Cornelius Keefe. Such mild melodrama is suitable only for dual bills in uncritical spots.

Eddie Nugent finds himself in a spot when Coghlan breaks jail to ride a big race and save the family fortunes, but he manages to thwart the villains, save the boy and win the sister's love. Margaret Mann plays the mother. Ray E. Johnson directed from the story by C. B. Carrington and screenplay by Homer King Gordon.

Just as well not to show this one in Kentucky because of strong western accents and obviously California backgrounds for Kentucky Derby race shots.

Reviewed without production code seal. Running time, 63 minutes. "G."

Looking 'Em Over

"Dinky"

(Warners)

That grand little trouper, Jackie Cooper, quite grown up now, gives another sterling performance here despite the hindrance of a poor story. Cooper fans may be slightly disappointed in the picture as a whole, but there is enough entertainment in it to satisfy.

The yarn has Jackie's widowed mother, Mary Astor, sent to prison on a charge of fraud despite her innocence. The youngster is happy in a military school and ignorant of his mother's plight. Her attorney, Roger Pryor, aids her in deceiving her child and a strong friendship grows up between the three. When Cooper's schoolmates discover his mother is in prison, he runs away from their taunts and moves to an orphanage next door to the academy. A reunion is staged when the real culprit is caught and exonerates Miss Astor and the ending finds Cooper back at the academy and promoted to the rank of sergeant.

date is said to be that the theatre company now in receivership will be out by June 15 ready to start a new slate. All theatre men will attend as in the past.

All branch managers, district heads, salesmen and theatre men abroad will attend the three-day international convention which starts in Paris on May 9. Representatives from Europe, British Isles and Northern Africa will be on hand. Fred W. Lange will open the session and John W. Hicks, Jr., will preside.

Popeye Carnival Clubs are being organized in every key city starting June 1. "The Virginian" will be revived sometime in June.

Product announcement will call for 65 features and 100 single reel shorts plus 104 issues of the newsreel.

new Republic organization, particularly for Kansas City, Los Angeles and Minneapolis.

It is expected contracts will be signed in a day or so with Robert Withers, Midwest Film Distributors, Kansas City; Gilbert Nathonson, Monogram Pictures of Minneapolis, Inc., and Howard Stebbins, Monogram Pictures, Inc., Los Angeles.

Under their new contracts, they will incorporate the name Republic in their company titles and will handle Republic product exclusively.

Before leaving for the west, Johnston closed with Nat Steinberg and Bernard Rosenthal, Monogram franchise holders in St. Louis, to handle Republic pictures there. Their company will be known as Republic Pictures of St. Louis, with Steinberg president and Rosenthal secretary-treasurer.

Johnston expects to remain here for at least six days and plans several production conferences in the meantime with Trem Carr. I. E. Chadwick will produce "My Old Kentucky Home" for Republic, incorporating the music of Stephen Foster.

Ruling on Leonia's Clearance Up Again

Authority overlooked the rental angle, local branch heads declare. Adam Adams of the Park Lane, Palisades, has contracts with distributors for 14 days after Englewood with protection over the Leonia. According to the Campi order, Adams must follow Leonia seven days.

It is held that the only solution to the problem is for Campi to declare Leonia and Palisades opposition and have each exhibitor bid for the product.

Plan Pathe Reunion

BOSTON, April 29.—A Pathe reunion is scheduled for May 1 at the Club Devkelder here. It will include all former employes of Pathe here, including Bill Cuddy and others. Harry Smith, RKO booker, has charge of plans. His assistant is Charlie Lynch of the RKO shipping department. Dinner and dancing are on the program.

"Frankenstein" Ads Fail to Halt Kids

KANSAS CITY, April 29.—The perversity of human nature is demonstrated here this week at the Tower where "The Bride of Frankenstein" is drawing an unusually heavy child attendance. The picture is proving to be a family attraction, and Barney Joffee, manager, is at loss to explain, inasmuch as his ads stressed it is "not for the young, the scary or the nervous."

Reviewers on local papers also pointed out the picture is not suitable for children, but over the week-end many parents brought their families.

Joffee decided he would not refuse admission to children since, he said, measures taken with the previous "Frankenstein" picture and other horror films, such as age limitations and the sale of only adult admissions, have proved to be subterfuges and parents cannot be prevented from bringing their children.

Maloy Foes Restored To Jobs in Chicago

CHICAGO, April 29.—Four of the six so-called rebel operators under the regime of the late Tom Maloy have been restored to jobs and are working for the first time since ousted in December, 1932. They are Ed Hulette, Louis Neukom, Frank Morris and George Laris. With Joe Fritz and Phil Kore, they were parties to a suit seeking an accounting of union funds.

It is understood that, in going back to work, they will withdraw from the suit, since similar action is being sought in court by Harland Holmden, who is operating the union for the I. A. T. S. E. Benjamin Schultz, who has been acting as counsel for the operators, states that the suit in behalf of the remaining two operators has not been dropped.

London Films Lines Up 12 for New List

LONDON, April 29.—London Films is lining up 12 features for its next season's program. With "Congo Raid" complete and the finishing touches being put on "100 Years from Now," Alexander Korda has already started work on five scripts of next year's list.

The scripts upon which work has been started are: "Mary Read," James Bridie's play; "Nijinsky," "Joseph and His Brothers," "Claudius, the God" and "Lawrence of Arabia."

Others on the list include: "Sir Tristram Goes West," "Young Mr. Disraeli," "The Man Who Could Work Miracles," "Elizabeth of England," "Elephant Boy," "Franz Lizst" and "The Broken Road."

Minnesota Governor Vetoes Tax Measures

MINNEAPOLIS, April 29.—Gov. Floyd B. Olson's veto of the Minnesota Omnibus tax drew cheers from the ranks of the industry as represented here. It carried an amusement tax proposal unanimously opposed by exhibitors and distributors.

The close of the legislative session without a tax bill acceptable to the Governor, however, may make necessary a special session and there is a possibility a fight will have to be made all over again to kill the measure. There was also other cause for rejoicing in amusement circles because the daylight saving bill, also regarded with alarm, failed to get through in the final crush of legislation. The bill banning compulsory playdates suffered the same fate, apparently due to the attorney general's ruling on a similar bill in Ohio.

Study New California Tax

SACRAMENTO, April 29.—The joint steering committee of both houses of the State Legislature which is considering the problem of raising $250,000,000 in new taxes today was studying a proposal of Senator Duval, its chairman, to slice the income levy recently passed by the Assembly in half and add numerous nuisance taxes, including a charge of 30 cents ad valorem on $100 valuation.

The new plan, minus the admission levy, is nearly as unacceptable to studios as the other. With administration approval given to the one per cent levy on gross transactions, which is favored by the studios, the steering committee, controlled by Governor Merriam, is expected to reverse itself in order to hold the industry.

Mo. Bomb Law Stirs Campaign

KANSAS CITY, April 29.—Coincident with the affixing of Governor Park's signature to a bill passed by the Missouri legislature making it a felony to possess a bomb with intent to destroy property or injure a person, the Citizens Protective Council here is waging a campaign against labor racketeering.

The new law makes illegal possession of a bomb punishable by imprisonment. The state has a law providing penalties up to death for bombing, but heretofore had none dealing with possession of bombs.

The local council has offered a cash reward for the arrest and conviction of perpetrators of bombing outrages.

Members of the I. T. O. and other exhibitors have indicated they will support the council's efforts. Three exhibitor leaders, L. J. McCarthy, Fox Midwest district manager, George S. Baker, manager of the Publix Newman, and Ed Dubinsky, head of Dubinsky Bros. circuit, are listed on the council's directorate.

Michigan Smoking Move On

DETROIT, April 29.—A bill to permit smoking in theatres has been introduced in the Legislature by Representative Louis J. Schneider of Detroit. Smoking in projection booths and other enclosed places in a theatre would be prohibited. Smoking by patrons would be subject to regulation by fire marshals.

The Detroit City Council recently passed an ordinance prohibiting smoking in local theatres. Gabe S. Goldwater, fire marshal, is against the practice.

Attorneys here say, however, he would be forced to issue permits in certain cases should the State bill be passed.

emotional scenes well, but their treatment of the rest of the scenes is only fair. Camera work of Arthur Edeson is good.

Henry O'Neil, George Ernest, Sidney Miller and Henry Armetta are very good in supporting roles. Betty Jean Haney also handles a small part well.

Exhibitors would do well to concentrate on Cooper's name value. Production Code Seal, No. 757. Running time, 65 minutes. "G."

"So, You Won't Talk"

(Warner-British)

LONDON, April 20.—The Warner-First National studio at Teddington has a nice comedy in this Monty Banks vehicle, directed by William Beaudine from a Tom Geraghty original. There is good story value, of a type which enables Banks, playing a silent part, to show the physical resource and facial expressiveness of his pre-talkie efforts. Individual incident has plenty of boisterous humor, and the support is good.

Rich man Fielding, driven to distraction in his last moments by the chatter of legacy-seeking relatives, makes a will leaving his fortune to his grandson, Tony, one of the proprietors of a Soho cafe, on condition that, for 30 days, he lives in the house with the other relatives without either speaking or writing. If he fails, they get the money.

Two elderly nieces and one vampish grand niece try their hardest to trick, force and coax Tony into speech. They are assisted by a shady racing friend of Tony's, who stages a wholesale murder scene as a last effort to break the silence and succeeds only for it to be revealed that the conspirators have forgotten summertime and that Tony has already won.

Banks' pantomimic achievements are 90 per cent of the film, but Vera Pearce and Bertha Belmore, as the elderly gold diggers, Enid Stamp-Taylor, Muriel Angelus, Ralph Ince and Claude Dampier, the latter excellent as the simpleton watchdog on Tony, all help to make it a live piece of work. If it comes to America, it should be found a satisfactory release.

Running time, 85 minutes. "G." ALLAN

Toeplitz Plans Five

LONDON, April 29.—Toeplitz Prod. plans to make five features in the next two years. Already set are "Crime Don't Pay," a London gangster story by Bechoffer Roberts, author of "The Old Gentleman"; "Byron in Italy,'; an original by Leon Koghnitsky; "Legend of King Arthur," by Karl Zuckmayer, author of "The Blue Angel," and "The Golden Age," by A. P. Antoine. A fifth picture awaits confirmation of the author's contract.

Paul Graetz's impending visit to New York ties in with distribution deals for this series.

Films Held Aid to Army

HOLLYWOOD, April 29.—Major Gen. James B. Allison, chief signal officer of the U. S. Army, stressed the value of films in training officers in a talk at an Academy luncheon today. He intimated a closer unity between the army and the industry as a future objective. Major Nathan Levinson, Warners' technical head, in introducing Allison suggested young officers get their initial experience in the technical departments of the studios.

Britain's New Tax Is Light on Theatricals

where all the performers whose words and actions constitute the entertainment are actually present and performing, and the entertainment consists solely of one or more of the following items, namely, a stage play within the meaning of the Theatres Act, 1843, a ballet, a performance of music (whether vocal or instrumental), a lecture, a recitation, a music hall or other variety entertainment, a circus or a travelling show."

The scale for theatres with living performers is as follows: From 13 cents to and including 17 cents, one-cent tax; 18-22 cents, two-cent tax; 23-27 cents, three-cent tax; 28-32 cents, four-cent tax; 33-37 cents, five-cent tax; 38-42 cents, six-cent tax. The tax goes up two cents for each 10-cent increase in admission scale above 42 cents.

Film theatre taxes begin at three cents and are higher in every bracket. They follow: From 13 cents to 15 cents, three-cent tax; 16-20 cents, four-cent tax; 21-25 cents, five-cent tax; 26-30 cents, six-cent tax. From 30 cents the tax rises two cents for every 10-cent increase or fraction thereof in admission scales.

Less Favorable to Films

It will be noticed that the flesh and blood theatre is given an advantage right through the scale; it pays on a 32-cent seat four cents, while the cinema pays six cents on a 30-cent seat. It also gains from the fact that the grading is more favorable for the theatre; its lowest range is 12 to 17 cents against the cinema's 12 to 15 cents, and its higher scale is based on a figure of 42 cents against the cinema's 30 cents.

In practice, a 9d (18 cents) seat in a theatre will pay ¾d (one cent) tax while a cinema seat of the same value will pay three cents. A shilling (24 cents) seat in a theatre will include 1d (two cents) and tax and in a cinema 2d (four cents).

Trade opinion, delighted with the relief given to the cheaper seats, has not so far found any official expression with regard to the new principle of differentiation, but in some quarters fear is expressed that it reflects an official tendency to regard the entertainment tax as a permanent source of revenue.

It is pointed out that, under the new system, it will probably be easy to calculate the respective contributions to revenue of "living" theatres and other forms of entertainment and that the former have been given a position of advantage which may make them disinclined to support any campaign for the complete abolition of the tax. In fact, it is thought, theatrical interests may press future chancellors for further concessions for the "living" theatre at the expense of the more prosperous film houses.

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

THE Associated Press, by Berlin cable:

The pocketbooks of European movie stars will be opened and investigated during the forthcoming congress of the industry, it was learned today, to see if salaries can be limited and made uniform.

The possibility of equalizing wages in all European nations, so that a star in one country would make approximately the same as a star in a neighboring nation, will be discussed.

And, having discussed it, the results will hover around zero. An idea such as this found its way into those strenuous days that marked code formulation in Washington. Limitation of star salaries was discussed by direct suggestion of the White House and something done about it in the mass of preface that preceded the code itself. Months elapsed and nothing happened until the day came when the NRA publicly went down to defeat with the statement the restricting clause, never removed from paper, had been indefinitely suspended. . . .

The European nations now attending the international film congress in Hitler's No. 1 city, may be successful in evolving a theory for star salary limitations: as government on the Continent goes these days, dictatorship and Fascism has touched a new high. The effect, however, of placing a fixed maximum on individual enterprise would hamper far more than it would aid home producing industry which seems to be the thought behind the scheme. The film business in its essentials is the same over the the world and what prevails here has application elsewhere as well. . . .

The stars who are stars, it can be demonstrated, earn what they are paid. The overpaid are to be found in that long array of players who have been built up to exorbitant salary levels by pyramided and inordinate bidding of producers, egged into deals out of proportion to merit by the slickness of agents. Today there are in Hollywood dozens of players getting ridiculous salaries who are merely satisfactory window dressing in casts to which they add no particular distinction. To drop them would be to find no hue and cry from the paying public, for they would not be missed. To stifle stars who attract, which would be tantamount to launching an attempt that could not succeed, would be to find them moving to new trademarks at more money. . . .

MAX REINHARDT, whose opinion on matters such as this commands respect based on performance, today has something to say about the argument having to do with the filming of classics as written or not at all. Confining his answer to "Midsummer Night's Dream," he says this:

What is drama on the stage is drama on the screen, and no excuse can be found for adding a word to the perfect speeches of Shakespeare. In the production of 'Midsummer Night's Dream' I soon realized that the camera injects movement and action in many scenes where the same tempo on the stage would necessitate dialogue. This has made possible the curtailment of speeches—a word or a sentence here or there—even an entire speech.

Except for this, the film is as Shakespeare wrote it. Plus, of course, the gorgeous fantasy and spectacle that is made possible by the boundless scope of the camera.

The proof is to come, of course. It is in the film. . . .

It took courage to attempt a picture like "The Scoundrel," what with the average filmgoing mentality leveled off at about fourteen years of age or somewhat higher, if you want to be generous about it. Like a brittle drawingroom play, its mood and its talk are sophisticated to a degree infrequently aimed for in films. That's where its troubles begin and probably will rest where the box-office is concerned. As a picture, however, it is alternately amusing and dramatic and constantly interesting with its highlight the first appearance in films of Noel Coward. He does amazingly well in what is a new field for him. Produced, as well as written and directed by Ben Hecht and Charles MacArthur, the two harum-scarums of Astoria, "The Scoundrel" emphasizes the earlier impression which banged around in this column that the combination has something to give to the producing industry under guidance familiar with the public's demands. There was Hecht's "Thunderbolt," for instance. And his, as well as MacArthur's "The Front Page.". . .

Those reports that a certain major circuit was about to inject new life into vaudeville by a plan calling for standard shows made up of ten acts and handled on percentage—for the acts—can be routed out of your deliberations right now. It's being disposed of with this: "You can't revive something the public doesn't want.". . .

Asked what he thought about the trend toward classics, Mox Shabbus, exhibitor on the rim of Hollywood, deposed and said: "When I see 'David Copperfield' and 'Lives of a Bengal Lancer' on a single bill, that's a classic."

Circus Charity Work Described at Forum

How the Circus Saints and Sinners started and what its objectives are were told to members of the Motion Picture Club at the weekly forum yesterday.

Fred D. Benham, former newspaper writer, described the start of the organization for the purpose of furnishing homes for old and indigent circus men and women, and said it now has 450 members. Tony Sarg told of the meetings of the Dexter Fellowes Tent at the Hotel Gotham and said that Ringling had just given 40 acres of land near Sarasota where individual homes will be started soon.

Dorothy Herbert, rider with Barnum & Bailey and Ringling; Jennie Rooney, aerialist; Eli Sugarman, editor of Billboard, and Louis Nizer also spoke. Jack Alicoate was toastmaster.

Canadian Authors' Funds Gain Rapidly

TORONTO, April 30.—Treasury funds of the Canadian Performing Rights Society are now $113,000, whereas they were $17,000 in 1931, it has been developed in the investigation of the society now being conducted by Judge Parker for C. H. Cahan, Federal Secretary of State.

Rates are fixed at what the society decides they ought to be without regard to business conditions it has been testified by Henry T. Jamieson, president. He admitted very frankly that he was not interested in the ability of licensees to pay. Fees for the year will amount to $39,000, he testified. He also said half the stock was owned in the United States and the other half in the United Kingdom.

Goldberg Takes Over Merged Cincy Office

LOUISVILLE, April 30.—Lee L. Goldberg, secretary of Big Feature Rights Corp., has taken charge of the merged First Division and Majestic exchanges in Cincinnati. Interested with him in the venture are Col. Fred Levy, president of Big Feature Rights, and Maurice Chase.

A. H. Kaufman, Indianapolis, has been appointed sales manager of the local office. Joseph Goldberg and Israel Landau continue as office manager and shorts manager, respectively. The local exchange, which served Kentucky and Tennessee, has been in existence 20 years.

DuPont Denies Early Sales of a New Film

DuPont Film Mfg. Corp. yesterday denied it was readying for the market a new inflammable cellophane film that would reduce negative costs approximately 70 per cent. A spokesman for the company said:

"We have no intention at the present time of mentioning the new film and although such a film has possibilities it is far from a reality."

A BIG HAND

from the critics for "Vagabond Lady"

"Vagabond Lady" loaded with bubbling comedy situations and sprightly dialogue. Sam Taylor gives it well-paced direction, and the entire cast performs nobly. Robert Young in fine form as the playboy. A good number for the whole family, in any house.

—Hollywood Reporter

"Vagabond Lady" provides laughter for popular entertainment. Will take care of itself nicely anywhere. Director Sam Taylor keeps the comic antics stepping at fast pace, hammers the laughs out rapidly. Robert Young and Evelyn Venable make a fine romantic pair in the gay, farcical mood of the tale.

—Daily Variety

A swell comedy-drama that moves along at high speed loaded with laughs, action, and human interest situations. Should register big with every member of the family. Robert Young is tops as the breezy son. Sam Taylor's direction never allows for a dull moment.

—Film Daily

A brisk comedy romance, keynoted by sparkling fun. Speed in witty situations and action together with surprise situations, give it a character appealing to audiences.

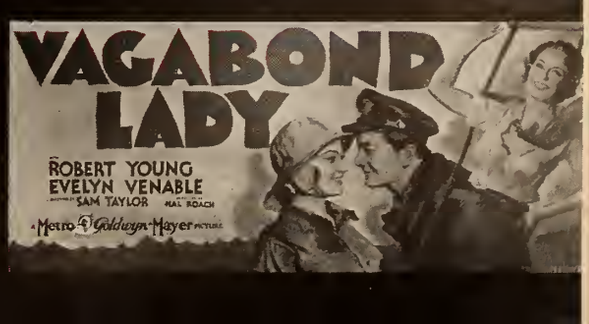
—Motion Picture Daily

Give your fans a solid 73 minutes of fun. Smartly paced, with laughs in every foot, the Hal Roach production of "Vagabond Lady" is likable entertainment. Sparkling, clean, different. A truly worthwhile picture.

—Billboard

Smart dialogue, apt direction, plenty laughs. "Vagabond Lady," intriguing title, for the family trade should more than please. Hilarious scenes, plenty smart lines.

—Jay-Emmanuel Publications



Sweet little picture will turn out to be a real box office honey. This picture never loses its tempo. It moves from start to finish like a favorite coming down the home stretch. The romance and comedy is welded together into perfect entertainment.

PERSONAL!

M-G-M TO HAL ROACH!

Hooray Hal, this is positively the best feature - length comedy you've ever made. Cheers for Robert Young, Evelyn Venable, director Sam Taylor and your whole studio!

Final Fox Met Bids Must Be Entered Today

day or two and submitted to the committee, it was stated. Cash bids, if any, will be received today and after the committee has considered all proposals it will make its report to the court and hearings will then be resumed to consider the committee's findings.

Indications now are that neither the Schenck nor the Fabian plan will receive the committee's approval without numerous vital changes being made in both. It has also been made apparent by both the court and the committee's representatives throughout the hearings that a cash bid for the circuit without too many strings attached to it would receive preferential consideration over either the Schenck or Fabian bids.

In the absence of cash bidders, one of the changes which might have to be made in Fabian's plan before it would receive the court's approval would be the inclusion of a provision for a fixed sinking fund which would permit the complete amortization of the new $10,000,000 bond issue proposed in the Fabian plan within a 10-year period, together with a specific limitation on the declaring of dividends prior to the completion of amortization.

"Such a provision," Judge Mack remarked yesterday, "has been especially in the court's mind since the start of these proceedings. It would eliminate the possibilities of milking the new company at the expense of the bondholders."

Fabian Is Cross-Examined

Fabian was subjected to cross-examination throughout most of yesterday's session, with much of the questioning being framed to shake his earlier testimony that the Fox Film franchise of Fox Met, which his plan would dispense with, is not essential to the successful operation of the circuit. Fabian fell back continually on his earlier testimony that he relied on statements made to him by George Schaefer, Paramount general manager, and Herman Starr, Warner vice-president, that the product of those companies would be available for the Fox Met first runs if his bid for the circuit was accepted. Fabian admitted, however, that if for any reason Schaefer and Starr were unable to make good on their oral commitments he didn't know what he would do for product. He added that Fox Met had no assurance of receiving United Artists and 20th Century product under the Schenck plan because, he said, Loew's already has the first run franchise and that, moreover, United Artists' sales deals, even when recommended by Schenck, were subject to the possible veto of the company's individual producers. He also stated that Fox Met had always bought United Artists' second run and saw no reason why it couldn't continue to do so under his plan.

Morton Bogue, of counsel for the Fox Met bondholders' committee, drew from Fabian the statement that Paramount's interest in a bid for Fox Met was confined to Atlas Corp. and H. A. Fortington and did not extend to the entire Paramount board nor to the entire creditor group known in Paramount reorganization circles as the Fortington group, which includes Erpi, Lehman Bros. and Allied Owners, in addition to Atlas and Fortington. The testimony corroborated information published in MOTION PICTURE DAILY of April 27.

Questioned further yesterday on his alleged delivery to Warners of confidential information relative to the Fox Met operations during Fabian's regime as advisor to the receiver for the circuit, during periods in which Warners were interested in bidding for Fox Met, Fabian insisted that all of the information he had divulged had been approved by either the receiver or counsel for the receiver. However, he admitted retaining in his own possession after leaving the employ of the receiver operating reports of a confidential nature which the receiver's counsel said yesterday he regarded as the property of the receiver.

President Favors Quick NRA Action

Roosevelt was unwilling to accept any compromise but stood firm for immediate enactment of legislation revising the law and extending it for two years.

Opposition of Donald R. Richberg, chairman of the National Industrial Recovery Board, and Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins was said to have influenced the President against adoption of the plan, suggested as a means of postponing a bitter fight on continuance of the NRA and of expediting the consideration of other pending legislation. Following the conference it was indicated that the fight to provide for temporary extension of the present law until next March would not be abandoned. The Senate Finance Committee tomorrow will meet to determine what course it shall pursue with respect to the legislation.

Says Disaster Threatens K.C. On Bank Night

distributors will be forced to decrease the number of pictures that are now being released and will likewise be compelled to produce cheaper product which will be of little or no value to any theatre.

"At the present time," Mrs. Baier's brief continues, "practically all suburban theatres in Kansas City are giving away dishes, silverware, running children's bargain shows, using 'trading stamps,' etc. If bank night at the Prospect and Belmont theatres is allowed to continue, it is reasonable to assume that at least 75 per cent of the theatres in Kansas City will adopt the scheme. This will lead to a most disastrous condition not only for my theatre and a few others which do not wish to cheapen their operations by running lotteries, but will grow until all first run theatres will be compelled to resort to similar tactics to protect their huge investments. For the past year or more, Kansas City has led the way for the nation in the number of theatres using premiums, etc. This is bound to increase beyond all reasonable limits if the Code Authority does not take advantage of the power invested in it in order to stop such unbusiness-like practices as bank night."

Holds Decision Unfair

The woman exhibitor charges in her appeal that Rube Finkelstein of the Belmont and F. L. Scovill of the Prospect "have put on bank night at their respective theatres in absolute defiance of the Kansas City grievance board and the Code Authority appeals committee, as per all prior decisions rendered against theatres in Kansas City." She feels, she says, that the local board did not hand down a fair decision in the present cases, inasmuch as it ruled the distance between complainant and respondent theatres precluded the element of competition "without considering the fact that all theatres in Kansas City are competitive due to the existing clearance schedule now in effect which is based on admission price only."

Mrs. Baier sent Campi a copy of an opinion by the state's attorney general of Missouri to State Senator J. C. McDowell in which bank night, cash night and other gift enterprises were declared to be prohibited by the Missouri constitution.

She asks that Campi reverse the local board's decision "for the salvation of producers, distributors and exhibitors," and use whatever means it possesses to stamp out bank night and similar schemes. Unless the decision is reversed, Mrs. Baier declares her investment and the investment of other exhibitors will be "a total loss."

Delay Lease Complaint

Complaint of United Artists and Columbia against Jack W. Springer, Sam Cocalis, H. R. Amusement Co., Herman Reisner, Trio Manhattan Theatre Corp. and Moe I. Hanellin for alleged fraudulent transfer of a lease on the Manhattan theatre was postponed yesterday by the local grievance board on request of Benjamin Rich. Louis Nizer, attorney for the exchanges, consented to the adjournment until next Tuesday.

Harry C. Arthur, operator of the Balboa, Los Angeles, and executives of Fox West Coast will be on hand today for the rehearing by Campi on the Balboa zoning issue in the coast schedule.

Newark Pool 18 Months

NEWARK, April 30.—Lou Levin's deal with Warners for pooling of his Elwood, Newark, with the major circuit's Capitol, Belleville, and the local Regent is for a period of 18 months. The arrangement became effective April 7.

The pooling deal climaxed a drawn out clearance and zoning fight between Levin and Warners with the independent represented in the legal tiff by David T. Wilentz, attorney general for New Jersey.

Writers' Guild Makes New Academy Attack

Academy are committing an act of disloyalty to their own organization.

Members are asked not to be fooled by an Academy telegram which promised concessions through the Academy arbitration setup. This was described as a move to prevent recognition of the guild and as an effort to intimidate writers into accepting the Academy's arbitration system by belittling the guild method.

The guild's directors last night named a conciliation committee and an advisory council. On the former are Seton Miller, chairman; Stephen Morehouse Avery, Claude Binyon, Delmar Daves, Albert Hackett, Philip Klein, Gladys Lehman, Mary McCall, William Slavens McNutt, E. E. Paramore, Raymond Schrock, Tristram Tupper. The council is composed of Ralph Block, Marc Connolly, Gene Fowler, Rupert Hughes, George Kaufman, Charles Kenyon, Anita Loos, McNutt, John Lee Mahin, Frances Marion, Dudley Nichols, Samson Raphaelson, Arthur Richmond, Donald Ogden Stewart, Jo Swerling, L. that country, on which public hearings will be held by the Committee for Reciprocity Information June 24.

Figures on exports of film to France, prepared by the Department of Commerce, show that there has been but a slight decline in footage since 1929 and that the value, due to devaluation of the dollar, has actually shown an increase. Motion picture exports for last year, it was stated, totalled 27,072,527 linear feet valued at $568,551 against 27,413,567 feet valued at $488,222 in 1929.

France is the eighth European country with which steps have been taken to negotiate trade agreements and the 18th country to participate in such conversations. Four agreements have been completed and signed, with Cuba, Brazil, Haiti and Belgium, but only the first-named has actually been put into effect.

M-G-M Will Finance Shows Extensively will be Max Gordon, Sam Harris and Billy Rose.

A subsidiary company to handle the legitimate production venture will probably be formed within the next few weeks. Gordon, who arrives from the coast Friday, will discuss the new M-G-M arrangement with J. Robert Rubin on his arrival. There are no set number of plays listed for backing.

Rose, who plans to open with "Jumbo" at the Winter Garden shortly, yesterday conferred with Rubin on the play. Ben Hecht, Charles McArthur, the authors, and Larry Hart, who wrote the music with Dick Rodgers, also were present.

M-G-M's plan to finance Broadway productions follows success of Warners, which now has "Three Men on a Horse" and "Ceiling Zero" current.

Sam Marx, story head at the studio, arrived Monday to look over the play mart and confer with Bertram Block and Rubin. He's also looking over a number of stories for next season's lineup. Marx will be here about two weeks before going west.

Pittsburgh's Price War Ends With Deal

The agreement was reached after conferences extending over a period of weeks.

When they are showing pictures only, the Loew, Harris and Warner organizations have agreed to charge 40 cents, except on Saturdays and holidays, when the price goes up an additional 10 cents.

The battle started in January when the Alvin, playing films and presentations at 40-cent top, refused to tilt its price, forcing the Penn first and then the Stanley into a similar scale. Under the new agreement, however, the Alvin will be forced into the same admission bracket as the larger Penn and Stanley.

A DEDICATION

Today at the Strand Theatre, New York will get its first glimpse at the motion picture, "G-Men."

Warner Bros. take this occasion to dedicate this picture officially to the men whose daring and devotion halted America's March of Crime...to acknowledge publicly their debt of gratitude to the fearless Federal Agents whose heroic exploits and inspiration made this picture possible.

Miss Louella Parsons has called "G-Men" "a grand tribute to the Department of Justice." We hope it is that – and something more.

For Warner Bros. have consistently demonstrated their belief that the screen is not merely a medium of entertainment. It is an institution significant socially and responsible morally. Its obligation is to inform, to interpret, to lead, and – most important of all – to establish an enduring record of our forward marching civilization.

We believe that "G-Men" fulfills, as few pictures have before, that end and those purposes. Its importance as an exciting new entertainment is dwarfed by its significance in the scheme of humanity's affairs – right here in America – at this very hour.

Other pictures have glorified fabled figures of the past. But Warner Bros. have chosen to celebrate the heroes of the present – to create a graphic and enduring record of that stirring chapter in American history written by Uncle Sam's stalwart Legion of the Law – the

Mexico Houses Dark For Labor Holiday

By JAMES LOCKHART

MEXICO CITY, May 1.—Mexico theatres were closed today while workers celebrated the Mexican Labor Day, but exhibitors were less disturbed than last year because of their recent troubles with paper money.

Because of the demonetization of silver, theatres have been forced to turn away customers lately. There is a shortage of one-peso notes, the smallest denomination in circulation at present being five pesos. It is expected the situation will be relieved by May 15.

Court Refuses to Permit More Delay on Met Plans

Refusing to permit further delay for the presentation of new plans of reorganization for Fox Metropolitan Playhouses, Federal Judge Julian W. Mack yesterday advised Paramount interests considering the making of a $4,000,000 cash bid and two new proponents of reorganization plans to submit their proposals at once and turned over to the Fox Met bondholders' committee for their consideration the plans offered by Joseph M. Schenck and Si Fabian.

The Atlas Corp. and H. A. Fortington, representing financial interests on the new Paramount board, asked for a delay until May 15, when the new Paramount board will be formally elected, to submit their proposal for the making of the $4,000,000 cash bid by Paramount. Refusing to consent to the delay, the court advised that the bid be prepared at once and submitted to the Fox Met bondholders' committee subject to approval by the new Paramount board.

In Trade Papers

George Schaefer, Paramount general manager, was questioned at the Fox Met reorganization hearings yesterday on the source of his knowledge of important developments in connection with the submission of plans of reorganization for the circuit.

"In this business," Schaefer said, "much of our information comes from the trade papers."

Illinois Sale Tax Receiving Heavy Support

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 1.—The full force of the state administration has been put behind the three per cent sales tax bill pending in the House. It passed the Senate April 24 by a vote of 30-14, but since that time it has been broadened to include theatre admissions.

Another bill to impose a 10 per cent tax on admissions to raise funds for blind pensions has also been introduced.

The sales tax is a result of the demand of the Federal government that

Price Raises Agreed on in Coast Zoning

Moves to peg first runs in Balboa, Florence Ave., Inglewood and Huntington Park zones at 40 cents and at the same time have theatres in Florence zoned off Los Angeles instead of Huntington Park were discussed yesterday by Campi at a special meeting. The press was barred, but Harry Arthur, Irving Lesser, Al Hanson and Edward Alperson were admitted to give further testimony.

Although Arthur consented to increase the Balboa admission to 40 cents, Campi adjourned until this

Dicker on for Republic and Mascot Merger

Johnston, Yates, Levine In Huddle on Coast

HOLLYWOOD, May 1.—W. Ray Johnston, president of Republic Pictures, and Herbert J. Yates, president of Consolidated Film Industries, Inc., and Republic's financial backer, are huddling with Nat Levine, head of Mascot, on a deal which may result in acquisition of Levine's company by the new Johnston organization.

Reports also persist that, as part of the plan to make Republic the outstanding factor in the independent field, Liberty and Majestic will be absorbed as well. All of the units are financed by Consolidated.

Behind the Mascot angle is the understanding that seven of the Monogram exchanges now handling Levine's output have gone into the Republic setup, which provides its exchanges may distribute no other film. Whether Levine, therefore, will go completely Republic or make deals with other exchanges in those territories is the so far undetermined point.

Fox Film 13-Week Net Is $616,806

Fox yesterday issued its report f.. 13 weeks to March 30 showing a consolidated net operating profit, after all charges, including $100,000 for Federal income taxes, of $616,806. This compares with a loss of $233,143 for the 13 weeks to Dec. 29, 1934, and a profit of $805,376 for the first quarter of 1934.

On the basis of the 2,436,409 shares of Class "A" and "B" stock outstanding, the consolidated net profit for the first three months of 1935,

"U" Sets Soldier Deal

Universal yesterday was awarded a contract to supply features and shorts to 75 soldiers' homes and hospitals by the U. S. Veterans' Administration in Washington. The contract, which was closed by Herman Stern of Universal's non-theatrical department, goes into effect July 1 and is for one year. This is the fifth consecutive year this contract has been awarded to Universal.

Dembow Finds South Having Big Pickup

Optimistic over general business conditions and noting a decided improvement in the South, George Dembow, assistant to Herman Robbins, president of National Screen, states there are more houses operating now than at any time since the advent of sound.

Within the past two years approximately 2,000 theatres have reopened, he asserts. Dembow was away for six weeks and visited Atlanta, New Orleans, Dallas, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Denver, Salt Lake City, Chicago and then New York. It's an annual custom.

"Atlanta, New Orleans and Dallas have shown signs of outstanding improvement in the last year," he says. "The percentage for these southern cities is far greater than any other part of the country. Los Angeles is fair. Portland and Seattle are a little backward. San Francisco is sluggish, the same as in the East. Salt Lake City and Denver are a little better."

Practically every section of the country is witnessing some theatre building, Dembow holds. Exhibitors are more cheerful today than they have been in a long while. They feel that the product this season has been considerably improved, he contends. Theatre owners today are not expecting to get rich, but are satisfied to stay in business and make a living.

Warner Appeal Move Loses in St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, May 1.—The U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals has ruled that permission must be obtained from that tribunal before an appeal can be carried there in reorganization cases under the amended bankruptcy act. One of the cases affected is that of the St. Louis Properties Corp., Skouras theatrical holding company.

In the St. Louis Properties case Federal District Judge Charles B. Davis on July 11, 1934, held that a reorganization proposed in the involuntary debtors' suits was unnecessary, as reorganization by the bondholders and the sale of the properties, the Ambassador and Missouri theatres buildings and site and the New Grand Central Theatre and ground lease, had already been approved by the court.

The petitioners, Vitagraph, Inc., Warner Bros.' Artists' Bureau, Inc., Safety Payroll and Banking Service Co. and Francis M. Allen of Chicago, a bondholder, had sought to stop the foreclosure until their own plan of reorganization could be submitted.

Price Raises Agreed on in Coast Zoning

morning when he will be called in again to confirm the agreement. Fox West Coast has agreed to peg its Huntington Park house at 40 cents, but Campi now wants to get Warners' reaction to the plan. Warners have a house in the zone, but Harold S. Bareford, alternate for Harry M. Warner, was absent from the meeting yesterday. It is hoped he will agree.

Before definitely adopting the 40-cent proposal, Campi today will attempt to learn if any independent houses in the Huntington Park and Florence Ave. zones will be affected. If it is found there are objections, the scheme may fall through.

Arthur yesterday told Campi he was more concerned with admission prices than availability. He said he didn't mind if Inglewood plays seven days after downtown Los Angeles, but wanted top admission pegged at 40 cents. Inglewood now charges 35 cents.

Aim Is to Keep Scales Up

Campi's move to peg at 40 cents is designed to keep up admissions. Under the schedule, Arthur's Balboa at 35 cents can play 21 days after downtown Los Angeles. The Fox Florence must charge 40 cents to play seven days after Huntington Park, which follows seven days after Los Angeles, and, allowing for three to four days playing time in Huntington Park, the Fox Florence must wait about 17 to 18 days after Los Angeles.

Under the plan suggested yesterday, the Florence at 40 cents will come under the Los Angeles city zoning price schedule and play three weeks after closing of first run dates. If the top price is 35 cents, the house will have to wait 28 days.

While Balboa and Florence will adopt the same price schedule each will retain its identity.

Robert E. McLaughlin and Joseph L. Klein, representatives of the Federal Trade Commission in Washington, sat in at the hearing. After an hour, Klein had to leave to attend another meeting, but McLaughlin sat through the entire session. Both men stated their presence was in "an unofficial capacity." Farnsworth said they were on hand because of the Fox West Coast consent decree.

Nathan Yamins was chairman. After the coast schedule has been disposed of this morning, Campi will go into a huddle on approximately 50 appeals.

Paper Defends Bank Night

SARASOTA, Fla., May 1. — Bank night is defended in an editorial in the Sarasota Herald. Besides stimulating business, it "certainly does no one any harm," says the publication, which adds:

"A patron of the theatre on bank nights sees the regular picture with no increased admission charge, and in addition has the opportunity to win the bank night award. It just happens to be one of the affairs that is operated above the surface, gives value for the money expended in the purchase of a ticket and for that reason is easy to shoot at. It is unlike other lotteries where only the chance to win is the lure held out to the patron.

"A gnat's heel analysis of the Florida law might result in the plan getting legal disapproval, but it is so inoffensive, so fair and above the board that no one should even suggest that sort of a decision by the courts. If we do nothing more offensive to law and society than to patronize the movies on bank nights, there is no reason why we should lose the title of law-abiding people."

Court Refuses to Permit More Delay on Met Plans

zation were also denied to John Kadel, attorney for B. S. Moss, reported to be backed by Sam Rosoff, subway contractor, and Frank Rubel, ice manufacturer, and another by Nicholas Atlas, attorney, representing a Fox Theatres Corp. stockholders protective committee. Both were advised by the court that any proposal they might have should be submitted to the Fox Met bondholders' committee at once if it was to receive consideration.

Hearings on the Schenck and Fabian plans were concluded yesterday following lengthy testimony by George Schaefer, Paramount general manager, of a nature favorable to Fabian's bid. An adjournment of the court proceedings was taken until May 9 to give the Fox Met bondholders' committee time in which to consider both plans and to negotiate better terms, if possible, with their proponents. Indications at the end of yesterday's hearings were that both the Schenck and Fabian proposals have an equal chance at this time of being accepted, with ultimate success probably resting with the plan which, during the next week, makes the most concessions to the committee.

Must Provide for Amortization

Neither plan would be accepted, it has been indicated, without a provision calling for complete amortization of the new bonds which the plans propose to issue within a 10-year period and with definite restrictions on dividends which may be declared during that time. It has also been indicated that more cash than the $750,000 offered by Schenck and the $1,000,000 by Fabian may be required. Schenck's plan would also have to include a commitment that he would remain with the new Fox Met company for either five or 10 years and give the circuit definite assurances of receiving United Artists and 20th Century product on favorable terms. All of these points are expected to figure in the negotiations with the bondholders' committee during the next week, and an initial draft of the concessions both Schenck and Fabian are willing to make must be in the hands of the committee by Saturday.

Schaefer's testimony refuted to a large extent the contentions of earlier witnesses that the Fox Film franchise held by Skouras and Randforce, which the Fabian plan would dispense with, is essential to Fox Met. Schaefer stated that Fox Met's seven first runs and 77 subsequents represent approximately $600,000 revenue to Paramount annually and would be worth at least $500,000 to any major producer. Buying power of that kind, he said, cannot be ignored by a distributor, and he advanced the opinion that not only could Fox Met command all of the product it needed but that, if the Fabian plan was accepted and the Skouras and Randforce Fox Film franchise canceled, the Fox product might be obtained by Fox Met regardless. Schaefer substantiated this opinion by declaring it to be his belief that if Skouras and Randforce were without theatres it would constitute a breach of their Fox Film franchise and that product would thus be returned to the open market with a likelihood that Fox Met under Fabian could obtain it.

Schaefer disclosed that Keith-Albee-Orpheum had canceled its franchise for half the Paramount product last spring, to take effect next July 1, and that subsequent talks with Herbert B. Swope, K-A-O board chairman, and Leslie Thompson, K-A-O president, had foundered on the question of price.

"Swope thought that K-A-O should be able to get Paramount pictures on the same terms that it buys Fox and Warners," Schaefer said.

Schaefer testified that under no conditions would he sell to K-A-O again except with the specific proviso that Fox Met's seven first runs also have access to the product. He said that he believed this to be necessary because if K-A-O canceled the franchise, as it is now permitted to do, Paramount could also lose the important Fox Met revenue thereby. This could result because Fox Met obtains the Paramount product under an agreement with K-A-O whereby Fox Met, in return, permits K-A-O to day and date the Fox product which is under contract to Fox Met. He said that Paramount derives about as much total revenue from Fox Met as from K-A-O.

Says Para. Can Create Chain

Schaefer said that if Paramount failed to make a deal with K-A-O it could organize a new first run metropolitan circuit picked from independent key neighborhood houses, with the seven Fox Met first runs as a nucleus. He said that the same consideration proffered Fabian on Paramount product would be available to the circuit if Schenck headed it, explaining that he had called Fabian in to discuss the situation only because Fabian was a "new element" in the situation and he wanted assurance from him that Paramount "would be protected" if his bid was successful. He said he felt that Paramount did not need this assurance if Schenck's bid was successful, as under it Skouras operation, which "was friendly to Paramount," would be continued.

Schaefer placed Skouras, Randforce and Fabian in the same operating category, "the best in the metropolitan area," and testified that under Fabian's operation the Brooklyn Paramount, with higher film costs and equally high rent, had been taken out of the red.

Schaefer said that he knew of no Paramount interest now that wanted to "pick up" Fox Met and hold it until the company could take it over, but admitted that Maurice Newton of Hallgarten & Co., a Paramount director, discussed such a proposal with him at the time of Loew's and Warners' bid for Fox Met a year ago.

Senate Group For Extending NRA to April

period of time in which to review existing codes and see that they are amended to carry out the first two requirements.

Future status of exhibitors under the law was seen tonight as dependent upon a determination as to whether they are engaged in interstate or intrastate commerce, it having been consistently contended by a large group that they are in the latter category. Other than this, no change will be necessary in the film code, although it is anticipated that adoption of the resolution would be followed by a reopening of the agreement to permit consideration of changes which have been suggested, should exhibitors be classified as in interstate commerce.

President Roosevelt was understood yesterday to have stood firm for reenactment of the present law, but the fact that Senator Pat Harrison, chairman, and other Administration supporters on the committee approved the resolution indicates their belief that the President will accept it.

Temporary extension of the law will enable the Senate to proceed with other important legislation which is awaiting attention and at the same time postpone a bitter controversy which would have made enactment of new legislation a lengthy and possibly doubtful matter.

At the same time, it is pointed out, postponement of the legislation to next session will give time for the Supreme Court to pass on many questions of constitutionality which have arisen under the present law.

Meanwhile, Senator Harrison predicted that 90 per cent of the criticisms voiced during the recent hearings before the Finance Committee will be corrected before next session by NRA officials. While many opponents of the NRA will accept the compromise more readily than new legislation, there are indications that even a temporary continuance of the Recovery Act may be vigorously opposed.

'Duke' Proves Washington's Hit, $5,400

WASHINGTON, May 1.—"The Iron Duke" proved its strength last week by skyrocketing the Belasco gross to $5,400, a new high for the foreign picture house. In anticipation of the increased patronage, the house opened its 352-seat balcony. The picture went into a second week.

Loew's Palace with "Reckless" took $18,500, or $4,000 over average. The feature was held.

"All the King's Horses" at the Loew's Columbia brought in $3,800, which is $700 over average. The Earle, with "Go Into Your Dance" and a show drew $20,200, some $2,600 over par. "Four Hours to Kill," supported on the stage by George Olsen and his orchestra, went over average by $500, to a gross of $21,000. Second week of "Star of Midnight" at RKO-Keith's slipped—largely because of the opening of "Reckless"—to $8,500, or $2,900 under the average first week.

Total first run business was $81,400. Average is $72,700.

Estimated takings, exclusive of tax:

"Roberta" Strong In Montreal Boom

MONTREAL, May 1. — It was one of the best seven-day periods in many a moon for main-stem houses. one result being a hold-over at two theatres. "Roberta" sprang to the top with a take of $15,000 for the Palace and was given a further run. Likewise, at the Princess, "Folies Bergere" was responsible for $10,000, one of the best totals in a long time, and the second week sign was hung out.

"Mississippi" brought $10,500 to the Capitol while Loew's garnered $9,000 with "Sequoia." Easter holidays had much to do with the box office strength.

Total first run business was $49,000. Average is $40,500.

Hit Omaha Night Games

LINCOLN, May 1.—Move here to floodlight all ball yards in the city parks is giving local showmen gray hair. Terrific summer heat kills matinee business, anyhow, and houses are dependent on night time play, to which this free softball admission looms as a menace.

Robert Livingston, manager of the Capitol here, is making a drive before the City Council to have them rescind the decision.

Ralph Murphy Re-Signed

HOLLYWOOD, May 1.—Ralph Murphy, director, has been signed to a new one-year contract by Paramount. He is currently working on "Men Without Names," a Department of Justice story formerly called "Federal Dick."

Tries 5-Hour Kid Shows

PORTLAND, Me., May 1. — Five-hour children's programs have been introduced into the Empire, Abraham Goodside house, by Manager Harlan Boucher. They draw the youngsters Saturday mornings.

Thelma Todd Re-Signed

HOLLYWOOD, May 1. — Thelma Todd has been re-signed by Hal Roach for an additional year. She will continue the comedy series with Patsy Kelly.

"Your Dance" Sensational In Cleveland

CLEVELAND, May 1.—It was a big week in all the first runs. One gross, $15,500 for "Go Into Your Dance" at Warners' Hippodrome, was sensational. Par is $6,000.

Joe Penner pulled $18,500 with "Princess O'Hara" at the RKO Palace, going $3,500 over par. "Reckless" tipped the scales at $3,000 over the $10,000 average at the State. "Lost City" was big with $4,750, or $1,350 over average at the Allen. Toto, the clown, divided box-office honors with "Let's Live Tonight" at the Circle, resulting in $900 over the usual $3,000 gross.

Total business was $59,750. Average is $41,000.

Estimated takings for the week ending April 26:

"LOST CITY" (Principal)

"Midnight" at Top of Heavy Detroit Rush

DETROIT, May 1.—Business picked up with a rush here last week, the Fox leading the parade. "Star of Midnight," with Guy Lombardo heading the stage show, hit a remarkable $25,100, over normal by $10,100.

The Michigan also was in the big money with $25,300 on "Go Into Your Dance," with Morton Downey on the stage. "The Whole Town's Talking" at the Broadway-Capitol, with Mary Brian heading the stage show, took $12,600.

Total first run business was $85,200. Average is $70,000.

Estimated takings for the week ending April 25:

"PRINCESS O'HARA" (Univ.)
"IT'S A SMALL WORLD" (Fox)
ADAMS—(1,770), 10c-40c, 7 days. Gross: $4,100. (Average, $5,000)

"STAR OF MIDNIGHT" (Radio)

Connecticut Group Opposing Checkers

NEW HAVEN, May 1.—More than 50 Connecticut exhibitors have written to exchanges, saying they will refuse hereafter to admit Ross Federal checkers. This action followed a meeting of the M. P. T. O., headed by Dr. J. B. Fishman.

While exhibitors are in favor of the Warner policy of employing its own checkers, they are opposed to the use by other distributors of Ross checkers. They insist, despite Ross denials, that checkers have divulged confidential information to distributors other than those interested in particular pictures.

Newsreel Cameramen Conference Delayed

Because Louis Krouse, vice-president of the I.A.T.S.E., is in Syracuse on union matters, Deputy Administrator William P. Farnsworth has postponed today's scheduled meeting with newsreel heads until Campi meets again.

The conference with newsreel executives and the international union officials is to clarify working time of cameramen.

Illinois Sale Levy Getting Big Support

Illinois raise $36,000,000 annually for the care of unemployed.

Would Probe Mass. Dog Racing

BOSTON, May 1.—The Senate refuses to appropriate any money for the administration of dog racing, blocking the House's $35,000 appropriation. The Ways and Means Committee of the House recommends that instead of banning dogs this year a special recess committee be appointed to investigate the sport here and report to the next legislature on the advisability of repealing the dog racing clauses. The petition goes to the Joint Rules Committee.

Favor Ohio Bookmaking

COLUMBUS, May 1.—The House Judiciary Committee today recommended adoption of a bill legalizing bookmaking on horse races with a licensing system supervised by the Racing Commission. Costs of the licenses would be $1,000 with $200 a year additional for each clerk employed. The estimated revenue is $1,000,000, but passage is doubtful.

Change Coast Dog Bill

SACRAMENTO, May 1.—Proponents of the dog racing bill with parimutuel betting have announced they will seek an amendment to the local option provision permitting counties to vote whether or not they want tracks.

This is held to remove the protection sought by the industry.

Dress Review Held By General Casting

HOLLYWOOD, May 1.—One hundred and fifty women were reviewed at General Casting Agency over the last week-end for selections as dress extras. Those selected from this group will compete with others and be placed on a selected list of 500 by the agency. A review of men extras will be held next Sunday.

Looking 'Em Over

"The Woman in the Dark"

(Select-Radio)

Poor, persecuted Fay Wray travels through approximately four-fifths of this feature in varied stages of discomfort because she is misunderstood by Ralph Bellamy, Melvyn Douglas, Roscoe Ates and several other members of the cast. Director Phil Rosen's efforts do not help matters much and audiences stand in danger of being in the dark when it comes to deciding what the picture is all about.

The yarn has Bellamy freed from prison, where he served a term for killing a man in a fight. Miss Wray finds shelter in his cabin while running away from Douglas. When the latter, accompanied by a friend, tries to take her back to his home a fight ensues with Douglas' friend struck by Bellamy. He is then forced to flee when it is reported the man is dying. After many complications, with everyone accusing Miss Wray as a double-crosser, things are cleared up and all ends well.

As one-half of a double bill program this film should prove satisfactory. Sada Cowan adapted the screen play from a story by Dashiel Hammett.

Reviewed without production code seal. Running time, 60 minutes. "G."

"Huszarszerelem"

(Danubia Pictures)

Gay, lilting tunes and richness of humor should make this Muveszfilm production a treat for Hungarian audiences. Since the film has no English subtitles those without a knowledge of the language will find little more than the musical content to entertain them.

The picture suffers from that fault common to musical romances—staleness of story. Again you get the tale of the dashing officer who falls in love with his colonel's little girl. These two familiar roles are taken in this instance by Paul Javor and Irene Agai, who play in the true romantic spirit.

As in almost all stories of this sort there is an earlier romance that crops up to roughen the road of true love. In "Huszarszerelem" ("Hussar Romance") the other woman is an entertainer at an inn frequented by the officers of the regiment and their lady friends. While she does her darnedest to break up the romance between Javor and Mlle. Agai, the lovers in the end are in each other's arms.

The picture has been well photographed, handsomely dressed and splendidly recorded, with the acting more than adequate. Steven Szekely directed.

No production code seal. Running time, 80 minutes. "G."

"Die Csardasfuerstin"

(Ufa)

Those who like musical entertainment will revel in "Csardasfuerstin" ("The Czardas Duchess"). Ufa has made a distinguished production of the Emmerich Kalman Hungarian operetta—something lovely to hear and to look at. The film weaves a powerful romantic spell with its story of the love of a titled officer for a beautiful songbird. The music is light, magically tuneful and first-rate in quality. The film is also strong in humor.

The film brings again to these shores the fascinating Marta Eggerth. She and Hans Soehnker are the lovebirds of the piece. The officer falls in love with her at first sight.

The man's parents have already chosen a fiancee for him. They will not countenance an alliance between their son and a woman of the stage. It looks hopeless for a while for the lovers. In time, however, matters are straightened out to the happiness of all concerned when the youth's affianced goes off with another chap and his parents relent.

Fraulein Eggerth and Soehnker play the leading roles in fine fashion. They are supported capably by Paul Kemp, Paul Hoerbiger, Inge List and many others.

This is a high-class production, with beautiful and lavish settings, fine photography and a wealth of good taste.

George Jacoby directed with intelligence.

The picture, which boasts some expansive scenes, is worth seeing. It has English subtitles.

No production code seal. Running time, 102 minutes. "G."

Seek Road Revival

Plans to revive roadshows extensively are being considered by members of the legitimate theatre code authority. The regular meeting slated for yesterday has been put off until next Wednesday.

Dinner for Thad Barrows

BOSTON, May 1.—Thad Barrows, president of Local 182 of the I. A. T. S. E., Operators' Union, will be tendered a testimonial dinner May 12 at the Cocoanut Grove.

Short Subjects

"Little Black Sambo"

(Celebrity)

An amusing story is made of the adventures of the little black boy who is harassed by a tiger and his playful dog's attempt to impersonate the tiger. Condensed action and constant innovations lend to its appeal. Recommended. No production cole seal. Running time, 8 mins. "G."

"Screen Snapshots No. 8"

(Columbia)

The dinner of the Screen Actors' Guild is the scene in this case. Presented in an interesting manner, it introduces a number of screen celebrities and their wives, doing their bits. As part of the entertainment, Bert Kelton does a burlesque fandango. John Boles sings and Edward Everett Horton yawns his party to sleep. Recommended. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

"Five Puplets"

(Educational)

This latest Terry-Toon cartoon is good entertainment. It has several laughs worked into an amusing story and the musical score accompanying is appropriate. The animal world is excited when the stork is seen flying overhead and all manner of tricks are tried by the men to prevent the bird from landing at their home. The stork finally presents five puppies to Mrs. Dog and the reel then shows how the infants are cared for. Production Code Seal, No. 0387. Running time, 7 mins. "G."

"The Life of the Party"

(Educational)

Those five little negro children, The Cabin Kids, will undoubtedly add to their popularity on the strength of their performance here. They do three songs to provide practically all of the entertainment. When the great singer expected at Walter Fenner's party fails to show up he discovers the kids singing in his kitchen and brings them out to perform for his guests, who also join in themselves in an impromptu show. Others in the film are Jean Cleveland, Thelma Sheron, The Pope Sisters and the Six Mountain Melodeers. Production Code Seal, No. 0401. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

"The Brementown Musicians"

(Celebrity)

This is a well done color cartoon that contains everything expected. It should generally satisfy. The story concerns the Grimm fairy tale characters, barnyard denizens, who prove the downfall of the farm they live off and how they are thrown on their own resources, the adventures they have as they pursue a musical livelihood. All ends well as they return home to find their master being robbed. They rout the thieves and are taken back into the fold. Recommended. No production code seal. Running time, 8½ mins. "G."

Reach No Decision

Pathe interests met yesterday to discuss First Division without reaching any definite decisions, according to one spokesman. Developments having a bearing on the future of the company may crystallize in about a week, it was added.

Jones Sees Color Boom by Next Fall

distribute "Becky Sharp," Jones declared that the improvement in color photography has placed the industry "on the threshold of a new art"—an art which in his estimation will instil in the public "a sense of color it never had before." The new opportunities opened up by color photography, he said, made him "look forward to an association of beautiful color and great music."

Jones asserted color "is not going to turn the industry upside down as sound did," because the problem involved is not so much a technical one as an artistic one in that it depends for its solution on men and women with an inherent gift of color.

"I don't think," he added, "that color will come overnight as sound did, because the public is partly familiar with color already."

As in the case of sound, it will take the public some time to get accustomed to color films, according to Jones, who added that studios will find the new development "somewhat more expensive" than black-and-white photography, while rushes would not be made available in less than two days. He made it emphatic, however, that "no mechanical problem will be involved."

The use of color, Jones asserted, will give greater dramatic and emotional value to a story, add realism and make it easier to create moods on the screen. "Color moves along the dramatic action just as music moves along the story in an opera," remarked Jones.

The stars will also welcome color photography in Jones' opinion. "It will make the stars look even more lovely and more glamorous," he declared.

Senators Agree to Act on Copyrights

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Members of the Senate Patents Committee met today to consider the course to be followed with respect to copyright legislation and agreed to push the bill in response to pressure from the State Department.

Public hearings appear to be unlikely. Complaints and requests for a hearing have been received from Ascap, the Authors' League and the Music Publishers' Protective Ass'n., which may be taken up in informal conferences.

It is understood, film, radio and other interests which presented their views to the State Department some weeks ago are more or less satisfied.

The committee will meet again May 8 for further discussion of the bill.

Mastroly Sues for His Living Expense

LOS ANGELES, May 1.—Frank Mastroly has left for New York after filing suit in Superior Court to determine whether Universal should pay his living expenses in addition to his salary while he is filling an executive post in the New York office.

Mastroly seeks declarative relief, and says that his three-year contract specifies executive duties in the Los Angeles district. Universal claims the contract doesn't limit its right to transfer.

Toeplitz Plans Two Here, Says Graetz

ing Toeplitz, stated yesterday upon his arrival on the Champlain.

While it is reported Toeplitz's affiliate will be Universal, Graetz said he had a number of offers he was considering and will leave for Hollywood in two weeks to work on the deal. It is believed that when he arrives on the coast he will confer with Carl Laemmle, who cabled Graetz before his departure from England.

Toeplitz plans to arrive here shortly, the time depending on the outcome on Graetz's negotiations. Graetz, managing director of Paris Export Film Co., which distributes all First Division films on the Continent, also handles exporting for Toeplitz. He denied that Gaumont British would not distribute "The Dictator" in the United States.

Graetz would not comment on the Universal angle, but said that Toeplitz is anxious to line up with a company that has some big names. The four pictures planned will be produced on a large scale, he said.

Failure of Vocafilm Blamed on Electrics

WILMINGTON, May 1. — Vocafilm went out of business in 1929 after investing $700,000 fighting monopoly and at that time had produced more than 100 films without getting distribution because of allegedly unfair practices of Erpi, Western Electric and A. T. & T., David R. Hochreich, former president of Vocafilm, testified today in the action brought by General Talking Pictures and Duovac against the defendants named.

Hochreich also testified Burt Adams, a Paramount representative, had told him of the existence of a contract between Paramount and Erpi whereby the former was to sell films only to those exhibitors whose theatres were equipped with Erpi reproducers.

Program Revised For Allied Meet

the evening there will be a reception for Sidney and Mrs. Samuelson.

Golf on Tuesday, the 21st, will start at 9:30 A. M. at the East Lake Country Club. Governor Talmadge will address the first business session at 2 o'clock, and Mayor James L. Key will present the keys to the city. In the meantime, at 4 o'clock, tea will be served for women visitors at the Governor's mansion, and there will be a dance at 9 o'clock that night. More golf Wednesday, a bridge luncheon at 1 o'clock, business session an hour later, and a show by a negro choir at Big Bethel Church in the evening. Thursday there will be a sightseeing trip in the morning and a barbecue at Stone Mountain at noon, with a business session at 2 P. M., and a dinner-dance at the East Lake Country Club in the evening.

Kane Settlement of $35,440 Is Favored ance of a $21,000 bankruptcy claim by Kane against Paramount Publix is proposed in a petition submitted to Special Master John E. Joyce by the Paramount trustees yesterday for hearing on May 7.

Kane held a three-year contract terminating in July, 1933, at $1,500 per week, plus an annual bonus of $25,000, the petition states. In 1932, Kane's salary was reduced to $1,063 per week and the bonuses were reduced to an aggregate of about $44,000. The contract was disaffirmed by the Paramount trustees in May, 1933, and Kane's suit against Paramount International for $35,440 for breach of the contract was then filed.

In proposing the settlement of the suit by permitting Kane to file a $21,000 claim against Paramount Publix and allowing it in that amount, the petition states that the trustees do not believe that they have a valid counter claim against Kane for $39,900 of entertainment expenses and miscellaneous charges which were found to have been credited to him without being specifically authorized in his contract.

FWC Men to Go West; Hanson Takes Plane

Al Hanson, Los Angeles city manager for Fox West Coast, will leave by plane for Los Angeles this afternoon. Edward Alperson, buyer for the circuit, will entrain for Milwaukee tomorrow and after spending a few days with Harold J. Fitzgerald will head for the coast. He plans to be gone about three weeks.

Spyros Skouras early next week will flit to the coast, stopping off at Kansas City for two days to confer with Elmer C. Rhoden and Rick Ricketson on reorganization plans for Fox Midwest and Fox Rocky Mountain.

Two Held on Film Charge

Two men, Abraham Schrier of 608 Prospect Ave., and James Cartenuto of 626 Manida Ave., both addresses in the Bronx, were held by the police yesterday on charges of possessing 167,000 feet of film alleged to have been stolen from the DuPont plant at Parlin, N. J., on March 2.

Laffoon Colonels Off for the Derby ington. From the Capital, they go over the Chesapeake & Ohio to Louisville.

Among those with reservations on the special train, colonels all, are: George Fitts, Roy Norr, Charles C. Pettijohn, Jack Alicoate, Senator Rice of Vermont, Jack Connolly, R. B. White, president of Western Union, Sam Dembow, Jr., Harry Brandt, N. L. Nathanson, Ted Curtis, Bill German, Will Rogers and Myles Lasker.

At Louisville they will be met by Bert Wheeler and Bob Woolsey, whiskers, broad-brimmed hats, frock coats and all the liquid accoutrements that befit the "kernels." "Kentucky Kernels" will be revived with the stars appearing in person.

As the Derby is run on Saturday, no doubt the talk all the way to Louisville will center about how they will run, performances and the odds.

General Alicoate, head colonel, will play host to Wheeler and Woolsey. They will sit in the governor's box at Churchill Downs and will present a personal prize to the victorious jockey of the Derby.

Fox Film 13-Week Net Is $616,806

after all charges, including Federal income taxes, totals to 25 cents per share. Gross income was $10,740,822.

The consolidated earned surplus at Dec. 29 was $3,006,812. After adding the net profit and deducting foreign exchange adjustments of $2,607, the consolidated earned surplus at Mar. 30, 1935, stands at $3,621,011, all of which has accumulated since the effective date of reorganization of the company April 1, 1933.

No theatre earnings are included in the above figures from National Theatres Corp. in which Fox Film has an interest of 42 per cent.

Court before October at the earliest. The case will not be heard this month, since Warners, according to the rules, must notify the court 12 days before the first of the month that it will go ahead with the trial. This the complainant has not done.

Indications are that Warners will not seek a trial in June and with the courts suspending in July for the summer the earliest possible time the case can possibly be heard is in October. The crowded calendar put over from June automatically puts September out of the running.

"G-Men" Standout

Smiles wreathed Warner faces yesterday on the strength of the opening hours' draw of "G-Men" at the Strand. Claiming a new attendance record, the company declared 2,100 tickets were sold by 10 A. Put Theatres' '33 Profit at $6,639,000

Census Bureau Analyzes Takes in 9,499 Spots

By BERTRAM F. LINZ

WASHINGTON, May 2.—A gross profit of $6,639,000 was shown for 1933 by the 10,265 theatres canvassed by the U. S. Census Bureau in its survey of amusement enterprises last year, according to figures made public by the bureau tonight.

Operating expenses amounted to $408,874,000, against box-office receipts of $415,152,000, the bureau found in analyzing the returns. Operating expenses were defined by the bureau as including payroll, rent, interest, traveling expenses, advertising, taxes, insurance, light, heat, power and similar expenditures.

The statistical who, what and when of the theatre industry in 1933 appears in detail on pages 6 and 7 today.

A breakdown of the figures shows that 9,499 houses had an indicated

The four leading Paramount creditor groups behind the company's reorganization are in agreement on continuation of the present Paramount management headed by Adolph Zukor, spokesman for the creditors revealed yesterday.

The agreement means that, with the election of officers of the new Paramount, which may take place within the next two or three weeks, Zukor would be continued as president; George J. Schaefer as vice-president and general manager; Austin C. Keough as secretary and head of production matters in the east, and Y. Frank Freeman in charge of theatre operations.

An agreement on a chairman of the board and on a candidate to fill the long vacant post of treasurer of the company has not been reached yet. The latter office in the future will probably be closely associated with the new finance committee and,

Frisco's Theatres Bumped By City, Postal Rulings

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—Exhibitors here have received three swift kicks from both Uncle Sam and the local politicians within the past few days.

Kick No. 1 occurred when the local board of supervisors passed an ordinance restraining distribution of printing matter which includes, of course, theatre calendar programs. The ordinance provided that distributors must obtain a permit from the chief of police, that each piece of matter must contain the permit number and its origin and must be folded so that the wind cannot blow it away. These are surmountable obstacles, but the ordinance gives residents the privilege of displaying a sign prohibiting distribution of printed matter on the property of the resident. A special permit from each resident displaying such a sign would have to be obtained.

Kick No. 2 was from Uncle Sam. This was an order from postal HOLLYWOOD, May 2. — Edward Kaufman, writer, has been made an associate producer by Radio.

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

WARNERS are financially interested in "Three Men on a Horse," "Ceiling Zero" and "Fly Away Home," three current Broadway plays which are getting along minus worries. This successful dabble into the realms of the legitimate theatre is leaving its mark on several other burning ambitions and now Metro is working out a deal with Max Gordon, Sam Harris and Billy Rose. Paramount is flirting—or perhaps the romance is already consummated—with Laurence Stallings, Bob Sherwood, Max Anderson, Sidney Howard and Philip Barry, as producing playwrights, and with Arthur Hopkins as producer. United Artists once financed "The Red Cat," which subsequently found itself transformed into celluloid as "Folies Bergere." In and out of the producing field for years with alliances such as these, the observation which appears obvious to this space is that major film companies should make up their minds to stay in. They buy the hits always and the mediocrities usually. Stage producing is penny ante by comparison with the cost of making pictures, but the talker rights that accompany the above and other deals to come easily are worth the gamble. Just so long as Hollywood depends on a percentage of its material from the New York stage, so should the union between the two be cemented. . . .

Washington check-up: Reports that Senator Huey Long was about to embark in the film business as producer of a series of films dealing with his "Share-the-Wealth" plan were denied yesterday as "unfounded" by Earle J. Christenberry, the senator's secretary. If any company has been formed bearing the Long monicker, Christenberry added, it has been done without his consent. Long has no intention of producing films. "We try to keep out of things we know nothing about," he declared, "and this is one of them." Such modesty, at least, is commendable. In the meantime and from another scene—New Orleans, this time—come telegraphic flashes voicing the widespread belief current there that Long plans to do the very thing his secretary denies. . . .

Hollywood fun: Donald Ogden Stewart, on and off for two years, worked on the script of "Marie Antoinette" which Norma Shearer will make when impending motherhood is reached and gone. On the Metro lot the other day, said Stewart: "Two weeks from today, I'll be on the Bremen." Herman Mankiwiecz: "You'll be on the what? Listen, Don, I'm going to send you a wire. It'll be addressed to you, but don't blame me if others read it. I'll even tell you the message now: 'Never mind Goering. It's H. that you want.'" Said another: "Wouldn't I love to be on the dock at Hamburg when the German customs officials open your trunk and those matzohs fall out?" Two days later, Stewart sent an official studio memo on its rounds. It read: "Have switched passage from the Bremen to the Washington." . . .

Funny twist. Nick Schenck today again finds himself in control of the Fort Lee property on which stands Palisades Amusement Park, the scene of an early endeavor in conjunction with his brother, Joe. It came about through a sheriff's sale to satisfy a $250,000 mortgage held by Mrs. Nick and one for a similar amount held by Clarence Hand, an official of the operating company to which the Schencks sold out a few years ago when film production, distribution and exhibition asserted their demands for full time. There is little, in fact practically no, possibility that Nick S. will operate. His hours are crowded as they stand. . . .

All kinds of exhibitors make up the theatre industry. One type is represented by the men who run the Cort and the Embassy in Newark. At the former, a recent double feature was comprised of "Jesus of Nazareth" and "Baboona" with five shorts thrown in. At the Embassy, it was "The Life of Christ" and "Once to Every Bachelor." . . .

Report Bergerman Deal

HOLLYWOOD, May 2.—It is reported here that Stanley Bergerman, who checks out of Universal Saturday, may join the production staff at Radio. Bergerman has refused to comment on his future activities, but it is believed he plans a trip to New York late next week pending the outcome of present negotiations.

"Diamond Jim" First

HOLLYWOOD, May 2.—"Diamond Jim," based on the life of "Diamond Jim" Brady, and now in its third week of production at Universal, will be the first of that company's releases for 1935-36.

RKO Sets Austrian Deal

RKO has closed a deal with Leopold Barth of Vienna covering the distribution of the coming season's product throughout Austria. Harry W. Leasim of the RKO Paris office handled the deal.

New Fox Met Bids Believed Unlikely

only ones to be considered by the Fox Met bondholders' committee.

Last-minute offers which may still come in under the wire appear to be confined to Paramount financial associates, B. S. Moss and the Fox Theatres' stockholders' protective committee, with little indication yesterday that a bid from any of these would materialize. Moreover, it is extremely doubtful that any offer except in the form of an outright purchase for cash of the committee's $12,800,000 of bonds at not less than 35 cents on the $1 would receive consideration even if it were to be made. Such a bid for the purchase of the bonds would contemplate a subsequent reorganization of Fox Met under the direction of the bidder.

Bid Is Held Unlikely

It appeared highly unlikely yesterday that any such cash bid from the interested Paramount associates would materialize. Federal Judge Julian W. Mack, who has jurisdiction over the Fox Met reorganization, has pointed out that the Paramount proposal could be made with the approval of the trustees of the company and of Federal Judge Alfred C. Coxe, who has jurisdiction over the Paramount reorganization, with the proposal being made subject to the later formal approval of the new Paramount board following its election on May 15. The Atlas Corp. - Fortington interests, which represent the Paramount proposal of a reported $4,000,000 cash offer, said yesterday that they had been advised of Judge Mack's stand and had turned the subject of a bid over to the Paramount management. The latter disclaimed knowledge of the matter and referred inquiries back to the Atlas-Fortington offices.

A canvass of other Paramount creditor groups whose representatives on the new Paramount board would ultimately have to pass upon the proposal if it is made, revealed that Fox Met would have to be "an unusual bargain" for Paramount before the bid would be approved. The general attitude was that Paramount has enough theatre outlets now and any moves for theatre expansion would be subject to lengthy deliberation.

The Moss bid, reported to contemplate a cash offer of $4,500,000, with the backing of Sam Rosoff, subway contractor, and Frank Rubel, ice manufacturer, likewise appeared to be still remote, although it was stated that a decision might be made tomorrow. The Fox Theatres' stockholders' bid appears to be even less likely to materialize.

"G-Men" Gets Off to Fast $11,000 Start

"G-Men" at the Strand got off to a fast start Wednesday, grossing $11,000 for the day. The house was opened at 9 A. M. and didn't close until 20 hours later, to reopen yesterday at 8 A. M. Considerable of the draw is due to the extensive bill posting in the neighborhoods. Second week of "Black Fury" tallied $13,500.

Put Theatres' '33 Profit at $6,639,000

gross profit of $4,164,000, operating expenses being $352,152,000 and box-office receipts $356,316,000.

The 644 film and vaudeville houses listed appear to have broken even, their gross receipts and operating expenses both being $50,266,000.

The 122 legitimate stage and opera houses had an indicated gross profit of $2,115,000, receipts being $8,611,000 and operating expenses $6,496,000.

Not all branches of the theatre industry in all states went into the black in 1933, the figures indicate. In 18 states, one or more branches showed a loss. In Maryland film houses were in the black, but others just broke even.

In Connecticut, Massachusetts, Ohio and West Virginia film theatres showed losses; in Michigan, Minnesota, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Utah and Wisconsin, where there was no breakdown, losses were shown for the theatre industry generally, and in Idaho. Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Maine, New York and Oregon the film and vaudeville houses finished in the red.

Figures for New York

The bureau's report on New York shows that 820 film houses had receipts of $85,150,000 and operating expenses of $82,118,000, and 30 legitimate theatres had receipts of $3,907,000 and expenses of $2,335,000, while 29 film and vaudeville theatres had receipts of $4,850,000 and expenses of $6,101,000.

In California 455 film theatres had receipts of $20,367,000 and expenses of $19,531,000. 163 film and vaudeville houses had receipts of $13,929,000 and expenses of $13,240,000, and 11 legitimate theatres had receipts of $927,000 and expenses of $889,000. Pennsylvania's 745 houses of all kinds took in $30,891,000 and had expenses of $33,636,000, which appeared to be the worst break suffered in any state.

A comparison of box-office receipts and operating expenses for each state, classified where broken down by the census bureau, is given in the accompanying table.

Film Payroll Is Fifth

HOLLYWOOD, May 2.—Film payrolls represented almost a fifth of the wages paid in the Los Angeles County Industrial area in 1933, according to a U. S. Census Bureau report released by the Department of Commerce.

The report states that 9,022 workers were paid $15,460,019. The number of companies operating was 39, as compared to 67 in 1931 and 52 in 1929.

Materials, equipment, fuel and electrical power expenditures amounted to approximately $17,092,643.

The estimated value of the studio output was $97,748,377 compared to $119,416,293 for 1931 and $129,274,246 in 1929.

Total wages paid to all industrial workers in the country during 1933 amounted to $86,307,124.

authorities instructing daily newspapers not to accept theatre advertising mentioning bank-nights.

Kick No. 3 also was from Uncle Sam. This was an announcement from postal authorities that effective July 1 exhibitors cannot distribute printed matter in quantity lots without addressing each piece. Since last September the postoffice has accepted calendars for distribution to unnamed and unaddressed residents, the mailman merely placing one calendar in every mail box on his route.

Toeplitz to Start "Chicago" in July

In line with his plan to go the limit on production, Ludovico Toeplitz will next make "Don Chicago." Production starts in England around the middle of July with American personnel and players participating.

Paul Graetz, sales head for Toeplitz as well as personal representative, leaves for the coast in two weeks to line up talent for "Don Chicago." Before he goes west, Graetz will close with one of the major distributors for American distribution.

Toeplitz plans to make four pictures a year, two in England and two here in cooperation with a major producer. Graetz will spend two weeks on the coast and a fortnight here on his return before sailing for home.

Riverside Learns of Films from Shapiro

HOLLYWOOD, May 2.—If 200 citizens of Riverside, all members of the Present Day Club, don't know a lot about production and distribution, it isn't Victor M. Shapiro's fault. He talked for an hour on "The Motion Picture Industry" and then answered questions as fast as they were fired at him.

The questions covered a wide field—whether the industry would move to Florida, whether Mae West was really married, and many other angles.

After exhausting himself Shapiro went back to the Quigley Publications office and mailed MOTION PICTURE DAILY a clipping from a Riverside paper instead of writing the story himself.

Yamins to Head Group

BOSTON, May 2.—Nathan Yamins and Walter Littlefield will head a delegation of some 30 members of the Independent Exhibitors of Massachusetts, Inc., to the Allied convention in Atlanta. Edward Ansin, Harold Stoneman, Frank Lydon, William McLaughlin, Allard Graves, Richard Rubin and Arthur Howard are among those expected to make the trip. Automobiles will be the favorite form of transit. Rubin is chairman of the committee in charge of plans for the trip.

FWC Loses Fight to Boost Balboa Scale

for changes before the local board. The schedule goes into effect May 15.

F. W. C. executives have maintained throughout the Campi hearings that they were not asking for something they did not already have. In every instance where the circuit protested the schedule something was being taken away from it, they declared.

Arthur told Campi on Wednesday that he would boost the Balboa admission provided Huntington Park, Florence and Inglewood would do likewise. Inglewood and Huntington Park first runs at top admissions, under the schedule, play seven days after downtown Los Angeles, while Florence plays seven days after Huntington Park, which must wait seven days after downtown L. A.

While Code Authority was in favor of exhibitors hiking the tariffs, it was felt that any pressure to this end would violate the code, which states no price-fixing is permitted.

Further developments by Fox West Coast on the Balboa and other situations where the circuit has been hit by the schedule will follow after conferences between Al Hanson and Charles Skouras. Hanson left for the coast yesterday after three weeks in New York. Skouras, it is known, contends he got a "raw deal," but hasn't decided what action to take until he talks to Hanson. An appeal to Washington was indicated last week. Then again court action may be taken.

Test of Plan Is Awaited

Campi, in approving the schedule as revised last week, was not anxious to make any changes until it is given a test. If it doesn't work out, the schedule may be revoked in toto. However, independent exhibitors, as well as F. W. C., can protest various clauses at any time after it becomes operative.

During the various hearings on the plan representatives of the Federal Trade Commission in Washington have sat in as unofficial observers. This because of the consent decree angle involved in an agreement on first run admissions in Los Angeles.

Campi yesterday read into the record a letter from Julius Charnow of the Leonia, Leonia, N. J., to the effect that all exchanges except Fox refused to comply with the recent clearance decision. Code Authority stated that the decision speaks for itself and no clarification of the order is necessary.

Charnow today will try to get pictures seven days after Englewood and seven days ahead of Palisades Park. He is advertising certain pictures he has requested and unless distributors comply, he will file suit.

More than 35 appeals were disposed of. The next session is for Thursday.

Ignore Chicago Objectors

CHICAGO, May 2.—Taking time out for a huddle in the hearing of the Publix Great States complaint against E. E. Alger Amusement Co., the grievance board rode rough shod over objections of counsel for Alger on the qualifications of various board members. Alger's contention that certain board members themselves were indulging in practices complained of against Alger disqualified them as impartial judges was also overruled.

A packed room turned out for the hearing, which is proving spectacular because of the calibre of the legal talent representing both parties. Rosenberg, Toomin & Stein are representing Alger, while counsel for Publix Great States has been augmented by Edmund D. Adcock, associate of Leo Spitz, Publix and B. & K. attorney.

On advice of counsel Alger refused to answer any questions under his constitutional privilege. Following this the taking of testimony was started. An appeal is predicted if Alger is ordered to end reduced admissions in various forms and bank night and lottery.

Chicago Exhibitors Vote

CHICAGO, May 2.—Ballots permiting exhibitor to decide on retention or scrapping of the premium practice in the metropolitan area were mailed by the code board May 1 on request of an undisclosed petitioner. Failure to return a ballot will be construed as a vote for retention.

The sponsor of an identical canvass made a year ago withdrew his request before the blow-off and no count was made. Since then the use of premiums has mushroomed until an estimate puts 150 houses in the give-and-take list.

Darien Case Dismissed

NEW HAVEN, May 2.—As a result of the grievance and clearance and zoning complaints involving Stamford, New Canaan, Darien and Norwalk, the Darien Theatre, Darien, has been ordered to stop reducing scales under those stipulated in contracts. Demands for longer clearances by Stamford and New Canaan over the theatre have been dismissed "for lack of jurisdiction."

Stamford first runs and New Canaan complained against Darien when it reduced its 40-cent scale to 25 cents, and at the same time filed clearance and zoning protests demanding increased clearance. In a counter-complaint, Darien sought to have protection over itself decreased. The local board dismissed the clearance and zoning case by Darien.

Judge Mark Norman, representing Darien, has appealed the grievance board cases and says he also will appeal the clearance cases.

Historic!

Hollywood, May 2. — Once in 20 years it happens.

Cullen (Hezi) Tate, Cecil DeMille's first assistant, had a big argument with his boss about a scene in "The Crusades," or as big an argument as any first assistant ever has with DeMille.

Finally, in a gallant spirit of defeat, he said:

"Well, I guess we'll shoot it my way, Mr. DeMille!"

"YES, Mr. Tate!" said De Mille.

Tate promptly fell into the fishpond.

Predicts Unlimited Listing for Extras

extra meeting that the extra preferred registration list had been dropped. Marcus visited Washington early last month and conferred with Compliance Director Sol A. Rosenblatt on the list and when he returned here he intimated the plan would be dropped.

Last night Marcus predicted the formation of another list, however, but said the new one would be unlimited. He also hinted that several members of the Extra Standing Committee were slated to be dropped.

Frank Woods, head of Picture Players, Inc., also addressed the gathering and warned extras to stop fighting among themselves.

The Junior Screen Actors' Guild elected the following advisory board for the coming year: Richard Allen, Samuel Appel, Samuel Benson, Mary Ashcraft, Robert Card, Buck Ibucko, Helene E. Caverley, Adabelle Driver, Peter Durey, Nellie Farrell, Mrs. Ray Feldman, Peter Gardner, Grace Goodall, Jack Grant, Michael D. Jeffers, Major Philip J. Kiefer, Stella LeSaint, Scotty Mattraw, James Zimmerman, Field Norton, Jean Ford, Alexander Pollard, Lee Powell, Loretta Rush, Marcel Smith, Willi Strobel, Jean Valjean and Clarence Wertz.

Nate Edwards was re-elected chairman of the entertainment committee and members of this group will be selected at Tuesday's meeting.

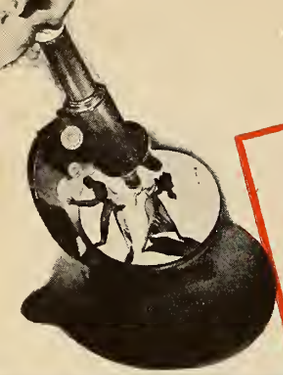
Delay Century-RKO Case

Following a request by Louis Nizer, attorney for RKO, Campi has postponed the appeal hearing on the Century-RKO clearance issue in Long Island until May 15. The hearing was set on the calendar for today, but Nizer was requested by Mayor LaGuardia to be at his office this afternoon without fail and had to put off the Campi appeal.

Dickinson Hearing Set

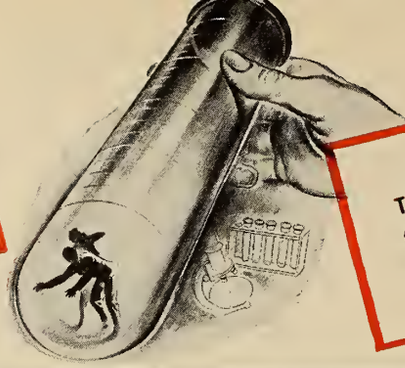
WASHINGTON, May 2. — The application of Glen W. Dickinson, operator of a number of theatres in Kansas, Missouri and Iowa, for exemption from the labor provisions of the code will be discussed at a hearing to be held May 6 before the state compliance director for Kansas at Topeka.

Baron Appeals Ruling



BOSTON, May 2. — Joseph M. Baron has filed an appeal on the decision of the clearance and zoning board dismissing his protest without prejudice because all parties interested in the case were not included in the complaint. Operating the Grand in West Warren, Baron objected to 30 days' clearance for the Poli in Springfield which is 28 miles away.

Stop Coast Board Order



LOS ANGELES, May 2.—The grievance board has reversed itself on its order to stop film service for the Ventura and San Fernando theatres. It was discovered that a second meeting should have been held to allow exhibitors a chance to sign compliance notices.

'Twas Literature

His sales division won the prize while the sales assistant was vacationing in Florida. Sales manager wanted to send him a congratulatory message and called his publicity man to frame the letter.

"Make it swell and I'll sign it," he ordered.

Letter went south. No acknowledgment came.

When the assistant returned, he popped in on the publicity man and said:

"I got a swell letter from the boss, but you know I'm not much on this sort of thing. I didn't answer it because I wanted you to frame the reply for me."

Publicity man returned to his typewriter and expressed the assistant's gratitude to the boss with a literary flourish. Assistant's secretary delivered it. The boss read it and wished he could write as well as his assistant.

Publicity man remained discreetly silent.

Throttle Pushing

by H.E.N.

REIDSVILLE, N. C.—The Lucky Strike is now only running four days a week on an eight-hour schedule so business is away off at the Rockingham Theatre, C. W. Davis, manager, and at the Broadway, managed by Frank Fowler. The "gig" house is closed. The Broadway will be closed some time in June for an extensive remodeling. This house will practically be rebuilt and enlarged, making it, when finished, the equal of the Rockingham. W. H. Hendrix of Greensboro owns these theatres.

VALDESE, N. C.—Ground was purchased last week by J. W. Benfield, Henry Grill and associates and present owners of the Colonial for a B house. Work on this new theatre will start this summer. The hosiery mills are running full time and we saw Benfield counting sox under the watchful eye of J. D. Carpenter, general manager. J. D. likes to make exhibitors' conventions and brightened up when we told him about the Allied meeting this month at Atlanta.

MORGANTOWN, N. C.—C. V. Davis, owner of the Alva and an exhibitor here for the past 22 years, is still able to "sit up and take nourishment." C. V. has gone into a new business. Sorry we cannot tell you about it because he threatened to shoot us next time we came along if we did. But he has a large picture of Willie Hoppe adorning the walls of his new establishment. Davis is also associated with F. Hanks, operating the Avon, Lenoir. F. W. Davis is managing the Alva and states the Kozona, recently installed, is giving 100 per cent satisfaction.

NORTH WILKESBORO, N. C.—Harold Kay, the "boy wonder" from Painesville, O., who ran the Utopia and Park there, is giving the natives of the Blue Ridge down here a taste of real Buckeye showmanship. Harold has dolled up the Liberty and is getting a big play with the modern methods of "Round Table Club" advertising.

TRYON, N. C.—Charlie W. Nessmith, impresario extraordinary and owner of the Tryon, was interviewed during a practice session of the forthcoming "tilting contest" to be held by the Tryon Riding and Hunt Club at its annual horse show. Understand "Snake" Richardson, First Division; Jack Dumestre, RCA; Roy Smart, Wilby-Kincey; Bob Ingram, Columbia, have also entered their mounts. The Tryon is getting a good play from the many tourists who are stopping over here on their trek northward from Florida. "Evergreen" drew capacity.

particularly, with the chairman of that committee. A business associate of Floyd B. Odlum, head of the Atlas Corp. which was recently awarded the underwriting of the new Paramount stock subscription warrants, is being prominently mentioned for chairman of the finance committee.

The viewpoints favoring a continuation of the Zukor management were expressed by representatives of the bondholders' and stockholders' committees, the creditor bank group and the so-called Fortington creditor group. Among them, more than 90 per cent of the Paramount creditors are represented. The attitude voiced by each group's spokesman was that the Zukor management had delivered excellent results under difficult and trying circumstances during the bankruptcy and for that reason, if for no other, deserves to be continued indefinitely after the company is restored to normal operating conditions.

Formal election of the company's new directors is scheduled for May 15 and is expected to be followed immediately by the election of officers.

Approves Cravath Fees

An order authorizing the allowance of a claim against Paramount Publix for $25,142 by Cravath, de Gersdorff, Swaine & Wood, special counsel, was signed by Federal Judge Alfred C. Coxe yesterday. The order, in addition, releases Cravath from any claims arising out of the payment to it by Paramount of fees aggregating $87,024 in 1932 and 1933, as the payments were for services rendered "in contemplation of bankruptcy."

Warners May Import Films

LONDON, May 2.—Jack L. Warner is expected to approve a plan developed by Irving Asher, Warner production head here, for American distribution of some of Warners' British-produced films.

Paramount in Birmingham

LONDON, April 26. (By Mail).—Paramount has prepared plans for a 3,000-seat super on part of the site of the famous King Edward's School, Birmingham. Building is provisional on a deal for the whole site, for $2,000,000, by other interests, but the theatre scheme may come before the entertainment committee on May 20.

Calls Canada Music Fees Finance Racket

Ass'n, referred to restrictions of the society as a "financial racket."

President Jamieson of the society denied that the organization was operating a racket, claiming that control was exercised to prevent certain songs being done to death by too frequent repetition.

Layton Sheather, sales manager of the society, told the commissioner that there were 25 employes in various parts of the Dominion who check up on the number of seats and the number of performances per week in all theatres and also the periods of time during which radio stations made use of music. This information was utilized for the drawing up of license fees.

The inquiry is continuing.

company in England with English capital. American Technicolor will receive 50 per cent of the stock for the rights, however. Final settlement of the deal will not take place until Dr. Herbert T. Kalmus, head of Technicolor, goes to London.

Form a Theatre League

Eleven local theatres have formed the Tri-Boro Theatre Baseball League. Games will start May 7 and will end July 3. Teams will compete Tuesdays, Thursdays and Sundays. C. Dowe is president of the league.

Theatres entered are the Roxy, Rivoli, Capitol, Loew's 175th St., Kings, Center, Fox Brooklyn, Coliseum, Orpheum, Paradise and Brooklyn Paramount.

and shorts as the current year, the company has yet to deliver nine for the 1933-34 season. The nine undelivered features include one Jeanette MacDonald, one Jimmy Durante, one Norma Shearer, one Wallace Beery-Clark Gable, one Jean Harlow-Clark Gable, two specials listed as "Soviet" and "Two Thieves," and "No More Ladies" with Joan Crawford. The Crawford picture will be released on June 14.

Local exhibitors say they are considerably peeved at M-G-M for lending Beery and Gable to 20th Century and Columbia and not delivering the 1933-34 release in which they were scheduled to appear.

On the shorts lineup, M-G-M will have ten Traveltalks from James Fitz-Patrick in Technicolor in addition to six one-reel "Highlights of New York." Harmon-Ising will contribute 13 single reel Technicolor cartoons. Pete Smith will have his usual lineup. Hal Roach will attend the two meetings to detail his plans.

Story Trends Out, Says Marx

Story trends are out as far as M-G-M is concerned next season, according to Sam Marx, studio story head now in New York on a quest for new material.

Successful plays and books in popular demand are being sought by the company. While here, Marx will confer with writers and also give a number of plays an official onceover.

Assert W. E. Sound Equipment Forced

T. & T. in U. S. District Court here today. The testimony was designed to show that exhibitors had been forced to use Erpi and W. E. equipment, in order to secure certain films.

Truitt testified that the Madison Theatre used DeForest sound equipment and that when he and the owner went to Atlanta to book "Naughty Marietta" they were told by an M-G-M booker that a print would be supplied if they had RCA or W. E. sound.

Levin produced a letter from E. M. Fay of Providence which said that when Fay signed a contract for "Grand Hotel" he noticed that a demand for W. E. projectors had been made, but he had that part of the contract "knocked off." In his letter Fay also said that he had been asked to take non-Erpi machines from his Carleton Theatre for the showing of the film and to ship the equipment to some other Fay house.

Thomas' deposition contained a letter from Erpi to Vitaphone regarding an agreement between the two companies which had been approved by C. E. Quigley, Vitaphone vice-president. The letter stated that Vitaphone was to make pictures on Erpi equipment, but could not distribute to exhibitors with other than Erpi machines because "it might impair the prestige and business reputation" of the two companies unless projection was done on equipment equal to that of Erpi. In the event that non-Erpi equipment did not come up to the standard Vitaphone was to stop distribution until arbitration had decided as to whether the equipment was suitable. Vitaphone also was to notify Erpi of the location of equipment other than Erpi on which Vitaphone proposed to permit reproduction.

Demands His Rights

According to Leonard Lyons, Goodman Ace saw the Strand newsreel the other day and listened to some Communists hiss the pictures of the Army Day parade. When the circus pictures were flashed on the screen Goodman hissed the elephants.

"Cut that out," an usher warned, but Ace demanded his political rights.

"I'll hiss the elephants all I want to," he insisted, "I'm a Democrat."

originally filed by Du-Art against the distributor, will be dropped.

The action hinged on complaint of Du-Art that Universal, despite the existence of an alleged contract, withdrew its printing from the former at the time the "U"-Consolidated deal was made a few months ago.

Willard McKay, attorney for Universal, refused to discuss terms. Bushell and Gottlieb, attorneys for Du-Art, could not be reached for a statement.

Blendess Summoned On Trick Ad Paper

Morris Blendess, operating the Tivoli, Brooklyn, was summoned by License Commissioner Paul Moss yesterday for issuing throwaways on "The Whole Town's Talking" with Police Department Pass printed on it in bold type. Blendess stated he got the idea from a Columbia press book.

A Columbia attorney also attended the session. Moss threatened to close the theatre unless the distribution of the advertising was stopped.

No Florida Film Bills

TALLAHASSEE, May 2. — Half the eight-week session of the Florida Legislature has passed with no bills passed affecting the industry. The proposed 10 per cent admission tax is dead.

A billboard tax is pending and another bill has been introduced to impose heavy fees on bank nights. It has been reported unfavorably and effort will be made to scale down the fees.

Two members of the House have come out in favor of a constitutional amendment providing for an income tax, but the move has not been taken seriously so far.

New Taxes Loom in Ohio

COLUMBUS, May 2. — Governor Martin L. Davey, heretofore averse to imposition of new taxes, has reversed his attitude, and frankly admits that he was mistaken when he promised he could finance old-age pensions out of savings in state government operation. This, he now asserts, is impossible, and new sources of revenue must be found independently of anything else. An estimated $6,000,000 will be required for the last half of the current year, and $15,000,000 for 1936.

In his message to the General Assembly he said it would be necessary to call a special session early in the fall to work out a comprehensive program.

Washington Tax Starts

SEATTLE, May 2.—Sales tax collections have been started by all Washington theatres. The rate is one cent on tickets up to 20 cents, two cents from 20 cents to 40 cents and three cents from 40 to 60 cents. Pennies are being used.

RKO to Play Soldiers

The RKO baseball team will play a return engagement with the Fort Jay Hospital Detachment Saturday afternoon. This is the third preliminary game prior to the opening of the M. P. League on May 11.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Age of Indiscretion"

(M-G-M)

HOLLYWOOD, May 2.—This problem play, treating sympathy from the angle of divorce, has its chief entertainment and showmanship interest in David Jack Holt's remarkable performance.

The serious story of the familiar father-and-son pattern is mainly slow tempo, although satisfactorily contrasted by cleverly developed romance and comedy as it moves to a sock climax.

In the yarn Paul Lukas, an ethical book publisher, is deserted by his luxury-loving wife, Helen Vinson. Following her Reno divorce, Lukas' only solace is his son's company, a condition made more bearable by the friendship of his secretary, Madge Evans, develops for the boy. Miss Vinson's disillusionment in her new husband, Ralph Forbes, is made tragic by the firm insistence by the boy's grandmother, May Robson, that they get the child's custody. On a Christmas mountain holiday, Holt, previously meeting Miss Robson via a comedy coasting accident, precipitates the situation which convinces Miss Robson that Lukas is not a fit guardian for the boy.

Moving into the courtroom, the breaks go against Lukas until Holt rushes in to castigate his mother in a tense sequence which makes Miss Robson and the judge, George Irving, realize the true status of things and assures a happy ending with the boy and Lukas, who will marry Miss Evans.

The yarn is neither new nor different, although Leon Gordon's and Otis Garrett's screen play and Edward Ludwig's direction make good use of what is available. The acting honors go to Holt and Miss Robson, with the other principals, Lukas, Miss Evans, Miss Vinson and Forbes in support.

The picture is an adult attraction of average class with Holt seemingly the most potential interest-creating factor.

"The Flame Within"

(M-G-M)

HOLLYWOOD, May 2.—Intelligent audiences will appreciate Edmund Goulding's sincere production written and directed by himself. It delves into the love complexes of the wealthy Maureen O'Sullivan and frustrated Louis Hayward and Ann Harding, who herself has her emotional problems with devoted Herbert Marshall.

Maureen, suffering from a suicidal intent, and Hayward, suffering from alcoholism, are cured by Ann and marry. Hayward then discovers his love for Ann, but she decides on Marshall, the symbol of protection.

In propelling this delicate subject, Goulding has handled it with dignity and restraint. Although emphasis is placed on romance, the film still remains lofty and a remote clinical survey of emotions under the microscope. Peering thus into the souls of people may leave audiences with mixed reactions.

Miss O'Sullivan's performance as a neurotic enhances her reputation in portraying difficult emotional characters. Hayward, England's new screen personality, is attractive and able. Miss Harding's well-chiseled portrait identifies her more with confidence than sympathy. Marshall, always reliable, plays a secondary role splendidly. Henry Stephenson and George Hassell are fine in support.

Production values are high-class in all respects, from Goulding's direction and Laura Hope Crews' assistance to Jerome Kern's music and James Wong Howe's photography.

Draw names and title lure should get an opening mainly feminine, although follow-up business poses a question.

No production code seal. Running time, 75 minutes. "A."

Short Subjects

"Mickey's Kangaroo"

(Disney—U. A.)

It was Pluto, the dog, that had a local theatre audience howling at his antics in this, the latest of the Mickey Mouse series. Mickey is his usual comical self, but this short is all Pluto and the two new characters, the Kangaroos.

Mickey gets a present of a mother and a baby kangaroo from a friend in Australia. On discovering that the animals box, Mickey puts on the gloves with the mother. He takes a terrific beating and winds up in a hay baling machine. In the meantime Pluto has been chased all over the place by the baby. The four wind up pals, however.

Highly recommended. Production Code Seal, No. 715. Running time, 8½ mins. "G."

"Teacher's Beau"

(Roach-M-G-M)

This "Our Gang" comedy is swell entertainment, particularly on the part of Spanky McFarland and the Cabin Kids, five little singing pickaninnies. The favorite school teacher of the gang announces she is to be married and the kids, thinking they are to lose her, try to break up her romance. They do all in their power to discourage her fiance and when the girl prepares a supper for the children and their parents, they doctor the food only to be forced to eat it themselves when the tables are turned on them.

Highly recommended. Production Code Seal, No. 740. Running time, 20 mins. "G."

"The Little People"

(M-G-M)

Charles ("Chic") Sales is here presented in another of his character sketches. This time he is a woodcutter who teaches the love one should have for creatures of nature. In order to do this Sales takes a little boy on a tour of a stretch of forest and points out all the animals and birds tending their young. The youngster, who had intended to trap these animals, finds his heart softening and learns his lesson. Much of Sales' typical humor is injected to enhance the value of the reel. Recommended. No production code seal. Running time, 9 mins. "G."

Soviet Asks Permit To Use U. S. Scripts

HOLLYWOOD, May 2.—It was revealed here that the Soviet government plans to extend the education of film workers and has submitted the proposal to the local Academy asking producers' permission to publish film scripts in book form. The proposal was submitted by Sergei Eisenstein of the State Cinema University of Moscow.

Twelve of the recently produced scripts are wanted by Russia immediately and the Academy will probably submit the plan to the producers this week.

Skouras Still Touring

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—Charles Skouras has returned here with Andrew Crapman from Hollywood to continue his survey of the local territory. Skouras had returned to Hollywood late last week.

Expect M-G-M To Hold List At 52 Again

Sales Force to Get Word At Detroit Sessions

DETROIT, May 3.—M-G-M officials are expected to tell their eastern regional sales convention, which starts here today, that the company again will have approximately 52 features for the 1935-36 season. The short subject lineup probably will match the current season's output in numerical strength, but it is anticipated word will be passed on that the number of two-reelers will be cut and the output of single reelers correspondingly increased. Details will be divulged on Monday, according to present plans.

No changes in selling personnel are foreshadowed and the anticipation further is that the number of star vehicles for the new season will continue with little or no change.

About 110 home office executives, division and district managers, branch managers, salesmen, office managers, bookers, auditors and exploiteers will attend the three-day meeting at the Book-Cadillac. Felix F. Feist, general sales manager, tops the list with Will-

M-G-M Gets Rowland For Stories, Talent

HOLLYWOOD, May 3.—Richard A. Rowland, who in 1914 organized Metro and headed the company until 1919 when he sold out to Loew's, has rejoined the company he founded under a term contract as special story and talent scout. He will have a roving assignment. Rowland plans to leave for New York shortly and visit Europe later.

Up to the time of his rejoining M-G-M, Rowland was general representative for the RKO-Radio studio in New York. He recently handled the story department in the east while Katherine Brown was enciente.

Koplar Incorporates Neighborhood Group

ST. LOUIS, May 3.—Harry Koplar's new neighborhood theatre venture has been chartered as the St. Louis Suburban Theatres Co. with 25,000 shares of non-par stock and a nominal capital of $1,000.

Incorporators are Koplar, George Wendling and J. Fred Brinkmeyer. In his original announcement Koplar said that he planned to start by erecting four houses.

Ohio Tax Plan Going Over to Fall Session

Senate Recesses Prevent Action at This Time

COLUMBUS, May 3.—Ohio's tax program seems destined for a special session of the Legislature to be called by Governor Davey next fall. The present session has established a record for number of bills introduced affecting the industry, but Senate recesses have prevented action. The session will recess May 16 and adjourn sine die May 23, according to the present plan.

The Senate, which went into a "five minute recess" three weeks ago, was in session this week, but rather inactive. It recessed again today and will reconvene May 14. This plan,

Bay State Legalizes Reels of 4,000 Feet

BOSTON, May 3.—The Legislature today passed a bill legalizing use of 4,000-foot reel in projection machines. This removes an old regulation limiting reels to 2,000 feet.

Operators' Local 182 has passed a resolution forbidding its members from operating with reels longer than 1,000 feet.

One of the arguments used in behalf of the bill was that it would cut down mutilation of film and that the larger reels were part of a nationwide movement.

Boys Cashing In

Kansas City, May 3. — A profitable enterprise is operated by "news butchers" on the trains and at Union Station here. The hawkers report a brisk demand for autographs of this kind.

Extend Time On Submitting Fox Met Offer

The time in which cash offers for Fox Metropolitan Playhouses may be submitted was extended yesterday from today until next Thursday by agreement between the Fox Met bondholders' committee and prospective bidders, with the approval of Federal Judge Julian W. Mack.

The time extension increases the probability of a $4,000,000 cash bid by Paramount, and the company's associates, the Atlas Corp. and H. A. Fortington, had the subject brought to the attention of Trustee Eugene W. Leake yesterday for consideration. Leake, it is understood, will take no

Clearance in 3 More Spots To Get Action

Kansas City, Milwaukee, New Haven Up Next

With the Los Angeles schedule out of the way, Campi within the next few weeks will consider territorial zoning plans for Kansas City, Milwaukee and New Haven.

The coast plan goes into effect May 15, following which Warners are expected to file protests with the local board on the Forum-Uptown reversal by Campi. Code Authority, at a rehearing of the schedule, placed the two houses in one zone after the Los Angeles board had declared them non-competitive. Fox West Coast has a number of situations it wants changed in the schedule, particularly the status of the Balboa. After a two-day hearing on a complaint by F. W. C. on Harry Arthur's house, Campi decided that a number of independent houses in adjoining areas were involved and that complications would arise if any last minute changes were made. Hence, all matters pertaining to the Balboa were thrown back to the local board, which Code Authority admitted, was better acquainted with the situation to handle it.

Exactly 49 appeals were disposed of Thursday. Unfinished business will come up next Thursday.

Colonels Get the Facts

LOUISVILLE, May 3.—Vital statistics—or, maybe, they weren't so vital—were presented to the Kentucky colonels at their annual pre-Derby banquet attended by Gov. Ruby Laffoon tonight.

For instance, Col. John Alicoate, commanding general of the Honorable Order of Kentucky Colonels, told them that 62 per cent of the membership had smelled powder in battle. Most of those present were so surprised they looked around to see what the other 38 per cent of non-battle veterans looked like. They were holding up well in spite of the juleps.

Col. Alicoate also told them the average age of Kentucky colonels was 42 years and the average weight 158.

says Senator Paul M. Yoder, majority leader, is consistent with the Senate's program, which calls for no new taxes, and no unnecessary expense in considering unimportant bills. The upper branch, however, will pass unimportant and "pet" measures of the House, but the Ward income tax bill, and similar legislation involving the industry, will die in committee.

Governor Davey has indicated that he will reconvene the Assembly early in the fall, by which time it is expected a new taxation program will be ready for presentation.

Seek Mass. Walkathon Ban

BOSTON, May 3.—Marathon dances, walkathons and endurance skating contests will be banned in Massachusetts, if a bill to be filed shortly by Representative Charles H. Shea of Cambridge, is passed. Shea, who is also a city councillor, has submitted an ordinance in Cambridge to limit the appearance of contestants to four hours a day, which must be completed before midnight and before 11:45 Saturday nights. Entertainments, dancing and other such tieups would be forced to close at the same time. Mayor Richard M. Russell of Cambridge has already refused to grant a Sunday license to a walkathon.

action until he has consulted with Charles D. Hilles, the second Paramount trustee, who is now out of town but expected back on Monday. If the trustees regard the proposal favorably it is believed that the company's principal creditors would be canvassed for their views before any definite action was taken. If the proposal had sufficient creditor support it would still require the approval of Federal Judge Alfred C. Coxe.

The probable bid from B. S. Moss and associated interests is also benefited by the time extension, as this group was not prepared to make its decision until early next week.

Modifications of the reorganization plan proposed by Joseph M. Schenck will be in readiness for submission to the Fox Met bondholders' committee today and Si Fabian's on Monday.

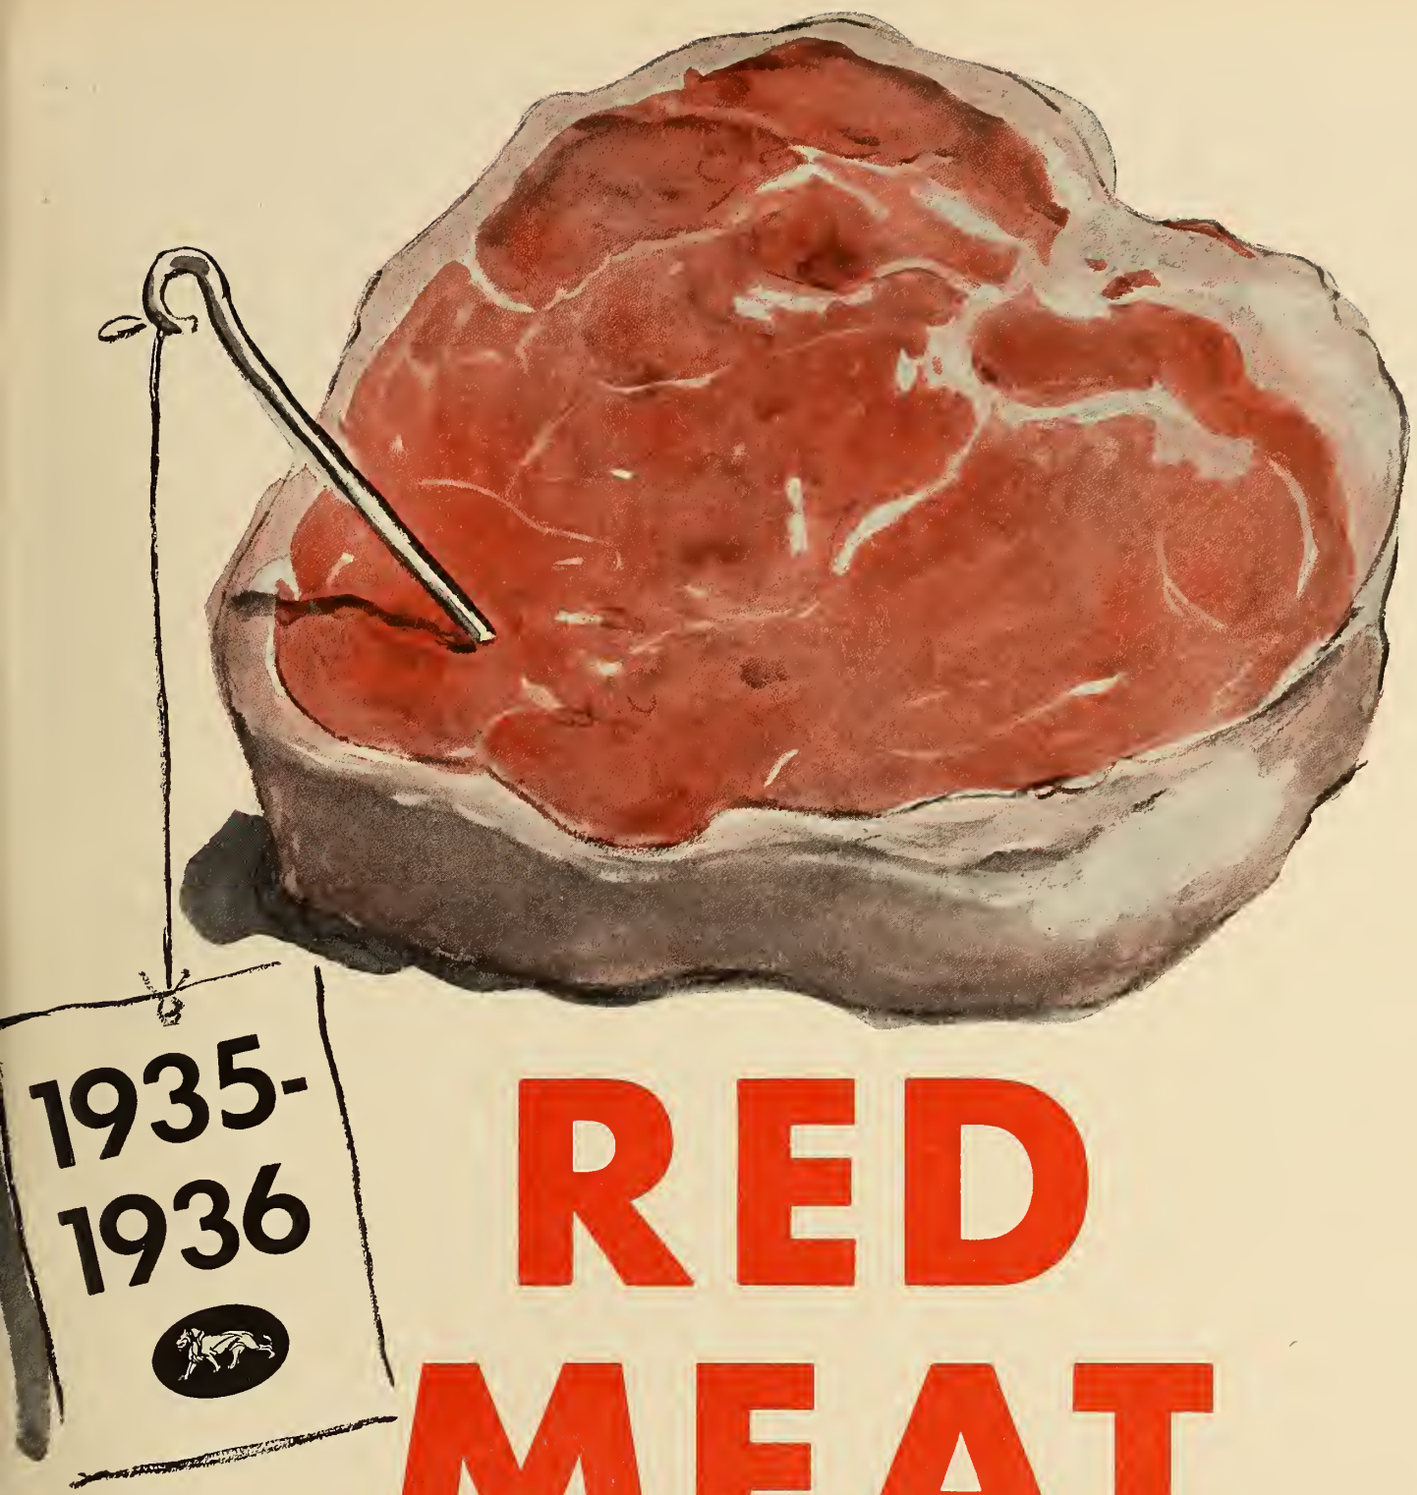
not be granted. No objectors appeared. The motion for approval was presented by Monroe Goldwater of Goldwater & Flynn, attorneys for the trustees. Appearing for the U. S. Reconstruction Finance Corp., Frank T. Plimpton of Debevoise, Stephenson and Plimpton, said that the corporation gave its "silent consent."

The order for the approval will be transmitted to U. S. District Judge Coxe in Manhattan, before whom the Paramount Publix plan is pending.



Also before Judge Inch was an order to show cause why Allied Owners' own plan of reorganization should not be approved. This was delayed for further hearing May 17, when the court was informed that the Reconstruction Finance Corp. would not give its consent until an income tax claim had been settled. The claim, with interests, amounts to approximately $20,000. Attorneys stated that an agreement on this had been reached and that a check would be tendered some time next week, thus clearing the way for approval.

"G-Men" Gets Some Fine N. Y. Reviews

The excitement in "G-Men" excited New York critics into rave notices, a boildown of their comment shows.

What they think of the picture at the Strand goes something like this:

American—* * * ushers in the most pulse-quickening cinematic cycle since the exciting days of the prohibition exposes.

Daily Mirror—* * * a wildly exciting, vigorous and handsome thriller * * * It is a smashing melodrama, with a kick and with a purpose.

Daily News (*)—The picture is so absorbing, so thrilling, and has been done with such excellence . . .

Evening Journal—And "G Men" is more than a good picture—it's about the most exciting entertainment that has yet come out of Hollywood. Packed with fast and furious action, taking up a theme that's vigorous and alive, and unfolded in staccato tempo, it will hold you breathless

Herald-Tribune—Not since "The Public Enemy" startled film-goers with its stark and brutal reconstruction of gangster activities has there come so compelling a photoplay of the underworld * * * a tremendously gripping screen offering * * *

Post—Socko! Another red-blooded cinema triumph for the Strand! You haven't seen a movie thriller until you've gaped and gulped and gasped in frenzied excitement at "G" men." * * * Here is, indeed, the roughest, toughest, shootingest, fightingest film since "The Public Enemy."

Sun—The gangster is back, racing madly through one of the fastest melodramas ever made, scattering death and destruction over the screen, giving the Strand Theatre audience enough excitement to last them for weeks, or until the next of the new cycle comes along.

Times—* * * contains several episodes (easily identified with actual occurrences in the war on crime) which have scarcely been equaled for excitement and dramatic vigor since "The Public Enemy" and "Little Caesar." . . .

World-Telegram—* * * a swell show * * * recommended as good, solid, arresting entertainment of its kind.

Schlesinger Testifies Erpi Hindered Deals

WILMINGTON, May 3.—Max A. Schlesinger, president of General Talking Pictures, declared that obstacles were placed in his path in dealing with producers in testifying today in the trust suit of his company and Duovac Radio against Erpi, Western Electric and A. T. & T.

Schlesinger related how in an effort to license Paramount and Universal through meetings with Adolph Zukor and Carl Laemmle he was allegedly held up long enough by J. E. Otterson, president of Erpi, whom he had also conferred with, to fail to make deals.

He declared Zukor and Laemmle told him they had some sort of understanding with Erpi whereby they were to negotiate with Erpi only.

The deposition of Reynolds B. Wilbanks, manager of the Paramount exchange, Charlotte, N. C., said he was ordered by the home office to assist and contact Clifford Bestar, Erpi representative in North and South Carolina. The deposition added Wilbanks was informed by the Erpi representative that since major films were produced on Erpi equipment they had to be reproduced on Erpi equipment first. N. W. Davis, Warners' manager in Charlotte, told Wilbanks, according to the deposition, he (Davis) would not sell pictures of major producers to non-users of Erpi equipment.

Hamilton Theatres Gains

TORONTO, May 3.—Hamilton United Theatres, Ltd., showed a net income for 1934, after expenses, depreciation, Federal taxes and other charges, of $40,782. This is equivalent to $5.18 a share on 7,879 preferred shares, against $37,726, or $4.79 a preferred share in 1933.

Kentucky Colonels Receive the Facts

Col. Myles Lasker was about 100 pounds over average. He has gained since the Armistice.

Others present besides Alicoate included Hal Roach, Bert Wheeler, Robert Woolsey, C. C. Pettijohn, Jack Connelly, Ted Curtis, Bill German, Max Stuart, Don Mersereau, Rudy Vallee, Joe Frisco, William R. Ferguson and Jack Dempsey and his wife.

Favorite pastimes, it was stated, were hunting, fishing, horse racing, football, baseball, tennis. Hobbies included reading. Perusing race charts and beverage recipes came under this heading. Favorite authors—all colonels—were Irvin Cobb, S. S. Van Dine, Peter B. Kyne, E. Phillips Oppenheim and others. Favorite actors—and actresses—were Mae West, George Arliss, Claudette Colbert, Wallace Beery, Myrna Loy, Shirley Temple, Jack Benny, Eddie Cantor and Morton Downey.

And the fun went on while it rained outside.

Favorite horses were discussed, too.

Dual Clauses Hang on U. S. Court Appeal

Bans to Be Airtight If Decision Permits

Airtight anti-double featuring clauses will be incorporated in new season sales contracts by a majority of large distributors if the Philadelphia Federal district court's decision holding such clauses to be illegal is reversed when the pending appeal is heard by the higher court, it was learned on Saturday.

Conversely, it was said, if the lower court's ruling is upheld by the appeals court, double featuring may go unrestricted insofar as new season sales contracts are concerned.

The Philadelphia case, brought by Harry Perelman, an exhibitor, was tried before Federal Judge George A. Welsh last December, to force major distributors to eliminate from their contracts the clauses prohibiting double featuring of their product. The

By RED KANN

HE won't go for the use of his name, but beyond that his observations are yours this morning to do with as you will. The authority is the film buyer of one of the five national circuits and his topic is data on pictures, their number and their quality, in the 1933-34 and the 1934-35, or current, seasons. The highlights:

(1) Eighty-seven per cent of product sold last season was delivered. This season, he anticipates, will finish with the same quota of deliveries.

(2) Thirteen per cent, or the obvious difference between one hundred and eighty-seven, represents the mortality rate—those pictures promised and sold at the outset of the amusement year, but never delivered because of studio difficulties, "Acts of God," switches to the succeeding program, or a change of production heart and mind. . . .

Transcribed into terms of numerical equations, his observations are these:

(1) Last season, the eight majors delivered 314 features, exclusive of westerns. This year's running chart indicates an identical performance.

(2) Combined releases from major production sources, therefore, reduce themselves to six a week in average and by calculation, but not quite always that in point of delivery. Often release dates are missed and the consequence of that is a booking problem which persuades the circuits —all of them—to lean on independent product for immediate playdates. There is, too, the situation of release dates of unusual pictures crowding in to the ultimate embarrassment of booking departments and to the benefit of the public, such as frequent Loew and RKO neighborhood theatres, which recently got "Roberta" and "Ruggles" on one bill and "Naughty Marietta" and "Ruggles" on another as cheaply as a dime for "early bird" matinees. . . .

As to quality, meaning box-office quality naturally, his dope sheet, predicated on grosses, shows this:

(1) Twenty per cent of 1933-34 deliveries were A. Twenty per cent were B and 60 per cent C. The year now rapidly waning reflects a jump in B attractions which, in turn, means a shrinkage in C. The breakdown maintains A at twenty, B at thirty and C at fifty.

As you might suspect, A remains as is and, while it is the low percentage division, actually it is a high percentage division, according to this department's analysis. . . .

One of every six a wow attraction provides a pleasant contemplation. On the basis of 314 releases a year, this means one a week. Of course, such a state of affairs never has been throughout all the years of the film business. You'd be surprised how quickly the yells and shouts of complaint would give way to chortles of delight if such a condition prevailed. There are those in Hollywood as well as in New York who would tell you it is impossible; that a smash every week, regardless of source, is all the millenniums rolled into one. If they are wrong, the privilege to be so is properly theirs for the facts, it is sad to relate, are completely arrayed on their side. . . .

Robert Edmond Jones foresees the industry reaching its stride in color by the fall. He gets far closer to the answer when he declares the problem of what to do and how far to go is more an artistic than a technical one and will depend upon the inherent appreciation of those who take the job in hand. It was only a few years ago when the Warners took the jump on the rest of the field through a priority contract with Technicolor. Thereafter, Warner product blossomed in natural and some unnatural hues and continued on its way until the arbiter of matters such as these, meaning the public, induced a halt. . . .

Color, in some form or other about which we are not at all certain, has a place. To determine what and how much place is the troublesome point. Color is not always essential for effect. The macabre black and white photography which emphasizes the eerie qualities of "The Bride of Frankenstein" and some of the halftones achieved by Lee Garmes in "The Scoundrel" have color and emphasis both. Color can be incorporated and its import conveyed without the actual use of color. Or does that sound like a conundrum? . . .

Early reports that Invincible and Chesterfield would swing into the Republic setup are discounted. Now Nat Levine, from the coast, issues forth with a statement emphatic that Mascot won't as well.

An inside story, closely held, credits Republic's plans running to fifty pictures in its first season which gets going in the fall. Apparent failure to tie in the above companies in which Herb Yates' word carries plenty of weight would seem to make the half-hundred objective remote. Or fairly so, at any rate. . . .

Federal income tax and provision for possible losses on loans and advances was $262,620.11. The board set aside $195,000 as provision for possible losses on loans and advances made in 1934.

Gross income, including the Bound Brook laboratory and non-operating income which included DuPont Film dividends, was $262,620.11, considerably below 1933. Interest on funded debt and premiums on bonds redeemed reduced this by $144,625.85. Federal income taxes totalled $1,700.

Total assets and liabilities are listed at $5,576,303.74.

Variety Club Chatter

Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, May 5. — New clubrooms in the Country Club Plaza were opened auspiciously with a housewarming which drew about 400. With a continuous round of goings-on, impromptu and otherwise, and dancing in the Plaza Hall, festivities really were colossal.

WILLIAM WAGNER was major domo in charge with HARRY TAYLOR vice-chairman and these committee members: BARNEY JOFFEE, WILLIAM WARNER, FINTON JONES, FRANK C. HENSLER, ROBERT F. WITHERS, T. R. THOMPSON, BENNY BENJAMIN, JOE MANFRE.

The Country Club Plaza Ass'n gave the club a rousing welcome at the first luncheon meeting in the Plaza district. The turnout, estimated at close to 400, was the largest luncheon crowd in the club's history. H. MERLE SMITH greeted the club as an important addition to the Plaza section.

ARTHUR COLE was chairman, with MARTIN and LEO FINKELSTEIN as cokings for the day. BILL WAGNER also had a hand in the affairs. Turns from the Tower Theatre and other acts entertained. Barkers that were lucky won prizes, donated by Plaza merchants.

JOHN L. SWARTS, formerly at the Newman, has been employed as business manager of the club.

FRED L. WOLFSON is new canvasman, replacing G. L. CARRINGTON, who has been transferred to New York by Erpi. EARL JAMESON is new house committee member, replacing JACK CAMERON, resigned.

Initiations will be held Friday nights, and for this function Chief Barker GEORGE BAKER has named this committee: HENSLER, WOLFSON, JONES, DR. CLIFFORD L. GILLIS.

Two delegates and two alternates will be picked from this slate for the national Variety Club convention in Pittsburgh May 18 and 19: R. R. BIECHELE, ARTHUR COLE, IRWIN DUBINSKY, HENSLER, JONES, R. C. LIBEAU, CHARLES SHAFER, TAYLOR, T. R. THOMPSON, BOB WITHERS.

Dual Clauses Hang on U. S. Court Appeal

restrictions had been embodied in the sales contracts in the Philadelphia and certain other territories, but were not standardized nor in effect nationally. The Philadelphia district court held that the clauses resulted in collusion and restraint of trade and declared them to be illegal. An appeal was immediately taken to the higher court by the defendant distributors and is expected to be heard before the new selling season is far advanced.

If the appeal is successful from the distributor viewpoint, and results in a reversal of the lower court's ruling, the contract dual bans would be legalized and would be employed on a large scale, probably nationally, to prohibit the showing of subscribing companies' pictures on the same program with a second feature. Authoritative distributor opinion holds that a probable minimum of six major distributors would make use of the contract bans next season if they were legalized. These are United Artists-20th Century, M-G-M, Paramount, Fox, Radio and Warners. Universal and Columbia, it is believed, would not reverse their position of opposing double featuring restrictions.

If the pending appeal cannot be decided before the opening of the new selling season, it was said, distributors would probably incorporate the dual ban clause in their new contracts with its enforcement being made subject to the court's decision, when made.

Rialto, Roxy Tussle For "Frankenstein"

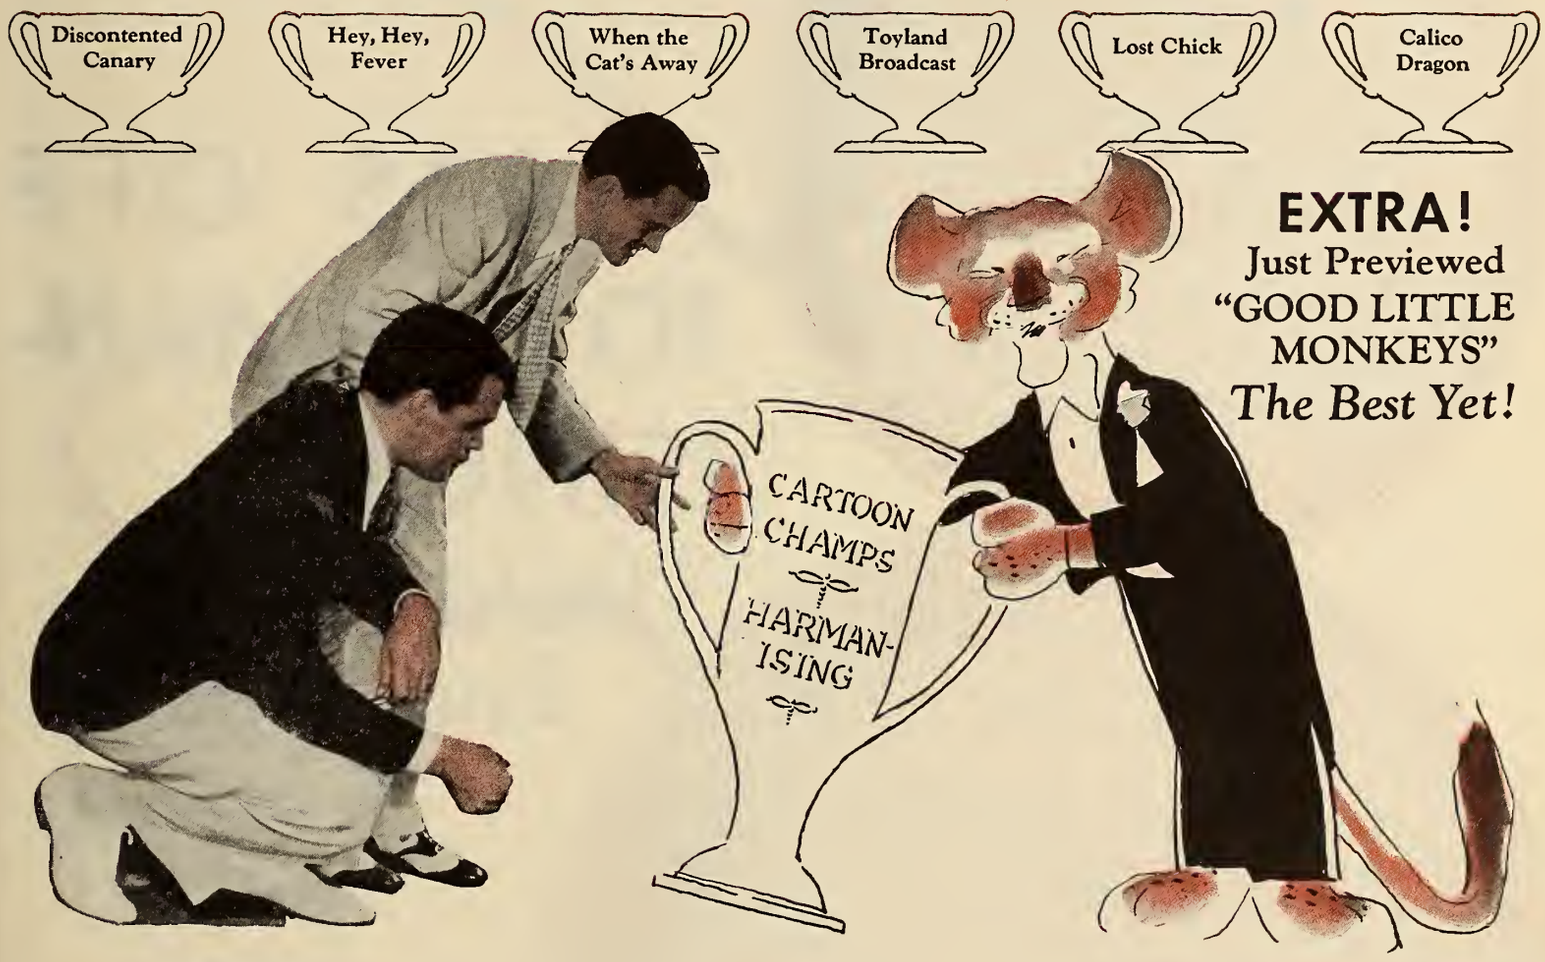
Rialto, is scheduled to be heard by Judge William Bondy tomorrow.

The Rialto claims its agreement with the Roxy gives it first call on all films of a crime or mystery theme which have been rejected by the Music Hall and that therefore it is entitled to the Universal picture in dispute. The Roxy has claimed the picture on the grounds that the agreement with the Rialto does not specifically cover pictures of the Frankenstein type. The Rialto offered to submit the dispute to arbitration but the Roxy refused, although, it is understood, new efforts to settle the question outside of court will be made today.



In the meantime, "Mr. Dynamite" has been spotted into the Roxy for Friday in the event the dispute is not cleared away by the end of the week.

M-G-M Real Novelty

It looks like a smash novelty in the animated field that may revolutionize the whole technique. Done in Technicolor, with most of the characters presented dressed in calico material that actually shows as material on the screen. Not the lines of a cartoon character. How the intriguing effect is produced is the secret of the producers. But it's a pip. A Letter to M-G-M

Gentlemen:

To hold any subject over for a second week at the West Coast Theatre in Long Beach, it must be good. But to hold over a subject when the second week is Easter Week, it must be VERY good.

Yet that was our experience with the colored cartoon, "THE CALICO DRAGON".

So splendid was the audience reaction during the first week of its showing, and so great was the word-of-mouth "build-up" toward the end of the first week, we felt compelled to play it another seven days . . . despite a complete change of the surrounding program.

And you will be interested to know that audience reaction during the second week, when thousands saw it again, was just as favorable as during the first.

Our hats are off to Harman-Ising!

"Your Dance" Gets $25,000 In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, May 5. — Only the Stanley, with "Go Into Your Dance" and Gene Raymond in person, found any ray of sunshine in Easter Week. All the others were down in the dumps. It was the Stanley's best week under the present price scale at $25,000.

Several disappointments cropped up in the week's last. "Reckless," with a stage show, never got started at the Penn and wound up weakly at $17,500. The Alvin started strong with "Princess O'Hara" and A. B. Marcus' "Continental Revue," but trade fizzled out after the first few days and takings dropped to $9,000.

Like the Penn and Stanley, the Fulton, had a musical, "George White's 1935 Scandals," giving the town a deluge of song-and-dance films, but it couldn't get going, either, attracting only around $3,750. The Warner picked up a bit with "Laddie" and "McFadden's Flats," doing $4,600, which isn't bad.

Total first run grosses were $59,850. Average is $56,500.

Estimated takings for the week ending April 26:

"PRINCESS O'HARA" (Univ.)
ALVIN—(2,000), 25c-40c, 6 days. Stage: A. B. Marcus' "Continental Revue." Gross: $9,000. (Average, $10,000)

"GEORGE WHITE'S 1935 SCANDALS" (Fox)
FULTON—(1,750), 15c-40c, 6 days. Gross: $3,750. (Average, $4,500)

"RECKLESS" (M-G-M)
PENN—(3,300), 25c-40c, 6 days. Stage: Isham Jones' band, Cookie Bowers, Audrey and Severn, Harris Twins and Loretto, Abbott and Tannen. Gross: $17,500. (Average, $19,000)

"GO INTO YOUR DANCE" (Warners)
STANLEY—(3,600), 25c-40c, 6 days. Stage: Gene Raymond and Gus Arnheim's band, with Gene Sheldon, the Downey Sisters, Jimmy Newell and Maxine Tappen. Gross: $25,000. (Average, $18,000)

"LADDIE" (Radio)
"McFADDEN'S FLATS" (Para.)
WARNER—(2,000), 25c-40c, 6 days. Gross: $4,600. (Average, $5,000)

Giles Staff Remembered

BOSTON, May 5. — Employes of George A. Giles, circuit owner and M.P.T.O. president, who died recently, are remembered in his will with bequests running from $100 to $3,000. The will stipulates that all workers who had been with his firm three years at the time of his death must receive at least $100. The bulk of the estate went to the widow and two children.

Ohio Passes "G Men"

COLUMBUS, May 5. — Action of the Chicago board had no effect on the Ohio censors, who passed "G Men" without a single deletion.

Senator August Weber, chairman of the Ohio state crime commission, who witnessed the screening, said: "The psychology of the picture is excellent."

Errol, Catlett Signed

HOLLYWOOD, May 5.—Leon Errol and Walter Catlett have been signed by Radio to make a series of two-reel comedies. Lee Marcus will supervise.

Looking 'Em Over

"Once in a Blue Moon"

(Paramount)

It will probably be only "once in a blue moon" that exhibitors will discover a patron able to tell just what Ben Hecht and Charles MacArthur were driving at when they produced this picture. It contains everything from a wrestling match staged by two professional grapplers to an exhibition of pantomime by its past master, Jimmy Savo. It starts as a farce, switches to fantasy and then straight comedy. From that point on it rambles back and forth from one to another of the three.

There is little doubt that that fine pantomimist, Savo, has screen possibilities, but this vehicle, however, is hardly worthy of him.

The story, written by Hecht and MacArthur from an original by Rose Caylor (Mrs. Hecht), concerns Russia immediately after the World War. Savo, a traveling mountebank, rescues a fleeing family of aristocrats and falls in love with a young girl of the family. In getting out of Russia many and varied are the experiences they encounter and Savo digs deeply into his bag of tricks. The ending, rather pathetic and one to arouse sympathy from audiences for Savo, has him returning to his old life, without his love.

The camera work of Lee Garmes is excellent and does much to create what entertainment value there is in the film. The accompanying musical score of George Antheuil is very effective and appropriate.

The cast, besides Savo, includes Whitney Bourne, Nikita Balieff, Sandor Szabo, Cecelia Loftus, Edwina Armstrong, George Andre, Hans Steinke, Michael Dalmatoff, J. Charles Gilbert and Jackie Borene.

The reception accorded this film is extremely doubtful. Production Code Seal No. 555. Running time, 75 minutes. "G."

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Black Sheep"

(Sol Wurtzel-Fox)

HOLLYWOOD, May 5.—This fast-moving comedy-drama played aboard a transatlantic liner gives Edmund Lowe acting opportunities which he plays to the hilt. Cast as a card sharp working the boats, Lowe finds Tom Brown under the spell of Adrienne Ames, jewel thief and vamp, and in debt to Eugene Pallette and Jed Prouty, poker experts who have trimmed him honestly. With the help of Claire Trevor, an actress, Lowe helps Brown out of his trouble and discovers he is his own son, the offspring of a previous morganatic marriage.

The action is well paced for suspense as Lowe is trailed by Ford Sterling, a detective, who watches him, knowing his gambling record. In a romance built with sympathetic interest Lowe and Miss Trevor merge.

Allan Dwan, who directed and wrote the original, has given fresh twists to the situations, evolving a thoroughly entertaining picture.

Outstanding performances are turned in by Pallette, Prouty and Sterling, who, with the assistance of Herbert Mundin as a drunk, furnishes most of the comedy. Allen Rivkin's screen play is swell.

The film should be well received by every type of audience, as it is well-above-average entertainment.

No production code seal. Running time, 76 minutes. "G."

Osterberg Is Again Target; Shots Miss

CHICAGO, May 5.—Aspiring assassins shot at and missed Clyde Osterberg, scarred sponsor of the defunct Independent Union of M. P. Operators, as he walked with his wife near their home. Foozling his shots, the trigger man clipped his victim on the conk with his cannon and ran. This is Osterberg's first appearance in the trenches since taking his now famous beating in the union offices after firing on the late Tom Maloy and nicking the omnipresent Emmett Quinn. He says he won't talk.

Gassaway to Speak At M. P. Club Forum

Percy L. Gassaway, the Oklahoma cowboy congressman who says things about Huey Long with vigorous western adjectives, will be the principal speaker at the Motion Picture Club Forum tomorrow. His topic will be "The United States Today."

If the congressman appears in the costumes he uses for the newsreels, he'll be worth seeing as well as hearing. He wears one of those 10-gallon hats. western boots, shoestring tie and frock coat. He will make a special trip from Washington for the speech.

"Honeymoon," Mills Hit in Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, May 5. — Gross honors for Easter week went to the Mainstreet, where a stage show headed by Mills Bros. in their initial Kansas City appearance and "Murder on a Honeymoon" on the screen drew $16,000, doubling par for combination bills.

"Reckless," the Midland showing, turned in a big $12,000. Will Rogers stayed out a third week in "Life Begins at 40" at the Uptown, and garnered $3,400.

Total first run business was $41,800. Average is $31,700.

Estimated takings:

Week Ending April 24:

Week Ending April 26:

"LIFE BEGINS AT 40" (Fox)
UPTOWN—(2,000), 25c-40c, 7 days, 3rd week. Gross: $3,400. (Average, $3,500.)

"Strangers," Show Top in Providence

PROVIDENCE, May 5. — High take for the week went to the RKO Albee, where the justly famous Boswell Sisters and the film, "Strangers All," chalked up a total of $10,500. Average for this house is $7,000. The Strand, with "Private Worlds," and "Great God Gold," came next in line, garnering $9,200. Loew's found "Richelieu" rather too much of a class attraction and did only $10,000 where more was expected.

With "Spring Tonic" and "Neapolitan Varieties," the latter a stage revue, Fay's took $7,800 and the Majestic was $500 over par with "Black Fury."

Total first run business was $46,050. Average is $40,500.

Estimated takings for the week ending May 2:

"BLACK FURY" (Warners)
"MARY JANE'S PA" (Warners)

Suit Threats Pop Up After Jersey Ruling

and in the event bookers fail to deliver the subjects, he will file suit for damages, Charnow states.

Adam Adams of the Park Lane, Palisades Park, who formerly played ahead of the Leonia and now according to Code Authority's stipulation, must wait seven days after Charnow, has also notified the exchanges to deliver his pictures according to the terms of his contracts. He says failure to comply will result in legal action.

Adams did not stop with the letters to branch heads. He has also filed a clearance and zoning complaint against the Leonia, stating that the two houses are in competition. The issue comes before the New Jersey advisory board today.

Up to Saturday, local distribution heads refused to serve Charnow. They want to know who will make up the difference in film rentals. Campi says that code decisions supersede contracts and that the Leonia must be served in accordance with the order. Exchange heads are asking who will fight the threatened suits.

Meanwhile, Allied of New Jersey members are getting together and planning to give Charnow a testimonial dinner in celebration of his victory. Charnow is a vice-president of the unit. His case was before the various code boards for seven and a half months before he got the decision. Allied figures that Charnow deserves the blowout on the ground that he is first Allied man to win a code nod of any importance.

Stop Oshkosh Giveaway

MILWAUKEE, May 5.—The Strand, Oshkosh, has been ordered to discontinue country store nights by the grievance board. Complaint against the house was brought by Wisconsin Amusement Enterprises' Rex and the Grand in that city.

A complaint brought by George Fischer, operator of the Milwaukee, before the clearance and zoning board was dismissed and he was advised to file a complaint against exchanges which are permitting the Savoy to play pictures before the house is entitled to them under the clearance schedule.

End Detroit School Shows

DETROIT, May 5.—After hearing testimony on the complaint filed by Alex Slendak, Conant Theatre, against Copernicus Junior High School, the grievance board ruled that showings at 10 cents for 1,500 students were unfair competition. Film service was ordered stopped within five days.

Both Sides Get Order

KANSAS CITY, May 5.—Complainant and respondent both were ordered by the grievance board to discontinue charging an admission below contract stipulation, in a decision involving the Fox Midland, Pittsburg, Kan., on compaint filed by J. A. Lenski, Cozy, same town.

Stop a Loew Giveaway

BOSTON, May 5.—E. M. Loew has been ordered to stop giving out premiums in New Bedford. The case, brought by Oze Tessier, Jr., of the Royal, had established a new record for adjournments. Loew has appealed from the grievance board decision.

Among Leo's Best Friends

DETROIT, May 5.—No morning session scheduled today for the Emgeemers conventioning here, so plenty of sleep was had by all.

WILLIAM F. RODGERS, BILL SCULLY, JACK BOWEN, DAVE LEVY, RUDY BERGER and a couple of the other boys matched stories about their recent vacations in Miami.

JACK BYRNE is trying to find a sizable opponent for a few rounds of handball. He's the M-G-M champ and the title extends further than New Haven, where he is ensconced.

HOWARD DIETZ wishes he had MORRIS KUTISKER on the local battlefield for a round of ping-pong. DIETZ is having a hard time trying to get a second hand for the celluloid pill tussle.

EMANUEL COHEN, Pittsburgh salesman, is taking a lot of kidding. The boys claim they heard the name before in connection with Paramount. COHEN denies it.

BOB LYNCH and GEORGE SCHWARTZ of the Quaker City office have been making so many trips to Chicago in connection with the Loew theatre invasion plan that they figure this city nearer home than Philadelphia.

SOLLY GOTTLIEB, now attached to the Pittsburgh staff, can remember way back in the old days when he was an office boy for Loew's when the circuit had its headquarters in the building where the Paramount structure on Broadway now stands. Those were the good old days, he says.

RALPH PIELOW, Albany head, is renewing acquaintances with the New York and New Jersey group. PIELOW, before assuming the Albany helm, was attached to JACK BOWEN's sales force. And now he's just nuts about Albany.

MAURICE WOLF, branch manager in Boston, is a man of some distinction. He is president of the Boston Friars, comprising 125 members of the industry in his town. TOM DONALDSON of the same office is chairman of the house committee.

HARRY MARGOLIES, office manager of the Charlotte office, while continuing in the lineup of personnel under BILL SCULLY's jurisdiction, last year was a booker at the New York exchange.

BILLY FERGUSON's display and surprises were commended generally. FERGUSON did a marvelous job, considering the short notice he was given.

FRANK SCULLY of the Washington force is having somewhat of a family reunion with his brother BILL, eastern district head.

FRED C. QUIMBY is anticipating a lot of huddling with HAL ROACH when the short subject producer arrives from Hollywood by plane. ROACH was not definitely set on his new plans when he left New York about 10 days ago. After conferences with M-G-M studio executives and HENRY GINSBERG, ROACH is expected to detail the lineup when he gets here.

ALEX WEISMAN of the Buffalo staff at one time was with the New York exchange. He then left to join Columbia in Buffalo and now is back selling Leo's products.

Openings Gain As Confidence Shows Return

600-seater. Lee Malcarni is building a new house at Clinton, Conn., and J. P. Pollard is putting up a 200-seater at Bingham, Me.

The Opera House at Alton, N. H., has been opened by A. Twombley. C. Stafford has taken over the Auditorium at Stowe, Vt., from H. E. Pike and has reopened it. Oze Tessier, Jr., has sold the Bailies Square at New Bedford to A. Marcos. The Chatham at Chatham, Mass., will be opened May 4 by Moore & Fitzgerald.

Other openings are: Capitol, Middletown, Conn.; Alhambra, West Sullivan, Me.; Opera House, Princeton, Me.; Cummings, Fitchburg, Mass., Mansfield, Underhill, Vt.

Loew's State in the Back Bay section is to have its seating capacity enlarged by 300 by removing lower tier boxes. This will make the total 3,837, second only to the Metropolitan.

The Majestic, now dark, is to be taken over by the Shuberts.

Detroit Houses Are Sold

DETROIT, May 5.—Several changes in ownership are reported. Bernard Trokey has taken over the Dunbar from Central Amusement Co., and Wally Baker is managing the house; Al Braver is the new proprietor of the Medbury, having bought out Sol Korman, and Gus Greening is managing the Mack for a corporation which has purchased the theatre from Jack Krass.

Fred B. Miller, formerly operator of the Loyal, now being run by Lou Goodman, is supervising the construction of the new theatre being built by Hattie Sloan at East Warren and Outer drive, and will manage it upon completion. It is still unnamed.

an extent never before rivaled in its history. Results of billboard campaigns on pictures like "Chained," earlier in the season and now on "Reckless" are reported to have satisfied the company that its large expenditures were well spent. The same conclusion applies to magazine campaigns on "David Copperfield," "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" and "Treasure Island."

Today's program provides for a review of the current season's record by Felix Feist, general sales manager, and William F. Rodgers, eastern division sales head.

Tomorrow Feist will analyze the 1935-36 sales policy, detailing the number of pictures each star will make. Fred C. Quimby will give conventioneers a breakdown on the shorts.

Also Sets 177 Releases For Shorts Lineup

DETROIT, May 6.—M-G-M will release 49 features next season, the eastern sales convention at the Book-Cadillac was told today. It also was informed of 20 definite designations by star and title. In the short subject division, the company will have 177 releases, 104 issues of Hearst Metrotone News included.

The 1935-36 lineup will be headed by six specials. They are:

"China Seas," co-starring Wallace Beery, Clark Gable and Jean Harlow.

"A Tale of Two Cities" with Ronald Colman in the lead and promised "on the same ambitious scale" as "David Copperfield."

"The Forty Days of Musa Dagh," based on Franz Werfel's novel.

"Broadway Melody of 1936," musical with "large group of stars."

"The Great Ziegfeld" starring William Powell.

"Wife Versus Secretary," a joint vehicle for several stars, unnamed.

Wages in '33 Were 25% of Theatre Cost

Government statistics on theatre wages in 1933 appear on pages 6, 7 and 13.

By BERTRAM F. LINZ

WASHINGTON, May 6.—Theatres spent $85,422,000, or approximately 25 per cent of their total operating expenses of $408,874,000, on wages and salaries in 1933, according to final figures on the theatre census conducted by the Department of Commerce. The analysis covers cities of 50,000 population and over.

The information consists of the number of theatres, their box-office receipts, the average number of full-time employes, and the total payroll, including wages for part-time workers, the number of whom is not shown.

For the country as a whole, the average number of full-time employes in 1933 in theatres of all types was 63,136, their wage payments aggregating $80,519,000, giving an average annual wage of $1,275. The average number of part-time workers was 12,857 whose earnings aggregated $4,903,000.

Code Hearing Ends in Talk Of Court Move

When it was learned no relief could be obtained within 48 hours, Peter and Adam Adams of the Park Lane, Palisades Park, N. J., through H. A. Toner, attorney, yesterday withdrew their clearance and zoning complaint against the Leonia, Leonia, N. J., and local exchanges. It was indicated that a restraining order will be sought today against Fox, which has dated "The Little Colonel" into the Leonia for three days starting Thursday.

The hearing never really got under way. After the complaint had been read at the request of Joe Lee, chairman, Irving Greenfield of Loew's asked for a two-day postponement. The Loew attorney sought the delay on the ground that David Loew, who was familiar with the issue, was home ill. Greenfield stated he got the papers only two hours before the meeting.

The board, comprising Jack Bellman, Don Jacocks, Lee, John M. Benas, Irving Dollinger and Harry Hecht, after an hour's deliberation decided to hold off until Monday all testimony referring to Loew's Embassy, North Bergen, in deference to Loew.

Toner then asked if he could get

Paramount to Make Fox Met Bid 4 Million

Ready to Put Up Cash If Court Extends Time

Paramount will make a bid of $4,000,000 or $4,500,000 in cash for Fox Metropolitan Playhouses if sufficient time can be obtained in which to arrange financing for the offer, it was learned on good authority yesterday.

Sufficient interest in the acquisition of Fox Met by Paramount was shown by a canvass of the company's leading creditor committees to warrant Trustees Eugene Leake and Charles D. Hilles to proceed with arrangements for the submission of a bid when and if the necessary time dispensation is obtained. Estimates within Paramount fix the amount of time required at from two weeks to a month. The present deadline on cash bids expires Thursday when the Fox Met bondholders' committee is scheduled to report back to Federal Judge Julian W. Music Hall May Get Bergner on May 23 the Music Hall on May 23. Negotiations are on between the theatre and the distributor.

Following "The Informer," which goes into the house starting Thursday, will be Katharine Hepburn in "Break of Hearts."

Revival of "Little Miss Marker" took a nosedive at the Astor and was pulled after three days. During its short run, the Shirley Temple film garnered about $800. "Gay Divorcee" is now current. "Mark of the Vampire," which is being day-and-dated at the Mayfair and Rialto, will probably gross around $8,000 at the former house for the week ending tomorrow afternoon. It is headed for about $10,000 at the Rialto.

An $80,000 gross for "The Scoundrel" in its premiere week at the Music Hall was predicted yesterday by officials of Paramount on the basis of business done over the week-end. National release on the picture has been set for June 14.

Comerford Still Gaining

WASHINGTON, May 6.—Condition of M. E. Comerford continues to show improvement, according to Dr. Walter A. Bloedorn, attending physician, who reports that the patient is continuing his daily exercise and relaxation in the solarium of Emergency Hospital.

Dr. Bloedorn reports that Comerford probably will be able to leave later this month.

Says Otterson Slew Fox-DeForest Deal

WILMINGTON, May 6. — Max A. Schlesinger, president of General Talking Pictures, again took the stand today in the anti-trust suit of his firm and Duovac Radio against Erpi, Western Electric and A. T. & T. in U. S. District Court here.

Schlesinger testified that prior to 1928 Fox Film entered into a contract with DeForest and deposited $1,000,000 to buy DeForest stock. J. E. Otterson, Erpi vice-president, he said, told Fox that nothing was to be gained by the deal, with the result that Fox in turn took out a license with Erpi and dropped DeForest without even an explanation.

Schlesinger told of the calibre of service and installation engineers employed by the plaintiffs. He testified that most of General Talking engineers were trained under Western Electric engineer Tatton and were equal to those of Western Electric, but denied the plaintiff company employed engineers previously employed by Erpi.

George F. Hurd, New York chief counsel for the defendants, confronted Schlesinger with a copy of a lease with an exhibitor in which was included a clause stating that exhibitors should obtain additional parts for equipment through General Talking and that equipment should be serviced by itself. Schlesinger said he believed that the lease did not contain a compulsory service clause.

Files Notice of New Sound Patent Action

S. Theodore Hodgman, assignee of the Royal Amplitone Co., has filed notice in Federal court of intention to institute an anti-trust action under the Clayton act against A.T.&T., W.E., Erpi and ten producing firms.

Hodgman charges Amplitone was forced from business by an unlawful combine. Damages of $15,000,000 are to be sought.

Flash Reviews

The Texas Rambler—Exhibitors should have no trouble with this where westerns are liked. . . .

Rustler's Paradise — Neighborhood theatres can play this western with confidence.

Circus Shadows—Forced situations and amateurish acting combine to make this independently produced picture a pretty dull effort. . . .

These films will be reviewed in full in a later issue of MOTION PICTURE DAILY.

Devlin Succeeds Giles

BOSTON, May 6.—John Devlin is acting president of Allied Theatres of Massachusetts, M.P.T.O.A. affiliate, following the death of George Giles. "Scoundrel" Given Good N. Y. Reviews

"The Scoundrel," starring Noel Coward and playing its first engagement at the Music Hall, is the sort of picture in which New York critics delight in wallowing. Consensus of their opinion, culled from their reviews, proves it:

American—But the tale is told with vital forcefulness and vivid imagery. The lines are more than literate; they are brilliant. * * * To escape the descriptive word "sophisticate" is impossible in connection with "The Scoundrel." * * * Comedy and tragedy are mingled. Both are superbly interpreted.

Mr. Coward, distinctly the star, appears at his best in a role cut to his measure.

Daily Mirror— * * * a stunning psychological drama which surpasses their memorable "Crime Without Passion" and is written in its same mood of subtle horror. * * *

The film is brave, uncompromising, consistent and distinguished. Hecht and MacArthur scorn to enshrine the great god Box Office over their studio door. Their occasional pictures, hence, afford a sheer treat for the mature, thoughtful and literate audience.

Daily News— * * * at times penetratingly and diabolically satirical, but which shows, nevertheless, such a pretentious straining for bizarre effects that it grows tiresome after awhile. * * * The authors have created as unpleasant a group of characters as it has been my lot to watch exhibiting their egos on the screen.

Evening Journal—The self-styled intellectuals will undoubtedly welcome the picture. * * * Coward is interesting in his initial screen venture, and Julie Hayden, a composite picture of Ann Harding and Katharine Hepburn, brings a measure of feeling to her role of the idealistic blonde. The appeal of the film is somewhat limited. * * *

Herald-Tribune—With the assured and brilliant artistry that has made him the first author-actor-director of the theatre, he (Noel Coward) engages in the new dramatic medium with consummate skill. Whatever tricks there may be to cinema acting, he has mastered them immediately and completely. "The Scoundrel" is an imaginatively conceived and frequently enthralling production, magnificently photographed by Lee Garmes. * * *

Post—There probably won't be another picture to equal "The Scoundrel" in skillful subtlety and satirical sophistication until Ben Hecht, Charles MacArthur & Co. attune their brilliant brains and candid cameras in a repetitious effort. * * *

Film fans who appreciate the original and unusual in cinematerial will certainly realize the worth of this Hecht-MacArthur-Coward production.

Sun—* * * in spite of its cynical wit, its lack of tenderness and its complete absence of Hollywood glamour, builds to an end as emotional, as mystic and as forceful as any motion pictures have yet offered us. * * * A brilliant and a striking production, offering an experience rare in motion pictures.

Times— * * * an enormously entertaining, witty and bizarre photoplay. * * * Regarding its merits there are likely to be many opinions ranging noise with her mouth. One thing is certain: it contains the most dazzling writing that this column has ever heard on the screen. A caustic and icily cynical essay in disillusion, topped off with some bogus mysticism that the boys doubtless tossed in for the herd to play with, it is a distinctly exhilarating event in the cinema regardless of whether you look upon it as art or spinach. * * * Coward is so perfectly attuned to the part that we cannot help suspecting that he contributed to the dialogue. * * *

World-Telegram— * * * magnificently played by Noel Coward and Julie Hayden and so endlessly engrossing. * * * A brilliant blending of tart humor at its cruelest and wittiest and fantasy at its most imaginative and sensitive peak. * * *

immediate relief. Lee said the board would be guided by the testimony and he could not guarantee the time. Lee said that as far as he was concerned he was available at any time, but he could not answer for other board members.

Toner went into a huddle with the Adams Brothers. He then agreed to a week's adjournment provided Leonia didn't book any of the pictures bought by the Park Lane in the interim. Julius Charnow refused to accede. He declared he had Shirley Temple dated starting Thursday.

Louis Nizer, representing distributors, tried to get both parties to agree on a compromise and delay the case until next week, but again Charnow declined. Charnow has "The Great Hotel Murder" set for three days starting May 12. He added Universal has agreed to "obey" the Campi edict, but hasn't dated any pictures as yet.

Dollinger, a member of Allied of New Jersey, queried Nizer as to whether the companies have to live up to Campi decisions. Nizer said they did, but in this instance the decision was not clear. He said no mention was made of the Park Lane and the operators of the house are threatening suit if distributors do not live up to the agreements.

Dollinger then asked if the code does not supersede contracts. Nizer agreed it did, but said the Leonia order was "ambiguous." However, the code board member didn't believe the decision was not clear.

The two-way discussion was cut short by Lee. Nizer made an effort to get Toner to go on with the case and to leave the Loew house out. Toner insisted on withdrawal. Norman Samuelson represented the interests of the Leonia.

Sidney Samuelson, John C. Flinn, Fred Stein, Louis Weber, Harry Doniger, Thornton Kelly, Arthur Rettig, Frank Damis, Eugene Picker, Jack Unger, Fred Cross and various other exhibitors attended the brief session.

Drop Frankfort Complaint

CINCINNATI, May 6.—Because a satisfactory agreement has been reached between the parties involved, the grievance board has dismissed without prejudice to the rights of the complainant, the case of the Capitol, Frankfort, Ky., against the Kentucky State Industrial Institute, same city, involving non-theatrical competition.

Respondent, a colored institution, shows pictures once a week for which an admission is charged.

Sliman Named on Board

NEW ORLEANS, May 6.—Philip A. Sliman, independent subsequent run exhibitor, has been appointed to the clearance and zoning board. Sliman takes the place of Joseph Alsina, owner of the Famous Theatre, resigned.

Discuss L. A. Clearance

LOS ANGELES, May 6.—The local clearance and zoning board met today to discuss the Campi approved schedule, which goes into effect May 15.

Six in Film Group Injured in Plane

Business Manager Paul Wing, Assistant Production Manager William Ketlin and Mrs. Ketlin, and Electrician C. B. Drew.

The plane had been unable to land at Kansas City because of a low fog and ran out of gas on its way to an emergency field at Kirksville, Mo.

Wing was so seriously hurt when the plane nosed over in a muddy field that he was taken to a nearby farm house on a motor truck. The others remained near the wreck until an ambulance arrived from Macon, Mo. All the injured were taken to a hospital there.

Lighton Flies to Scene

HOLLYWOOD, May 6. — Louis D. Lighton, Paramount producer handling "Annapolis Farewell," flew to the scene of the disaster today. The studio also sent director Alexander Hall and cameraman Theodore Tetzlaff to Annapolis by way of the Southern Pacific to carry on the production.

Coogan Rites Tomorrow

HOLLYWOOD, May 6.—The funeral of Jack Coogan, father of Jackie Coogan, who was killed Saturday on a mountain road between El Centro and San Diego, will be held Wednesday at the Church of the Good Shepherd.

Services for Junior Durkin, who was killed in the same crash, will be held today at the Wee Kirk of Heather, Forest Lawn.

Jackie Coogan is in a hospital at Glendale recovering from broken ribs and other injuries.

Film Men Escape Crackup

J. R. McDonough, president of Radio Pictures, arrived from the coast by plane early Sunday to attend a regular meeting of the Radio board to be held Thursday. McDonough was accompanied by Ned E. Depinet, president of RKO Radio Distributing Corp., and Jules Levy, sales manager.

The trio, together with Neil Agnew and Bill Pine of Paramount and H. J. Yates of Consolidated Film, missed the TWA plane crash in Missouri yesterday by less than 24 hours.

Conferences on new season product will occupy the Radio executives between now and the board meeting. Levy reported himself enthused over future Radio product which he saw while on the coast, specifically mentioning "Break of Hearts," "Becky Sharp" and "She."

"Pompeii" Is Started

HOLLYWOOD, May 6.—Shooting on "The Last Days of Pompeii" has started at Radio with Ernest Schoedsack directing. In the cast so far are Preston Foster and Louis Calhern.

Radio Sets Dix Title

HOLLYWOOD, May 6.—Radio has changed the title of Richard Dix's latest from "Peacemaker" to "Boom Days."

Quincy Theatre Burns

BOSTON, May 6. — Fire swept through the Lincoln Theatre in the center of the business district of Quincy yesterday, forcing more than 100 persons in adjoining buildings to flee to the street. The fire apparently started in the balcony. The damage was heavy.

"Love You" Is Minneapolis' Top, $5,000

MINNEAPOLIS, May 6. — Grosses were scrambled in the Twin Cities last week with no outstanding hits. "I Love You Always" made the best individual showing at the Alvin here by getting $5,000, over the line by $1,000.

"The Wedding Night" went $500 over the line at the Century on a take of $4,500, and "Go Into Your Dance" reached $6,000, up by $500, at the Orpheum.

"Private Worlds" took $5,000 at the State here and $6,000 at the St. Paul Paramount. The latter gross was $500 up but the former was the same amount below the normal line.

Total first run business in Minneapolis was $29,400. Average is $28,500. Total St. Paul business was $18,000. Average is $16,000.

"Private Worlds" Is Montreal's Top

MONTREAL, May 6.—Although it was the week after the Easter holidays and despite home-moving activities around May 1, theatres were able to register an aggregate take of $38,000, or $2,500 below par. Two attractions were playing a second week.

Top film was "Private Worlds" at the Capitol, which brought $11,000, while "Stolen Harmony" was responsible for $8,500 at Loew's. The second week of "Roberta" at the Palace was worth $8,000 as compared with $15,000 the first week. "Folies Bergere" added $7,000 at the Princess to its first week of $10,000.

Total business was $38,000. Average is $40,500.

Even Fleas Included

Jefferson City, Mo., May 6.—The "horse and hound" racing bill which passed the Missouri House is encountering opposition in the Senate, where rural members are filibustering against its passage. Senator Allen McReynolds of Carthage, one of the opponents, introduced 15 amendments, all of which were defeated, in one morning.

One of these was to legalize pari-mutuel betting on flea, elephant, terrapin and cockroach racing. Failing in that, he produced another amendment legalizing bull fights, asserting he wanted to spread the "beneficence of this bill" as widely as possible.

"Richelieu" Only Indianapolis Draw

INDIANAPOLIS, May 6.—"Cardinal Richelieu" was practically the only first run to disturb the downtown calm here last week. It went over the line $500 for a total of $5,000 at the Palace.

Total first run business was $22,100. Average is $26,500.

Estimated takings for the week ending May 4:

"CARDINAL RICHELIEU" (U. A.)
PALACE—(3,000), 25c-40c, 7 days. Gross: $5,000. (Average, $4,500)

"Your Dance" Only Good Buffalo Draw

BUFFALO, May 6.—Only "Go Into Your Dance" was able to reach par in a languid week. A belated and severe cold spell didn't help any. Stage show strength was expected to bolster the heavily panned "The Devil Is a Woman," but failed.

Total first run business was $35,900. Average is $42,800.

Estimated takings for the week ending May 3:

"THE DEVIL IS A WOMAN" (Para.)

"MR. DYNAMITE" (Univ.)
"STRAIGHT FROM THE HEART" (Univ.)
LAFAYETTE—(3,300), 25c, 7 days. Gross: $5,800. (Average, $6,500)

Hanson Back in L. A.

LOS ANGELES, May 6.—Al Hanson, city manager of F. W. C., is back from extended code hearings in New York on the Los Angeles clearance schedule.

"Midnight" Is Cleveland Top With $10,500

CLEVELAND, May 6.—"Star of Midnight" with $10,500 at Warners' Hippodrome and "Mark of the Vampire" with $6,500 at Loew's Stillman, were the big money-getters of the week. "Star of Midnight" beat the average by 75 per cent and "Mark of the Vampire" bettered the house average by 65 per cent.

Gene Raymond, as headliner on a vaudeville bill with "Case of the Curious Bride" at the RKO Palace, made a good showing with $19,000, or $4,000 above par. "Naughty Marietta" opened slow at Loew's State, but built steadily to a $10,000 or average gross.

Total business for the week was $6,900 under the previous week, but still 28 per cent above the total average.

Total first run business was $52,850. Average is $41,000.

Estimated takings for the week ending May 3:

"GO INTO YOUR DANCE" (F.N.)
ALLEN—(3,300), 30c-35c-42c, 7 days. Second week downtown. Gross: $3,850. (Average, $3,000)

"CASE OF THE CURIOUS BRIDE" (Warners)
RKO PALACE—(3,100), 30c-40c-60c, 7 days. Stage: Gene Raymond in person headlined 6 acts of vaudeville. Gross: $19,000. (Average, $15,000)

"NAUGHTY MARIETTA" (M-G-M)
LOEW'S STATE—(3,400), 30c-35c-42c, 7 days. Gross: $10,000. (Average, $10,000)

"MARK OF THE VAMPIRE" (M-G-M)
LOEW'S STILLMAN—(1,900), 25c-35c, 7 days. Gross: $6,500. (Average, $4,000)

"PEOPLE'S ENEMY" (Radio)
CIRCLE—(1,925). 15c-25c-30c, 7 days. Stage: Ethelind Terry and 6 acts vaudeville. Gross: $3,000. (Average, $3,000)

"Your Dance" Hits $5,500, Omaha Top

OMAHA, May 6.—"Go Into Your Dance" went into the big money here last week in spite of a street car strike that hampered all forms of business. The $5,500 take at the Brandeis was $2,000 over normal.

"Naughty Marietta" also surmounted the transportation difficulty by grabbing $6,000, up by $1,000, at the Omaha. The Paramount took a nosedive to $6,000 with "The Devil Is a Woman" and a dual, "Vanessa" and "Hold 'Em Yale," failed to stir up any excitement at the Orpheum.

Total first run business was $24,700. Average is $24,500.

Estimated takings:

Week Ending May 1:

"NAUGHTY MARIETTA" (M-G-M)
OMAHA—(2,200), 25c-40c, 7 days. Gross: $6,000. (Average, $5,000)

"GO INTO YOUR DANCE" (F.N.)

Short Subjects

"Only the Brave"
(Educational)

Ernest Truex is here cast as the little fellow in love with the girl who is attracted only to strong, active men. The manner, therefore, in which he proceeds to win her is packed with good humor. Unable to make an impression on Mary Jane Barrett, Truex goes in for gymnastics in a big way. Falling flat in this effort, he then hires the works of a taxidermist to impress the lady, but is again exposed. As a last attempt he arranged with a friend to pose as a crook so he can subdue him in front of Miss Barrett, but a real gangster enters and Truex finds himself a hero through no fault of his own. Recommended. Production Code Seal, No. 0384. Running time, 16 mins. "G."

"Tars and Stripes"
(Educational)

Buster Keaton fans will go for this short in a big way. He is up to his old tricks and his comedy is reminiscent of some of his old silents. As an apprentice at the San Diego Naval Training Station, Keaton spends most of his time in the brig until he rescues an officer from drowning. Keaton, performing the various tasks of an apprentice seaman in his hilarious manner, and the shots of the training base are the film's highlights. Reviewed without production code seal. Running time, 20 mins. "G."

"Taming the Wild"
(Educational)

This reel concerns itself with the taming of wild animals, and particularly with the kindness used by various trainers. Everything is covered in the process of teaching tricks, all the way from lions and tigers down to cats and dogs. The reel should be particularly interesting to nature lovers. Production Code Seal, No. 0388. Running time, 5 mins. "G."

Looking 'Em Over

"Chinatown Squad"
(Universal)

Built around good cast portrayals, a plausible plot capably directed, this film is light, but good entertainment. Its chief appeal will probably be to mystery fans, but its value is greatly enhanced by the lack of the usual tricks found in mysteries.

Stanley Bergerman's production is commendable, the direction of Murray Roth keeps the action moving right along and the identity of the guilty party concealed until the last few feet.

The yarn, located in San Francisco's Chinatown, has Lyle Talbot driving a sight-seeing bus after quitting the police force. He stumbles across a murder and saves Valerie Hobson from being arrested by his former side-kick, Hugh O'Connell. Realizing Miss Hobson is implicated in the crime he returns to detecting and clears up everything in the end, proving the murders were committed by a business partner of the dead man. The wind-up finds him back on the force with a promotion and the implication is he'll wed Miss Hobson.

Andy Devine, Leslie Fenton, Clay Clement, Bradley Page and E. A. Warren round out the capable cast. The photography of George Robinson is excellent.

This film should have no trouble and should do particularly well in neighborhoods and small towns. Production Code Seal No. 791. Running time, 65 minutes. "A."

"The Red Village"
(Amkino)

In "The Red Village," made by Belgoskino, the Soviet continues its exposition of the work accomplished by it in reclaiming the land and advancing the cultural and industrial status of the Russian masses.

Into this more or less routine tale is woven a thread of drama involving the efforts of a former White trooper to revenge himself upon the Reds by resorting to sabotage. The fellow gets himself a job in a power plant located in the village of the title and proceeds to throw a monkey-wrench in the works. Toward the end of the film he is revealed in his true colors and the Soviet cause is made safe in that particular community.

The film loses no opportunity to draw a contrast between what was and what is. The village which is the scene of the action is itself built on the site of what once was marshland. Its growth into a thriving industrial community peopled by happy workers is undoubtedly intended as a symbol of the Soviet state.

The picture boasts a love romance of a sort in which both the participants are engineers. There is also a certain amount of humor to help along the film, which is moderately entertaining.

The acting is good. Brodyanski and Korsh directed. There are English subtitles.

No production code seal. Running time, 90 minutes. "G."

Production Gains; 34 Features Going

34 features and five shorts in work as compared to 31 features and six shorts for the preceding week.

Fox was high for the seven-day period with seven features shooting, four preparing and four in the cutting room for final editing. M-G-M had five, four and 10; Paramount, five, two and three; Warners, five, one and nine; Radio, three, four and five; Universal, three, one and one; Columbia, one, one and six; Roach, one, zero and zero; independents, four, seven and eight.

Short subject production varied slightly, the chart showing M-G-M with one shooting, two in preparation and four in the cutting room. Columbia had one, one and four; Radio, one, two and two; Universal, zero, one and one; Roach, zero, two and three, with the independents registering two, four and three.

Set Actor Bill Hearing

WASHINGTON, May 6.—Hearings on the Dickstein bill applying the contract labor provisions of the immigration laws to actors will begin before the House Immigration Committee on Wednesday.

Alabama 10% Tax Comes Up

BIRMINGHAM, May 6.—A general revenue bill for the next four years containing a 10 per cent tax on all theatre tickets with the provision that it must be passed along to the public has been sent to the printer by the recess committee on finance and taxation of the Alabama legislature. Being thus notified, theatres have rushed representatives to Montgomery.

Under the proposed law every ticket would include a tax, a penny tax for instance being added to a 10-cent ticket and so on.

Florida Session Drags On

TALLAHASSEE, May 6.—The fifth week of the legislative session has passed with nothing done of interest to the industry except consideration of the three per cent sales tax, which includes admissions.

A bill has been introduced to repeal the censorship law, but this has stirred only academic interest, as nobody can recall when the censor board ever has met.

Mo. Senate Breaks Tax Deadlock

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., May 6—The Missouri Senate today broke the sales tax deadlock when it voted to reconsider its amendment for one-half of one per cent as against the House proposal for two per cent. The Senate will first decide what commodities shall be taxed.

'Hurdy Gurdy' for Cantor

HOLLYWOOD, May 6.—Samuel Goldwyn has tentatively set "Hurdy Gurdy" as the title of the next Eddie Cantor picture instead of "Dreamland," as prevously announced.

Skouras Postpones Trip

KANSAS CITY, May 6.—Spyros Skouras has postponed his trip to the coast until later in the week. Elmer Rhoden of Fox Midwest is also scheduled to leave with Skouras to attend the Fox West Coast reorganization conferences in Los Angeles.

"Transient," "Folies" Hub Wow, $16,000

BOSTON, May 6.—"Transient Lady," with "Folies Bergere" on the stage and an "adults only" sign hanging out in front, did a sensational holdover business at the RKO Boston. The take was $16,000 for five days. Average for seven days is $11,000. For the closing two days the house went to a double feature policy which will continue through the summer. The stage show would have been held longer, but bookings forced the move.

"Stolen Harmony," with Rudy Vallee on the stage at the Metropolitan, was a big money-maker. The $32,000 gross was $13,000 over the line. "Cardinal Richelieu" took a big $14,000 at Loew's State.

Total first run business was $83,500. Average is $60,500.

"Bill" at $4,500 In Oklahoma City

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 6.—In a dull week here "Broadway Bill" made the best straight film showing with $4,500, above normal by $500.

"The Best Man Wins" pulled $2,600 in four days at the Liberty, helped by a stage show.

Total first run business was $14,800. Average is $13,500.

Estimated takings for the week ending May 4:

"PRIVATE WORLDS" (Para.)
CRITERION — (1,700), 10c-26c-36c-55c, 7 days. Gross: $4,500. (Average, $5,000)

"Life Begins" Hits $4,400 at Lincoln

LINCOLN, May 6.—"Life Begins at 40" at the Stuart was the week's solid money getter and totaled near $4,400 on the seven-day stretch. That's $1,300 better than par. "George White's 1935 Scandals" was a good pacer for the Lincoln, although not figured very potent before the opening. Surprised with $2,600, $400 up.

The Orpheum's "Love in Bloom" with the Gene Gory "Runnin' Wild" unit on the stage, followed by the dual, "Mr. Dynamite" and "Spring Tonic," was a sock, largely due to the stage show three days. Take was $2,800, $500 over the line.

Total first run business, $10,950. Average is $8,450.

Estimated takings:

Week Ending May 2:
"TEXAS JACK" (Majestic)

Rialto's Suit Over "Bride" Is Settled

was settled out of court yesterday by an agreement through which the Rialto relinquishes claims on the picture in favor of the Roxy and receives in return exhibition rights to Universal's "The Werewolf of London."

The Rialto had claimed that under its booking agreement with the Roxy it was entitled to first call on all crime and mystery pictures rejected by the Music Hall. In addition to its suit against the Roxy the Rialto had also filed an application for an injunction to restrain Universal from selling "The Bride of Frankenstein" to the Roxy.

"Whole Town" Seattle Second Week Leader

SEATTLE, May 6.—With three holdovers in town, business was not strong, with the exception of the Liberty, where "The Whole Town's Talking" garnered $5,600, over normal by $1,600, in its second week.

The only other attraction on the profit side of the line, and this was a holdover, too, with "Gold Diggers of 1935," which took $4,100.

Total first run business was $29,700. Average is $30,500.

Estimated takings for the week ending May 4:

Feeling Dynamite-y

Paramount executives are seriously huddling about a possible change in the convention date again, this time to start July 4.

As one of the Paramount men stated, it would be a swell time for fireworks.

Warner Sales Meet At L. A. June 9-13

well L. Sears, western and southern sales manager, at the helm.

Headquarters will be in the Ambassador, according to Albert Warner. The convention is promised as the largest to be held in the history of the company. Over 300 executives and other domestic and foreign representatives will attend. Harry M., Jack L. and Albert Warner will be present. Sam E. Morris, vice-president in charge of foreign distribution, is another. Business sessions will be presided over by Smith and Sears.

Marion Davies, president of Cosmopolitan Corp. and its star, will take a part in the activities and will be official hostess at the studio, as well as head of the welcoming committee of stars, which will include the Warner-First National roster.

A special convention train will leave St. Louis for Los Angeles on Thursday afternoon, June 6. The New York delegation will leave on Wednesday, the 5th, connecting with the special on the following day.

Among the home office executives to attend will be Joseph Bernhardt, Norman H. Moray, S. Charles Einfeld, R. Mochrie, Carl Leserman, A. W. Schwalberg, Arthur Sachson, H. M. Doherty, Stanley Shuford, Gerald Keyser, Harold Bareford, H. Rosenquest, C. Kemke and J. Kelly.

Those from Foreign Field

The foreign field will be represented by Robert Schless, general manager for France and Continental Europe; Max Milder, managing director in Great Britain; D. E. Griffiths, managing director for First National in Great Britain; Peter Colli, manager for Cuba, Panama and Central America; A. S. Abeles, manager for Mexico, and others.

Besides the business sessions at the Ambassador, there will be meetings at the studio, where delegates will be the first outside studio personnel to see "A Midsummer Night's Dream," and "Page Miss Glory." The train will cross Missouri, Arkansas, Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California, via the Missouri Pacific, Texas & Pacific and Southern Pacific. The first stop will be made at Longview, Tex., for a visit to the oil fields. Boarding the train again at Gladewater, the convention will next stop at Dallas, where they will be entertained by R. J. O'Donnell of the Interstate Amusement Co. At Abilene, Texas, there will be another stop, a rodeo having been arranged for the amusement of the travelers; and at El Paso there will be a stop of three hours, during which a visit to Juarez, Mexico, will be made.

The climax in Los Angeles will be a banquet to be held on the evening of June 13.

Paramount to Make Fox Met Bid 4 Million

court and the Fox Met committee the new period of grace in which to formulate a bid. If the necessary time is granted, negotiations on financing the offer will be begun at once, it was said. The routine would require an application by the trustees for permission from Federal Judge Alfred C. Coxe to submit the proposed bid, subject to the later approval of the new Paramount board, which will be formally installed on May 15. Reports that Atlas Corp. would finance the bid could not be verified yesterday although Atlas, with H. A. Fortington, American representative of large British insurance interests and a new Paramount director, is the moving spirit behind the Paramount interest in Fox Met.

Modifications of both the Schenck and Fabian plans for Fox Met were discussed at a meeting of the bondholders' committee yesterday and both are understood to be subject to further negotiations with the committee. Schenck has offered to increase the cash amount of his bid from $700,000 to $800,000 and to add assurances of his remaining with the new Fox Met company a minimum of five years and making United Artists and 20th Century product available to the circuit.

Accompanying the modifications in Fabian's plan which went to the committee yesterday was a certified check for $100,000 as an evidence of good faith. Fabian did not increase the cash provisions of his plan, which remain at $1,000,000. The amortization period for the new bonds which would be issued under his plan remains at 15 years and no new limitation on the declaring of dividends by the new company was made, despite views expressed by the court that both of these provisions should be modified. It is understood, however, that these points may figure in later trading with the committee.

Fox Theatres stockholders and B. S. Moss and associated interests, also in the running as probable bidders for Fox Met, were reported to have failed to decide yesterday on the submission of proposals.

Yoost Denied Appeal In Paramount Action

the contention that Paramount could obtain cheaper recording license agreements than those with Erpi which were made a part of the settlement. The court, however, held that he had no standing in Paramount's reorganization and his subsequent petition for leave to intervene in the reorganization was denied. It was this denial that was affirmed yesterday by the higher court.

"Time" to Ohio Circuit

"March of Time" has closed with the Warner Ohio Circuit for future releases of the reel, starting with the current third issue. Ralph Rolan, vice-president, handled the deal for "March of Time."

M-G-M Plans 49; Lists 20 For Salesmen

the new program. In addition, there will be a series of four to be known as "Campaign Pictures," 14 "Marquee Pictures" and a group of three special musicals "in addition to such other musical productions as the company will make."

The 22 starring vehicles will include these:

Greta Garbo in "Anna Karenina" and one other.
Clark Gable in two.
Jean Harlow in two.
Joan Crawford in three.
Lionel Barrymore in three.
Wallace Beery in two.
Norma Shearer in at least one.
Jeanette MacDonald in one; also a co-starring vehicle with Nelson Eddy, thereby uniting again the "Naughty Marietta" combination.
Grace Moore in one.
William Powell in one.
Robert Montgomery in two.

"Other stars including Charles Laughton, Freddie Bartholomew, Jackie Cooper, Helen Hayes, Spencer Tracy and Clifton Webb," says the announcement, "will appear in other films to be announced later."

The "Campaign Pictures," as well as the "Marquee Pictures," will deal largely with topical subjects. No detail as to vehicles or casts in either group, or in the group of special musicals, was supplied.

Many Features Listed

Among the 20 features definitely designated for production are these:

"Oliver Twist" with an all-star cast.
"Ah, Wilderness," which Clarence Brown will direct from Eugene O'Neill's play.
"The Bishop Misbehaves," based on the New York stage play.
"The Black Chamber," based on Herbert Yardley's story of the Secret Service with William Powell in the lead.
"Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea," Jules Verne story.
"Mala," an adventure story with a South Sea background.
"The Witch of Timbuctoo."
"Here Comes the Band," with Ted Lewis.
"Silas Marner," classic by George Eliot.
"Maytime," Sigmund Romberg operetta.
"The Prisoner of Zenda."

The company also listed story properties from which additional 1935-36 pictures may be selected, although no commitment that they will was made:

Ferenc Molnar's two new plays, "Miracle in the Mountains" and "The Girl from Trieste"; "The Shining Hour," based on Keith Winter's London and New York stage play; "Goodbye Mr. Chips," James Hilton's story and "Rage in Heaven," by the same author; "Ma Pettingill," by Harry Leon Wilson; "The Whipsaw," Liberty Magazine prize story; Charles Dickens' "Pickwick Papers"; "Gold Eagle Guy," Melvyn Levy's play of early San Francisco. "Robin Hood of El Dorado," by Walter Noble Burns; "Mad Love," based on Maurice Renard's story; "The Hands of Orlac"; "The House of Trujillo," Anne Cameron's Saturday Evening Post story; "Calm Yourself," by Edward Hope; "The Distaff Side," John Van Druten's New York and London stage play.

Rudyard Kipling's "Kim"; "Presenting Lily Mars" and "Rennie Peddigoe," both by Booth Tarkington; "Nancy Stair," novel by Elinor Macartney Lane which Philip Barry modernized; Arnold Bennett's "Sacred and Profane Love"; "Three Wise Guys," by Damon Runyon; Herbert Gorman's novel, "Suzy"; Mary Roberts Rinehart's "Tish"; Gene Fowler's novel, "Timberline"; Louis Bromfield's "Living in a Big Way" and Clements Ripley's "A Lady Comes to Town," both of which appeared in Cosmopolitan Magazine.

Merton Hodge's play, "The Wind and the Rain"; the Hungarian play, "Her Excellency's Tobacco Shop" by Laszlo Bus-Fekete; "Man Crazy" by Vina Delmar; "Any Port in a Storm," based on Guy Gilpatric's series of Saturday Evening Post stories; "Manners Maketh Man," an original by John Monk Saunders, and "Tell No Tales," an original by Oliver H. P. Garrett and Fritz Lang.

The Shorts Lineup

DETROIT, May 6.—Thirty-six two-reel and 47 one-reelers, together with 104 issues of the Hearst Metrotone News, make up the short subject program for M-G-M next season, at the company's sales convention at the Book-Cadillac was told today.

On the schedule are "Our Gang," featuring Spanky McFarland; also the Charley Chase and Thelma Todd-Patsy Kelly comedies. All of these will be produced at the Roach studio. There will be eight releases in each of the groups.

In the "Junior Feature" bracket are six "Crime Doesn't Pay" two-reel features, to follow the recent release "Buried Loot," which inaugurated this series, and six M-G-M star musical revues in Technicolor.

The one-reel releases include 10 FitzPatrick Traveltalks in Technicolor. The first will be "Japan in Cherry Blossom Time."

Pete Smith, commentator on outdoor sports and novelties, will do two complete sets of one-reel releases, 12 in each group. One of them is titled "Oddities," the other is "Sports Champions."

The program will be supplemented by a group of 13 one-reel "Happy Harmonies" cartoons, to be produced in tri-color Technicolor.

In addition, there will be semi-weekly issues of the Hearst Metrotone News, featuring Edwin C. Hill as the M-G-M Globe Trotter.

Currently, MGM is releasing 77 shorts aside from the 104 issues of the newsreel. In the two-reel division are 38 releases, divided into six series of which Roach is producing five. In the single-reel division are 39 releases in four series.

Garbo Renews Deal

HOLLYWOOD, May 6.—MGM production announcement, released today and listing Garbo for a picture following "Anna Karenina," indicates the star has signed a new contract.

Preparing "Oliver Twist"

HOLLYWOOD, May 6.—George Cukor has been making secret tests for two weeks, preparatory to casting "Oliver Twist" for M-G-M. Cukor is not assigned officially to direct, but it seems likely that the David Selznick-Cukor-Freddie Bartholomew combination, which made "David Copperfield," will be used.

Ted Lewis Vehicle Set

HOLLYWOOD, May 6.—The title of the picture which Ted Lewis will make for M-G-M is "Here Comes the Band." The story will be a combination of several musicals that the studio has purchased. Nat Pendleton and Ted Healy will be in the cast and Paul Sloane will direct. Lewis is due here June 3.

Two Added to "Bounty"

HOLLYWOOD, May 6.—Herbert Mundin and Hal LaSeuer have been added to the cast of "Mutiny on the Bounty." Frank Lloyd is directing now in Catalina waters for M-G-M.

Lehrman on Hubbard Film

HOLLYWOOD, May 6.—Henry Lehrman, writer, has checked in at M-G-M lot and has been assigned to work with Arthur Kober on the screenplay of "Calm Yourself." Lucien Hubbard will produce.

Tone with Boleslawski

HOLLYWOOD, May 6.—Franchot Tone was set to start in "Manhattan Madness" at M-G-M today. The story is from an original by David Silverstein, and the cast will include Maureen O'Sullivan, and Lewis Stone. Richard Boleslawski will direct.

Testing for "Two Cities"

HOLLYWOOD, May 6.—Judith Anderson and Blanche Yurka both have been tested for the important role of Mme. LaFarge in "The Tale of Two Cities" by M-G-M. Ronald Colman stars and Brian Aherne plays Charles Darnay.

"Nuisance" for Tracy

HOLLYWOOD, May 6. — Spencer Tracy's first under his new M-G-M contract will be "Little Miss Nuisance." Jean Arthur and Rosalind Russell are in the cast. John W. Considine, Jr., will produce from the script by Jack Kirkland and Jesse Lasky, Jr. Tracy's second film will be "Riff Raff."

"Delinquent" in Series

HOLLYWOOD, May 6.—M-G-M has announced "Delinquent" as the title of the third in the series of "Crime Doesn't Pay" shorts. Though no cast has been selected, John Farrow is slated to direct. The series is being made under supervision of Harry Rapf.

M-G-M After "Passport"

HOLLYWOOD, May 6.—M-G-M has obtained an option on "Passport to Hell," magazine serial by James Warner Bellah. The story is being considered as a vehicle for Clark Gable.

Strickling in Detroit

DETROIT, May 6.—Howard Strickling, head of the studio publicity department, hopped in by plane from Hollywood to attend the convention at the Book-Cadillac.

Marsh Rejoins M-G-M

HOLLYWOOD, May 6.—Joan Marsh, after two years off the lot, has returned to M-G-M for a role in "Anna Karenina." Clarence Brown is directing.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Murder in the Fleet"

(M-G-M)

HOLLYWOOD, May 6.—When Ted Healy says: "This ain't a battleship, it's a haunted house," he keynotes the laugh, thrill and mystery content of this murder melodrama played on a cruiser.

Designed for suspense and light entertainment, the picture achieves its intent. The focus of attention is the installation of a secret electric gun-firing device. Conflict arises between connivers who don't want it installed and officials who do. To prevent its installation two murders are committed. Suspicion falls upon visitors, a foreign consul, salesman and crew. The trial is held on board. Spooky events occur until the murderer is located trying to blow up the ship, whipping up a tingling climax.

Robert Taylor has the romantic lead, with Jean Parker the object of his affections. Healy and Nat Pendleton ably carry the comedy, fighting for Una Merkel's favor. Jean Hersholt, as a mad inventor, does superbly in a small part. Mischa Auer, as an Oriental, is splendid. Donald Cook, Keye Luke, Mary Doran, Raymond Hatton, Ward Bond and the team of Hyams & McIntyre support nicely.

Edward Sedgwick wrote the original and directed all right from Joe Sherman's and Frank Wead's screen play.

As a topical film spotlighting the navy against secret machinations this should satisfy as a pleasing show.

No production code seal. Running time, 70 minutes. "G."

Milliken and Quigley Begin British Talks

Explain Origin, Purpose Of Production Code

By BRUCE ALLAN

LONDON, May 7.—Carl E. Milliken and Martin Quigley discussed the origin and purposes of the American production code with leaders of the Federation of British Industries here today. Another conference is to be held in a few days to go into further details.

Sir Francis Joseph, president of the Federation, and Guy Locock, director, were present.

An official statement issued after the conference said:

"Mr. Milliken and Mr. Quigley explained fully the origin and purposes

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

DAVE BOUDREAUX and F. M. Mallory are New Orleans residents and their disappointment is keen over their inability to see the Huey Long sequence in the third issue of "The March of Time" in their local theatres. They, therefore, wrote Time Magazine registering that protest. Last week the communications made the "Letters" department of the magazine and drew editorial comment from the publication's editors. . . .

"Fearing that New Orleans audiences 'might riot' if shown 'The March of Time' sequence on Huey Long, the Manhattan headquarters staff of Loew's Theatres, Inc., ordered that sequence deleted in that city," went the comment. "Fearing a revenge tax from the Long Gang if the sequence were not deleted and riots from anti-Longsters if it were, the Saenger circuit decided not to show this 'March of Time' issue at all in Louisiana." . . .

Several of the Saenger officials are sizzling over the incident. Their side of the story runs along these lines: "The entire third issue of 'The March of Time' appeared to us to be highly controversial and we do not believe controversy has any place in an establishment, such as a picture theatre, where the purpose is to entertain the public. We, therefore, asked the producer for the privilege of skipping the third release, agreeing to add one at the end of our contract. The proposals went for theatres in Texas as well." . . .

Agree or not, as you like, the Saenger attitude finds itself violently at odds with the rebuttal which takes a straight buyer-and-seller situation out of that category and into the columns of a publication which happens to own the producer. They view the procedure as a direct effort to take an unfair advantage made possible by the peculiarity of the relationship between printed and pictorial journalism. . . .

The major issue, however, is not that at all, but the poising of the question whether or not material as highly controversial as the subject matter in this particular "March of Time" release belongs on theatre screens. This column earlier had stamped with its approval the guts and the daring which ripple through the two-reeler under fire and sees no reason to about face. It was anticipated at the outset and, let it be made clear, by "March of Time" executives themselves that wholesale slashes would be instituted by exhibitors if the subject itself were not shelved. . . .

Your average theatreman hears enough from patrons about dissatisfaction over the quality of straight entertainment. He is obviously wary of running material which may alienate segments of his audience and, from many angles, cannot be blamed. As inadequate as the following observation may be, the major trouble might appear to rest in the average limited intelligence of the purchasers of tickets and mass disinclination to get beyond surface markings of topics which disturb the set tenor of their mental ways. . . .

How it goes when one producing company has a hookup with William Randolph Hearst: The gentleman from San Simeon has ordered his editors to trim Paramount and Metro publicity and expand on Warner. In practice, for instance, there is the topline yarn in last night's New York Evening Journal on the impending W. B. convention in Hollywood next month. . . .

Teaser: Who is that Grade A producer, irked by the ways of his associates, who is reported contemplating a new hatrack under a trademark not currently his? . . .

New Times Officers

Arthur Hays Sulzberger was elected publisher of the New York Times and president of the New York Times Co. yesterday at a meeting of directors.

Col. Julius Ochs Adler was chosen general manager, a newly created post, and Godfrey N. Nelson, now secretary of the company, was appointed a director to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Adolph S. Ochs.

Mrs. Wallington Dies

Mrs. Anita Wallington, wife of James Wallington, NBC announcer, died early yesterday at St. Mary's Hospital, a victim of peritonitis. Before her marriage Mrs. Wallington was Anita Furman, captain of the Rockettes of the Music Hall.

Ralph Rolan, vice-president of March of Time, has closed a deal with the Fox Midwest Theatres, Kansas and Missouri divisions, for the future "March of Time" reels.

No Pittsburgh Rate War, Harris States

There has been no price war in Pittsburgh so far as the Alvin is concerned, says John H. Harris in a letter to MOTION PICTURE DAILY. He raised scales when asked to do so by the Penn and Stanley, he writes.

Harris' letter was the result of a recent item headed "Pittsburgh's Price War Ends with Deal."

He says the Penn cut its scale to 40 cents top, the level at which the Alvin had been operating, because it expected to do more business at that figure. He denies that prior to this drop he had been asked to boost the Alvin top.

Line Up in Coast's Bank Night Battle

LOS ANGELES, May 7.—With all eyes in the exhibition field focused on a Federal court test involving the right of the grievance board to suspend film service in a bank night case, which is scheduled to come up this week, the tangle gained added interest as a result of the arrival of Emmett Thurmon, chief legal representative for Affiliated Enterprises, owners of bank nights, and Claude Ezell, attorney from Texas. He announced he would give legal aid to the bank night interests.

At the same time a split in the grievance board has become apparent. At the last hearing J. J. Millstein of M-G-M voluntarily disqualified himself as a member of the grievance board. Since then he has resigned, and it is reported other resignations are pending.

The grievance board has called off all bank night hearings pending the decision of the case now before the Federal Court as a result of the resignation of Millstein and the threatened withdrawal of other members of the board.

Holds Union Scale Ruinous

TOPEKA, May 7.—If compelled to pay operators the union scale he will be forced to close his theatres, Glen W. Dickinson, circuit operator, told Robert A. Gaffney, assistant deputy code administrator, at a hearing yesterday on Dickinson's application for exemption from the code labor provisions.

Before returning to Washington Gaffney allowed an additional 72 hours for introduction of further data to determine union scales in Kansas under the code.

Dickinson testified he still operates under the boom time overhead acquired when leasing theatres eight years ago and could not meet salaries paid by his competitors. Complaints to the labor board and NRA compliance director against Dickinson's scale cuts have been pending about a year. A decision will be given in Washington.

Get Temporary Injunction

DALLAS, May 7.—Brady Amusement Co. at Brady has secured a temporary injunction against distributors attempting to stop service on a bank night award. A permanent injunction will be sought at the hearing in District Court May 29.

Suit for a temporary injunction filed by S. & C., operating the Palace in San Antonio, against the grievance board, its secretary and the distributors, will be heard in San Antonio. The injunction is asked to keep distributors from cutting off service on a bank night decision.

Loew Charges Start Retaliation

Complaints by Loew's against the Majestic and Bridge theatres in Washington Heights yesterday acted as a boomerang when both defendants charged the major circuit with reducing admissions in another form of violation.

Irving Greenfield, attorney for Loew's, declared that the Majestic was putting on "Lucky" contests which were in violation of the code. Henry Suchman, representing Harman Yaffa, retaliated by producing a card advertising Loew's Rio giving away pies free in connection with a stunt on "Gold Diggers of 1935."

Benjamin Brodie of the Bridge admitted putting on "Screeno," but stated Loew's 175th St. also violated the code recently when it invited youngsters to join a parade in conjunction with "David Copperfield," following which they would be admitted without charge.

Greenfield stated he was not familiar with the charges complained of by the respondents. The local grievance board, with ex-Senator George Thompson acting as chairman, handed down a cease and desist order, but it becomes effective only when Loew's discontinue the practices to which the respondents object.

Spry Hit in Campi Appeal

Charges that Thomas D. Spry, Warner branch manager in Boston and a member of the Boston clearance and zoning board, was prejudiced were made yesterday by L. J. Baron, who has theatres in Warren and West Warren, Mass., on appeal before a Campi committee from a decision of the board which dismissed his complaint for relief.

Baron stated that Spry was biased because Warners-First National had not sold him since the advent of sound.

Although Roy H. Haines, local Warner branch head, was a member of the committee hearing the appeal, E. T. Gomersall of Universal came to the defense of Spry, declaring the Warner man of "fine character." Gomersall said he knew Spry personally and that he would not do anything unethical as charged.

Baron's houses are opened one day a week, Saturdays. He stated Fox was trying to hold him back 30 days after Springfield and in many instances had not been able to play pictures earlier than 45 to 60 days.

Says Bank Night Outside Code

Roy L. Walker, attorney at Lampasas, Tex., writes to Red Kann that the injunction he obtained as a result of a film stoppage order issued by the Dallas grievance board was for the purpose of forcing distributors to comply with their contracts.

Walker contends there is nothing in the code authorizing code boards to rule bank nights unfair competition. The board's ruling was aimed at the Brady Amusement Co.

Phila. and Portland Request Clearance

Code Authority, has instructed them to proceed on the mapping of zones.

The Independent Exhibitors' Protective Ass'n. of Philadelphia passed a resolution at its meeting Monday favoring a zoning setup following which the request was sent to Flinn. The petition reads:

"Due to the peculiar situation that exists here wherein one circuit virtually dominates the entire territory, and particularly on account of recent actions by that circuit in reducing admissions while maintaining the same protection which it had prior to the price cuts, it becomes extremely necessary that there be no further delay in the preparation of a clearance schedule for this territory."

Both petitions will be taken up at the Campi session tomorrow.

Meanwhile schedules already prepared for Milwaukee, Kansas City and New Haven will be the first to be considered by Code Authority. The Los Angeles plan, the first to be adopted, goes into effect a week from today.

years. The Senate Finance Committee also reached a decision after an appeal by Donald R. Richberg, chairman of the Industrial Recovery Board, and Charles West, White House liaison with Congress, for support of the President.

It is understood that Richberg agreed to a two-year extension with the restrictions on intrastate business and price fixing adopted by the Senate committee, but asked that the President be given more than the 30 days provided by the committee for the President to revise codes to meet the new requirements.

Question Score Fees In Canadian Probe

righted music in films. One is the film rental; the second the score charge for filmed music and the third was a license fee to the Canadian Performing Rights Society.

"It is very difficult for me to understand why, after we rent a picture for which we pay large rentals, we cannot show it until we have paid the score charges and the performing rights," Bragg said.

Judge Parker asked for information on the so-called score charge, but no one in the courtroom was able to offer an explanation beyond that it might be for the recording right of music.

President H. T. Jamieson of the Canadian Society argued that the license fee of 10 cents per seat should be doubled.

Bragg came back with the contention that people were patronizing neighborhood houses to the detriment of large downtown theatres, as indicated by the fact that the average price of a theatre ticket had dropped from 36.7 cents in 1930 to 29 cents in 1934. Paid admissions to the Famous Player theatres to the number of 160 had fallen from 48,400,000 in 1930 to 44,588,000 in 1934.

The circuit had reduced its theatre rents by $340,000 since 1932, Bragg pointed out; salaries had been reduced more than $150,000 by a 35 per cent reduction in the payroll, while profit of $1,906,000 in 1930 had fallen to $21,984 in 1932, although it rose again to $302,625 in 1934 because of economies. On the other hand, there had been no reduction in taxation and out of every dollar taken in 24 or 25 cents had to be put aside to cover taxes.

Americans Spend More on Shows

Continuing, Bragg declared that the annual per capita expenditure for film shows in the United States in 1934 was $6.50 as compared with $2.40 in Canada. This was due, he believed, to the different habits of the peoples, Canadians being more of the home-loving type with fewer diversions. In the states, theatres operated seven days per week, while most of those in Canada were open on a basis of six days weekly. Comparing theatres in Toronto and Buffalo, N. Y., Famous Players' large downtown house averaged $13,000 per week in gross income, while a theatre in Buffalo of 10 per cent greater seating capacity, averaged $35,000.

R. C. Cassells, counsel for the Performing Rights Society, asked witness: "Is Famous Players a United States corporation?"

Bragg replied: "The stock is controlled by Paramount-Publix Corp. in the United States."

The Canadian chain paid $2,253,000 to United States film producers in 1934, he continued. Advertising was the fourth largest expenditure for the 160 theatres, amounting to $1,250,000 last year. The rental of a film program represented about 10 per cent of the gross receipts, although this ran as high as 35 per cent in the case of a special production. This rental was exported to producers in other countries. Bragg said there had been no reduction in film rentals during the depression years.

Other theatre witnesses are yet to be heard before Judge Parker who announced that the inquiry would move to Montreal May 10.

"Four stars. Smash hit. Warner Bros. have been starting cycles in films ever since they made the first all talking picture, 'The Jazz Singer,' starring Al Jolson, a cycle which will probably go on until television comes along. They started the young gangsters off in the films with their 'Doorway to Hell,' featuring Lew Ayres and James Cagney, and brought musical films back into favor with '42nd Street. Now they have inaugurated a new cycle by giving Cagney a vehicle that puts him on the other side of the fence, as it were, making him the hero of an exciting, swiftly moving drama about the 'G-Men.' The picture is so absorbing, so thrilling, and has been done with such excellence, that we are bound to be deluged with a flood of films showing us other phases of the work of these able, incorruptable Government agents who always get their men. Cagney comes through with a fine performance. He makes a believable Department of Justice agent. He is courageous, and honest, a man of education and high calibre, even though he had come up from the gutter. All in all, his Brick Davis is a credit to the Government's crack detective agency. Cagney's screen portrait of Davis is sharp, clear and impressive. And his performance goes far toward making the picture the excellent entertainment it is. The picture has been skillfully directed by William Keighley who keeps the audience in a state of breathlessness from the beginning to the end. A mob, literally a mob, turned out for the first showing of the film at the Strand Theatre yesterday morning and greeted it enthusiastically."—Kate Cameron in N. Y. Daily News

"Wildly exciting melodrama. Magnificent! Don't miss it. A wildly exciting, vigorous and handsome thriller. It is smashing melodrama, with a kick and with a purpose. And it restores to the screen the substantial James Cagney who first endeared himself to the public as the hero of riotous melodrama. Cagney gives a stirring performance, far the best he has given in seasons. He is supported by a great cast which includes Margaret Lindsay, Ann Dvorak, Robert Armstrong, Barton MacLane, William Harrigan. The film seethes with action. It is filled with gun play, fights, chases, thrills. The romantic interest is strong and appealing. Comedy and pathos neatly balance the sheer melodrama. Extraordinarily timely, 'The G-Men' uses many powerful situations right out of news. It is a thrilling, exciting and inspiring film. Don't miss it."—Bland Johaneson in the N. Y. Daily Mirror

"If the crowds that stormed the Strand Theatre yesterday are any indication, then 'G-Men' is the most terrific box-office smash that Warners have yet produced. With the house jammed half an hour after it opened and police trying to hold back mobs battling to get in despite S. R. O. signs, the waiting cash customers broke through the ropes and police protection, scattered house managers and their assistants left and right, and smashed down two doors, tearing them right off their hinges, in a riotous rush into the lobby. There's your answer to theatre owners who alibi empty houses by saying that people aren't going to the theatre for this reason or that. Give the public a good picture and look what happens! And 'G-Men' is more than a good picture—it's about the most exciting entertainment that has yet come out of Hollywood. Packed with fast and furious action, taking up a theme that's vigorous and alive, and unfolded in staccato tempo, it will hold you breathless from the moment it opens until its thrilling end. For Warners have once again gone to newspaper headlines for their screen material and graphically depict the warfare between the U. S. Government's Department of Justice agents and organized crime. James Cagney gives a performance that tops even his previous brilliant characterizations. The Cagney strut, the knowing eyebrow, the down-to-earth understanding and the hard-boiled intelligence—they're all there in a performance that's swift and sure and electrical. Incidentally, the criticism levelled at the 'Public Enemy' type of film was that it caused youngsters to leave the theatre with the desire to be a swaggering gangster. Warners have started a new cycle and, after seeing Cagney in this one every youngster will leave the theatre with a consuming ambition to become a government agent. One intensely vivid sequence after another. The pictured exploits of the 'G-Men' make for spectacular and dynamic action, and Director William Keighley tells his story with mounting suspense. Cagney is perfect in his role and excellent work is done by Robert Armstrong, Barton MacLane, Edward Pawley, William Harrigan, Russell Hopton, Noel Madison, Raymond Hatton, Harold Huber, Addison Richards and a number of others. It's a tremendous picture—and worth fighting your way in to see."—Rose Pelswick in N. Y. Journal

"'G-Men' is an electrifying movie picturing nation's war on crime with Cagney in fast-moving role. Again the staccato rat-tat-tat of the 'typewriters' and automatics echo from the thrill-filled screen of the Strand Theatre in a Warner picture which ushers in the most pulse-quickening cinematic cycle since the exciting days of the prohibition exposes. It is not only thrilling theatre but adorns its throbbing tale with a moral which should keep aroused a people shocked from complacency by the earlier film preachments against the surrender of the nation to the underworld. One climactic incident is heaped upon another in the attainment of the whirlwind finish. James Cagney contributes another of his electrifying characterizations and is admirably aided by Robert Armstrong, who contributes as thoroughgoing and virile a portrayal as any to distinguish his long career. The picture is loaded with fine actors who add a wealth of color and excellent histrionicism to the roles. William Keighley's direction keeps the action zipping along with the speed of a bullet, and maintains suspense right to the end."—Regina Crewe in N. Y. American

"Blazing melodrama. The photoplay contains several episodes which have scarcely been equalled for excitement and dramatic vigor since 'The Public Enemy' and 'Little Caesar.' Mr. Cagney's performance is the most effective he has given in a long time."—Andre Sennwald in N. Y. Times

"Jimmy Cagney scores hit in 'G-Men.' Jimmy Cagney went over to the law's side with a bang, in Warner Bros.' latest thriller, 'G-Men.' There may have been crowds watching the parade on Eighth Avenue, but we'll bet bigger ones were at the Strand, for this reporter fought to get in and out of the theatre. And did that mob of fans approve of Jimmy's new characterization? They howled and roared their approval. Thrills abound from beginning to end and we defy you not to lose your breath in the exciting sequences. A grand picture."—Julius Cohen in Journal of Commerce

"It is one long, lusty paean in homage to our Federal Agents. It is also a highly exciting film, one so packed with swiftly paced action and so capably played throughout that it easily surmounts any difficulties presented by the routine plot. A thoroughly engrossing melodrama, with a timeliness and significance seldom surpassed. Superior acting. This robust film is worth an evening of any moviegoer's time."—Liberty Magazine

"With its rapid, explosive action continually punching you in the eyes 'G-Men' emerges a swell show. A new twist in the cinema's annals of crime. It makes you feel as if you had consumed a two-volume chronicle novel of all the outrages ever perpetrated by America's various number one public enemies. A skillful, thrilling and exciting blend of fact and fiction, this 'G-Men' is as exciting as any of the old underworld films. Indeed, in many ways it is acted with a finer degree of suspense and credibility than some of those old shockers. Mr. Cagney has acted any number of superb characterizations in his screen career, but I think that here as Brick Davis he gives his most satisfactory performance. He is surrounded by a cast chosen with judgment. The construction of the film by Seton I. Miller, who wrote it, and William Keighley, who directed it, is swift and staccato. Recommended as good, solid, arresting entertainment of its kind." — William Boehnel in N. Y. World-Telegram

"A vivid, racing melodrama. One of the fastest melodramas ever made, giving the Strand Theatre audiences enough excitement to last them for weeks, or until the next of the new cycle comes along. 'G-Men' has started something. The first of its kind for several years, 'G-Men' is surefire entertainment." — Eileen Creelman in N. Y. Sun

"A thrilling drama. Undoubtedly the most thrilling melodrama that has come out of Hollywood since the movies abandoned blood and gunfire for sweetness and light. The Warners, with their customary instinct for surefire, topical movie subjects, have plucked the material for their new picture right out of the nation's headlines. Told with breathless realism and with meticulous regard for the record of recent events. It is, we assure you, all very thrilling, and not to be missed by any one who likes his screen entertainment. The acting is excellent." — Martin Dickstein in Brooklyn Eagle

"Cagney leads 'G-Men' to Broadway to clean up at the box office. The Freres Warner, taking advantage of the headlines in their usual excellent fashion, have turned the spotlight upon the activities of the Government special agents, those seekers after criminals who are known, in the parlance of the underworld and the headline writer as 'G-Men.' An actionful, exciting and thrilling film. It's more exciting passages keep you thrilled." — Al Sherman in N. Y. Morning Telegraph

"Great, gripping, glamorous. Socko! Another red-blooded cinema triumph for the Strand! You haven't seen a movie thriller until you've gaped and gulped and gasped in frenzied excitement at 'G-Men.' Let's forget immediately that the Warner Brothers have rendered a patriotic service by filming this dynamic drama, which glorified the Department of Justice agents of the United States Government, and give a rousing cheer for 'G-Men' on its merits as smash hit screen entertainment. Here is, indeed, the roughest, toughest, shootingest, fightingest film since 'The Public Enemy.' And Jimmy Cagney portrays a straight, brave, kindly role in the picture, giving a smooth, ingratiating and intelligent performance. He proves once again his versatility. It's a fine role in a super-fine production. William Keighley turned out a swift-paced, always intensely gripping picture. Replete with breath-taking dramatic action. Heartily recommended as a punch-packed film treat — guaranteed to chill and thrill all movie fans who can take cinematerial which mixes lead with laughter. They'll not only take it — but like it! And how!" — Irene Thirer in the N. Y. Post

"Not since 'The Public Enemy' startled film-goers with its stark and brutal reconstruction of gangster activities has there come so compelling a photoplay of the underworld as 'G-Men.' With the resourcefulness of James Cagney in giving a most magnificent performance and an impeccably chosen supporting cast, the production is a vivid and exciting entertainment. In 'The G-Men' the screen has singled out Federal men as the heroes and the exploits of the Department of Justice agents over the last three years have given it splendid material for celebration. Those most vociferous of Hollywood's critics who deplored the glorification of the plug-ugly in the extended series of gangster works, should be effectively silenced by the resultant chronicle. A gripping and fast-moving melodrama of today. William Keighley's staging of the shooting episodes, together with his frequent manipulation of the action by shots of many careening automobiles and the mounting crescendo of his climax have been accomplished with rare skill and ingenuity. The playing of the lesser roles is uniformly excellent. The most tremendously gripping screen offering ever presented by Warner Bros., as well as a signal commemoration of some of the most valiant deeds of our day." — Howard Barnes in N.Y. Herald-Tribune

The financial reports on "G-Men" are every bit as breathtaking as the critical comments. Every hour brings new records! "Phenomenal" is the only word for the business this show has done in every single situation! In San Francisco, 70,000 admissions poured into the Warfield Theater in seven days, topping all marks for the past four and one-half years! The run is to be continued indefinitely at the St. Francis! Then in Chicago, despite snow and sleet, extra cashiers were forced into service thirty minutes after the biggest opening in weeks at the Chicago Theater. Next stop—Houston, with business zooming 25% over normal figures! Texas crowds forced the management to schedule a special midnight showing. In Indianapolis, the SRO sign went up at two in the afternoon. Only complaint by manager is that patrons are staying through two shows! On to Memphis, and the biggest gross in the history of the city! Opening to a tremendous preview Friday night, it went still higher on Saturday, and on Sunday turned in the greatest gross since the theaters have been opened. All records, including the almost impossible '42nd Street' mark, fell before long lines of moviegoers. Omaha's Brandeis Theater opened to the biggest business in a year! In Minneapolis, another holdover is assured, as tremendous weekend business smashes all Orpheum Theater records for the year! At St. Louis' Shubert Theater the biggest turnout in the house's history makes a new record a certainty! Even a rainstorm couldn't keep away the thousands who tried to squeeze into the packed theater. They had to be turned away! In Newark, every box-office record in the history of the 15-year-old Branford Theater was topped! Picture may be held for three weeks, an unheard of run at this house. The Albany Strand Theater opened to capacity standing room with a heavy hail storm as competition! Even with a bad break in weather, overflow crowds made Pearl Street look like Times Square. Second day matinee was even bigger than first day. And in New York, the first five days at the Strand have trebled average business and broken every record in the theater's history. Opening-day mobs tore two doors from their hinges! Block-long lines and constant SRO crowds have forced a twenty-one-hour continuous performance policy with the doors opening at 8 A. M. and remaining open until 5 A. M. The Strand run will be continued indefinitely.

extremely serious condition following a blood transfusion this morning. C. B. Drew, electrician, is also in a precarious state.

Doctors despair of saving Wing, who is suffering from internal injuries, 11 broken ribs and two fractured vertebrae.

Richard Wallace, director; Kaplan, and Henry Sharpe, cameraman, have improved and are reported out of immediate danger, although danger of complications, such as pneumonia, prevails. Wallace is suffering from three broken ribs, chest injuries and a slight brain concussion.

Delayed by strong head winds, Louis D. Lighton, Paramount producer, finally arrived today from Hollywood in a private, high-speed plane and proceeded to the airport at Kirksville. Mrs. Wallace, Mrs. Wing and other relatives of the various victims arrived from the coast by air at noon and were rushed to Macon by auto.

Arthur Cole, of the Kansas City Paramount office, took charge yesterday, but today relinquished details with the arrival of Lighton.

Epstein Reaches Wallace

MACON, Mo., May 7.—Dave Epstein, Richard Wallace's business manager, is here from Hollywood. John Miljan arrived on the same plane with him.

Expected to Pull Through

Friends of Richard Wallace yesterday were advised by the director's wife, prior to her departure from Hollywood to her husband's side, that he is expected to live.

Hatrick in Narrow Squeak

KANSAS CITY, May 7.—Edgar B. Hatrick, general manager of the Hearst film interests, missed the ill-fated Sky Chief by the merest coincidence. In company with various Hearst Publication executives, he had traveled by private plane from Los Angeles to Albuquerque, there planning to transfer to the unlucky TWA air liner. He changed plans at the last minute and boarded the Santa Fe Chief instead.

Gassaway Presents Views On "Political Crackpots"

By SHERWIN A. KANE

The film boys sat around the stove at the Motion Picture Club at the lunch hour, or hours, yesterday and listened, alternately applauding or guffawing, while Congressman Percy L. Gassaway, "the old cow man" from Oklahoma, spoke his mind about Huey Long, Father Coughlin and political apostles of "insincere" share-the-wealth creeds, "more dangerous than communists." Maybe some of the boys didn't agree with everything the long-haired Oklahoman had to say but they liked the way he said it and, as Harry Hershfield put it at the close of the session, "It's good to see a United States congressman come out of a washroom without a black eye."

Yesterday's luncheon forum provided the occasion for Representative Gassaway's first visit to New York, an event, he told his audience in rich, western dialect, that "left him scared as a runaway darkey." But his fright didn't stifle his political opinions nor give him a case of "nerves" when, early in his speech, a photographer's flashlight bulb "back-fired" with a pistol-like explosion a few feet from his head.

"I've been shot three times and shot at a dozen times," the "cow man" remarked with a complacency that would have done credit to an artillery veteran.

"The American people," he observed, "are being stampeded" by the exponents of share-the-wealth programs who, though aware that they are unable to deliver what they so glibly promise, nevertheless do not hesitate to trade on the "ignorance and innocence" of large sections of the population for political power.

"These crack pots," the gentleman from Oklahoma says, "are like the parent who promises his children that if they will be good all year Santa Claus will bring them something nice for Christmas; then on Christmas Eve goes out in the backyard and fires a revolver shot into the air and returns to tell the kids that Santa Claus has just committed suicide."

"They are insincere in their promises of 'something for nothing,'" he continues. "When it comes time to divide the wealth theirs will be the bottom half of the bottle that they can't pour out because the top half belongs to some else."

Father Coughlin, he said, "has joined the money-changers," and Huey Long "is a political tom-tit who imitates a woodpecker and attacks the largest trees just to see if he can put a hole in them."

Representative Gassaway was introduced by Louis Nizer, toastmaster, as one whom the newsreels had disclosed to be the new "cowboy star" of pictures, invited to the non-partisan Motion Picture Club with the same degree of interest which would await his political adversaries.

The Oklahoman curtsied to the film industry, referring to it as the "greatest audience next to newspapers" and one which "had contributed more to the masses than any other business."

"If your industry," he said, "had produced no more than 'The Covered Wagon,' 'Carolina' and 'It Happened One Night,' it would have performed a wonderful service."

Fox Tries New Deal For Talent Signing

HOLLYWOOD, May 7.—Fox has inaugurated a new plan to insure more harmonious working relations with agents.

In the future agents will contact Jack Gain for long-term contracts for actors, writers and one-picture directors. John Zinn will handle long-term pacts for directors, and Col. Jason Joy will hire the writers. James O'Keefe will be the contact for music and composers, Julian Johnson will buy stories and plays, Phil Friedman and James Ryan will take care of one-picture deals for players and Winfield Sheehan and Sol Wurtzel will handle stars, directors, writers and larger negotiations.

Allen Rivkin, recently appointed an aide to Wurtzel at the Western Ave. studio, has resigned and has returned to Movietone City as a writer. Fanchon Royer, costume designer at the Western Ave. plant, also has resigned and that place has been taken temporarily by William Lambert from Movietone City.

expire within the next few months were faced with uncertainty over contract renewals because of the delay in the trial of the government's suit. Such licensees, it was stated, did not know whether to enter negotiations for new contracts or not, as future rates and pacts might be vitally affected by the outcome of the government suit.

Ascap opposed the government's motion for a preference which would bring the case to an early trial and argued that the case would have to be heard before three judges if the government insisted on haste. Arthur Schwartz, also of the Burkan office, and Henry Ward Beer, representing composers and publishers, argued against the government's petition for leave to take the depositions of Ascap licensees in various sections of the country. Judge Knox also reserved decision on this petition.

The director was reported in Kentucky yesterday and could not be reached for a statement.

Compromise Sought On Mass. Dog Races

BOSTON, May 7.—A truce looms in the Massachusetts dog racing fight. A bill has been introduced by Representative McDonald to permit the sport until a year from next November, when the question of pari-mutuel betting would again be made a referendum. Local option is proposed at present to abide by the referendum at the last election.

Governor Curley is in favor of abiding by the last referendum.

Warns on New Ohio Tax

COLUMBUS, May 7. — Governor Davey sent a message to the Legislature today in which he said: "There is no alternative to levying special temporary taxes to meet payments on old age pensions estimated at $7,000,000 for the last half of this year."

Members of the House Taxation Committee contend the Governor has no right to request additional taxes until he fulfills his pledge to reduce expenditures. Davey made no suggestion as to a taxation program.

Capitol Variety to Golf

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The local Variety Club on Friday will hold a golf tournament. Exchange forces and exhibitors are invited.

Purely Personal

AL FRIEDLANDER, who arrived by air from the coast late Monday night, is thankful to MYRNA LOY that he missed the plane which crashed near Atlanta, Mo. Learning that the MGM star was to leave on the air liner ahead of the ill-fated conveyor, FRIEDLANDER switched reservations and made the earlier plane. When he got to the air field a few minutes ahead of departure time, FRIEDLANDER saw MISS LOY put two of her friends aboard instead of leaving with them.

RCA Television Plans

A television program costing more than $1,000,000 and requiring a year to 15 months will be launched shortly, David Sarnoff, RCA head, revealed yesterday.

Para. Not to Seek Fox Met Extension

Fox Met bondholders' committee, it was stated yesterday.

Paramount interests identified with consideration of a $4,000,000 or $4,500,000 cash bid by the company for Fox Met, point out that even in the event either the Joseph M. Schenck or Si Fabian reorganization plan is approved by the committee and the court at tomorrow's hearing, Fox Met creditors must still be given 30 days in which to assent to or reject the plan which is tentatively approved. This period, according to the Paramount spokesmen, is sufficient for the completion of the preliminary study of Fox Met which Paramount will make in advance of a bid and for arranging the financing of the cash offer in the event one is justified by the preliminary study.

The Paramount interests also assume that a cash offer made after court approval had been given to either the Schenck or Fabian plans would still command consideration because of the obvious advantages of a cash sale over the long term securities issues proffered Fox Met bondholders by the plans now before the court.

The Fox Met bondholders' committee continued its study of the Fabian and Schenck plans yesterday and negotiations with the proponents of the plans are expected to be resumed today. The committee is expected to make it recommendations on the plans to Federal Judge Julian W. Mack tomorrow. B. S. Moss and associated financial interests are still regarded as possible cash bidders for the circuit.

Erpi-Para. Claim Deal Before Court and Paramount at reduced royalties which, it is estimated, will save Paramount $250,000 annually, as compared with former rates. In addition, provisions are incorporated for the establishment of new sound equipment servicing agreements for Paramount theatres.

The claim settlement was vigorously opposed by William Yoost, a Paramount bondholder, who was refused permission to intervene in the proceedings by the Federal district court. The U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals on Monday upheld the district court's ruling denying Yoost the intervention right. The decision cleared the way for Joyce's report, which now must be finally approved by Judge Alfred C. Coxe.

Joyce also approved petitions for expunging six claims aggregating $119,000 against Paramount Publix, which had been assigned to and were held by Paramount Enterprises.

Says B'klyn Sale Being Probed

The sale of the Brooklyn Paramount building to Si Fabian by the trustees of Allied Owners Corp. is under investigation by the Sabath Congressional committee on real estate reorganizations, the N. Y. World-Telegram said yesterday.

The allegation that the sale was under investigation by the committee figured in the questioning of Milton C. Weisman, proponent of a plan of reorganization for Fox Metropolitan Playhouses, reported in MOTION PICTURE DAILY of April 25. The building is said to be assessed at $4,800,000 and was sold to Fabian for $75,000 cash and a 20-year mortgage of $1,425,000. The sale is said to have been approved by the first and second mortgage bondholders' committees and the Reconstruction Finance Corp., to which the Allied Owners stock is pledged.

The building was described as a "lemon" and its assessed valuation "too high" by an R. F. C. spokesman, according to the World-Telegram.

Texas Houses Opening; New Ones Going Up opened the Royal in Archer City. Harry Roth will open the Morris at Naples. Frost will have a theatre shortly, owned by Charles Barker.

R. Z. Glass, operating the Knox Street neighborhood theatre here, has taken over the Oak Lawn, suburban house.

P. G. Cameron, operating the Peak, has taken O. E. Easter as a partner.

Hall Industries of Beeville has taken over the entire Mart Cole Circuit and, in addition, the Guild at Crystal City.

To Build in St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, May 7.—Right on the heels of Harry Koplar's announcement that he intended to build a string of suburban houses through his new company, St. Louis Suburban Theatres Co., comes an announcement of a building of a 1,200-seater on Delmar Boulevard.

This house is to be erected by S. D. Rossi, Inc., and is to be leased by a syndicate headed by Maurice Davis. Observers are wondering whether the city is in for a period of suburban competition like that which has torn the first run field for several years.

Charter Three N. Y. Firms

ALBANY, May 7.—Modern Research Corp. and American Mechanographic Corp., films and records, have been chartered by Anne Kahn, Travis S. Levy and Howard M. Rosenthal.

Let Freedom Ring, Inc., has been chartered by Ruth Kliger, Mathilda Kossack and Murray Gottlieb.

Takes New Haven House

NEW HAVEN, May 7.—Edwin S. Raffile has acquired the Globe after 10 years as manager from Moses J. Slepack. Wide Range sound is to be installed, evening prices will be raised from 15 to 20 cents and giveaways will be tried.

Form Kentucky Firm

FRANKFORT, KY., May 7.—Citizens' Theatre Co. of Henderson, Ky., has been incorporated with capital of $10,000.

Two Theatres Here to Be Sold

Two theatres, the Imperial at 250 West 46th St. and the Chanin at 249 West 45th St., are to be offered at auction by James R. Murphy on May 24. The sales will take place at the Vesey St. salesroom by order of William Levin, referee, to satisfy mortgage judgments.

Selznick Due Today

CHICAGO, May 7.—David O. Selznick, M-G-M producer, passed through here today en route from Hollywood to New York. To avoid Kansas dust storms, he traveled east on the Union Pacific.

Roach Adds 2 Comedies

HOLLYWOOD, May 7.—Hal Roach is adding two extra comedies to two series. A new Charlie Chase starts Wednesday under direction of James Parrott and a new "Our Gang" the following Wednesday with Gus Meins directing.

William Janney has replaced Barry Norton in the cast of the Laurel and Hardy comedy, "Bonnie Scotland." Others in the cast are Lionel Belmore and Minerva Urecal.

Gordon to See Play

CHICAGO, May 7.—Leon Gordon, M-G-M writer, was here today en route to New York to see "The Bishop Misbehaves," which he will adapt for M-G-M. The picture goes into production in about three weeks with Edna May Oliver and Maureen O'Sullivan.

Eastern M-G-M Men Back

M-G-M's eastern and New England sales forces returned yesterday from Detroit after attending the three-day regional sales convention at the Book-Cadillac.

Joe Vogel, in charge of Loew operations exclusive of New York, flew in Monday. William F. Rodgers, eastern sales head, and William A. Scully, eastern district head, remained in Detroit for further discussion on sales policy. They are due back today.

Felix Feist, Howard Dietz, Si Seadler and Howard Strickling are in Kansas City after the Detroit session and are due back in New York on Monday.

Short Subjects

"Beginner's Luck"

(Roach-M-G-M)

In many houses this short will probably take the play right away from most features particularly because of the interest in amateur contests now sweeping the country. Besides this, it's grand entertainment. The story concerns itself with the efforts of Spanky McFarland to keep from winning such a contest to thwart his mother's plan to make an actor out of him. The other members of Hal Roach's "Our Gang" series all do their bits to help matters along. Highly recommended. Production Code Seal, No. 677. Running time, 20 mins. "G."

"Colorful Guatemala"

(FitzPatrick-M-G-M)

This travelogue, done in Technicolor, falls short of the standard set by previous members of the series. Its one redeeming feature is the beautiful, natural color photography. Guatemala City and the outlying territory are covered but the subject matter is not very interesting. Only at the end of the reel, when the cameraman makes a tour of a coffee plantation, does it pick up. Fairly entertaining. No production code seal. Running time, 9 mins. "G."

"Spice of Life No. 6"

(Columbia)

Dr. Rockwell opens and closes this reel with some more of his insipid chatter and the jokes culled from newspapers and various other publications don't quite make up for his remarks. The gags presented are funny, however, and should produce many a laugh from audiences, but on the whole the reel is only average.

Production Code Seal No. 0351. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

"The Calico Dragon"

(M-G-M)

This Harman-Ising cartoon is based on the well known nursery tale of the same name. Done in color, and with an appropriate musical score accompanying, it is entertainment that is aimed particularly at children but with appeal to adults as well. Recommended. No production code seal. Running time, 8 mins. "G."

Court Fight Impends On "Little Colonel"

Prepared to fight to a finish legal moves threatened by Peter and Adam Adams of the Park Lane, Palisades Park, N. J., to stop him from playing "The Little Colonel" for three days starting tomorrow, Julius Charnow of the Leonia, Leonia, yesterday retained David T. Wilentz, attorney general for the state of New Jersey, to represent him in the proceedings, if and when, filed.

H. A. Toner, attorney for Adams Brothers, yesterday was drawing papers to file suit against Fox for an injunction. The suit is expected to be filed today.

Toner on Monday withdrew a complaint against the Leonia before the New Jersey advisory committee of the local clearance and zoning board on the ground he could not get relief within 48 hours.

Plaintiffs Rest in Suit Against Erpi

WILMINGTON, May 7.—David R. Hochreich, vice-president and general manager of Byers Studios and former president of Vocafilm, was recalled to the stand today in the General Talking Pictures-Duovac Radio suit against Erpi, Western Electric and A. T. & T. and brought the plaintiffs' side of the testimony to a close at noon. Court adjourned until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, when the defense will open.

Hochreich, who testified last week that allegedly unfair practices of the defendants brought about the ruin of Vocafilm, today told of an agreement between Erpi and the Music Publishers' Protective Ass'n in which Erpi assertedly paid a trustee for the music organization $100,000 for recording license rights. Hochreich also told of other agreements between the defendants and exhibitors and producers.

Montgomery Elected Screen Guild's Head

HOLLYWOOD, May 7.—Robert Montgomery has been named president of the Screen Actors' Guild. James Cagney, Ann Harding and Chester Morris have been elected first, second and third vice-presidents, respectively, with Kenneth Thomson named as secretary; Boris Karloff, assistant secretary; Warren William, treasurer; Noel Madison, assistant treasurer. Directors are as follows: Fredric March, Arthur Byron, William, Alan Mowbray, Robert Young, C. Henry Gordon, Lyle Talbot, Edward Arnold, Donald Woods, Robert Armstrong, Paul Harvey.

The guild's annual meeting has been set for May 26, when the new officers will be inducted.

Indiana Exhibitors Elect Roy R. Bair

INDIANAPOLIS, May 7.—Roy R. Bair of this city was elected president of the Associated Theatre Owners of Indiana at the group's annual meeting here today. He operates five local theatres and succeeds Earle Cunningham. Frank Sanders, operator of the Stratford and Mecca here, was named to the directorate.

Other officers are: Morris Rubin, Michigan City, vice-president; Harry Markun, Indianapolis, treasurer; Helen B. Keeler, Indianapolis, secretary; Charles R. Metzger, Indianapolis, counsel and general manager.

Eddie Cline Becomes Producer for Para.

HOLLYWOOD, May 7.—Eddie Cline has joined Paramount as a producer with the Harold Hurley unit. According to report, his first film will be "Timothy's Quest." The studio asserts Cline will not direct under the terms of his contract.

Warner Boat Ride Set

The Warner Club's annual boat ride up the Hudson to Bear Mountain will be held Wednesday, June 19, with dancing, bridge tournaments, athletic contests and a dinner as the highlights planned so far. Additional activities are being considered, however, and will be announced by the committee in charge of the affair later.

Missouri to Act on Sales Tax Dispute

Decision Expected This Week in Long Fight

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., May 8.—Action in the Missouri sales tax situation is expected this week when the Senate will be asked to reconsider its vote of two weeks ago reducing the two per cent rate as passed by the House, to one-half of one per cent on retail sales.

The end of this week is expected to see a definite decision. Commercial interests are threatening to demand a referendum on the two per cent rate if it finally prevails, but the administration believes provisions in the bill for old age pensions will defeat that proposal.

The sales tax is the only thing left to consider, and adjournment is looked for by May 18.

Fox New Setups in West About Ready

KANSAS CITY, May 8.—Reorganization of Fox West Coast theatre holdings will be completed here late this month when Fox Midland and Rocky Mountain units will be discharged from bankruptcy in the U. S. District Court after more than two years of operation by a trustee.

Spyros Skouras arrives here today for conferences with E. C. Rhoden, Fox Midwest division head, and Rick Ricketson, Rocky Mountain division

Copyright Bill Is Scored at Hearing

By CLARENCE LINZ

WASHINGTON, May 8. — Vigorous protests against the State Department sponsored Copyright Bill were voiced today before Senator William G. McAdoo of California, chairman of the Senate Patents Committee, by representatives of the M.P.P.D.A., Ascap and other organizations.

Criticism was chiefly directed at the provision striking out the minimum penalty for infringement and the rigidity of the protection given an author against changes in his work, both E.

Canada Ticket Tax Is Hiked Unexpectedly

TORONTO, May 8. — Without the slightest warning, a bombshell was exploded by Premier M. F. Hepburn of the Ontario Government in the ranks of exhibitors when he announced drastic increases in the amusement tax to be promulgated by Order-in-Council and effective June 1.

By means of the revised levy, Hepburn declared he hoped to raise a further $1,500,000 during the coming 12 months to cover the cost of unemployment relief, the new tax tickets being printed with "Ontario Amusement Tax for Relief Purposes."

The new scale wipes out the tax exemption on tickets up to 25 cents. The only exception is on tickets of nine cents or less—of which there has been none since the days of the old nickel shows. The tax on tickets from nine to 18 cents is one cent, but then comes

Find 42% of Seats in 93 Large Towns

These Serve 36,435,000 Of the Population

Analysis of seating capacities in relation to population shows that 42 per cent of the 9,720,000 seats used regularly in this country are in 93 cities of 100,000 or more population. In other words, 3,873 theatres with 4,083,000 seats serve 36,435,000 persons, an average of one seat to every nine persons, according to studies made by Motion Picture Herald and published today.

In smaller communities there are only 5,637,000 seats for the remaining 85,565,000 persons in the country, according to the Herald figures.

The average seating capacity in cities of over 100,000 population is given as 1,054, while the average for the entire country is 610.

Approximately 1,500 theatres operate one or two nights a week.

Academy Will Study Television Effects

HOLLYWOOD, May 8.—The Academy research council has appointed a fact-finding committee of six to conduct a thorough investigation of television and its probable effects on the industry. It is felt that research along these lines will be of genuine interest to the industry.

The committee, consisting of Carl Dreher, chairman; Gordon Chambers, J. G. Frayne, Hollie Moyse, N. M. La Porte and R. C. Wilman, will contact television authorities immediately, making a complete report to producers as soon as possible.

La Porte, of the Paramount home office, although here at present, will have charge of the New York end of the investigation.

Plans for the campaign to be adopted were taken up at a meeting of the council tonight. Also presented at the meeting were reports on the silent camera, by Virgil Miller; on reel length, by S. J. Twining; on release print quality improvement, by L. E. Clark, and on screen illumination, by John Aalberg.

Ruth Waterbury in New Magazine Post

HOLLYWOOD, May 8.—The new setup in the editorial offices of Photoplay on the coast has Ruth Waterbury in the editing spot formerly held by Ivan St. Johns. St. Johns, it is reported, will continue with the organization in a different department.

Shadoplay is being combined with Movie Mirror, of which Miss Waterbury has been the editor, and will be published under the Movie Mirror banner.

Although Miss Waterbury has already moved into her offices, the switch will not become effective until later this month. She will edit both magazines.

Scott on "Annapolis"

HOLLYWOOD, May 8.—Paramount has assigned Ewing Scott to assist Alexander Hall in the direction of "Annapolis Farewell." Scott will direct exterior sequences while Hall is working indoors. The assistant left Hollywood with the new troupe Monday night.

Mantell, Brodie to Build

Edmund Mantell and Ben Brodie, who recently took over the Stadium, plan to build a 600-seat theatre in the Bronx shortly. Plans are now being drawn, but the location is being kept secret until all contracts have been closed.

Reisman Returning

LONDON, May 8.—Phil Reisman, foreign sales manager of Radio, sailed for New York today on the Ile de France.

Saenger Bond Shift Progresses Rapidly

NEW ORLEANS, May 8.—With the Saenger interests now out of receivership and with ownership and operation vested in two new companies Saenger Theatres Corp. and Saenger Realty Corp., exchange of the bonds of the old companies is well underway. E. V. Richards is president of the new companies.

The same amount of bonds, $2,550,000, issued by the old companies, Saenger Theatres, Inc., and Saenger Realty Corp., Inc., will be issued by the new companies. There will be no change in the amount of stock outstanding which is practically all held by Paramount Publix. Most of the bonds are held locally.

Creditors of the old companies are entitled to receive subordinated notes of the new companies. The notes, it is pointed out, are actually not subordinated, since the new firms found its unnecessary to borrow cash for operation and current needs. The notes will be paid within three years. Past due interest on the five different series of bonds is being paid in cash to bondholders at the time of their exchange of the old bonds for the new.

Additional provisions have been made under the new setup for the building of sinking funds for the retirement of the bonds. Bonds of the old theatre company, listed at about $25 more than a year and a one-half ago, now listed at about $85 per $100 face value. Bonds of the old realty company are now being quoted in the vicinity of $98 per $100 face value. The bonds are in units of $500 and $1,000.

Hammons Is Dined By His Associates

Executives of Educational and Fox yesterday tendered Earle W. Hammons, president of the former company, a testimonial luncheon at the Astor in honor of the 20th anniversary of the founding of Educational.

J. H. Skirball, sales manager for Educational, acted as toastmaster and presented Hammons a 16mm home projection sound apparatus on behalf of the company's staff. Bruno Weyers, vice-president of Educational, and Felix A. Jenkins, chief counsel and secretary of Fox, paid tribute to the Educational head. Hammons also spoke briefly.

About 50 attended, including Julio Elias, Educational's representative in Spain: George Skouras, Allan Friedman, Larry Kent, Edward Peskay, William Clark, Percy Heiliger, Harvey Day, Harry H. Buxbaum, Roger Ferri, Joe Lee, Jime Clark and Truman Tally.

Ruling Reserved on RKO Trustee Appeal

Decision was reserved by the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday on an action contesting the validity of the appointment of Irving Trust Co. as trustee of RKO under Section 77-B of the bankruptcy law.

The action was brought by Edward L. Garvin, attorney for RKO creditors, and alleges that RKO's petition for reorganization under 77-B was filed prematurely last June and that the appointment of the trustee, therefore, was improper. It was alleged that RKO's petition was filed several hours in advance of the enactment of the new bankruptcy law.

THE PICTURE OF THE WEEK

Because its dramatic story of Military School life offers lovable Jackie Cooper his finest opportunities since "The Champ," Warner Bros.' "DINKY" emerges as this week's outstanding screen release. Expert in their featured assignments are Mary Astor and Roger Pryor, deftly directed by D. Ross Lederman. Released May 11th.

M-G-M Sales Policy To Be More Flexible

general sales manager, confirmed at the opening of his company's regional meeting here today that the sales policy in the future would provide that each situation be sold individually according to local conditions.

Feist said that M-G-M would continue to frown on duals and dime admissions. He asserted no dime theatres would be sold. It was also revealed by him that the budget on specials would be increased.

M-G-M is stepping up its releasing program next season to 50 features. Although it was announced the program would call for 49, the company is reviving "Smilin' Thru," with Norma Shearer, which increases the list to the new figure.

Seek Policy Shift

Following a lengthy session yesterday during which product in general was discussed, the I.T.O.A. passed a resolution to wire Felix F. Feist in Kansas City to "please change the sales policy next season."

Feist is presiding at the second M-G-M regional sales convention there. The telegram will be sent today, because the I.T.O.A. meeting broke up late yesterday and Harry Brandt, president, wanted to put his official stamp of approval on it before it was sent.

"Marietta" Cincinnati Wow

CINCINNATI, May 8.—"Naughty Marietta" is making local box-office history with an estimated take of around $36,000 for a four-week run, with still another seven days to go. It played two weeks at the RKO Albee, which, in itself, is something of a record for this house. It was moved to the Capitol for the third stanza and was transferred to the Grand for the fourth. It now has been held for the fifth week, with present indications that it will pile up a respectable gross.

Plan New M-G-M Office

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 8.—Construction of a $50,000 brick building on the northeast corner of Lee and Grand Aves., to be leased to M-G-M for 10 years, will be started within 30 days by G. A. Paul.

Roach Feature Delayed

HOLLYWOOD, May 8.—Production on the new Laurel & Hardy feature, "Bonnie Scotland," is being held up until a suitable ingenue is found to play opposite Barry Norton.

M-G-M Re-Signs Benchley

HOLLYWOOD, May 8.—Robert Benchley, who has been away from Hollywood for the past year, has signed a new contract with M-G-M the terms of which call for the familiar output of Benchleyiana.

Joe Rapf to Vacation

HOLLYWOOD, May 8.—Joe Rapf, head of the M-G-M wardrobe department, leaves here May 15 on a vacation, the first in 15 years. He will go to New York via the Canal, and from there to Europe.

Warners Sign Bryan Foy

HOLLYWOOD, May 8.—Bryan Foy has been signed by Warners as a supervisor. He is now reading stories for his first group of pictures.

Leo's Men Now at K. C.

KANSAS CITY, May 8.—As "official host," HARRIS P. WOLFBERG, Kansas City district manager, promised this convention would exceed in hospitality the meeting of 1933, which was the first held in this, the "Heart of America," as the Chamber of Commerce calls it. WOLFBERG vows an M-G-M repeat engagement is always better than the first.

HOWARD DIETZ recalled that during the previous pow-wow here, the mercury hovered around the 100 mark, and is glad for a "cooler reception" this trip.

Arrangements for the dinner Thursday night, for which BILLY FERGUSON and his crew of exploiteers take a bow, called for a magnificent tribute to FELIX F. FEIST on the observance of his 10th anniversary as general sales manager for M-G-M. The motif of "10" was to be carried out throughout the proceedings, and from all reports it is plain the show would be worth that many bucks for a ringside seat.

For his part, HAL ROACH promised Leo's shock troops the "best pictures ever made for 1935-36."

JOSEPH VOGEL of Loew's had planned to be here, but was recalled to New York from Detroit.

EDDIE CARRIER flew in from Manhattan. After piloting the traveling studio around Kansas the last month, he remains in Kaycee to stage screen tests at Loew's Midland starting May 24 for three days. The tieup is with KMBC and daily air programs have been arranged.

SI SEADLER indulged in plenty of handshaking around the Muehlebach Hotel lobby, he has that many friends.

Attendance was swelled to around 150 by the presence of auditors, office managers and head bookers, who, 'tis said, are experiencing the thrills of their first convention.

FERGUSON performed in his usual able manner in making ready for the actual business of the sessions. The decorations are striking and feature 10-foot star heads suspended around the hotel lobby, the management of the staid hostelry winking at precedent to permit the stunt.

The exploitation crew was on hand early in the week to prepare for the onrush, and had no trouble finding plenty to do. By name and headquarters they are CLAUD E. MORRIS, Kansas City; FRED BARTOW, Chicago; E. B. COLMAN, Atlanta; MORRY ABRAMS, Minneapolis; FRANK SHEA, Los Angeles.

CLARENCE J. BRIANT, New Orleans branch head, is somewhat touchy on the subject of HUEY LONG.

"The house is yours," the men were informed by Manager JOHN MCMANUS of Loew's Midland, who extended cordial greetings and Midwestern hospitality.

Exhausted from the grind in Detroit and the long rail trek west, the home office staff, topped by FEIST, made 40 winks of sleep the first order of business on arrival Tuesday night.

HARRY J. SHUMOW, heading the Omaha representation, is making fluent use of his linguistic talents. As Nick Kampopulous he impersonates a couple of Greek exhibitors. Just for fun.

Publix Enterprises Final Meeting Set discharge of Irving Trust Co. as trustee, and the final winding up of the bankruptcy of the now defunct theatre company.

The meeting will also pass upon the final report of the trustee showing gross receipts of $1,943,163 and disbursements of $1,910,953; the final applications for allowances and the formal release of the Publix Enterprises' assets to Famous Theatres Corp., Paramount's new theatre subsidiary.

Claims against the company which have been allowed aggregate $5,061,894, and dividends of $1,547,042 have already been credited against these claims. If any additional funds are available, a final dividend will be declared for creditors at the scheduled meeting.

Claim Strand Record

All attendance records at the Strand were broken last week by "G-Men," according to Warners. It is claimed that 132,421 people saw the film during its first week.

Marco and "U" Talk Deal on 2 Musicals

Marco has been in New York since Monday discussing contract terms with Universal home office executives.

Mike Marco left for the coast yesterday afternoon by airplane after conferring with Universal executives on a production tie-up. Details of the deal will be worked out in Hollywood upon Marco's arrival there today. He could not be reached for a statement.

Para. Gets Ratoff Film

Paramount will release "18 Minutes," made in Great Britain with Gregory Ratoff starring and John Loder and Benita Hume in support. Monty Banks directed.

Columbians to Dine

The Columbian Club of Columbia Pictures home office will install its new officers at the first dinner dance of the season to be held at The Claremont Inn Friday night.

Canada Ticket Levy Hiked Unexpectedly

the big jump in the levy with an assessment or five cents on tickets from 19 to 45 cents inclusive, an increase of around 150 per cent.

From 46 to 85 cents inclusive, the tax will be 10 cents and that for admissions from 86 to $1.50 will be 15 cents. Higher brackets see a sharp increase up to 50 cents in tax as the maximum.

The worst smash of all is the imposition of a five-cent tax on the 25-cent ticket, as this had become the popular price for matinees in many large theatres and for evening shows at neighborhood houses.

This fact drew the following comment from Premier Hepburn: "Seventy-five per cent of the theatres had dropped their admission price to 25 cents to escape taxation. They will now have to pay five cents on this ticket."

The action of the Ontario Government came as a bolt from the blue. Not one official in Famous Players Canadian Corp. had wind of the contemplated increases, although officers of that chain are said to be close to Premier Hepburn.

Premier Hepburn announced that the Government had decided not to take any action on the request of certain exhibitors for legislation to prohibit distribution of chinaware or other merchandise.

Both circuit and independent theatre organizations have been so flattened by the Government's decision to jump the tax that no word is forthcoming regarding a meeting to urge reconsideration. Evidently there would not be much use, because Hepburn has stated that the tickets are being printed and the new taxes will start June 1.

Kill Mass. Film Bill

BOSTON, May 8.—Another victory has been won by the industry in the killing by the State Legislature of the petition of Alexander Sullivan who sought a law penalizing the alleged unauthorized showing of pictures that have been prohibited. Sullivan claimed that through accident, or deliberate intent, some theatres on occasion have shown films that have not been cut according to the Sunday censorship regulations in Massachusetts.

Shelve Mass. Sales Tax

BOSTON, May 8.—Bills proposing a sales tax in Massachusetts have been put over to the next annual session of the Legislature. Mayor Mansfield of Boston, State Tax Commissioner Henry F. Long, and Representative J. Walton Tuttle of Framingham are among those having petitions thus treated by the Senate.

Ohio Income Tax Passes

COLUMBUS, May 8.—The House here late yesterday passed the income tax bill of Representative P. E. Ward by a vote of 91 to 31. The measure, providing a higher rate than the Federal income tax law and designed to raise approximately $20,000,000, now goes to the Senate where its defeat is predicted.

manager at Denver. While there will be a realignment of the corporate structure of the two divisions, and probably a geographical realignment to some extent, major operations will not be disturbed.

The Rocky Mountain and Midland corporations were automatically dissolved when National Theatres took title to the assets last Saturday. Through the transfer, National Theatres acquired the stock of Fox Midwest Theatres Corp., which supersedes Rocky Mountain, and the purchase of Midland gave National Theatres ownership of stock in Fox Central States Theatres Corp. The new companies were formed after the bankruptcy to take over the assets of the defunct corporations.

The new Fox Midwest corporation will have headquarters at Denver and Associated Theatres will be one of its subsidiaries. Heretofore the holding company for what is known as the Midwest division, Fox Midland will henceforth be known as Fox Central States, with headquarters in Kansas City.

Appeals Sale of Fox Units

KANSAS CITY, May 8.—A hearing is expected early next week in Federal court here on an appeal from the bankruptcy court brought by Lee H. Hamlin involving the sale of Fox Midland and Fox Rocky Mountain to National Theatres, which has been approved by major creditors and the referee in bankruptcy.

Hamlin has petitioned that the court set aside the sale contending that as a creditor he would not obtain full amount of his claims and that the amount paid for the assets of the two firms was far below their actual worth.

Schenck's Fox Met Plan Seen Favored

of the plan recommended by the committee which, if not voluntarily conceded by Schenck, might cause a postponement of the court hearing scheduled for today.

William L. Bainton, of counsel for the Fox Met noteholders' committee, and Milton C. Weisman, receiver of Fox Theatres and a co-sponsor of the Schenck plan, spent most of yesterday in conference with Federal Judge Julian W. Mack, before whom today's hearing is scheduled. Although no comment on the conference was made, it was reported that modifications of the Schenck plan which would make it acceptable to the committee were discussed. Among these, it is believed, was a provision restricting the declaration of dividends by the new company until such time as a large part of the new bonds to be issued under the Schenck plan has been amortized.

If the modifications sought by the committee are conceded by Schenck, it is believed that the committee will come into court today prepared to recommend acceptance of that plan. If the modifications are subjected to negotiation, the court hearing will undoubtedly be postponed until the negotiations have been concluded. The committee's recommendation would probably result in the court's giving its tentative approval to the Schenck plan.

In favoring the Schenck plan over the one proposed by Si Fabian the committee is reported to have been influenced mostly by the belief that the new securities of reorganized Fox Met, which both plans proposed to issue to the present bondholders, would have greater value through continued operation of the circuit by Skouras and Randforce, as contemplated in the Schenck plan, than under a new operation such as Fabian proposes.

It was learned from an authoritative source yesterday that no bid for Fox Met will be made by B. S. Moss and that no new plans such as that which the Fox Theatres stockholders' protective committee considered making will be received. This leaves only Paramount in the field as a possible cash bidder and no action from this source is expected for several weeks.

Three Brothers Largest Stockholders in Warners

55,970 shares of preferred or 70,328 with Renraw and $6,060,799 in debentures.

Officers and directors holding stock include Harry M. Warner, president, 102,908 shares of common, 15,403 2/3 shares of preferred, $1,602,333 debentures; Albert Warner, vice-president, 102,581 shares of common, 20,603 2/3 preferred, $2,008,133 debentures; J. Morris, vice-president, 3,000 shares of common, $40,000 debentures; Herman Starr, vice-president, 500 common; Abel Cary Thomas, secretary, 232 common; S. Carlisle, comptroller, 1,200 common; S. P. Friedman, director, 600 common, $46,000 debentures, and Morris Wolf, director, 166 2/3 common.

The company asked additional time in which to file the salaries and remuneration of officers and financial statements required by the act until Feb. 29.

The Warner statement showed 126 wholly owned and 15 partly owned subsidiaries and the ownership of 50 per cent or more of the stock of 43 affiliates. Outstanding funded indebtedness included $32,600,000 in debentures, $219,000 by First National properties, $589,700 by Warner Bros. properties, and $1,141,300 by Alexander Pantages.

Holders of 10 per cent or more of any class of securities included Renraw, Inc., 14,358 shares of preferred; Albert Warner, 21,035 shares; Harry M. Warner, 10,618 shares; Sigler and Co., New York, 20,700 shares.

"U" Files Report, Too

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Universal was another major producing and distributing company which filed application with the SEC to list 18,000 shares of $100 par eight per cent cumulative first preferred on the New York board and 250,000 shares of common on the New York Curb Exchange.

Universal's report showed 41 wholly owned and six partly owned subsidiaries. The company has no funded indebtedness, and holders of 10 per cent or more of any class of securities included only Carl Laemmle with 15,708 shares of second preferred and 186,085 shares of common, or 75 and 74 per cent, respectively.

Holdings of officers and directors included Carl Laemmle, president, 1,135 shares first preferred, 15,702 second preferred, 186,084 common; Carl Laemmle, Jr., vice-president, 350 common; Samuel Sedran, vice-president, 50 common, four first preferred; Helen E. Hughes, assistant secretary, 20 first preferred; Willard S. McKay, secretary, 279 first preferred, 46 second preferred, 700 common; P. D. Cochrane, director, 184 second preferred, 2,096 common; R. H. Cochrane, vice-president, 2,862 common.

The company reported it had outstanding contracts with McKay to serve as general counsel at a retainer of $700 weekly and with James R. Grainger as general sales manager for the U. S. and Canada for a year ending July 16, next, at $1,000 weekly and two and one-half per cent of any increase in business over the preceding year.

Like Warners, Universal asked an extension until April 1, 1936, to file a report on salaries and remunerations of officers.

EK Head Paid $90,903

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Frank W. Lovejoy, president, general manager and a director of Eastman Kodak was paid $90,903 in 1934 and William G. Stuber, chairman of the board, $61,230, it was disclosed today in a registration statement filed with the SEC today.

Thomas J. Hargrave and C. E. Kenneth Mees, vice-presidents both, were down for $45,000 each.

Bride Objects

Lincoln, May 8.—Seizing upon the joint occurrence of Anna Sten's personal appearance here Monday with her picture "Wedding Night" and the marriage of Barney Oldfield, Sunday Journal and Star theatre editor, to Vada Kinman, non-pro, theatre publicity men wanted Miss Sten to act as bridesmaid. The bride objected.

"This will be no double feature," she said flatly.

Fred S. Meyer a Colonel

CINCINNATI, May 8.—Col. Paul E. Krieger, manager of the Universal exchange here, has secured a Kentucky colonel's commission for Fred S. Meyer, a studio executive.

Copyright Bill Is Scored at Hearing

P. Kilroe of the M.P.P.D.A. Copyright Committee and Gabriel Hess, counsel, urging the retention of the minimum penalty as offering a certain amount of protection to the film industry against plagiarism and piracy, while Kilroe also contended that the bill should be more specific in assuring purchasers of scenarios the right to make needed changes.

The proposed bill is "worse than no law at all," the senator who conducted the hearing alone, was told by Louise Silcox, of the Authors' League, while John G. Payne, of the Music Publishers Protective Ass'n., asserted it does not give any protection to publishers.

Much of the time of the hearing was consumed by Gene Buck, president of Ascap, in an attempt to defend that organization against the charges which have been voiced against it, which ended when Senator McAdoo ruled the discussion was not relevant to the question before the committee.

Following the conclusion of testimony, the senator gave ten days in which the various interests could file briefs amplifying the points they brought out today.

"Time," First Div. Contract Cancelled

was to run 10 months' minimum ends with the third subject, which is now in distribution.

The 13 territories where First Division will continue to distribute "The March of Time" on a temporary basis are Albany, Atlanta, Buffalo, Charlotte, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Detroit, Louisville, New Orleans, New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Washington.

Temporary arrangements also have been made with independent exchanges in 12 other territories—Midwest Film Distributors, handling Kansas City, Des Moines and Omaha; Farwest Film Exchanges in Los Angeles and San Francisco; Distinctive Screen Attractions, Denver and Salt Lake City; Monogram Independent Film Distributors, Dallas; Henri Ellman's Capital Film Corp., Chicago and Milwaukee; Lee Goldberg, Indianapolis; Gilbert Nathanson's Monogram Pictures Exchange, Minneapolis, and Principal Exchange, Seattle.

Tishman, Walker Aide

E. B. Tishman, associated with Root, Clark, Buckner & Ballantine, counsel for the Paramount Publix trustees, was loaned yesterday to Frank C. Walker for an indefinite period to assist in the latter's work as director of the National Emergency Council, the "clearing house" for the new $4,800,000,000 emergency relief fund. Tishman will be assigned to Walker's Washington office.

Golfing ASC Date Set

HOLLYWOOD, May 8.—The date of the second annual A.S.C. golf tournament has been set for May 12 at the Brentwood Golf Club here. It is estimated that approximately 300 will be starters.

Alien Actor Briefs Stir Dickstein Ire

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Hollywood producers were today subjected to a barrage of criticism for their dependence upon briefs rather than personal appearances to influence the course of legislation before Congress.

Opening hearings on his bill to make alien actors subject to the contract provisions of the Immigration Law, Representative Samuel Dickstein of New York, chairman of the House Immigration Committee, threatened to reject briefs sent to Washington by a number of producers, but finally accepted the brief of the Hays office after portions had been read by Representative Charles D. Millard of New York.

Declaring that "nobody reads them," Dickstein declared he wanted the producers to appear so that they might be cross-examined, while Representative Charles Kramer of California agreed "the industry ought to show some indication of willingness to come here."

The sole objection to the bill today was offered by Lodwick Vroom of the Dramatists' Guild, who asserted that passage of the bill would seriously handicap the revival of the legitimate drama, while Paul Dullzell of Equity declared the enactment would "bring about better days for the American actor."

The major defense of the bill, however, came from Dickstein himself. Declaring "an investigation of Mr. Hollywood and Mr. Metro Mayer ought to be held," he charged "this whole situation has been very badly neglected" and that the film producers had imported foreigners wholesale.

"Somebody in Hollywood brought in 1,100 at one time and only hired a few of them," he asserted. "They bring in a dozen or more and may pick out one or none. They give them temporary contracts for three weeks and never send them back. We have a lot of Charlie Chaplins in this country and don't give them a chance."

In the hope the producers would appear, Dickstein recessed the hearing until May 15, at which time also Equity was invited to file a complete reply to the M.P.P.D.A. brief.

Bank Night Spreads In Kansas and K. C.

KANSAS CITY, May 8.—While exhibitors in Kansas City, Mo., are in the throes of a fight over bank night, in Kansas City, Kan., separated from the larger city by only a state line, the promotion has been contracted for by all but two of the 11 theatres, and already has started at the Electric, Fox Midwest first run house.

Giveaways of some form thus embrace all of Greater Kansas City, circuits included, with the exception of a half dozen theatres. Some of the downtown subsequent runs in the Missouri city are planning to join the parade.

Because of the widespread adoption of bank night in Kansas, exhibitors anticipate no move to check it such as has been undertaken in Missouri by Mrs. A. Baier. The Kansas attorney general has ruled bank night is "not illegal" when participants are not required to purchase an admission.

"Jack pot," something similar to bank night, has made its appearance here, as has "auction night," wherein gifts are given for merchants' coupons. Jay Means, head of the I. T. O., has extended premiums to four nights a week at his Oak Park.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Headline Woman"

(Mascot)

HOLLYWOOD, May 8.—A capable cast and an action story provide a framework for fast entertainment involving police reporters and a police commissioner.

Roger Pryor, reporter, gets his news service in wrong with Police Commissioner Conway Tearle by a story ridiculing the department, so Tearle orders no more news for the press. Pryor then make a dupe of Ford Sterling, a dumb cop, tipping him off to underworld doings in return for news.

Sterling rises rapidly to become a detective lieutenant, and through him Pryor arranges a raid on a gambling establishment owned by Morgan Wallace. During the raid Wallace is shot by Jack LaRue, gangster, as his companion, Heather Angel, witnesses the crime.

Pryor, thinking he has a great scoop, hides Miss Angel and learns just before breaking the story that she is the daughter of the owner of his paper. Protecting her from the police and rival reporters, he ferrets out LaRue. As rival reporters chase Pryor he pins the murder on the gangster, vindicating Miss Angel for a romantic finish.

The direction of William Nigh provides some clever touches. The picture has speed and should appeal as an average show.

Previewed without production code seal. Running time, 75 minutes. "G."

"Alias Mary Dow"

(Universal)

HOLLYWOOD, May 8.—A mild story places this for duals. The exploitation angle is the reaction of a working girl who finds herself suddenly in society.

Sally Eilers, looking lovely after months off the screen, plays a tough hasher and taxi-dancer. Henry O'Neill persuades her to impersonate his daughter, kidnapped as a child, to make happy the last moments of his wife, Katharine Alexander. Miss Alexander recovers and Miss Eilers has to continue the deception with her former dance hall associates trying to cash in on her new wealth and break up her romance with socialite Raymond Milland.

Miss Eilers does nice work and so do Milland, O'Neill and Miss Alexander with capable support from Chick Chandler, Baby Jane Quigley, Addison Richards, Lola Lane, Clarence Muse, Corbitt Morris and Phyllis Crane under Kurt Neuman's direction.

Production Code Seal No. 843. Running time, 70 minutes. "G."

"The Informer," this morning's opener at the Radio City Music Hall, was reviewed by wire from Hollywood on April 25.

"Goin' to Town," previewed by wire from Hollywood on April 16, will open at the Paramount tomorrow morning.

"The Bride of Frankenstein," which will be previewed tonight at the Roxy, was reviewed from Hollywood by wire on April 9.

Stirling Quits Board

NEW HAVEN, May 8.—George S. Stirling, non-industry member of the local clearance and zoning board, has tendered his resignation because of pressure of business. A member of the investment firm of Day, Stoddard & Williams, investment brokers, Stirling has served on the board since its inception.

Miller Quits Stanley

PHILADELPHIA, May 8.—Dave Miller, chief booker for Stanley-Warner Theatres here resigned yesterday, effective May 18, after five months in the post. Miller was a veteran of 15 years with Universal, rising from salesman to district manager. His future plans have not been announced, nor has his successor been named yet.

Evergreen Men Shift

SEATTLE, May 8. — Executive changes in Evergreen States have followed the visit of Charles and Spyros Skouras. Al Finkelstein has taken over the Oregon division with offices at Portland and Al Rosenberg has taken the eastern Washington houses with headquarters in Spokane. Frank L. Newman, Sr., continues to handle the local houses.

To Help Arrange Meet

RICHMOND, May 8.—Hunter Perry, Charlottesville, today was named committee chairman to arrange for the convention to be held in Roanoke on June 16 and 17 by the M. P. T. O. of Virginia. The organization placed itself on record as against theatrical films in schools.

Holts to New Haven

BRIDGEPORT, May 8.—Ted Holts will end his duties as Globe manager on May 10. He will go to New Haven to join the Loew maintenance staff.

Dismissal of Action Against Erpi Asked

WILMINGTON, May 8.—Motion for dismissal of the anti-trust suit of General Talking Pictures and Duovac Radio against Erpi, Western Electric and A. T. & T. was made by George F. Hurd, chief counsel for the defendants, in U. S. District Court here today.

The motion was mainly on behalf of A. T. & T. It was asserted there was not sufficient evidence to uphold the allegations in the bill of complaint and the plaintiff had failed to prove any damage had been sustained.

It had not been charged nor proved, the motion stated, that A. T. & T. had a part in agreements between Erpi and exhibitors, its only connection in the case being its relationship with Erpi through Western Electric.

Hurd said there was no relationship between Western Electric and Erpi except a contractual relationship under a 1926 agreement under which the former granted the latter patent rights to manufacture and sell equipment.

Samuel E. Darby, chief counsel for the plaintiffs, in opposing the motion said Western Electric controlled Erpi stock 100 per cent. He held Western Electric operated Erpi to promote the sale and leasing of its products.

Judge John P. Nields took the matter under advisement.

Schenck's Fox Met Plan Given Approval of Court

Formal Choice Of Para. Board Slated June 3

Expect Confirmation of Present Management

The formal election of Paramount's new board and officers will take place June 3 instead of May 15, it was decided yesterday at a meeting of the present board and of Paramount creditor representatives.

Indications still are that on that date the present management, headed by Adolph Zukor, will be confirmed for carrying on with the new company at its outset. This is the word that is now expected to be given to Paramount's sales personnel at the annual convention, June 13-16, in this city. Changes in the election plans of the company, it was learned, explain the setting back of Paramount's sales convention from its original date, May 23-26, to the present June date. Officials of the company felt that it was imperative that the executive per-

Farnsworth to Propose Hours Schedule for Reel Cameramen

Unable to come to an agreement with Louis Krouse, vice-president of the I.A.T.S.E., and Jack Connolly of Pathe News, on the credit hours for newsreel cameramen, Deputy Administrator William P. Farnsworth will propose an hour schedule of his own to the union and cameramen for consideration, the NRA executive stated yesterday. If the proposal is not accepted, he will put an order through, he said.

Farnsworth is on a short vacation and will not return to Washington until Monday, when he will draft the proposal. Both factions have different ideas on working hours for the newsreel men, but Farnsworth believes he has the solution.

Salary does not enter into the controversy, the matter being confined to what constitutes working hours.

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

TEMPTATION, maybe, is to be pushed rudely aside under a plan, now fulminating, whereby major advertising men around the town will lay off the Daily News system of star ratings in their newspaper copy and on their theatre marquees. Discussed in Hays office conclaves, an understanding is drawing near, with June 1 as the effective date. It has yet to be signed. . . .

Like the little boy raiding the pantry, the star idea is swell as long as the cookies hold out. Pouts, frowns, fumings ensue when the larder goes empty. This bedtime story manner of explanation is merely to point out that three and, especially, four star pictures please advertising minds mightily and presumably influence the sale of additional tickets. The theory is the competitive attractions, not so thoroughly star dusted, go into a reverse or, at least, a standstill. . . .

Troublesome has been what to do about the less favored celluloid, of which there is much, the conclusion being that the fastest way out is to forget the stars completely. The scheme now near consummation was close to the finishing line immediately before the opening of "G-Men." Certainly an accord had been reached. The Cagney film then was caparisoned with four of the coveted stars which immediately went up in lights on the Strand marquee and in type in the theatre's newspaper advertising. The reason for it all was simple enough: The final rivet in the resting place of the star system had not yet been driven merely because nothing had been set down in writing. . . .

This is not ther first attempt along such lines. At least once before, the machinery started rolling to end in a complete breakdown when the next four star review happened along. It was open season thereafter. With those rare days in June impending and grosses about to don summer dress, the resistance against use of starring quartets may again prove too tough to ward off. Anyway, it proves one thing, which is that star trouble is no longer a Hollywood exclusive. . . .

Not the evidence was lacking. But clipping the heels of the comment here the other day about the support accorded Warners in Hearst newspaper columns come facts in a hurry: (1) Brisbane in his "Today" column; in the New York American; (2) editorial in the same paper; (3) ditto in the New York Daily Mirror, all urging the reader constituency to see "G-Men." In the latter sheet further, a pictorial story on the same flicker. . . .

Metro and Radio are racing, none too mildly, for the same goal which is another name for "The Divine Sarah," a play by George Westley and based on the life of Sarah Bernhardt. Leo's desire: For Garbo. Radio's: For Hepburn. . . .

On the subject of material, there is "The Old Maid," Pulitzer Prize play in which Arthur Mayer owns a twenty-five per cent interest. We go agent long enough to suggest to Metro its suitability for Helen Hayes. And to Radio, for Irene Dunne. Not that anyone will listen. . . .

Alphabetically, merely to maintain some sort of balance of power, are Columbia, Monogram, Paramount and United Artists, one and all after distribution of "The March of Time." Apparently irrevelant fact: Henry R. Luce, editor of Time, which controls the reel, is a Paramount director. . . .

Wisconsin Theatres Plan Talent Contest

MILWAUKEE, May 9.—A radio talent contest will be staged by Fox in approximately 35 houses in Wisconsin, in co-operation with station WTMJ, starting May 12 and closing June 18.

Local eliminations will be held at the 35 theatres for four weeks, with district finals being held in the fifth week at 17 theatres. One finalist from each district will appear in the grand finals at the circuit's Wisconsin theatre June 18, and from the 17, five prize winning acts will be selected.

Those five winning acts will be presented with contracts calling for four weekly broadcasts over WTMJ. The Milwaukee downtown auditions, to be held at the Wisconsin theatre every Tuesday night, will be broadcast over WTMJ from 9:45 to 10:15 P. M. An applause machine will be used in the theatre to register on a sound meter the amount of applause awarded the various acts.

Russian Group Coming

Boris Shumiatsky, head of the film industry of Soviet Russia, and a group of Russian producers and players will arrive here early next month to study American production methods. Plans are now being made by V. Verlinsky, president of Amkino Corp., distributor of Soviet films here, for the party to visit Hollywood.

Feist Asserts M-G-M Gained 20% for Year

curate barometer of general conditions, he added that his reports from the field reveal Government spending has helped immeasurably in many localities and that he looked for further stimulus through the expenditure of the recently adopted work relief fund.

"One man is Garbo's most effective rival," said Feist, "and he's also the best business friend she has. The same man is the toughest competition and strongest business tonic for Clark Gable and for everybody else in the motion picture industry. That man's name is Franklin Delano Roosevelt."

Feist went on to explain that the worst nights on the showman's calendar were those on which the President broadcast his "fireside chats." He was thankful there has been only one of those talks lately.

"Those fireside chats," the sales executive went on, "are so hot they burn the manager's house down. The President is terrific box-office. He's the only radio performer who keeps people home from the movies in appreciable numbers. Huey Long is beginning to be felt as a competitive attraction. So is Father Coughlin. But the only one who keeps the public at home on nights when you really have a good picture is the President."

Feist went on to say the President had more than atoned for the patrons he kept away from Gable and Harlow on "fireside nights" by the increased business he has brought to the country's movie theatres.

Film Show as Barometer

"The picture show is an accurate barometer of government aid as it applies to business," he said. "The moment the Government starts spending money in a community attendance jumps. I've been interested in this as a national trade manifestation. I've gone to some length to investigate it.

"Classics are luring people to theatres who never before saw pictures." he continued. It is his opinion the success of "David Copperfield" and other literary works, warrant the continuation of this type of production and named "The Barretts," "Little Women," "Les Miserables" and "Naughty Marietta" as typifying films which are creating wider audiences.

Feist said he regarded giveaways, duals and low admissions as depression measures which exhibitors will discard of their own accord once theatre attendance starts to shoot upward. He said that duals are a bad practice for everyone concerned.

Commenting on Loew's invasion of the Chicago theatre field, Feist said that the booking combine which brought about the building program in that city was better described as an organized conspiracy of exhibitors there against M-G-M.

Feist told the convention that M-G-M's sales policies will remain unchanged, with certain variations necessitated by new selling conditions.

Howard Dietz, advertising and publicity director, outlined the advertising campaign for the new season. Other speakers were Henry Nathanson of Regal Films, Canadian M-G-M distributor, and William R. Ferguson, exploitation head.

Announcement was made that "star" productions would be increased from 22 to 27.

Metro's feature list is to be augmented by an exploitation special to be made with radio tieups, including Station WHN, New York, and other stations allied with it, according to reports current around the Muehlebach. The extra feature will seek to capitalize on the present vogue for amateur radio tryouts and will tie in directly with the Loew chain throughout the country, it is understood.

Reports from the east that a change in the numerical equation of the specials and "Marquee Group" from six to 12 for the former and from 14 to nine in the latter were declared unfounded by Feist.

Anticipating a strong demand for good shorts next season despite the prevalence of duals, M-G-M is increasing the production costs of shorts by 35 per cent, Hal Roach told the convention. Aside from his major contribution to the shorts lineup, Roach plans at least one feature, plus the Laurel and Hardy features announced for this season's program but delayed when the recent split between the comedians developed.

"Lucky Beginners" has been determined as the title for the two-reeler to be made in the east in association with the New York Daily Mirror. It provides for amateur talent and links together the paper, Station WHN and the Loew circuit in Greater New York. There is a possibility the stunt may be extended to other large cities depending upon the reception accorded the first two-reeler, Roach indicated.

Production starts the week of June 15. In explanation, Roach pointed out no outstanding personality or personalities could be found to feature in new comedy series and the amateur contest idea thus was resorted to in the anticipation one or more players suitable for a buildup might be discovered. He left for Texas today and is due back in Hollywood on Saturday.

During the day, there was a two-hour screening at Loew's Midland followed by business sessions when Feist announced product and policies.

Festivities attendant upon observance of his 10th anniversary as Metro's general sales manager were broadcast for 30 minutes tonight over Station KMBC. The program featured the convention banquet and the entire show was built around the testimonial to Feist.

M-G-M Men Get Passes

KANSAS CITY, May 9.—Convention delegates were accorded the hospitality of all local first runs through passes promoted by John McManus, manager of Loew's Midland. McManus is of assistance otherwise in local arrangements.

Not a Secret

Kansas City, May 9.—Mystery surrounds the posting of a notice in the office of the Muehlebach Hotel informing the staff of the hostelry: "Do not under any circumstances give out any information about the M-G-M convention. No one is to know this meeting is being held here." Despite this caution, the word got pretty well around.

Roach Re-Signs Chase

HOLLYWOOD, May 9.—Hal Roach has re-signed Charlie Chase to a new one-year contract calling for eight comedies during that period.

I.T.O.A. Wires Go

In addition to the I.T.O.A. telegram sent to Felix F. Feist in Kansas City seeking a change in M-G-M's sales policy, 50 members also sent wires Wednesday night after the meeting. The exhibitors expressed the same desire for alterations in the policy. The telegram read:

"The I.T.O.A. called in special session today desire to bring to your attention the fact that under the sales policy inaugurated by your company and now in effect for subsequent runs they cannot play Metro pictures.

"As accounts of long standing who have made it possible for M-G-M to achieve the heights they have by their support they ask that the M-G-M change its sales policy this year so that they can continue running the pictures made by your company."

Roach Aids on Talent

KANSAS CITY, May 9.—Hal Roach was a speaker over Station KMBC Wednesday night in behalf of the search for talent being promoted by the company's traveling studio. The radio station is tied in directly with the stunt and is contributing considerable time.

Set to Back Gordon, Harris

With several other deals pending, M-G-M is definitely set to finance stage productions by Max Gordon and Sam Harris, it was stated yesterday by a company official. Harris is now working on several scripts, but has not decided which will be the first. Gordon sails tonight for Europe for a vacation.

It was also stated that M-G-M will not form a subsidiary company for financing the Harris and Gordon shows.

Sign Alice Duer Miller

Prior to his departure for the coast yesterday, Sam Marx, story editor for M-G-M, signed Alice Duer Miller to write a story based on "Americans Can Sing, Too," an idea attributed to Jeanette MacDonald. The author leaves Sunday. Hunt Stromberg will produce.

M. P. Ball Season Set

The Motion Picture Baseball League gets under way with a doubleheader Saturday at the James Madison High School field, Brooklyn. The first game will be between Loew-Metro vs. U. A. to be followed by RKO vs. NBC.

Besides the above teams, the league is composed of Columbia, Erpi and Universal. The winner will be awarded the Motion Picture Herald-Quigley Trophy and the President's Cup, donated by Erpi.

sonnel of the new company be decided in advance of the sales meet.

Yesterday's board meeting discussed routine changes in the new company's charter, the reduction of the number of shares outstanding, changes in the by-laws of the company and the powers to be delegated to the new company's executive and finance committees. The latter two subjects were held over for further discussion at the next meeting of the board while the charter and certificate changes, agreed on yesterday, go to Federal Judge Alfred C. Coxe for approval at a hearing today.

Signs Six-Year Hawaiian Deal

Neil Agnew, sales manager for Paramount, has concluded negotiations with the Consolidated Amusement Co., operating and interested in 70 theatres in the Hawaiian Islands, providing for a six-year franchise for all of the company's product. Agnew returned early this week from Honolulu where he signed the deal.

Paramount's schedule next season calls for 65 features, 101 single reel shorts and 104 issues of the newsreel. Following the annual convention at the Waldorf June 13-16, district meetings will be held in Boston, Atlanta, New Orleans or Dallas and Los Angeles. Agnew will attend some of the sessions.

LOS ANGELES, May 9.—A claim of Claire Du Brey for $25,000 against Marie Dressler's estate has been settled for $5,000.

Schenck Fox Met Proposal Is Approved

DAILY, has every indication at this time of sealing the disposition of the strategic metropolitan circuit of 84 houses after more than three years of spirited court contests which, at one time or another, involved virtually every major company either as a prospective operator or as a subject of vital sales import. The court's approval comes with the virtual elimination of Paramount as a likely competitive cash bidder and of all other important factors which might have made a last-minute effort to gain control of the circuit. Paramount creditors, it was learned on good authority yesterday, will not countenance a $4,500,000 cash offer, as discussed within the company; holding to the viewpoint that Paramount has no such sum available for theatre investment at this time. The best offer that Paramount could make, it was said, would be a part cash and part security issue, similar, to the Schenck plan, and there is virtually no likelihood now that anything but a large cash offer for outright purchase of the Fox Met bonds could sway the creditors from their support of the Schenck plan.

Creditors have 30 days in which to assent to the plan or to withdraw from the committee which has recommended it. If, at the end of that time, two-thirds of the creditors accept the Schenck plan, it will be placed in effect by the court.

Judge Explains Action

In approving the Schenck plan and rejecting the plan proposed by Si Fabian, the only other one before the court, Judge Mack stated that he was guided largely by his belief that the Fox Met bondholders were better assured under Schenck's plan of the redemption of their new bonds and the payment of interest on them. Other major considerations, the court said, were the Fox Film franchise which would be retained for the circuit under Schenck's plan and the continuance of Skouras and Randforce as operators, which would avoid litigation over their contracts as well as assure efficient operation.

Under the Schenck plan, the court said, Fox Met is no longer "so highly speculative" an enterprise. "We have comparative security for the bondholders, even though much is dependent upon the future management of the properties. The advantages weigh heavily in favor of the Schenck plan and, subject to the modifications in process of drafting, the court finds it fair and equitable and feasible."

The modifications in the Schenck plan agreed to, give the present bondholders $200 in cash and $550 in new debentures for each $1,000 bond and a pro rata bondholder share in a new issue of Class A stock which shall amount to 15 per cent of the outstanding common stock to be held by Schenck and Fox Theatres Corp. Working capital of the new company will be increased from $150,000 to $300,000; Schenck will agree to remain with the company for a minimum of five years and agrees to sell United Artists and 20th Century product to Fox Met on "fair" terms. There is an unconditional guarantee by Schenck and United Artists Theatre Circuit that the $200 cash notes will be paid, and $600,000, in addition to $100,000 already posted, will be delivered to the bondholders' committee on Monday. Additionally, no dividends will be declared on either the common or Class A stock until 50 per cent of the outstanding new notes have been retired, and no dividends will be declared out of a fund to be set aside for "wastage."

It was indicated that Schenck will acquire the 50 per cent stock interest of Fox Theatres Corp. in addition to his own 50 per cent. An agreement was made that he would not dispose of his stock during his five-year tenure, except for the 10 per cent covered by the K-A-O agreement. He reserves the right, however, to dispose of the Fox Theatres' block if he acquires that.

Hess-Harrison Libel Suit Gets Underway

yesterday before Judge Phillip J. McCook, with a number of distinguished character witnesses for Hess being heard and with Harrison on the stand for brief examination.

Among the character witnesses who testified for Hess were Max D. Steuer, attorney, and former Ambassador James W. Gerard. Hess was examined briefly thereafter and the plaintiff rested his case. The court then denied a motion to dismiss the case made by Jacob Schechter, Harrison's attorney, and the defendant was placed on the stand for examination.

The suit is based on an article published in Harrison's Reports more than a year ago which allegedly linked the Hays' attorney's name with those of others who were criminally indicted in a Canadian investigation of film trade practices. No indictment was returned against Hess. The case is being tried before a jury with the principal objective being, according to the plaintiff's side, the vindication of Hess's name.

Loew Closes Deal For Chicago Site

Several other deals are on the verge of being consummated.

The Oak Park house will seat 1,600. It has not been definitely decided whether to have a balcony, but Thomas Lamb, architect, is conferring with home office executives in New York on the plans. Contracts for construction are expected to be let next week. Bids are now being taken.

Robert Lynch and Ernest Schwartz of the Philadelphia M-G-M exchange are here and have received approval of the local city authorities to proceed.

Loew's is moving slowly in the purchase of additional plots because of zoning conditions. All contemplated houses will be in neighborhood sections, but because of the clearance setup and the B. & K. franchise, which has another year to run, the circuit is cautiously feeling its way.

Joe Vogel, in charge of Loew theatre operations outside of New York, attended the recent M-G-M convention in Detroit, but did not visit here, although the trip by air from the auto city is about an hour and a half.

Loew Back From Detroit

Arthur Loew, in charge of foreign activities for M-G-M, has returned from Detroit where he attended the three-day regional convention. However, Loew didn't put in an appearance until the last day. During the first two days he met with a contingent of foreign representatives, now with his company, who came on from the coast specially to confer with him.

Rule Texas Laws Cannot Apply to Film Contracts

state had signed with various distributors providing that pictures playing first run at 40 cents or more cannot play in subsequent runs at less than 25 cents.

In affirming the verdict of the lower court the Civil Court of Appeals agreed on all of the five points set down by the State District Court, except the damage angle, which it did not pass on. The Civil Court held that since the complaint was dismissed on four points, it didn't have to act on the damages.

George S. Wright of the local legal firm of Thompson, Knight, Baker & Harris represented Interstate. Pat S. Russell was attorney for Glass.

The decision of the District Court, after an exhaustive hearing, was as follows:

1—That the contracts made by the defendants with distributors are made in reference to interstate commerce, and that the anti-trust laws of Texas have no application to such contracts or an alleged conspiracy in reference to the making of said contracts.

2—That the contracts complained of in the plaintiff's petition show on their face that they were made for the licensing of copyrighted films, and the anti-trust laws of the State of Texas have no application to such contracts for the licensing of copyrighted films.

3—That it appears from the evidence that there was no conspiracy as alleged in the plaintiff's petition.

4—That the plaintiffs have not shown such probable damages as would justify injunctive relief.

5—That the NRA for the film industry furnishes a remedy to the plaintiffs.

Forms "40" Club

Sophie Tucker is organizing a "Life Begins at 40 Club" with branches in every city where she has appeared.

The idea, she says, is "to keep alive the spirit of achievement, tolerance and understanding, and the joy of living that every 40-year-old possesses, and to let the youngsters know that they have much to look forward to when they reach 40."

Move to Teach Social Values By Film Begun

The nationwide movement to teach social values to the young via the screen through cooperative efforts of school authorities and producers will receive its baptism of fire this morning with the showing of the first of a series of 20 films designed to emphasize character training to a selected group of New York public school children.

The lead-off picture will be "Sooky." At the Park Plaza in the Bronx the film will be seen by pupils from the fifth and sixth grades in seven schools in that borough. At practically the same time the film will be run off at the Riviera on Broadway for the benefit of pupils from the same grades in 13 Manhattan schools.

Arrangements for the demonstration were made through the cooperation of Dr. Harold G. Campbell, local superintendent of schools, and Will H. Hays, head of the M.P.P.D.A.

The subject matter of the series, which will carry the general title of "Secrets of Success," has been culled from features possessing distinctive qualities and serves to illustrate various character problems. The purpose is to present the basic social issues involved in film plays in brief vivid form so that they may be used as a basis for classroom discussions.

Some Other Films in Series

Some of the other films on which the series has been built are "Huckleberry Finn," "Skippy," "Tom Sawyer," "Tom Brown of Culver," "Wednesday's Child," "Young America" and "Cradle Song."

The films will be given national distribution following their showing to grade pupils throughout New York.

The films were prepared under the direction of the Committee on Social Values in Motion Pictures, of which Dr. Howard M. LeSourd, dean of Boston University Graduate School, is chairman. They have been widely endorsed by educators.

No charge is made for the use of the pictures, and the showing of the films for any purpose other than educational is forbidden. After offering the "Secrets of Success" series to the schools as one answer to a request for cooperation on the part of the industry, Hays called attention to the high standard of pictures recently produced and now in the making.

Exhibitors wishing to show the films in tieups with educational groups should address their requests to Dr. LeSourd at Boston University, Boston.

'Dance' and 'Bride' Kaycee's Toppers

KANSAS CITY, May 9.—"Go Into Your Dance" was the ace attraction, with $11,000 at the Mainstreet, and "Bride of Frankenstein" drew standout crowds at the Tower to pile up a big $9,900. At the Newman, "Private Worlds" took $6,500, above par.

Business on "Cardinal Richelieu" was off, while Gaumont's "My Heart Is Calling" was disappointing.

Total first run business was $36,900. Average is $30,500.

Looking 'Em Over

"One New York Night"

(M-G-M)

A local audience alternately chuckled and howled for some two-thirds of this film. It's nice comedy-mystery entertainment. Franchot Tone and Una Merkel do much to carry the picture with sterling characterizations.

The plot ingredients have been deftly handled by director Jack Conway and the action keeps mounting to an interest-holding pitch. The photography of Oliver T. Marsh is excellent.

The yarn, taken from the play "Order Please," by Edward Childs Carpenter and Walter Hackett, centers around a metropolitan hotel. Tone arrives at the hostelry seeking a bride to bring back to his Wyoming ranch. He meets Miss Merkel, hotel telephone operator, and she promptly assists him in getting entangled in a murder mystery in the room next to his. A lost bracelet links Steffi Duna in the mystery and the customary assortment of suddenly darkened rooms, clouts on the head and disappearing bodies results before Tone clears up the mystery and discovers at the same time that it is Miss Merkel he wants to take back home with him.

Others in the capable cast include Conrad Nagel, Harvey Stephens, Charles Starrett, Louise Henry and Henry Kolker.

Despite the lack of marquee names, this film should do well, benefiting particularly by word of mouth advertising.

Reviewed without production code seal. Running time, 63 minutes. "G."

"Law Beyond the Range"

(Columbia)

In "Law Beyond the Range" Tim McCoy continues his fight in the cause of law and order. He does it in so lusty and exciting a manner that western fans undoubtedly will go for the star's villain-busting efforts.

In this instance Tim does his battling not only with fist and gun but with printer's ink as well. He sounds the call to battle when he takes over a western newspaper after the owner, a friend of his dad, passes on. He continues the paper's policy of blasting the crooked politics that rules the town.

The political boss, a first class brigand, sets out to make things hot for Tim. He turns his henchmen loose on him, blows up the newspaper plant and resorts to mud-flinging when the hero decides to run for sheriff on an honest ticket, but nothing can down Tim. At the finish the villain and his cohorts are headed for the jig or the cemetery, and again proof is given that crime cannot win when McCoy is about.

The finish also finds Tim and Billie Seward, who plays the daughter of the late publisher of the paper, very much wrapped up in each other.

Others in the cast are Robert Allen, Guy Usher, Harry Todd and Ben Hendricks, Jr. The direction is by Ford Beebe.

No production code seal. Running time, 57 minutes. "G."

"Rustler's Paradise"

(Ajax)

This William Berke production should give Harry Carey a tremendous boost on the road back. His performance chiefly makes it possible to forget the routine quality of the story and the obviousness of some of the action. After viewing the labored efforts of the majority of western stars, it is refreshing to watch the quiet, yet effective, playing of the former favorite of western fans.

The film retells the story of the good husband who vows never to rest until he has caught up with the man who stole his wife and child. Carey makes the husband tremendously sympathetic. When he suspects a notorious brigand as being the man he is after, he joins the marauder's gang under an assumed identity. His search is rewarded when he finds proof that the outlaw is the right man. At the same time he discovers in the fellow's shack the daughter taken from him years ago.

The tale reaches a fine climax. In a gripping, suspenseful and realistically managed scene Carey strings the villain up by the arms and submits him to a lashing with a bull whip that is guaranteed to bring whoops of delight from the audience. Under the lashing the brigand admits slaying Carey's wife.

Gertrude Messinger plays the daughter nicely. Other players are Edmund Cobb, Carmen Bailey, Theodore Lorch, Roger Williams, Chuck Morrison, Allen Creer and Charles Whittaker.

Robert Cline's fine photography adds to the effectiveness of the picture. Harry Fraser directed.

Neighborhood theatres can play this western with confidence.

No production code seal. Running time, 61 minutes. "G."

The various exchanges recently acquired by Republic are preparing for regional sales meetings which will start the last week in May and be held in New York, Cincinnati and Salt Lake City, with Edward A. Golden, sales chief, presiding. The production lineup will be presented to the meetings and immediately afterward 135 salesmen and managers will take to the field.

Having completed production detail with Carr, W. Ray Johnston, president of the company, is on the wing and is due in Kansas City from Los Angeles today en route to New York.

Looking 'Em Over

"The Texas Rambler"

(Spectrum)

Western fans should like this latest effort of Bill Cody, Jr., because the action is fast moving to the climax and the mystery around which the story is built is maintained until the last.

Cody gives his usual, competent portrayal and the direction of Bob Hill is good. Bill Hyers' photography is above the average.

The yarn has Cody riding into a strange country posing as "The Rambler," a notorious outlaw. After saving Catherine Cotter from being kidnapped, he joins the gang that tried to abduct her. The leader of the outlaws then tries to purchase Miss Cotter's ranch, but, failing in this he makes a deal with her fiance to kidnap the girl so she can be rescued by her fiance. Cody foils the plot when the gang turns on Miss Cotter in earnest and the windup finds the sheriff riding in to corral the crooks. This clears things romantically for Cody and Miss Cotter and all ends well.

Exhibitors should have no trouble with this where westerns are liked. Reviewed without production code seal. Running time, 59 minutes. "G."

Campi Reverses Its Rule on Zone Cases

Rescinding a previous order, Campi yesterday adopted a resolution permitting exhibitors in territories where clearance and zoning schedules have been drawn and are awaiting approval to file individual complaints. For some time theatre owners in New Haven, Milwaukee, Detroit and Kansas City have not been able to file complaints pending action by Campi on clearance plans already drawn.

At the same time, local boards in territories where the schedules have been submitted are being advised to call general meetings of exhibitors in localities affected for possible changes in the plans to meet current conditions.

Al Hanson was appointed to the Los Angeles grievance board, replacing Reeves Espy, who resigned recently.

John Flinn may leave for the coast today to be on hand for the start of the Los Angeles schedule next Wednesday. Pressure of work may force him to delay the trip.

Charles L. O'Reilly was chairman of the session. The next meeting is slated for May 23.

Exhibitors in territories where no schedules have been drawn are being advised to start drawing zoning plans on June 9.

981 Extra Rulings

HOLLYWOOD, May 9.—Of the 1,085 complaints filed with the Standing Committee of Extras for the year ending April 10, 981 decisions were rendered and closed, 70 were rendered and are awaiting compliance, four are awaiting interpretations from Campi, four are slated for further hearings and 26 are awaiting final action of the complaints and grievance committee. Total amount of awards by decisions was $4,696.87, with $480.25 uncollected.

San Francisco and Minneapolis each had six appeals in the list of 33 grievances decided by Campi at its May 2 session. Chicago had four. Charlotte, Dallas, Washington, Indianapolis and Milwaukee had two. Albany, Buffalo, Los Angeles, St. Louis, Salt Lake City, Kansas City and Philadelphia had one.

Of the 11 clearance and zoning appeals, New York topped the list with 11. Los Angeles, St. Louis, Cleveland and Detroit had one, while Boston had two.

Davis, Farnsworth Talk

Warren Jefferson Davis, impartial man and chairman of the studio labor board in California, yesterday discussed the labor situation with Deputy Administrator William P. Farnsworth. Davis would not reveal the nature of his discussions.

He left for Washington last night to attend the annual meeting there of the American Law Institute. Davis plans to take a plane to the coast either Sunday or Monday.

E. L. Smith and Pat Casey are the other members of the labor board.

Ampa to Sponsor an Amateur Broadcast

Ampa will sponsor a half-hour broadcast twice a month for non-professionals in the industry, Bruce Gallup, president, revealed yesterday at the first meeting under his regime. The plan was approved by the board of directors Wednesday. No starting date is set.

Under the plan industry workers who can sing, dance or play instruments are eligible. Heads of clubs of the various organizations will be asked to give auditions to aspirants within their companies and choose one or two for the broadcasts.

Details are practically set to tie up with NBC. If the scheme proves successful, a commercial sponsor will be sought. Hal Horne will be master of ceremonies.

One open meeting a month with one or two prominent speakers is also planned. Gallup stated he will personally approve all speakers. Next week he will hold a special session with the distaff side of the membership. Future meetings will be held at the Edison instead of the M. P. Club.

to all legislators has sent out an income tax proposal with a rate 20 per cent the Federal levy.

The income measure passed by the Assembly recently called for one-third the Federal tax. Passage of the steering committee's plan would necessitate an ad valorem tax of about 30 cents on $100 valuation.

Ohio Income Tax a Worry

Columbus, May 9.—Exhibitors are keeping their fingers crossed as they contemplate the chances of enactment of an income tax law. There is a possibility that the Senate may take up the measure passed by the House a few days ago, but general opinion is that it will be defeated, if this does happen.

Three weeks ago the Senate took a "five minute recess" for the purpose of avoiding action on new taxation. The House has passed a resolution calling upon the Senate to end the recess and Governor Davey is exerting pressure.

The Senate takes up an occasional bill, however. It has just sent to the governor the measure extending the state NRA until the expiration of the Federal NRA, despite the fact that the state law has been ruled unconstitutional by an Ohio judge.

Wisconsin Time Change Up

MADISON, WIS., May 9.—Exhibitors are lining up opposition to a bill pending before the House Committee on Commerce and Manufacturers which is intended to repeal the present ban on daylight saving time.

Florida Bans Walkathons

TALLAHASSEE, May 9.—The Legislature has passed a bill banning walkathons and marathon dances. The measure is now before the governor. Violation of the act would be subject to $1,000 fine or imprisonment for one year.

local Fox exchange manager, after the print had been shipped.

The Fox picture opened in Julius Charnow's house for a three-day run. When Charnow opened the Leonia yesterday he found the court papers under his door.

H. A. Toner, attorney for the Adams Brothers, on Monday indicated before the New Jersey advisory clearance and zoning board that he would take court action when he withdrew his complaint against the Leonia for a revision of the Campi decision. According to Code Authority's edict, the Leonia is permitted to play seven days after Englewood, and at the same time, seven days ahead of the Park Lane, which had protection on Charnow's house.

Fox exchange heads hold that the code supersedes contracts and will serve the Leonia and Palisades Park in accordance with the decision. When Charnow is through with the Shirley Temple picture, an availability will be sent to Adams Brothers. In the event the Park Lane refuses to pick up the picture, Fox will institute suit for non-fulfillment of contract, it was stated.

Allied Picks Subjects for Atlanta Meet

Three General Divisions Set for Discussions

Final definite plans for the Allied convention at Atlanta May 21-23 will be settled at a meeting of the board of directors to be held May 20 at the Piedmont Hotel, Atlanta.

The present purpose of the Allied leaders, according to a bulletin issued by Sidney Samuelson, is to divide the sessions into three main divisions—business relations, public relations and regional and territorial organization.

Under the business relations heading problems affecting sales policies, double features, premiums, giveaways, price wars and such parts of the code as affect operations will be discussed. Leaders of this discussion will be

2,000 to 2,500 Theatres To Contribute to Fund

Backers of the NVA Fund drive are setting their hopes beyond the $200,000 mark. At least that sum is needed, they say, to maintain the Saranac Lake Sanitarium.

Ten per cent of the receipts of theatres in practically all of the large circuits on Monday will be donated to the fund and distributors will give up 10 per cent of their gross rentals and percentages the same day. It is estimated between 2,000 and 2,500 theatres will aid the fund in this way.

Consolidated's Net $212,536, 3 Months

Net profit of Consolidated Film Industries, Inc., and subsidiaries for the quarter ending March 31, 1935, totaled $212,536.73 as compared with $317,780.94 for the same period last year.

Current earnings, after allowing all charges and Federal taxes, are at the rate of 50 cents a share on the 400,000 shares of preferred and two cents on the 524,973 shares of common outstanding. Net for the identical quarter of 1934 was at the rate of 50 cents on the preferred and 22 cents a share on the common. Outstanding shares in each group last year were the same as this year.

ALBANY, May 10. — Alleging that the code tends to promote monopoly and to eliminate independent exhibitors, more than 20 independents in Greater New York and vicinity have filed telegrams and letters with the Secretary of State protesting against refiling of the present code.

At the office of the Secretary of State it was said that at the end of the 15-day period for filing objections, which ends May 24, a date for a hearing would be set.

The present moves are due to the recent enactment of a new law, remedying the defects of the old state NRA act which was declared unconstitutional because it took in all the

NRA Code Standing of Exhibitors Hanging Fire

By BERTRAM F. LINZ

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Whether exhibition will be continued under the industry code is now a point on which Donald R. Richberg, chairman of the Industrial Recovery Board, and Senate proponents of a bill to extend the NRA for nine months disagree.

Senators want the modified NRA to exclude "any person whose business is wholly intrastate." Richberg's policy calls for keeping exhibitors in the code.

In an effort to speed up consideration of the measure and enable Congress to adjourn in July, Senate Democrats, in party conference today, decided to limit the NRA legislation to a nine-month extension with all intrastate commerce eliminated.

That Richberg anticipates difficulty in getting industry to accept his point of view was indicated by his prediction that numerous suits would be

Quip of the Day

"First, I hear the Hollywood studios are moving to Florida," said Mox Shabbus in expansive mood befitting his station as a Hollywood exhibitor.

"Next, I read Carolina is the place—North or South they didn't say."

"The third it's Arizona, high and dry, then Jersey with mosquitoes, then New Mexico with jumping beans. Now it's Delaware, with peaches."

"Next, I suppose we'll read," minced Mox, "that Hollywood secedes from the Union!"

JOSEPH A. PHILLIPSON of Lincoln Theatres Corp., Lincoln, Neb., is in town. He attended a code appeal hearing yesterday in which the company's Stuart, Lincoln, Orpheum and Colonial were involved.

sessions of the company's western regional which terminated here tonight.

Reports current in Hollywood that Hal Roach would assume charge of the company's entire short subject production were denied both by Feist and by Roach, prior to the latter's departure for the coast, via Texas.

Howard Dietz, director of advertising and publicity, declared $1,500,000 will be spent on outdoor and magazine advertising next season, thereby verifying an earlier MOTION PICTURE DAILY story which stated Metro was sold on billboard and magazine advertising and would concentrate largely on both media next year.

Fred Quimby, in charge of short sales, said 47 single-reelers would be produced next season, not 37, as originally announced through an error. Singles, he said, would be eight more than this season, with two-reelers reduced by two. He added names would continue to be stressed in shorts.

circus with three stages in operation at once, and the committeemen insist it will be the biggest gathering of stage, screen and radio talent seen yet, with massed bands and sports contests thrown in for good measure.

George Jessel will be ringmaster, helped by Boris Morros, who will lead the massed bands, and Jack Dempsey, who will direct the sports events. In this section there will be boxing, wrestling, jiu jitsu, la savatte and kendo.

Other features of the program include an operatic satire on "The Barber of Seville," done in blackface by Al Jolson, Willie Howard and Jessel; Sophie Tucker will lead a collection of night club stars, with floor shows from a number of clubs.

Among those scheduled to appear will be Harry Richman, Joe Penner, Helen Morgan, Walter O'Keefe, Eddie Dowling, Ethel Merman, Bill Gaxton, Victor Moore, the Brittons, Phil Baker, Sally Ward, Guy Robertson, Jack Pearl, the Ritz Brothers, Block & Sully, Willie and Eugene Howard, Gus Edwards, Al Trahan, George Metaxa, Ray Bolger, George Givot, George Price, Jimmy Savo, Hal Sherman, James Bell and Bert Lahr.

The orchestras will include Vincent Lopez, George Olsen, Rudy Vallee, Fred Waring, Eddie Duchin, Xavier Cugat, Johnny Green, Emery Deutsch, Abe Lyman, Dave Rubinoff, Charles Davis and Richard Himber.

A special train will bring a large group down from New Haven and the New York Central also is expected to run a special.

Other benefits are to be run at Boston, Baltimore, Washington, Cleveland, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

been confirmed officially and a statement will be issued, probably tomorrow.

Woolf's name has been mentioned frequently of late in connection with the recently organized Anglo-American Renters, Ltd., headed by Capt. A. C. N. Dixey, Parliament member.

It is regarded as certain that he will produce and distribute probably 20 features a year and that six by Max Schach's company, Capitol Prod., will be included. He will probably us the Bandd Studios and may distribute for Bandd.

Woolf's name is also linked with Union Cinemas, but no facts are obtainable to support this.

Lee Confirms Report

Arthur Lee, head of Gaumont British activities in America, yesterday confirmed persistent reports, first published in MOTION PICTURE DAILY on May 3, that C. M. Woolf had resigned as co-managing director of G. B., the parent company in London.

The probability is that Mark Ostrer, the other managing director, will handle the topline post himself without a running mate.

Philadelphia Board to Begin Zoning

PHILADELPHIA, May 10.—The local clearance and zoning board today voted to begin work on drawing up a schedule for the entire area served by Philadelphia exchanges. The M.P.T.O. board of managers, President Lewen Pizor and Chairman of the Board Charles Segall requested the local board to vote on the plan.

In addition to the M.P.T.O. request for a new zoning setup, the board accepted petitions from Comerford-Publix and Atlantic Theatres.

The board asked the cooperation of both local independent groups and distributors in determining what theatres are competitive.

An I.E.P.A. petition for new zoning has been filed with Campi in New York. No local petition has been received from this source.

The board approved Louis Hegall's request that the entire exchange territory be set as the area in which a vote shall be taken on the banning of premiums.

Pizor has been elected permanent chairman of the grievance board. The chairman has rotated at each meeting thus far.

Campi at its meeting Thursday adopted a resolution advising all local boards which have not yet drafted clearance and zoning schedules to proceed to do so at once, but not submit plans before June 15.

Incendiary Bomb Is Found in the Astor

A crude incendiary bomb was found yesterday afternoon in a cardboard box on a window sill of the stairway leading from the orchestra to the mezzanine of the Astor. The bomb was doused with water and then the police were called. Members of the bomb squad declared the instrument was so crudely made that it probably wouldn't have discharged.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Oil for the Lamps of China"

(Cosmopolitan-Warners)

HOLLYWOOD, May 10.—In transcribing Alice Tisdale Hobart's well known story to the screen Cosmopolitan has trained its guns on corporation ethics of an American oil company in China.

Pat O'Brien, idealist, graduates from a company school. At a Chinese outpost on his wedding night his American fiancee jilts him, and to save his face he proposes to a stranger, Josephine Hutchinson, who accepts. Their love story is told in terms of company policy.

O'Brien's loyalty saves company property, but his new born son dies. The company dismisses his best friend and appropriates Pat's lamp, on which it makes millions, yet Pat sticks. His esteemed chief, Arthur Byron, when demoted commits suicide. Lyle Talbot, his buddy, fired for alleged incompetence, is reduced to the bread line, yet Pat keeps on plugging to bring light to China.

The picture's ending departs from the book's original.

Well conceived and impressive in all departments, the production contains a wealth of incident. Entertainment and heart appeal are present.

O'Brien turns in a splendid performance. Miss Hutchinson's well shaded and penetrating portrait presages a demand for her ability.

The balance of the cast, including Byron, Talbot, Jean Muir, Henry O'Neill, Donald Crisp and Christian Rub support well.

Keye Luke and Willie Fung, Chinese actors, give outstanding interpretations. Mervyn LeRoy's direction, while well rounded, is in Oriental tempo. As a study of big business in China, the production should interest and satisfy those who like realistic entertainment of an industrial nature.

"Break of Hearts"

(Radio)

HOLLYWOOD, May 10.—Katharine Hepburn and Charles Boyer are the essential box-office assets presented in this romance of a famous conductor and an unknown composer. Dealing with the heart and counterpointed by related music, its main appeal should be to feminine patronage.

Boyer, adored by many women, meets, loves and marries Miss Hepburn, a struggling composer from a small town. Misunderstanding his dinner appointment with Jean Howard, she leaves him and goes to work in a music publishing house where John Beal, a rich playboy friend of Boyer, finds her. Boyer, in Europe, goes from success to success. On New Year's Eve in Manhattan he and Miss Hepburn meet. She tells him she has been around in his absence. Disillusioned, he takes to drink and is dismissed from the orchestra to become a besotted derelict. Miss Hepburn finds him in a cheap saloon and plays the song she composed to become reconciled with him as Beal bows out.

While Pandro S. Berman's production is all that can be desired, Phillip Moeller's direction clings to stage technique even though the screen play by Sarah Y. Mason and Victor Heerman is a craftsman's delight.

Both Miss Hepburn and Boyer give sensitive, heart-appealing performances delicately fashioned and warm. The supporting cast of Beal, Jean Hersholt, Inez Courtney and others are well selected. Max Steiner's musical direction harmonizes with romantic action. Robert de Grasse's photography of Miss Hepburn is a treat.

By focusing on Miss Hepburn, Boyer and its romantic title the film should give a satisfactory account of itself.

Production Code Seal No. 801. Running time, 80 minutes. "G."

brought over determination of what industries were in or affected interstate commerce.

With the Senate determined to keep the new recovery legislation confined to as few points as possible, NRA officials are looking to the House for amendments which will enable them to keep a broad measure of control over industry, particularly by clarification of the definition of those who are to be exempted from code requirements. In the House, also, will be sought an amendment continuing the law for two years.

Under the plans now being worked out by Richberg, violations of fair practice provisions of codes would be handled by the Federal Trade Commission and code authorities would be stripped of their punitive powers.

With the agreement reached in the Senate as to the extent of the legislation, NRA officials believe they have halted the drive to place all codes on a purely voluntary basis. The elimination of intrastate industries from code requirements will serve to ease the pressure for repeal of the mandatory provisions.

Hearings to consider revision of the various codes which will require revamping under the proposed new setup will begin almost immediately following the signing of the new measure by the President, it was indicated.

Columbia's Selling Forces Are Shifted

Several changes and promotions in the lineup of Columbia's sales force have been made this week by Abe Montague, general sales manager.

Phillip Fox, salesman in the Boston office, became branch manager of the Albany exchange to relieve Charles N. Johnson, who, at his own request, returned to the Buffalo office as salesman.

T. A. Donahue of Buffalo has been transferred to Boston to fill the vacancy made by Fox's leaving.

Wallace, Sharpe and Kaplan Show Gains

MACON, Mo., May 10.—Director Richard Wallace, Cameraman Henry Sharpe and Milton Kaplan, all members of the Paramount group injured early this week in the crash of the TWA Airliner here, are continuing to improve at the local Good Samaritan Hospital. Paul Wing is slightly better though still critical.

Kaplan is improving so rapidly that he is expected to leave shortly to take the body of Mrs. Kaplan, who died after the crash, back to Hollywood for burial.

Pathe Support For First Div. Stays—Kolbe

until Pathe's current reorganization was consummated and new officers of the company elected. He expressed confidence in First Division's future and in Harry Thomas, president of the company, and in its management.

"Pathe believes," Kolbe said, "that First Division has a real place in the industry and it will be given our continued support in strengthening and maintaining that place. Its recent difficulties have been adjusted and we feel that under its present management it will continue to grow and realize its original objectives."

Directors, in addition to Kolbe, elected at the annual meeting of First Division stockholders, are Thomas, Jules K. Chapman, Stuart W. Webb, Charles L. Stillman, Theodore Streibert and Robert Atkins. Webb and Chapman are representatives of the Fiske-Curtis-Ludington interests; Stillman of "March of Time" and the remainder of Pathe.

"March of Time" May Stick

With "The March of Time" retaining its stock interest in First Division and representation on the company's board, it was indicated that the feature reel might continue its distribution arrangement with First Division, although it is at liberty to discontinue the releasing deal and officials of the "Time" reel, questioned yesterday, said that a renewal was highly improbable.

Samuel Spring, attorney, recently made a special representative of Pathe, said that the company would adhere to its policy of restricting its activities to laboratory work and production financing, with little likelihood of Pathe engaging in production itself, at least until its agreement with RKO expires early next year. Likewise, Spring said, Pathe will continue its working agreements with DuPont Film Mfg. Corp. Kolbe has also been elected to the DuPont board, replacing Webb, which, with Atkins and Paul Fuller, gives Pathe three representatives on the DuPont board.

A meeting of the board of First Division is scheduled for Monday at which the company's production activities during the new season will be decided and a treasurer and secretary elected. Indications now are that First Division will engage in very limited production, confining the bulk of its activities next season to distribution.

May Hear Appeal Mon.

KANSAS CITY, May 10.—Hearing on the appeal of Lee H. Hamlin to set aside the sale of Fox Midland and Fox Rocky Mountain to National Theatres has been tentatively set for Monday. Spyros Skouras is due here tomorrow night and will proceed to the coast with Elmer Rhoden for conferences which Rick Ricketson will also attend.

LOS ANGELES, May 10.—Al Hanson said today a meeting of all F.W.C. managers would be set upon the arrival of Spyros Skouras on the coast.

Harrison Misled, He Asserts, in Libel Suit

Stating that he had been misled by stories published in the Toronto Star, P. S. Harrison, publisher of Harrison's Reports, took the stand yesterday in his own defense of libel charges brought against him by Gabriel L. Hess, M.P.P.D.A. attorney.

Harrison testified that the misleading article mentioned Hess's name in association with persons who were indicted in a Canadian investigation of film trade practices, several years ago. Hess's action, being tried before Judge Phillip McCook and a jury in state supreme court here, is based on an article published in Harrison's Reports which linked Hess with those indicted. The publisher admitted that he had never printed the story of the acquittal of those who had been indicted because, he said, the acquittals were "information" whereas the indictments were "news." When asked the difference between the two Harrison replied that information was something that satisfied the curiosity and news was information.

Harrison testified that his publication had 3,200 subscribers, that it was not read by others and probably not by all of the subscribers. Under questioning by Louis Nizer, Hess's attorney, the publisher said he was unable to state what reliance readers placed on material published in his paper. Harrison testified that he considered Hess, Will H. Hays and C. C. Pettijohn, M.P.P.D.A. general counsel, to be men of the highest standing and reputation.

Judge McCook ruled out evidence tending to show prior libels against Hess by Harrison's Reports, restricting the evidence to the case at hand. However, the court permitted the introduction of evidence of the acquittal of the persons who had been indicted in the Canadian investigation. The trial will resume on Monday with Harrison again on the stand.

SMPE to Meet Here Before Coast Trip

A final spring meeting of the Atlantic Coast Section of the S.M.P.E. will be held at the Hotel Pennsylvania next Wednesday night. Frank K. Speidell of Audio Prod. will deliver a paper on industrial films under the title "The New Medium."

Plans have been completed for the coast convention. It will start May 20 at the Hotel Roosevelt, Hollywood, and continue through May 24.

In all, 11 paper sessions will be held.

On Monday, the opening day, the conventioneers will visit the Walt Disney studios, with visits to Warners and Fox scheduled for Tuesday and Wednesday. On Thursday they will go to the California Institute of Technology at Pasadena. On Tuesday night a conference will be held with the Technicians' Branch of the Academy.

Erpi Men Testify on Handling Equipment

WILMINGTON, May 10.—David G. Blatner of Mountain Lakes, N. J., and Allan McLean of Maplewood, N. J., Erpi electrical engineers, told of the fineness and delicacy of handling required in taking care of their company's sound equipment while on the stand today in Federal Court in the General Talking Pictures vs. Erpi, W.E. and A.T.&T., anti-trust suit.

Blatner, a member of the technical staff in the research department at the Bell Laboratories, employed in instrument design work, said that his testimony was for the purpose of showing the court the fineness of certain parts of the defendants' equipment. He worked on the development of a public address system in 1918 and in 1922 developed an amplifier for use in sound pictures, he said. Several groups were working on development of sound on film with much friendly rivalry, he stated.

McLean, technical assistant to the eastern division manager of Erpi, said his work consisted of handling engineering problems connected with transmission. He was with Vitaphone in 1926 and told of his part in constructing the assembly of the original apparatus to control volume in the Manhattan Opera House. He assembled and installed the equipment for the showing of "Don Juan."

At the close of the day's testimony adjournment was taken until Monday.

The bill is believed to have an outside chance of passage by both houses. Under its terms studios would contribute two per cent in 1937 and three per cent in 1938.

Employes would pay one per cent in 1938 and thereafter, with a possibility of drawing from $7 to $15 weekly if forced out of a job.

Hollywood Fetes Mayors

HOLLYWOOD, May 10.—Four hundred attended a party given by Louis B. Mayer tonight for Mayors Frank Hague of Jersey City and Edward Kelly of Chicago on an M-G-M sound stage. Jack Benny and Charles Irwin were masters of ceremonies. Jennie Legon, Cliff Edwards, Carl Randall, Frances Langford, Lorraine Bridges, Nick Long, Jr., and Dave Gould's dancers entertained. City officials and studio artists were there.

Earlier in the day both mayors were entertained by William Randolph Hearst at the Cosmopolitan bungalow on the Warner lot. Mayer, Hal Wallis, Marion Davies and Mervyn LeRoy were also present.

"Have It" Starts

United Artists found reason for excitement yesterday on two counts and supplied both of them:

(1)—"Let 'Em Have It" opened at the Orpheum, New Orleans, to the biggest gross of the year in that theatre with the exception of "Roberta," which ran during Mardi Gras week.

(2)—Same picture opened to the biggest business of any U. A. picture in the last 10 weeks at the U. A. theatre in San Francisco with "G-Men," same type of film, playing in the same city.

Loew Talking Partnerships For Chicago

Deals on with J, L & S; 22 Houses the Goal

CHICAGO, May 12.—Although the circuit is definitely set to build a 1,600-seat theatre in Oak Park, Loew's is considering a number of partnership arrangements with prospective builders.

Under a deal now being discussed with Aaron Jones of Jones, Linick & Schaefer, Loew's would be financially interested in three to four houses planned. The major circuit would also give Jones a long term M-G-M franchise. Other negotiations along the same line are in the throes, but final discussions rest with Nicholas M. Schenck in New York.

Robert Lynch and Ernest Schwartz of the M-G-M branch in Philadelphia are handling all the local deals and have talked over the partnership ar-

London, May 12.—The C. E. A. has instructed its general purposes committee to take immediate steps to end alleged production of "quickies" by American companies. The committee is collecting facts designed to show a flagrant violation of the Quota Act.

Frequent charges have been made American companies have been violating the spirit of the act by encouraging cheap quota films.

RKO Seen Holding Again to 50; New Stars May Grace Its Roster

RKO Radio will not cut its production program next season, it was stated Saturday. The same number of features and shorts released on the current schedule—about 50—will be announced at the company's three-day Chicago sales convention starting June 17. Convention headquarters will be at the Drake. About 250 are expected to attend.

Several new stars are expected to grace the 1935-36 program, including Margot Grahame, who appears in "The Informer," current at the Music Hall. A number of new series of shorts is also expected to be announced, it was said.

All district and branch managers and salesmen will convene in the Windy City on June 16. Studio and foreign officials will also be on hand.

Majors Block Kansas City Dual Choices

KANSAS CITY, May 12.—Efforts of local exhibitors to obtain release of selected features for dual billing were effectively blocked by major distributors who have rejected a carefully worked out plan which contemplated the dualling of inferior product.

In rejecting the proposal, the majors refused to alter individual policies and each named a different reason. The possibility of running into legal snags seems to have played a large part in the distributors' decisions. This was hinted by Paramount, which referred to the potentialities of collusion inherent in the plan.

Among replies received by Jay Means, I. T. O. head, Radio stated, in effect, that it was the sole judge in determining the product that could be

Ascap Trial Date June 10 Now Possible

Trial of the government's suit against Ascap will be begun June 10 if Federal Judge John C. Knox grants the motion of the attorney general's office for a preference for the suit on the Federal court trial calendars, it was learned on Saturday.

The attorney general's motion, on which decision was reserved by Judge Knox following a hearing last week, seeks to force an early trial of the suit, rather than to permit the case to go over to the fall court term. A delay is favored by Ascap which, in opposing the government's motion for a prompt trial of the suit, offered last week to extend to the end of the year all contracts with exhibitors and its other licensees which expire during the summer. The indefinite status of these contracts was advanced by the gov-

Exhibitors in Ohio Worry Over Revival of 10% Tax

COLUMBUS, May 12.—Exhibitors are again worrying about a revival of the 10 per cent admission tax recently suspended when they began paying the three per cent sales tax.

The state wants $7,000,000 to finance old age pensions for the last half of 1935. A proposal for a temporary increase in the gasoline tax has been rejected by the House Taxation Committee, and Governor Davey is insisting upon raising the required money to be placed in a separate category.

This revival of the admission tax comes immediately following the signing of the bill increasing censorship fees from $1 to $3 per reel, another tax that goes into a special fund. This money is to be used by the Department of Education for "disseminating information relative to the history, scenic beauties, natural resources and industries of Ohio."

In the meantime, the Independent Theatre Owners of Ohio are lining up legal opinions for a prospective fight to save the law outlawing preferred playing dates when an attack on its

Say Hayden, Stone-Skouras Seek the Roxy

Report Fox Is Interested For Its Product

Hayden, Stone & Co. is reported working on a reorganization plan for Roxy Theatre Corp., which, according to the story, would provide that Spyros Skouras would assume operation of the 6,000-seat house.

Both Skouras and the investment firm deny the report, but reliable sources say the plan is in work. Skouras left Saturday by plane for the coast accompanied by Edward J. Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

THE possibility of a new first run circuit in this, the richest territory in the country, from a selection of key neighborhood houses under Paramount product sponsorship is capturing lively imaginations. Judicial approval stamped on Joseph M. Schenck's plan for a reorganized Fox Met, plus the elimination of Paramount as a last minute cash bidder for that coveted circuit, clears the path for such a development. It has intriguing potentialities. Very. . . .

Scan the essential facts. Virtually certain, or as certain as matters such as this can be, is adoption of the Schenck plan by Fox Met creditors in the next thirty days. It is submitted to them with the approval of the Federal court and the recommendation of the circuit's bondholders' committee which, through its eighty-six per cent representation of the $12,500,000 notes outoutstanding, seemingly would seal the acceptance of the winning bid by the two-thirds creditor vote required under the law. . . .

Two contributing factors of weight are K-A-O's 10 per cent interest in the reorganization under the Schenck formula and the former's notice to Paramount that it will cancel its latter's film franchise effective July 1. Whether K-A-O is serious or maneuvering is an open question with plenty of adherents on both sides of the moot question. The point is, however, that as matters stand now the K-A-O or RKO half of the Paramount product—Loew gets the other split—has no place to go. Reasonable is the conclusion, therefore, for Paramount to contemplate now what to do about homeless rentals aggregating hundreds of thousands of dollars. Thus, the trail naturally leads to consideration, or talk anyway, about a third outlying circuit of first runs created to fill the threatening void. . . .

It was no less a factor than George J. Schaefer, Paramount's general manager, who tipped off the idea. The occasion was one of the lengthy hearings on Fox Met and the place was the witness box in the dignified stratosphere of the United States court. There, Schaefer declared definite consideration had been concentrated on the third circuit idea in the event Paramount itself failed to acquire Fox Met or the Si Fabian plan, in which Paramount would have a product arrangement, did not as well. Whether the original stand has been shifted or scrapped was an undetermined factor on a pleasant Saturday, for Schaefer could not be reached for comment. . . .

Speculation on what might transpire if Schaefer's expressed intention bears fruit opens a lot of avenues, all interesting. One has to do with Springer and Cocalis and the Century chain which are quite apt to play a featured part in the development. More than 70 houses are associated with the two operations and from them a sufficient number could be developed into first runs to cover substantial segments of the metropolitan territory without conflicting with Loew's operations to an extent which would hamper the essential product supply for the new circuit. . . .

On numerous occasions, this outpost has pointed out the zealous jealousy with which both Loew and RKO guard their metropolitan empire. How the entrance of a third chain will lodge with the factors that count in both of those directions is something not particularly difficult to work out. Yet, one major's hands wash the other's in this business as constituted today. That suggests deals within deals and avoidance, it is to be hoped, of internecine warfare. The cost of rampant battles in this industry is already terrific. . . .

What other distributors have been squawking about, RKO took action about late last week when it set aside roughly $10,000 to advertise on its own and, according to its own ideas of newspaper display, the engagement of "The Informer" at the Music Hall. The complaint that the Van Schmus theory of white space, lightly Ben-Dayed illustration and conservatism in type selectivity has resulted in punch-less copy is an old one; any distributor with a Music Hall booking will throw it at you violently, if you don't watch out, on the slightest of provocations. So RKO went black, noisy and bold in the accepted theatre advertising manner, even using four of those Daily News stars which are supposed to represent alien territory. . . .

Duffy Gets Theatre

to have submitted to the Roxy bondholders' committee a $1,100,000 bid for the theatre's bonds and reinstatement of S. L. (Roxy) Rothafel at the helm.

Various angles are reputed behind the Hayden, Stone plan. One is that Skouras himself is for it. Another is that Skouras, who is the operating head of all Fox theatres, is being sponsored by Fox, which is said to be angling for a better break on Broadway for its output next season. During the current season, the Music Hall bought 21 Fox pictures, several of which were rejected and later sold to the Roxy. The Roxy has played only five of the current Fox releases this season. The Mayfair, Astor and Rialto have also been showing Fox product.

"G-Men" at $60,138 A Smash at Strand

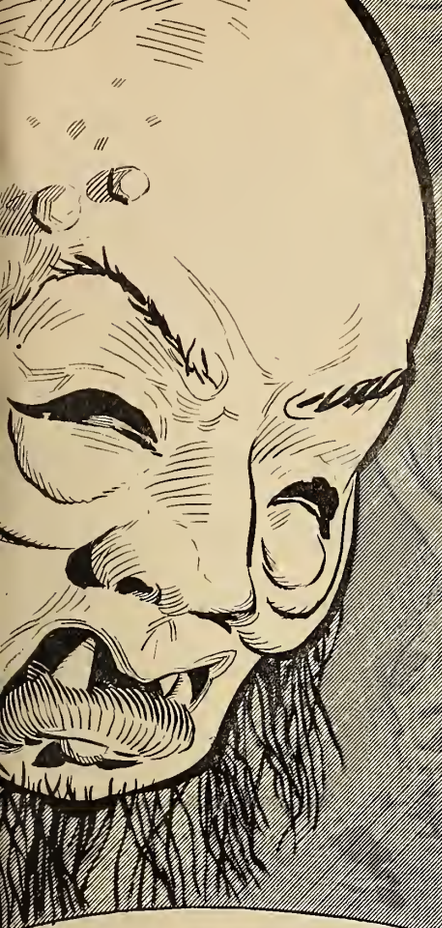
Scoundrel" at the Music Hall chalked up a $77,400 gross, only fair for this house. "The Informer," which bowed in Thursday and which got swell newspaper notices, will probably hit around $90,000.

"Mark of the Vampire" at the Rialto tallied approximately $13,000. "Werewolf of London" opened big and will most likely wind up in the neighborhood of its predecessor. Arthur Mayer is closing the house Wednesday when demolition will be started to make way for the new 600-seat Rialto.

At the Roxy last week, "Laddie" grossed approximately $26,000. "Bride of Frankenstein" got off to a good start. It is expected the first week will tally $45,000. The "U" film is in for two weeks. The Paramount fared badly with "The Devil Is a Woman," taking in about $18,200 for the week with the Thursday preview a real aid. Mae West in "Going to Town" opened to a handsome take with indications that the first week will end with around $60,000. The Paramount special is due for a three to four week run. "Life Begins at 40" at the Palace was fair at $9,000.

The opening week of "Go Into Your Dance" and Abe Lyman and his band on the stage were good for about $39,500.



With approximately $6,000 in the till for Friday, the Roxy anticipated a $28,000 week-end with "Bride of Frankenstein."

"G Men" Discourage Crime.

My Wife Does Know How.

The Love King George.

—BY ARTHUR BRISBANE—

(Copyright, 1935, by King Features Syndicate, Inc. International copyright and all other rights reserved.)

Warner Brothers are showing in New York a picture called "G MEN," encouraging citizens, hitherto hopeless, concerning the national crime wave.

"G MEN" shows what is actually happening to criminals, not what is expected.

The good work is done by government agents.

Criminals engaged in gambling see one of their associates arrested by a "G man" two blocks from the room in which they sit. The head criminal, seizing a "reacher," a long-range rifle, kills the government agent as he puts the handcuffs on the criminal.

A young lawyer, boyhood friend of the dead agent, decides to avenge him, joins the "G men," does the avenging most efficiently.

An exciting, interesting story is told, and the moral is "crime does not pay."

If you enjoy seeing virtue triumphant, vice and crime riddled by machine gun fire, the bad girl who has decided to go straight and help justice murdered in a telephone booth, and the good girl kidnaped but rescued to live happily ever after, by all means see "G MEN." Warner Brothers have rendered public service in that picture. It will make the professional racketeer and killer realize that his profession now involves danger.

—Chicago Herald Examiner

A Crime Movie, New Style

Worth Seeing

Well worth your while is the film "G-Men," now on view in New York.

It is about crime. But, unlike many crime pictures, it is true to fact, not fancy.

The "G-Men," as you know, are operatives of the Department of Justice.

They are the ones who got Dillinger and a score of other public enemies, who smashed kidnaping as a major American industry, who have done more to make crime less profitable and less popular than any other law enforcement agency.

The film—tense, dramatic, packed with thrills—shows you how the G-Men get results.

It is a picture that every law-abiding adult and every child should see. It paints crime in its true colors, not in those which have been used to glorify it in the past.

It is a picture that every CONGRESSMAN should see. It will convince him that every cent appropriated for the Department of Justice agents is money well spent, and that more money should be made available to the department to increase its force.

And, finally, it is a picture that every criminal should see. Warden Lawes might find it as useful at Sing Sing as his brass band, his football team or his other noble experiments in rehabilitating those who think that crime can be made to pay.

—N. Y. Journa

"G" Men

When you read in this column good words about a movie, rest assured that we, right or wrong, think it is one about which you should be told.

Remember the gangster pictures?

Phooey!

The movies have done an about-face. Men from the department of justice are now the heroes. And they are not inflated, either. "G" men are portrayed in action in a picture of the same name at the Metropolitan Theatre. We saw it. We are glad we didn't miss it.

Suspicious were we in advance that the picture might preach a doctrine of shooting first and asking questions afterward. This newspaper does not trail along with hysterical persons who would allow any dumb policeman to kill any and every criminal.

There is a nice line. "G" men have been taught when to shoot—and, more important, when not to shoot. The picture makes the point. Had it not, no boost would it get here.

See it.

—Boston Travele

"Whee!"

Topping the unparalleled flood of praise and records that have established "G-Men" as the most decisive success in recent picture history, five* great metropolitan dailies add the crowning tribute of flaming editorials proclaiming this Warner Bros. box-office sensation as an instrument of public welfare!... Has your editor seen it?

And the list is growing daily!*

"G Men"

"G Men," a moving picture that will render public service all over this country, produced by Warner Brothers, is showing now at the Strand Theatre, Broadway and 47th St., New York. It will discourage criminals, give hope to those that dread the crime wave that has been rising higher and higher throughout the country.

The Mirror, beginning today, in a series of pictures, will print "G Men," and its story.

While racketeers are gambling, a counterfeiter comes to borrow a few "centuries," meaning hundreds of dollars, gets them, goes out on the street, is arrested by a "G Man" from the office of the National Attorney General.

One of the gamblers shouts to an assistant, "Give me a reacher." That means a rifle of long range with which a man can be killed at a distance.

The "reacher" aimed from the gamblers' window, kills the "G Man." He dies in discharge of his duty, as many others have done.

Brick Davis, a part played by James Cagney, is a young lawyer, close friend of the murdered man. He gives up his profession, joins the "G Men," vowing revenge for his friend. The complete story which will be told in pictures, shows how criminals in that group of gamblers meet with death at the hands of "G Men." It is a pleasure to see Brick Davis (Cagney) reverse the picture and "bump off" the professional murderers.

Crime doesn't pay, it can't win in the end. Now that the United States Government has made suppression of crime a part of its business, the criminal invites death and will meet it.

N. Y. Mirror

Support the 'G Men'!

EVERY member of Congress ought to witness at least one exhibition of "G Men," the new motion picture.

This spectacular film drama represents and ably portrays a great and significant change that has come into American life.

Its tense action will remind the lawmakers, as already it has reminded the screen critics, of an older motion picture called "Public Enemy," which set a vogue for gangster films a few years ago.

And yet—what a difference!

The former gangster films seemed to glorify the "gorilla" and the gunman.

And there was a lot of truth in that characterization of the public mind, for gangsters, be it recalled to our shame, were glorified a good deal in those crime-ridden days.

* * *

THE late and entirely unlamented Dillinger was an outstanding example.

In one widely published photograph Dillinger—a recaptured slayer at the time—was shown with a County Prosecutor's arm flung almost fondly across his shoulders.

Shortly after the photograph was made Dillinger was allowed to break out of jail again, resuming his marauding and murderous career until THE FEDERAL MEN went on his trail in earnest and brought him down.

And when Dillinger died, as one of a series of Federal exploits, the period of "glorification" of gangsters was all through.

Respect for law and order was born again in America. That, briefly recounted, is the film story that "G Men" has to tell.

For "G men" in the criminal argot stands for armed Department of Justice men, who have shown how gangsters and kidnapers may and must be dealt with.

IT IS very important for members of Congress to see this film for a particular reason.

The stern but laudable business of law enforcement by Federal men has been carried on vigorously since Homer Cummings became the Attorney-General of the United States.

The "G men" themselves belong to the Division of Investigation, under J. Edgar Hoover, in his department.

Against enormous odds of too few operatives, too little money and inadequate equipment, they have undertaken to clear the country of public enemies.

What they have begun they can finish IF ONLY CONGRESS WILL ENABLE THEM TO DO SO—and the best way in which Congress can assist in the vindication of criminal justice is by granting the Department of Justice ENOUGH MEN and ENOUGH MONEY.

This Federal department has proved itself to be THE ONE EFFECTIVE FORCE in suppressing crime, and Congress has been utterly negligent of its duty in cutting down the appropriations that Mr. Hoover demands.

* * *

THAT is why it is desirable for members of Congress to see the "G Men" motion picture play.

Of course, they may find that "G Men" is realistic in its scenes of crime suppression.

But so have our violent and hideous crimes been realistic.

Let us have more of the realism of efficient law enforcement and less of the disgraceful realism of unpunished racketeers and criminals!

ry Arthur's house. The issue is expected to come up on Wednesday, the day the schedule goes into effect.

Warners has not yet decided what to do about the Uptown-Forum decision which was reversed by Campi. Insiders, however, believe the circuit will file a protest within a few days.

John C. Flinn is expected from New York to see that the schedule is put into effect without a hitch.

A meeting is slated for tomorrow to clear up some of the situations omitted from the schedule and other issues in dispute. Downtown matinee and evening prices will also be clarified in the schedule.

K. C. Nights Hang on Case

KANSAS CITY, May 12.—Whether bank night spreads in Kansas City depends largely on Campi's determination of the Prospect and Belmont cases, which the local board dismissed because Mrs. A. Baier, the complainant, failed to establish competition with her theatre, the Lindbergh.

The decision will be of utmost importance to Kansas City. The local board heretofore has banned all bank night operations coming before it, and in dismissing the Baier actions a departure from the usual rulings was established.

Aim Tax at Circuits

LINCOLN, Neb., May 12. — An amendment was tacked onto the chain store bill here yesterday which puts circuit theatres into the proposed $3 per unit tax, graduating up to $175 per unit for 20 or more.

Representative Obbink, Lincoln, said in offering the amendment that theatres were a luxury and should not be missed in a tax of this kind.

Beat Alabama 10% Tax

BIRMINGHAM, May 12. — Alabama theatre operators have won their fight to have the 10 per cent amusement tax stricken from the general revenue bill now pending before the Legislature.

F.W.C. Managers Shifted

LOS ANGELES, May 12.—F. W. C. managers met here over the week-end and Hank Peters, manager of the Paramount, Hollywood, was transferred to the United Artists, Inglewood, and Dave Fred, manager of the Inglewood house, was shifted to the Golden Gate, Belvedere Gardens. Roy Evans, manager of the latter house, was in turn transferred to the Paramount in Hollywood.

Change N. H. Policies

NEW HAVEN, May 12.—Returning to a policy in effect prior to last October, Loew's College will again operate as a first run, beginning Thursday, while the Bijou will revert to its former second run status. Ben Cohen, manager of the College, will be transferred to the Bijou, and Bill Henson of the Bijou will take the College.

M-G-M Men Quit K.C. As Convention Ends

KANSAS CITY, May 12.—With the windup of the three-day regional convention, all M-G-M home office executives and sales personnel not attached to the local exchange have departed.

Felix F. Feist, general sales manager, and Fred C. Quimby, short subject sales head, left by train, while Si Seadler, assistant to Howard Dietz, hopped on a plane for New York. Dietz, William R. Ferguson, Eddie Carrier and J. S. MacLeod flew to the coast with Howard Strickling, studio publicity head.

Dietz will remain on the coast for a few days conferring on a number of features for which advertising campaigns will be worked out in advance.

Divisional and district managers held a meeting after the convention with Alan F. Cummings on sales policies for their territories.

At the convention, Seadler lauded Feist, stating the general sales manager throughout his 10 years with the company has gained the admiration and respect of his fellow workers. Dietz announced product campaigns in 50 national magazines and extensive outdoor billing plans for which the budget will be increased to an unprecedented scale.

Roach Back in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, May 12.—Hal Roach has returned from Kansas City.

Says 690 Features Are Filmed Abroad

Foreign countries produce approximately 690 features annually, Paul Graetz, head of the Paris Export Film Co., states. He handles distribution of First Division and Toeplitz features on the continent.

Germany, he says, leads all countries with France and England running second, each with 150. Vienna turns out 30, Sweden, 30; Holland, 15; Poland, 20; Italy, 50; Spain, 15; Hungary, 20.

In the smaller countries production is limited both in number and appeal. Some countries do not make more than five films a year, usually in the native language and valueless abroad.

The combined total of 10 countries is less than the number of films turned out by major and independent producers in Hollywood.

Wafilms to Produce 11 for New Season

Wafilms will produce 11 pictures for release through state rights distributors for the new season, Walter A. Futter, Wafilms head, said Saturday.

The schedule will consist of two series, one comprising six action stories budgeted at about $25,000 each, the other a series of five westerns featuring Tom Keene. The first of the action series, "Hongkong Nights," has been completed. It will be followed by "Two Years Before the Mast," "Army Guy," "The Salt King," "Jade" and "The Voodoo Murder Mystery."

Barrows Dinner Guest

BOSTON, May 12.—Thad Barrows, head projectionist at the Metropolitan and president of Operators' Local 182, was guest of honor tonight at a farewell party at the Cocoanut Grove. He is going to the coast to attend the S. M. P. E. convention.

"A POWERFUL AND HEART-BREAKING TRAGEDY . . . 'The Informer', one of the year's most distinguished productions, certainly its most emotionally effective, marks another of those many milestones along the history of motion pictures as the first human tragedy photographed with dignity, power and realism! "ONE OF HOLLYWOOD'S FINER SCREEN ACHIEVEMENTS in its dramatic simplicity, its excellence of characterization and its brilliant photography . . . Exceptionally well done, 'The Informer' provides tensely impressive drama at the Music Hall this week . . . A powerful picturization of Liam O'Flaherty's stirring novel."

Rose Pelswick, N. Y. Evening Journal

"A TRULY MAGNIFICENT FILM, one of the finest and most distinguished ever to come out of a studio anywhere . . . It will afford you a rare and exhilarating experience in the cinema."

William Boehnel, N. Y. World-Telegram

"A VITAL, POWERFUL PICTURE, one which easily falls into the 'excellent' category. 'The Informer' packs such a terrific wallop in story and histrionics that movie audiences hardly realize the rare artistry with which Liam O'Flaherty's stark drama has been brought to the screen . . . You will find it so absorbing as to leave you a little weak at the knees when it has reached its gripping conclusion."

This is the second deafening blast of praise thundering from the pens and throats of America's critics and enthusiastic audiences . . first Washington, now New York! . . soon Boston, San Francisco, Chicago, Baltimore and scores of other key cities . . confirming RKO Radio's prediction that* EVERY CRITIC IN AMERICA WOULD INCLUDE "THE INFORMER" ON HIS LIST OF THE TEN BEST PICTURES FOR 1935.

Emery Secures Five More for English Group

By BRUCE ALLAN

LONDON, April 25.—J. F. Emery, principal of a 13-theatre circuit, has added five more important theatres to the chain by a deal involving properties valued at $1,500,000.

The theatres involved are the Capitol, Didsbury; Pyramid, Sale; Lido, Burnage; Broadway, Eccles, and Riviera, Cheetham Hill.

The Lido seats 1,536; the Pyramid, 2,000, and the Broadway over 2,000.

All the theatres are in the Manchester district.

St. George's Pictures, Ltd., is the latest British production unit. Ian Sutherland, associated with Allied Prod., Ltd., until last July, is managing director and Lupino Lane will be in charge of production. All the films starring Lane, a big British comedy bet, will be released here by Columbia, it is understood.

Branches of the Cinematograph Exhibitors' Ass'n. are urging the council to make representations about the character of the film criticism sent out over the air. The British Broadcasting Corp.'s critic, it is asserted, sometimes tells listeners not to visit certain films.

Radio criticism has always been a sore point with theatre men, each critic in turn coming under fire on the grounds of "highbrowism" and worse.

Basil Dean, director of the A. T. P. "Lorna Doone," made at the Ealing studio, is annoyed at the Hollywood report that Sam Goldwyn, planning a new version of the Blackmore book, has stated that he can "top any British effort."
